Charlestown Letter Carrier Saves Residents From Burning House

Charlestown letter carrier Paul McGonagle didn't think twice when he smelled smoke as he walked his route on Auburn Street that Monday morning of March 1; the familiar smell was a common one, often emanating from a number of chimneys in the area homes.

However, as McGonagle entered the three story apartment house at 27 Auburn to deliver the occupants' mail, the smokey smell became quite intense and he suddenly realized that the wooden structure was on fire.

Just as McGonagle arrived outside to view where the fire originated from, the second story windows blew out from the pressure which had built up inside the building. His quick thinking led him to ring the bells at residences across the street in order to alert someone to notify the fire department. Mr. McGonagle then ran back inside the burning structure, banging and kicking down doors, to alert the occupants of the danger in their midst. This brave carrier risked his own safety by entering the apartment house three times before he was satisfied that everyone in the building had made it to safety. The fire department arrived shortly thereafter. None of the residents suffered any serious injury, though Mr.

McGonagle's leg was slightly bruised.

And what did Mr. McGonagle do following this life or death ordeal? He proceeded on to complete the mail deliveries to the remainder of his customers.

Bus Service On Main Street Slated To Be Cut April 1

by Maria Girvin

Bus service on route 92, Main Street in Charlestown, will be cut effective April 1, according to MBTA spokesman Allen Castaline. A Public Hearing will be held March 31st. Beginning next month 15 minute intervals of early morning and late afternoon peak hour bus service will be cut to half hour intervals. Castaline said this is being done to Route 92 and other routes across the city to offset the recent denial, by the MBTA Advisory Board, of a $17.5 million supplemental budget. Castaline said the MBTA intends to request this supplemental budget again. "If we do receive this budget request there will be no need to implement any service cuts," said Castaline.

Representative Richard Voke (D-Charlestown/Chelsea) has written a letter to MBTA General Manager James F. O'Leary, expressing his opposition to the service reduction.

Stating the plan would have "intolerable consequences," Voke wrote "by doubling the waiting time, you would effectively cut in half the number of buses travelling Main Street and double the number of people on each bus...They would have no alternative but to suffer the long, uncomfortable waits and inhumanly overcrowded buses."

Voke wrote that he "strenuously objected" to holding a public hearing on the service cutback "literally hours before it would take place. You are clearly signaling your complete lack of concern for public opinion," wrote the representative.

Voke said he will testify at the March 31st public hearing which will be held 7:30 p.m. at Gardner Auditorium located in the State House.

Kennedy Center Motions

by Maria Girvin

To date, no action has been taken on the motions made at the February 9th special meeting of the Kennedy Center Board of Directors which called for an investigation of Kennedy Center charge card records by a Certified Public Accountant.

At that meeting an additional motion was made calling for a policy on credit card use by Executive Director John Gardiner to be drawn up by Board Member Maurice Gillen and Board President James Cushman.

According to Cushman, a CPA has not been assigned to the Center because annual audits by ABCD and the Center's regular auditor are being conducted at this time.

Policy for the Center's credit cards is expected to be drawn up by the board's next meeting on March 22, according to Cushman. Cushman said he is unsure what this policy will mean because he does not know what kind of restrictions the board members want placed on the cards.

Cushman also squelched rumors that the Center was being investigated by the Internal Revenue Service or that it had been fined $500. "Those are just rumors made by the other side," said Cushman.

The fact there is a split in the board was evident at the board's last meeting in February. Heated discussions and angry accusations marked the special meeting which was called for an investigation by the Board's Treasurer Joseph Blaikie into allegations made by former treasurer Joseph Kent that Kennedy Center Executive Director John Gardiner had misused the Center's credit card privileges. This investigation was called for in a motion made by board member and State Representative Richard Voke at the regular January Board Meeting.

At the February meeting Blaikie failed to satisfy the motion and angered several board members. After much discussion, the original motion was amended to exclude names of persons who benefited by Gardiner's use of the credit card. These names are written on the back of the credit card slips according to Blaikie. An

Action Taken

(continued from page 1) objective CPA was to verify that credit card charges were made appropriately and report back to the board at the March 22nd meeting.

