CHARLESTOWN, MASS. PRICE 10¢

THURSDAY, JULY 3, 1986

by Marianne Martin

The eyes of the nation may be focused on New York Harbor this Fourth of July weekend, as America celebrates the 100th Birthday of Miss Liberty, but locally, the Boston Harbor will be the place to be as Boston celebrates the Fourth of July with the Fifth Annual Boston Harborfest.

Charlestown residents won't have to venture far to join the festivities, as many of them will take place in the Charlestown Navy Yard. The Harborfest features the Annual Turnaround Cruise of the USS Constitution, "Old Ironsides", a rare, but beautiful event to witness, as the 189 year old naval frigate leaves the Charlestown Navy Yard for a 2 1/2 hour cruise around Boston Harbor. "Old Ironsides" will cast off at 10:30 a.m. and return to Charlestown at 1:00 p.m. Accompanying the oldest commissioned Navy vessel will be an Antique Boat Parade, which will begin in the general harbor at 10:00 a.m. The 40 antique and classic boats, one which dates to the late 1800s, will join the "Old Ironsides" in her wake. Aboard the ship will be the United States Navy Band.

For those not fortunate

Sheehan Director Of Youth Services

The Kennedy Center is very pleased to announce the promotion of Jack Sheehan to Director of Youth Services. While Jack has been essentially acting in this capacity for many years, he had not been formally recognized as such.

The establishment of the Youth Services Program to the status of an independent department within the Kennedy Center organizational structure is a testament to the esteem in which we hold Jack and the contribution he has made to the Kennedy Center and to the people of Charlestown over the past 20 years.

The Miller Music Neighborhood Concert Series Is Back!!!

Summer 1986 comes alive on Monday evenings here in Charlestown with the music of Boston's own bands.

On Monday, July 7th, at 6:00 p.m., Charlestown will host "New Life" at the Bunker Hill Monument. "New Life" will pop open the Miller Music Evening Series with a bang.

All concerts, which will take place each Monday evening at the Monument, are free of charge and sponsored by Miller Brewing Company, the Mayor's Office of Business and Cultural Development and the Boston Herald.

Massport Funds Medford And Terminal Street Traffic Signal Light

Massport Executive Director David W. Davis has announced that the Authority will fund the installation of a new traffic signal system at Medford and Terminal Streets in Charlestown.

Davis said, "Massport officials, along with State Representative Richard Voke, Boston City Councillor Robert Travaglini, and Boston Transportation Commissioner Richard DiMino, have worked diligently to make the new $70,000 traffic signal system a reality for Charlestown." He added, "The new signal system is a prime example of how Boston officials, community residents and Massport can work together to address and tackle local issues and concerns."

Representative Voke commended Massport for its concern and willingness to handle these types of issues in Charlestown and other impacted areas. "Working together, a much needed traffic signal system will be installed at a location where traffic and safety problems are an issue of concern." Voke said, "Davis and his staff should be praised for responding to these local concerns."

Massport Board Vice

Chairman John Vitagliano said, "This was a joint effort and the results are obvious. Residents of Charlestown have been concerned with the Medford and Terminal Street traffic and safety problem for sometime now. The new traffic signal system should correct and control the problem in that area."

Commissioner DiMino said, "The new signal system should be in place sometime this summer." He added, "Once installed, the new system should control and slow down traffic on these streets, thus insuring safer

 enough to be included on the VIP and invited guest list, but simply wish to enjoy this grand event, the United States Air Force Band from Pease Air Force Base in New Hampshire will perform on the Pier shortly after the Constitution sets sail. Also at the Navy Yard, the Polaroid Corporation will have three booths set up on July 4th and 5th, to take free portraits of visitors. The hours of the booths will be from 2:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. on Friday, and from 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on Saturday.

At the USS Constitution Museum on Saturday will be a Ship Model Exhibition and on Saturday and Sunday, there will be an Artisan's Demonstration from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. The museum is opened from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. and the cost of admission is $2.00 for adults, $1.50 for senior citizens, and $1.00 for children ages six to 16. Children under six years old are admitted free of charge.

