How to use Minecraft seeds

Merely put, Minecraft seeds are a string of numbers that dictate an actual Minecraft world for you to load into. Before creating a brand new world, you'll be able to punch these numbers in to conjure up the actual place you want to explore, and creators share these codes online. You will find a area to enter your chosen seed within the "Extra World Choices" menu when creating a brand new world. Using a seed will get you exactly the same world generation as another person who's used it.

The one factor you need to keep in mind is to make sure you're running the right model of Minecraft. In any other case, your seed has a chance of not spawning exactly what you need, or being simply slightly different.

Thankfully, it's pretty painless to run legacy versions of Minecraft. All you'll want to do is open the launcher, click on on "Launch Choices" then "Add New." From right here you'll be able to identify it, and under that could be a drop-down box with all the earlier editions. Just click on on the one you need, head again to the "News" part, and cargo up the model you need. Now, an in-depth take a look at the most effective Minecraft seeds.