In an attempt to relax hostility between some of the Center's board members, an informal meeting was requested Tuesday by board member Phil Coleman. Coleman said he wanted to try and iron out differences between board members but was not going to discuss issues. "All I'm trying to do is get the people to sit down in a relaxing atmosphere and talk or they'll never accomplish anything and the ones who lose are those that use the Center," said Coleman. "We're killing each other," he said.

However, it is questionable that the meeting accomplished Coleman's goals. According to several board members, the meeting was a "waste of time" and many appointed board members were absent. Gardiner did not attend this meeting.

So far the accusations and hostility on the board has resulted in the resignation of Tom Jackson from the full board, the resignation of Anne Considine from the Economic Development Corporation (subsidiary of the Kennedy Center) Board and the possible resignation of another board member who at this time prefers anonymity.

Voke Opposes Cut

In Main Street Bus Service

In a statement today, Representative Richard Voke of Charlestown, voiced his strenuous opposition to the proposed service reduction of the Route 92 bus.

The Route 92 bus runs from Sullivan Square to Haymarket Square, via Main Street, Charlestown. The proposed change would increase the interval between buses from fifteen to thirty minutes during the morning and evening rush hours. During the rest of the day, buses already run every thirty minutes.

In a letter to James O'Leary, General Manager of the MBTA Representative Voke argued against the cut: "Not only would riders have to wait an additional quarter-hour for the bus, often in bitter cold, but they would also be faced with an incredibly crowded bus once it finally arrived. The Main Street bus is already a heavily-used route; by cutting in half the number of buses, your outrageous proposal would create unbearably crowded conditions."

Voke continued: "Many Charlestown residents have no choice but to take the bus, no matter what the conditions, to get to and from work each day. They would have no alternative but to suffer the long, uncomfortable waits and inhumanly overcrowded buses your cutbacks would entail."

The Representative will testify against the service reduction at a public hearing conducted by the MBTA on March 31st at 7:30 p.m. The hearing will be held at the Gardner Auditorium in the State House.

Representative Voke urges all interested residents to attend. "We can put a lot of pressure on the MBTA if we show up in numbers at the public hearing. We've got to make it clear that the residents of Charlestown won't take these cuts lying down. We can't let them cut service without putting up a fight."

If you wish to attend the public hearing but need transportation, call Representative Voke's office at 722-2220.

BHA Seeks Tenants For Apartments In "Homesteading" Program

by Maria Girvin

With the availability of many one and two bedroom apartments, the Boston Housing Development has found themselves "marketing" these apartments, according to Receiver/Administrator Harry Spence at the Charlestown Board of Trade meeting held Monday, March 1st.

Spence's presentation at the meeting follows a lengthy letter published in the February 25th issue of the Charlestown Patriot which capsulized progress made in the last two years since the Housing Authority was placed in receivership.

In that letter, and reiterated at the meeting, Spence said the Bunker Hill Housing Project would not be closed or sold for private development, "as long as there is consistent progress towards the restoration of decent community life."

"We are trying to save every project we can manage decently," said Spence at the meeting. "I think we can save all the units at Bunker Hill. We will open the place piece by piece. The only threat is if the project goes down hill again."

Currently 883 units of the 1147 unit project is 80% inhabitable, 183 apartments (mostly one and two bedroom) are vacant and awaiting tenancy. All these apartments are among those fixed up with new windows, roofs and heating systems, made possible by $4,415,827 in federal monies.

Many of these apartments need minor repairs and because of this the Housing Authority is encouraging a "homesteading" program.

By "homesteading" it is meant that the Housing Authority will rent out apartments to candidates meeting income requirements and who are able to spend personal funds for the repainting or minor repairs needed within the apartments. Spence emphasized that the Housing Authority would do major repairs such as plumbing, heating, etc.

Both Spence and Manager Joseph McNamara, who accompanied Spence, encouraged directed inquiries or applications on renting the apartments be made to the Bunker Hill Project Office located at 55 Bunker Hill Street.

Dealing with questions from the office, Spence discussed his policy on integration of the projects across the city. "We do not have a plan for massive integration in every community," said Spence. "In order for a development to function it must be a part of the community. We are giving preference to a white majority in the Bunker Hill Project but that doesn't mean we will let it become 100 percent anything. But we do want it to have an ethnic sense.

"I would hope that as the development becomes safer, anyone will be able to move there and not be fearful," said Spence.