From Limerick County, Ireland, the Southill Children's Choir will be performing at the Charlestown Navy Yard from 6:00 to 8:00 p.m. on Friday, July 4th. The children, who are approximately 14 years old, are visiting Massachusetts for the summer and will be performing throughout the state. The concert should prove to be extremely enjoyable.

The firing of the cannon from the USS Constitution for the Evening Colors will begin the fireworks display from the Charlestown Navy Yard. The show is scheduled to begin at 9:00 p.m. Residents should go either to the Charlestown waterfront or the Bunker Hill Monument Grounds for the best viewing sites.

MASSACHUSETTS HORSE GUARD in Continental Army Uniforms will be on the Bunker Hill Monument Grounds, Saturday and Sunday.

On Saturday, July 5th and Sunday, July 6th the Massachusetts Horse Guard, dressed in Continental Army uniforms of 1776, will parade upon their internationally acclaimed Lipizzan Horses from Austria, to the Bunker Hill Monument Grounds from 11:40 a.m. to 12:05 p.m.

The Bunker Hill Museum at 43 Monument Square will be open on Saturday, July 5th and Sunday, July 6th from 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. The Museum, under the direction of the Charlestown Historical Society, affords the visitor an opportunity to view a bit of the history of Charlestown, along with artifacts from the Bunker Hill Monument Association and from the Archaeological dig at City Square. Admission is free.

Back at the Navy Yard, from noon to 5 p.m. on Saturday, visitors from Plimoth Plantation will entertain in the manner of the Merrie Ole England tradition. At 2 o'clock, the group will be joined by Turk and Swan, two lineback oxen who are the direct descendents of the oxen brought over from England in 1620.

So if you were feeling a bit disappointed that you couldn't make it to Miss Liberty's Birthday party, don't. Take a leisurely walk to the Navy Yard and enjoy the Nation's Birthday right in your own backyard. For more information on these and other Harborfest activities throughout the City, call 227-1528.

Artifacts From City Square Dig On Display At Bunker Hill Museum

This summer, visiting tourists and Charlestown residents alike will find a new attraction at the Bunker Hill Museum in historic Charlestown. Artifacts recovered during the ongoing Central Artery North Archaeological Data Recovery Program are currently on display in the museum which is located at 43 Monument Square. Groups and individuals are encouraged to visit the museum to view the artifacts and to schedule a tour of one of the nearby archaeological sites.

The artifacts presently on display were recovered during the 1985 field season from the City Square Archaeological District. They reflect the varied aspects of colonial life which once surrounded the Great House/Three Cranes Tavern and the adjacent 17th century structure which were unearthed last August. Imported bot-ties, clay tobacco pipes, gaming and gambling pieces are indicative of the activities which probably took place in the Three Cranes Tavern during the late 17th and early 18th centuries.

Tablewares, wine glasses, sewing needles, thimbles, wash basins and chamber pots are among the domestic materials on display, and remnants of Charlestown's thriving commercial area are evidenced in the ceramic vessels produced by local potters and lead weights used in colonial trade practices. Visitors will also witness colonial weaponry in the form of gunflints and musket balls.

Kay Whelan, President of the Charlestown Historical Society and Director of the Bunker Hill Museum, hopes that the exhibit will attract Charlestown residents to the museum in order to view the relics which lend testimony to their town's development from one of the nation's earliest colonial settlements to a thriving pre-revolutionary commercial center.

The Bunker Hill Museum is open Tuesday through Sunday from 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Admission is free.

The Central Artery North Archaeological Data Recovery Program is being conducted by The Public Archaeology Laboratory, Inc., for the Massachusetts Department of Public Works/Federal Highway Administration. The excavations, which began in the spring of 1985, will continue throughout the summer in preparation for proposed highway improvements in the Charlestown waterfront area.

Tours of the sites currently under excavation are free and available upon request. For information call Ann Lembeck, Site Interpreter, at 367-1280 between 10:00 a.m. and noon.

