Winning Online Casino

There's a lot of wins that I have made in my life as a player. I have been playing for numerous years and I made a decision to share the golden rules for winning at online casinos with you.

This is not about tricks to cheat the casino belonging to the second, but about a genuine behavioral code to maintain.

The key is in all of us, in our brains and in our hearts.

Rules I wrote after years of playing and winning.

Mental ASPECT AND SPIRITUAL PSYCHOLOGY PREPARATION

1. Never play with money you can't afford to lose

It is not the classic moralistic advice. And I'll explain exactly why. In case you're playing cash, subtracted from other important expenses into your life context, you will have an incredibly negative mental state and your whole game will likely be conditioned by the concern about losing and feelings of guilt. It will be hard for you to win. Always play what you can play without "fear or "guilt" of losing". You are going to feel much better. Never forget that you play for fun!

2. Think about winning even before you leave

Always be positive by blindly believing in victory! The thought of losing should never cross the mind of yours. Think positive and you will just get positive events. It's a guideline of life that also works for play. Start thinking about what you will do with your winning money even before you begin playing. Imagine the winning number or combination in the mind of yours. This all will give you good energy and give you an extra gear that will help bring luck to your side. Negative feelings, on another hand, help you shed. Keep thoughts like "everyone wins but me", "I am never lucky at the game", "I can't do anything", "I hate this game", "This game sucks!" From your brain. Negative feelings attract bad energy. Instead, you have to repeat thoughts like:

3. Enjoy the game

Enjoy the game and stop considering the funds you've earned or perhaps lost or perhaps the range of chips you still have available. The much more you fall in love with the game and the elements of its the better you are going to play the better and luckier you will have. Try to remember that you play for fun. If you concentrate on having fun, the cash and winnings will come easily.

4. Change the game

Have you ever thought about why the saying, really correct, "beginners luck"? And exactly why does it occur so often? I'm convinced that an individual who doesn't know how-to play a game cannot have negative thoughts associated with it. A person who doesn't even know how to play faces that game with the spirit of fun contemplating in his mind "maybe I win". On the other hand, an experienced video poker player for instance knows that 9 times out of 10 that 5 card for the Royal Flush won't come out, but a beginner has no idea. The difference is that a professional professional might not assume that that card is likely to come out right (because it is usually hard) while a newbie does not have that mental stamina. if you discover you are having no luck at the normal favorite game of yours, immediately load game by looking at someone brand new even in case you do not know them well. I cannot let you know the number of times I've won money without even understanding what convinced me about that game or the reason I had it!

5. Keep your lucky charm with you

Generally keep your lucky charm close to you and believe in that object. Firmly think that that object is going to bring you luck and you will see that things will be great for you. At this point don't get me wrong, I am not thinking that the blessed object helps make us win but that in case we are so convinced that it brings us luck, we are going to give off vibrations that will surround us with positive energy. Remember it is all about the vibrations. If we transmit good vibes we are going to surround ourselves with positive energy. So if we conduct a work of charity and we feel that indescribable joy inside the heart. That joy generates glowing energy which is then transmitted to us and the behavior of ours.

6. Gratitude to the universe and God

In my whole life I've found nothing that will help me win more than constant gratitude while playing. If I've received even a small amount I will say to myself "Thank you Universe, thank God for this particular gift!" I also say green living when I eat a nice plate of pasta in the organization of loved ones. I've learned in order to really feel the pleasure of victories and to erase the bitterness of a defeat. Take advantage of every little thing around you and enjoy the game lovingly with the only spirit of having fun. Remember that you only play for fun as well as your aim should be having fun and feel really happy. Make fun the priority of yours, surround yourself with the Universe and good energy will respond naturally and automatically ensuring the gaming experience can be as pleasurable and fun as possible for you.