He also said racial mixing of the project was a security point, and that security was one of the ongoing battles faced by the project. Recently, and through a Community Development Block Grant, a security program made up of residents of the project were working with Boston Police to curtail the high crime in the project area.

Apartment breakthroughs may be another program implemented in the project once the Housing Authority has exhausted the need for one and two bedroom apartments. Among the 183 apartments presently ready for habitation are some three bedroom apartments which also must be rented out before breakthroughs are allowed, according to McNamara.

McNamara said the project has received about 60 new residents since November and is continuing to grow out of the decline it was two years ago. In keeping with their schedule, the Housing Authority hopes to have all apartments between Monument and Tufts Street rented by August 15, and exterior buildings along Polk and Decatur Streets closed down and secured until funds are available to properly rehabilitate these buildings.

"We've got a long way to go, but we've gone a long way," said Spence. "We've passed the turning point and we hope it will become what it was before — a source of pride."

Legend of the CLADDAGH RING

According to Irish legend, the crown represents loyalty, the hands friendship, and the heart love. When given by a man to his girl, the ring symbolizes that she will hold his heart in her hands; the same is true when given by a girl to her man. The ring is worn in friendship when the crown points away from the wrist, and symbolizes engagement when reversed.

Charlestown Backs Jefferson, Lakian At GOP Convention

by Sal Giarratani
The Charlestown Republican delegation which included Greta McGuire, Pat Harrington and Eileen Riley voted in unanimity for convention winner John Lakian for governor but split two to one for convention loser Mildred Jefferson for the U.S. Senate Saturday, March 6 at the non-binding state nominating Republican convention held at the Sheraton-Boston Hotel.

Ray Shamie beat back a late challenge from the pro-life leader Jefferson at the convention by a 3-1 margin, 1,020 votes to 334 to capture the Senate nomination.

Jefferson, in an interview with the Patriot stated she intended to remain in the race despite her failure to gain the convention endorsement saying, "Winning the convention endorsement is not a real reflection of the people's choice or endorsement," and that she intends to win in September.

When asked about a Jefferson-Shamie primary battle, delegate Greta McGuire said, "I think it's a good action. If there was just one running there would be no interest in the Senate race...It will stimulate the Republican Party."

However, on the other side of the coin, delegate Eileen Riley didn't believe a Jefferson campaign could be sustained because she could not attract enough campaign funds to challenge the convention-endorsed Shamie.

All Charlestown delegates supported Lakian with full enthusiasm. Riley thought it was a great choice. Pat Harrington believes, "We've picked a sure winner...the next governor of Massachusetts" and McGuire believes Lakian will bring "new blood" to the party and "will go all the way able to beat either King or Dukakis."

However, before Lakian can do anything he will have to face, apparently, all convention losers (Andrew Card, William Robinson and Guy Carbone) as well as former City Councilor John Sears in the September primary where the official Republican candidates will be elected.

The convention also endorsed by acclamation, retiring Judge Henry H. Chmielinski, Jr., for attorney general, Mike Robertson for state auditor, Jody Dow for state secretary, Mary LeClair for state treasurer and Leon Lombardi for lieutenant governor.

In a side note, seen actively campaigning on the convention floor was a young, political newcomer, Frank McNamara from Beacon Hill, who is running for the U.S. Congress in the Eighth District which includes Charlestown.

McNamara wants to take on U.S. House Speaker Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill,

Jr., but will first have to face a perennial candidate,

William Barnstead, in a September primary contest. The Charlestown Ward Committee has not taken an official stand on this primary battle, but it will be discussed at their March 24th meeting.

Irish Update

by Marty O'Brien

With a week still remaining before the First Annual St. Patrick's Day Dance sponsored by the Bunker Hill Irish Heritage Society, tickets are at a premium. In fact, they're so scarce, you may have better luck catching a leprechaun than landing a ticket to this gala event.

Thank You

On behalf of the Daughters of Isabella No. 1, I would like to thank everyone who helped make my corned beef dinner a success. I was very happy to have the Pastors of the three Catholic churches in Charlestown present along with Reverend Isaiah Sears. Also present was Master of the Massachusetts Fourth Degree Assembly, K. of C. Joe Arena and his lovely wife, Edith.