REAL ESTATE WEEKLY

By Joseph P. Gannon III
 Century 21 Silva Realty Associates

MOVING NEXT WINTER?

Don't be fooled into thinking that nobody buys a house during the winter. Smart buyers do! When you go out to look at houses next January or February, you won't have autumn leaves or spring flowers to add to each home's appeal. If you bring your imagination, however, you can choose among some terrific values and move in just in time to enjoy azaleas and tulips for yourself.

House hunting isn't always easy during the winter months. You may have to bundle up, and you may even have to slosh through some bad weather. Is it worth it? Generally, sellers who list their property during the winter are strongly motivated to sell. They may have been transferred, or they may have found another house to buy. This motivation and a somewhat small pool of buyers can add up to considerable savings or more favorable terms for people who are imaginative and hardy enough to take advantage of the cold weather values.

The first step toward learning about the exciting winter market is to find an agent who can handle the cold as well as you can. At Century 21, Silva Realty Associates our all-weather professionals, are ready to serve your real estate needs. Please call us at 242-7470, or stop by our offices at 142 Main Street in Charlestown.

138th Graduation Exercises Of Charlestown High School

The 138th Graduation Exercises of Charlestown High School was held at the Matthews Arena of Northeastern University on Thursday, June 12, 1986.

The welcome was extended by Aaron N. Hollins, Senior Class President, and the Valedictorian's Address was delivered by Fun-Fun C.

Graduates From Suffolk University

John M. Enos of 90 Green Street, Charlestown was awarded the degree of Bachelor of Science in Business Administration at the June 8th Commencement Exercises of Suffolk University.

Dr. Daniel H. Perlman, president of Suffolk University, conferred degrees on approximately 650 graduates from the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and School of Management.

Enos, a 1981 graduate of Christopher Columbus High School, is the son of Joan F.

July Summer Film Club

The July Summer Film Club continues on Tuesday, July 8, 1986 at 3:30 p.m. at the Charlestown Branch Library, 179 Main Street.

The movie will be "Brown Wolf", in which Walt and Madge try to tame a wild dog.

The suggested reading, in conjunction with this film, is The Call Of The Wild by Jack London.

Hui.

Honors were received by Charlestown residents William S. Werman, who was named to the National Honor Society and who also received Public Commendation for two years; and Daniel F. Meena, who received Public Commendation.

Scholarship and award winners from Charlestown announced during the graduation ceremonies, included:

Mary Emerson — Kiwanis Club of Charlestown, John F. Cushing Memorial Scholarship;

Vincent P. DeAngelo, Jr. — Dr. Leon W. Crockett Memorial Scholarship;

David Doherty and Mary Emerson — City of Boston, Boston University Scholarships;

William Werman — City of Boston, Northeastern University Scholarship;

Daniel F. Meena and Joan A. Olsson — Bunker Hill Post 26, American Legion Medals;

James Griffin — Mary Dorothea Devereaux Fund Award;

Robert B. O'Brien and Ann M. Doris — Norumbega Women's Club Award;

David Doherty — Mary Donohue Scholarship;

David Doherty — Catholic Association of Forester's Award;

Joan Olsson — City of Boston Typing Award;