Winners of the raffle were: 19 inch colored television — Karen Lane, 20 Hill Street, Charlestown; Radio — James Sullivan of Andover (a former "Townie"); and the beautiful afghan made by Carol Savinsky was won by Council member Mark Burke.

A special thanks to Kay Whelan, who took time from the Irish Cabaret to make the nice welcome posters; to Mary Callahan, Peg Sullivan, Kathleen Durbano and her husband, Phyllis Ward, and Bea Ryan. Also thanks to all the people who donated door prizes and sold chances and to Council 62 of the Knights of Columbus.

Bless you all.

Law Enforcers In Charlestown Honored At Recent Police Ball

by Maria Girvin

Recently, seven policemen and two detectives residing in or serving in the Charlestown area, were honored for their heroism and professionalism at the 111th Annual Boston Police Relief Association Ball.

Receiving awards and citations were Detectives Joseph P. Smith, and James R. Troy; Officers Daniel L. Hennessey, Gerald E. Mokler, John J. Buckley Jr., James F. Gorman, Robert C. Wentzell, James J. O'Malley, and Sergeant Walter L. Canney.

The accounts of why each man received his award is given in the February 15, 1982 edition of the City Record, and are recaps below.

The Walter Scott Medal of Valor; the Department Medal of Honor; the Boston Police Relief Association Memorial Award; the Thomas F. Sullivan Award; the Boston Bank Award: To Detective Joseph P. Smith of District D, a resident of Charlestown.

About 1:41 p.m., Friday, October 30, 1981, Smith was off duty, waiting in line at the New England Merchants Bank in Charlestown when he suddenly observed three hooded suspects enter the vestibule in a crouched position and quickly enter the bank.

The first suspect into the bank was carrying a handgun and ordered everyone to get down on the floor. One accomplice climbed over the partition of the teller's counter, and the third stood between the entrance and the counter. Smith drew his personal firearm, identified himself as a police officer and at this point the first suspect pointed his firearm and said he was going to shoot Smith.

The detective quickly fired one shot at the suspect, striking him in the head and the suspect fell to the floor. Smith then confronted the second suspect who was bent over behind the teller's counter, taking money from that position and ordered him to put the gun down and raise his hands. The suspect complied and was placed under arrest by Smith. The third suspect fled the bank in a stolen car.

The wounded suspect was removed to the Boston City Hospital where he was treated for a gunshot wound and placed on the danger list.

Numerous witnesses in the bank commended the courageous action of Smith stating that "he saved our lives for one of us would surely have gotten shot."

The Department Medal of Honor; the Boston Police Relief Association Memorial Award; the Thomas F. Sullivan Award; the Boston Bank Award: To Officers Daniel F. Hennessey and Gerald E. Mokler of District A.

About 2:14 a.m., Friday, October 30, 1981, these officers were assigned to a car in Charlestown and patrolling on Bunker Hill Street when they were hailed by the operator of a Somerville taxi who informed them there was a shooting at Bunker Hill and Chelsea Streets involving a shotgun.

The officers immediately went to the intersection and observed three males, one being dragged by the heels across the intersection by a second male and the third holding a shotgun in one hand and a revolver in the other.

The officers immediately got out of the patrol vehicle and, using the vehicle as a shield, ordered the suspects to desist and drop the weapons. The male with the shotgun turned and aimed the weapon at the officers who, in return, fired at the suspect.

The suspect then ran, apparently not hit, and Hennessey pursued him on foot through poorly lit alleys and lots, while Mokler jumped into the police car and attempted to cut off the flight of the suspect by circling the area.

The chase continued for several blocks and culminated in a confrontation between the gunman and Hennessey in which the officer successfully wounded the suspect, causing him to fall to the ground, dropping his shotgun and .38 caliber revolver. The second suspect escaped, but was found later, a short distance away, bleeding.

Further investigation disclosed that the male who was being dragged across the intersection had been shot at close range by the shotgun and was pronounced DOA at the Massachusetts General Hospital.

The Department Medal of Honor; the Boston Police Relief Association Memorial Award; the Thomas F. Sullivan Award; the Boston Bank Award: To Officers John J. Buckley, Jr., and James Gorman of District A.

At about 1:15 p.m., November 6, 1981, Officers Robert Wentzell and James O'Malley were patrolling in Charlestown when they were hailed by a citizen who informed them there was a robbery in progress at the K. of C. on West School Street.

The officers responded to the location and found a Ford Maverick parked in the parking lot. Upon checking the vehicle they observed the ignition was popped and called for a backup unit.

Officers Buckley and Gorman, accompanied by Detective James Troy, responded to the rear of the building. Troy took up an escape-preventing position and Buckley and Gorman approached the rear door when suddenly the door opened and the officers were confronted by the shotgun and handgun wielding robbers.

Buckley ordered the suspects to drop their weapons and at this time the shotgun-armed suspect raised the weapon to a firing position and Buckley rapidly discharged three rounds from his service revolver, wounding one suspect and causing the other two to surrender.

Recovered at the scene were two loaded handguns and a fully loaded shotgun.

Special Citation: To Officers Robert C. Wentzell, James J. O'Malley and Detective James R. Troy of District A.

For the meritorious action they took in connection with Officers Buckley and Gorman in containing the robbery suspects and successfully aborting the robbery in progress at the K. of C. Hall in Charlestown.

Special Citation: To Sergeant Walter L. Canney of District A, a resident of Charlestown.

About 3:15 a.m., on Wednesday, September 2, 1981,

Sergeant Canney while assigned as patrol supervisor in District A7, detected a strong odor of smoke on Bennington Street, East Boston and then observed flames emitting from the rear of 140 Putnam Street and four adjacent dwelling houses. The Sergeant immediately notified operations, requesting fire apparatus and additional police units to assist him in evacuating the burning dwellings.

Following the radio dispatch, the sergeant immediately entered 140 Putnam which appeared to be the main source of the fire and began banging on doors and calling out to residents on the first floor apartments. He then made his way through the smoke and flames to the upper stories of the building. At this point the Sergeant was assisted by other officers who assisted him in alerting the residents and leading them to safety. Canney re-entered the flame-engulfed building several times to alert residents until he was forced back by intense heat and suffered from smoke inhalation.

In all, thirty-six persons were rescued from the six alarm fire which caused approximately $150 thousand worth of damage to nine separate three-story wood-frame houses. The fire was listed as of suspicious origin.

Sergeant Canney was removed to the Massachusetts General Hospital and found to be suffering from smoke inhalation, treated, and released.

Farewell To Snapper's

by Oren McCleary

Earlier this month the Bunker Hill Market, on the corner of Warren and Pleasant Streets, closed its doors forever. Known to everyone as Snapper's (the family name is actually Shnaper; they came from the Ukraine), it was what is called a convenience store, and it was just that. Eli Shnaper came to Charlestown fifty years ago and first sold his conveniences (sliced meats, pickles, doughnuts, tonic, potato chips, newspapers, cigarettes, butter and eggs and the other staples) in a little frame building (long gone) wedged in down the street behind the corner house on Monument Avenue. In 1945 he moved to the roomier quarters in the Federal house on the corner of Pleasant.

When Laurette Murdock remodeled the building about 1970, she had read Jane Jacobs' The Death and Life of Great American Cities, knew the contribution such stores make to the streetscape and neighborhood life, and preserved Snapper's. (When she sold the property, the deed stipulated that the Shnaper's should have the space so long as they wanted.) In time, bright-eyed Eli brought his son David in to help out, and eventually David brought his sons in to work after school. They worked long hours, but were invariably courteous and friendly. (Eli taught me what little Russian I know — milk and meat and "Das vedanyi, tovarisch!") They made deliveries to shut-ins and tided people over on credit. Snappers was not only a convenience, it was a pleasant place to linger.

Then, although David made a manful show of cheeriness, it began to get sad. First the coke and chips business disappeared with the closing of the Harvard School and the relocation of Charlestown High. Then came the supermarket with all its brassy array. Business slowed to a trickle. Now Snapper's is padlocked and everyone must go for their conveniences to sleeker stores, where no one I know is tempted to linger.

A SPECIAL THANK YOU

Dear Editor:

The game of rugby has often been called a "sport for ruffians which is played by gentlemen." This fast and exciting contact sport, which is the antecedent of American football, features rapid ball-handling and passing, hard struggles for possession of the ball, and an ever-present 'drink-up' afterwards, traditionally sponsored by the home side.