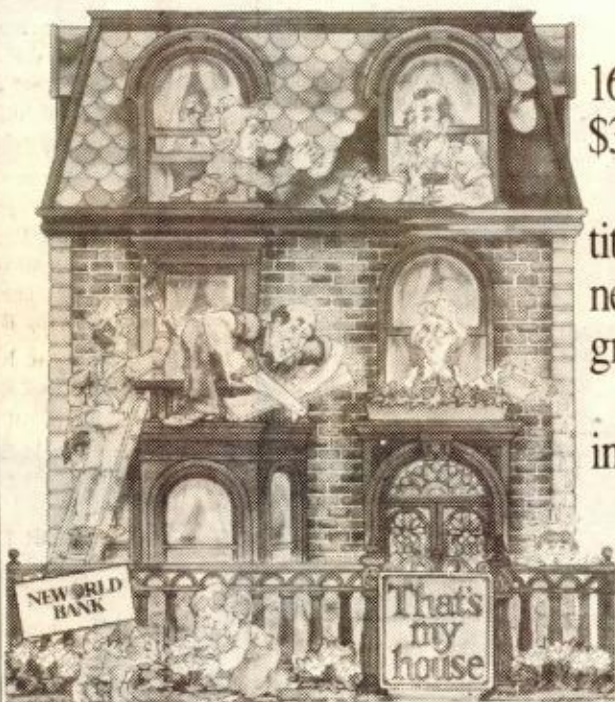

Ann Doris, Mary Emerson, James Griffin and Erin Murphy — Charlestown High School Service Awards; and William Werman — Charlestown Old Schoolboys' Award.

Members of the graduating class from Charlestown were: Robert E. Belyea, Raymond Codair, Vincent P. DeAngelo, Jr., David J. Doherty, Ann M. Doris, Mary Emerson, James J. Griffin, Daniel F. Meena, Ty Michael, Erin M. Murphy, Robert B. O'Brien, Martin J. O'Halloran, Joan A. Olsson, Susan Rawlinson, Douglas E. Rinaldi, Raymond J. Robertson, William B. Ross, Vutha Sao, Scott Vrusho and William S. Werman.

Enter your house. (Win up to $3,000.)

If you own your own home and live in one of Boston's 16 neighborhoods, you can win in the neighborhood of $3,000. Just for fixing up your house.

It's Newworld Bank's "That's My House!" awards competition. And there'll be 16 winners in all — fifteen $1,000 winners and a grand prize winner who'll walk off with three grand.

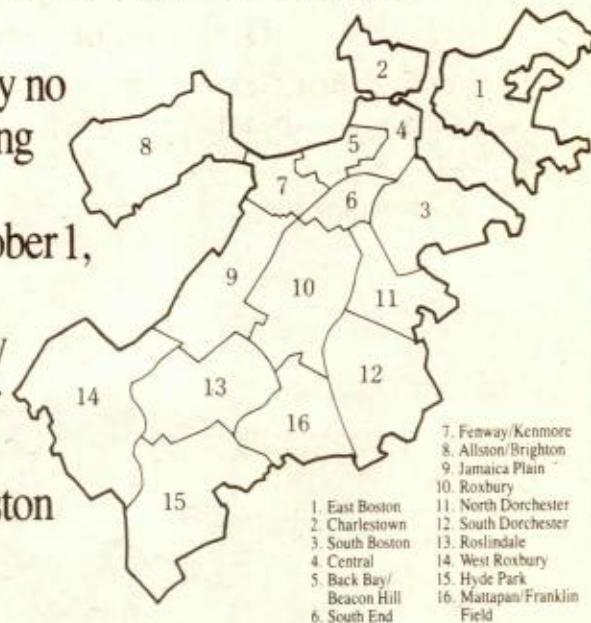

To enter, just show us that you've made some interesting home improvements. Things like new wings, roofs, kitchens or baths. You can warm up your house with a coat of fresh paint or a new heating system. Put up a fence, put down a lawn or do some unusual work on the siding.

There's practically no limit to the things you can do. But there is a limit to how long you can take.

Entries must be completed and submitted before October 1, 1986. And this year for the first time, "That's My House!" will benefit people without homes. For every eligible entry received, Newworld Bank will contribute $5 to the Fund for the Homeless.

So send in the coupon or stop at any of Newworld's Boston area offices and find out all the house rules.

You can improve your lot in lots of ways.

Dr. Ira Michaelson Opens Practice In Charlestown

by Joseph Dove

Dr. Ira P. Michaelson recently opened a new internal medicine and family practice in the Charlestown Professional Building at 175 Main Street.

In addition to providing medical care for area residents, Michaelson also wants to be seen as a part of the neighborhood. "I used to work as part of a large medical group," he said, "and I always felt as if I were working in a factory, with so many patients coming and going. With this new practice, I hope residents will be able to come into the office and feel comfortable seeing me."