Your readers might be interested to know that Ireland is the most recent winner of rugby's coveted Triple Crown, defeating England, Scotland, and Wales in the process. On a more local note, Charlestown native Bruce Pulliam has been elected President of the New England Division I Charles River Rugby Football Side. This is not the first of Bruce's accomplishments on a recent team tour of England he led the side in scoring.

The Charles River RFC always welcomes new players-no experience necessary. Charlestown athletes of all ages and abilities are urged to join us as we kick off our Spring schedule with indoor practices in preparation for our first match on March 27.

Anyone interested in participating in this fine contact sport should call

Bruce at 623-6406, evenings.

Sincerely yours,
Charles River RFC

The showdown will consist of two races at 5-16ths-of-a-mile and 3-8ths-of-a-mile with the top four from Wonderland competing against Plainfield.

The winning track and series champs (one for each distance) will be determined by points awarded according to complete order of finish on a 24-12-7-5-3-2-1-0 basis.

Here's a look at the Challenge Series schedule: first preliminary round - two 3-8ths at Plainfield, Friday, September 17; two 5-16ths at Wonderland, Saturday, September 18; second preliminary round - two 3-8ths at Wonderland, Wednesday, September 22; two 5-16ths at Plainfield, Thursday, September 23; first-round - one 3-8ths at Wonderland, Monday, September 27; one 5-16ths at Plainfield, Tuesday, September 28; Final - one 3-8ths at Plainfield, Friday, October 1; one 5-16ths at Wonderland, Saturday, October 2.

Health Fair

In Charlestown March 18

The Boys and Girls Club will be the local site for "Health Works '82," a series of community-based health fairs to be held throughout Massachusetts and southern New Hampshire, March 15-21.

Locally, "Health Works '82" will take place on March 18, at The Boys and Girls Club at 60 High Street, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Charlestown's health fair will offer free medical screening and basic health maintenance information. The basic screening include: height, weight, blood pressure, anemia, glaucoma, vision, and dental. Other services include: health exhibits on nutrition, demonstrations on self breast examination, and review and referral.

All "Health Works '82" sites will offer a $7.00 blood chemistry test that screens for diabetes, cholesterol, triglycerides, kidney and liver disease, gout and thyroid problems, as well as many others, a work-up that could cost over $100 at other health care facilities.

The health fair concept has become something of a national phenomenon. In the spring of 1980 alone, fairs were conducted in 16 cities where more than $50 million of free medical care was provided to over 400,000 participants, 35% of whom were found to have medical problems requiring follow-up treatment.

The "Health Works '82" fair in Charlestown will be sponsored by The Boys and Girls Club, Bunker Hill Community College's Nursing Education Department and Bunker Hill Health Center.

Shows I'd Like To See

by Charlie McGonagle

T.V.—A wonderful media, but there are a few programs I would like very much to see. For Example:

John Trapper, T.B. - In this series, a well meaning citizen devotes his life to trapping toilets live, after which time he feeds them a steady diet of tidy bowl.

Little Mouse On McCrary - The story of a little female mouse, Maura Pringles, who strives to make a life for her family on the tattered corduroy shoulder of a modern day frontiersman, Buck McCrary.

One Play At A Time - A highly talented and recruited quarterback whose career is jeopardized by his inability to remember more than (yup, you guessed it) one play at a time.

Steal People - The incredible story of a band of ruthless kidnappers.

That's Regrettable - A "People" program which deals with individuals who are killed while attempting bizzare stunts.

Gentle Hospital - A soap opera in a hospital setting which deals with people who are not really ill, but would truly like to be.

The Lawrence Belch Show - A musical variety show whose host is adept at burping some of our best loved songs while champagne bubbles flow neatly, and in varying sizes, from his vocal chords.

The Lone Stranger - This program features a masked man who drives a white Mustang to suburban school yards offering silver bullets to unsuspecting children.

The Wide World Of Skirts - Here the cameras follow an international playboy as he travels the world in quest of beautiful women. Each week the series begins with the hero being slapped very hard by a woman who resents his suggestive advances, and the commentator saying ".....And The Agony Of Defeat."

You Masked For It - This one hour weekly adventure series focuses on the ineptitude of a gang of would be bank robbers.

The Meats Of San Francisco - In this one we see the heartbreak a West Coast butcher suffers after it is discovered that his kosher products aren't kosher after all.

Rowdy Doody - The story of an over-aggressive puppet who preys on women, and the attempts of law enforcement agencies across the country to stop him. In the season's final episode, his latest victim, Miss Piggy, finally testifies against him, and the judge, tired of the many incidents of aquittal, orders the District Attorney to cut his strings, thus ending the reign of terror.

Hawaii OhOh - Here, an Island Detective who is a proponent of capital punishment, culminates each arrest by ordering his partner to "cook him, Danno!"

The Hill Street Booze - A story of modern day rum runners and their weak attempts at counterfeiting Cutty Sark.

Not Landing - A two hour special featuring a world war two fighter pilot who takes off from Paris with just enough fuel to reach an air field in the Canary Islands, only to find the landing strip has been destroyed by a pack of frenzied

Two Pose For Comfort - The story of a struggling young couple who avert certain starvation when they land a job as models for the Southern Comfort Liquor Company.

The Incredible Sulk - The story of a middle aged bachelor who, upon being told by his mother that he could not go to the Saturday afternoon movie because he didn't eat his spinach, began to sulk. At the time, he was eight years old - that's Incredible!

Sixty Seconds - This brief, fast moving adventure focuses on the entire love-life of local Don Juan, Charlie Papasodoro.

The Mickey Louse Club - This is actually a series of reruns in which Mickey successfully edits Annette Funicello out of every episode, causing a great deal of consternation on the part of those of us who remember - the mouse is a louse.

Mart to Mart - The story of a woman obsessed with shopping. This honest to goodness shopaholic travels the East Coast in search of the perfect Mall only to encounter numerous "Bait And Switch" tactics by ruthless retailers. A must for those of you attracted to shopping malls by the word "Sale."

Flamingo Load - The heartwarming story of a man who has dedicated himself to cleaning bird sanctuaries. "Even birds have a right to cleanliness," he says at the conclusion of each episode.

Yes, T.V. is nice form of entertainment, but it could be better.

by Jeffrey D. Cohen, D.M.D.

EARLY TOOTH OVERCROWDING

When should crooked teeth be straightened? As soon as they're detected! The old adage about an ounce of protection is especially true in orthodontics, where crooked teeth can be prevented by early treatment.

Diagnosed at a sufficiently early age, an unusual trend can often be stopped in its tracks - and its effects completely erased. To ensure early detection, a child should have a checkup by the family dentist at intervals of about six months, beginning at 2½ to 3 years of age. Overcrowded and crooked teeth are most likely to make their entrance with the arrival of the four permanent incisors and the four permanent molars at around age six.

Prompt treatment is recommended when teeth are overcrowded. Some baby teeth may be removed ahead of their normal shedding time to allow nature to do a certain amount of tooth straightening. Known as interceptive orthodontics, it involves a one-by-one extraction in a well-planned sequence to make room for a better bite.

"Endgame" Offers Pleasant Look At Life

"Endgame" by playwright Samuel Beckett playing at the People's Theatre, 1253 Cambridge Street (Inman Square) every Thursday through Saturday at 8 p.m. and Sunday at 6 p.m. through March 28.

by Maria Girvin

Prices at the big Boston theatres often exceed our budgets in order that we might see a first class play or musical. And even then, when we do save the $40 or $50 needed for two to enjoy two hours of Broadway fantasy, we leave, more often than not, with our expectations unfulfilled.

This is not always true of the smaller metropolitan theatres in Boston and the surrounding areas. "Endgame" is such an example. A tried and true play by Irish-born playwright Samuel Beckett, (most famous for his controversial "Waiting For Godot") "Endgame" has been performed internationally. The People's Theatre cast performance has upheld those theatrical standards needed to make one of Beckett's surreal plays work.

In "Endgame," four outrageous characters demonstrate through prop and dialogue the absurdities of human life. Nell and Nagg are the parents of Hamm who has banished them to live inside two trashcans. Hamm is blind and lame and is taken care of by Clov who rushes to meet every order given him by Hamm while always questioning his subjection to being ordered about.

Each character symbolizes parts of human life which we are all aware of and experience. Hope, despair, irrationality and living life the way society dictates instead of the way our conscience tell us are just a few of life's absurdities that Beckett throws out to his audience to mull in their minds and twinge at the answers they may conclude.