After receiving a B.A. from Trinity College, Michaelson earned his M.D. in 1977 from the University of Florence. Michaelson is a specialist in internal medicine and has a background in minor emergency procedures. He has office privileges at the Somerville and Malden Hospitals.

Office hours are Monday through Friday from 1:00 to 6:00 p.m. Appointments can be made by calling 241-7690 or 241-7783 and walk-ins are accepted.

The U.S.S. Constitution And The Boston Naval Shipyard At Charlestown

by D. Paul O'Neill

The U.S.S. Constitution was built in 1797 at the Edmond Hart shipyard located in the North End of Boston. Mr. Hart was considered one of the best shipbuilders in the world. The vessel was designed by Joshua Humphreys of Philadelphia. The original frame was made from live oak and red cedar. All of the copper work was done by Paul Revere.

Three attempts were made at launching "Old Ironsides". The first two of these on September 20 and 22, 1797, were unsuccessful. The builder then suggested that October 21 would be the best time for launching, because the tide would be at its highest on that day. Early on the day of the projected launching, Captain Samuel Nicholson, the first Captain of the Constitution, arrived. He informed Mr. Hart that he would be going to breakfast, and on his return he would hoist the Stars and Stripes over the Constitution for the first time. The celebration started early that day and two ship-wrights and caulkers named Bentley and Harris hoisted the stars and bars over the Constitution for the first time. Nicholson, returning and seeing that someone had hoisted the Union Colors over the ship, was infuriated. As the legend goes, Nicholson was so enraged that when he christened the Constitution with a bottle of Madeira, the bottle shattered into so many smithereens that not one could be found. As for Bentley and Harris, there is no record of them ever working in Boston again.

The original figure-head of the Constitution was a bust of Hercules holding an uplifted club. This figure-head was shot away and mutilated in action against the Barbary pirates before Tripoli. It was retained in this condition throughout the Tripolitan conflict. This was replaced by a billethead which was utilized throughout the War of 1812 and until 1834, at which time a figure-head of Andrew Jackson took its place. This was used until 1874.

"Old Ironsides" never lost a battle, but it was decided in 1830 by the Department of the Navy, that the new-fangled steamships would cause the Constitution to be out-classed. Many of her timbers were rotten and the cost of overhauling her would be more than she was worth. It was therefore decided to scrap her, and bids for this were taken. A young Boston law student, Oliver Wendell Holmes, heard of the plan and dashed off an angry poem. The poem was printed September 16, 1830 by a local newspaper, and was reprinted throughout the nation:

"OLD IRONSIDES"

*Ay, tear the tattered ensign down!
Long has it waved on high,
And many an eye has danced to see
That banner in the sky;
Beneath it rang the battle-shout,
And burst the cannon's roar:
The meteor of the ocean air
Shall sweep the clouds no more!
Her deck, once red with heroes' blood
Where knelt the vanquished foe,
When winds were hurrying o'er the flood
And waves were white below,
No more shall feel the victor's tread,
Or know the conquered knee:
The harpies of the shore shall pluck
The eagle of the sea!*

*O, better that her shattered hulk
Should sink beneath the wave!
Her thunders shook the mighty deep,
And there should be her grave:
Nail to the mast her holy flag,
Set every threadbare sail,
And give her to the god of storms,
The lightning and the gale!*

As a result of this poem, protests from all over the country descended on the Department of the Navy. As the Barbary pirates had done earlier, the Naval Department now did in the case of the old frigate. She was towed up to Boston, with Captain Isaac Hull taking command as she entered Boston Harbor. There she was rebuilt and re-commissioned.