While parts of the play paint a sad picture of our lives, other parts are comical through a delightful mixture of vaudeville routines, and clownish figures, allowing us to also laugh at life.

"Endgame" is well worth the ticket price of $5.50. Besides a delightful short play, visiting the People's Theatre could open a new world of drama for those who enjoy the theatre but dislike the high prices of Broadway material. On the other hand, "Endgame" could open a new world for those who have always considered the theatre but never wanted to risk a $25 ticket.

North Area/Central Artery Hearings Meets With Approval And Reservations

by Maria Girvin

Residential approval with some reservations were given the L-2 design plan for the North Area/Central Artery project at Tuesday night's Massachusetts Department of Public Works Hearing held at the Kent Community School.

In the planning stages since 1974, the L-2 scheme was chosen after several years of community input and heated opposition to a previous plan last summer. Basically, the project will change the City Square area, making it a more aesthetic area of Charlestown, while removing heavy traffic from that area. In addition, the project is also aimed at easing the flow of traffic along the expressway, I-93 and Rutherford Avenue.

After a brief description of the plan by a spokesman of Childs, Bertman, Tseckares & Casendino Inc. (CBT), statements and questions from officials and residents were allowed.

BRA spokesman Alfred Howard was the first to support the plan stating, "We've worked with you a long time and we've developed something we think is good." Howard said he hoped to see further development between the Mass. DPW, the community and BRA in the future.

Resident Bill Lamb, a long-time member of the Resident Task Force Sub-Committee, which demanded that the L-2 scheme to be the one implemented for the project, began his statement supporting the plan but listed a number of issues needing more community input and resolution. These included the following:

— Sight lines including the approach to City Square from the Charlestown Bridge; views from City Square to the water and downtown; views from Chestnut Street towards the city

— Pedestrian crossings - particularly important considering the width of the streets and volume of traffic projected

— Whether Henley Street between Main and Warren Streets and Lowney Way will be closed or remain open

— Location of bus stops and the effect on pedestrian crossing — Noise barriers along tunnel portals, ramps leading to I-93 north and Tobin Bridge approaches leading into and from City Square tunnels

— Visual shielding at the tunnel portals and along Rutherford Avenue

— Design guidelines for development parcels need to be considered, i.e. building heights and massing; design appropriateness to the historic urban setting of Charlestown and building uses. Approximately ten acres will be available for development once the central artery is finished.

Lamb also expressed concern for Mass. DPW's backing away from its earlier commitment to hold evening meetings in Charlestown for project participation.

That the community is allowed to continue input into the construction of the project and that Charlestown's historical integrity is preserved were two considerations most requested by Charlestown residents.

Construction is expected to begin in 1985 and continue four to five years. Based on 1981 dollars, it is expected to cost approximately $140,000,000.

Receives Scholarship

PATRICIA A. MECHAN, daughter of Robert and Mary Mechan of Charlestown, has received the $4,000 Clinton H. Scovell Scholarship from Boston-Bouve College at Northeastern University. Patricia is a freshman studying physical therapy and a 1981 graduate of Matignon High School in Cambridge.

Notice Of Explanation

BOSTON REDEVELOPMENT AUTHORITY NOTICE OF EXPLANATION

The Boston Redevelopment Authority hereby gives notice, pursuant to 24CR Section 58.23(b) and Executive Order 11988, that improvements are planned for Dry Dock 2 in the Charlestown Navy Yard, Boston, MA., which is in an identified flood hazard area. Financial assistance for the project of which these improvements are a part is being sought from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, Washington D.C., through an Urban Development Action Grant.

The planned Dry Dock 2 improvements consist of demolition of abandoned utilities, construction of new electrical distribution and lighting, installation of protective fencing, and construction of surface drainage and ground plane treatment around the periphery of the dry dock. These improvements are vital to the safety of Park visitors.

Since Dry Dock 2 is in a Flood Hazard Area, any improvements to Dry Dock 2 must also occur in a Flood Hazard Area. These are safety improvements only, to facilitate opening Shipyard Park to the public. No adverse comments were received after publication of the Notice of Opportunity for Public Review. Therefore, the assessment of this project has been completed, and the decision has been made to proceed with the project as planned, in compliance with Executive Order 11988.