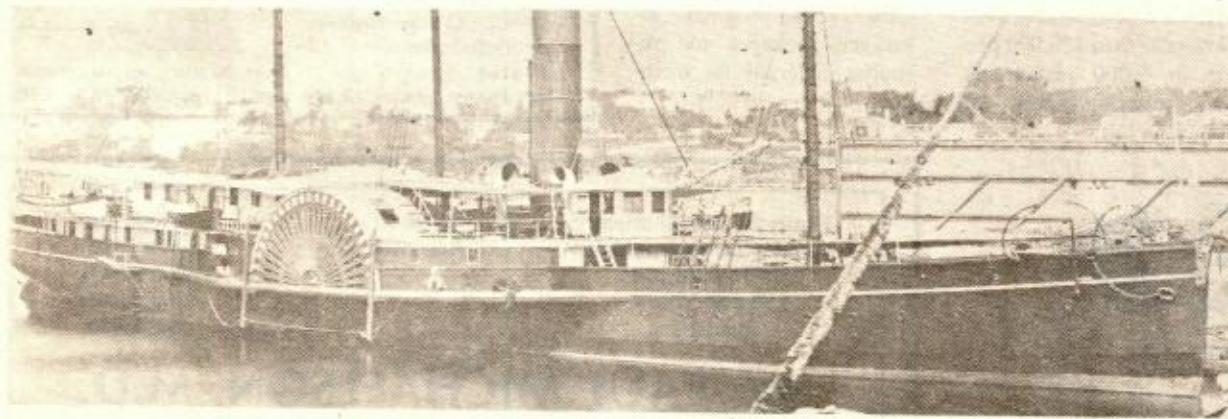

The Constitution continued to sail as part of the fighting Navy until 1855. She was again rebuilt in 1870 under the command of Lieutenant Commander George Dewey, who later became famous for destroying the Spanish fleet in Manila Bay. In 1877, "Old Ironsides" represented the United States Navy at the great Paris Exposition. By 1900, however, few people knew of the old hulk's fame; a wooden shed had even been built over her decks. She no longer seemed the once mighty Constitution. During the Spanish American War, her condition had been declared by everyone to be a national disgrace. The Constitution was once again rebuilt in 1906-1907, then again in 1925, with pennies contributed by school children, and she became a national museum.

Today, "Old Ironsides" has become a national symbol and is as important to the American legacy as Bunker Hill or the Alamo.

The Boston Naval Shipyard at Charlestown, formerly known as Moulton's (Morton's) Point, was purchased illegally for $19,350 with funds appropriated to build six 74-gun man-o-war vessels. This area was very well situated beside some of the deepest water in Boston harbor, and in one of its most secure parts. The area, incidentally, included the landing place of the British troops on June 17, 1775. The Navy Yard later came to be considered by the United States Government, the best piece of property it owned.

The first ship built and launched at the Yard was the "Frolic", a sloop of war commanded by Master Commandant Joseph Bainbridge (a brother of the Commodore William Bainbridge); and after making one or two prizes she was captured by the H.B.M. frigate, "Orpheus", and the schooner, "Shelbourne", on April 20, 1814, after a chase of sixty hours.

U.S.S. INDEPENDENCE

The second vessel built was the "Independence", also a sloop of war and was used to chase slave traders in the Caribbean. The "Alligator", built at the Yard, was a twelve-gun sloop which became the scourge of pirate ships operating in West Indian waters. The "Intrepid", built in 1874, a twin screw torpedo ship, was the first of her type added to the United States Navy.

The first Commandant of the Yard was Captain Samuel Nicholson (1800-1811); he was considered ineffective. The second and perhaps the most daring of all the early Commandants was Captain William Bainbridge. During the Tripolitan War, while in command of the "Philadelphia" and in pursuit of two Libyan pirate ships, he ran aground in uncharted waters. When the pirates realized that their foe was aground, they approached Bainbridge and asked him to lower his colors in defeat. Bainbridge replied; "The only time I shall lower the United States flag will be to raise it all the higher." He did so by nailing "Old Glory" to the top of the mast. The battle continued, and out-manned and out-gunned, Bainbridge was forced to scuttle the "Philadelphia" and abandon the ship.

YEOMANETTES

The role of women did not play an important part until World War I. "Yeomanettes" were recruited in 1917. During World War II, women made up twenty percent of the work force at the Navy Yard. Their ability as mechanics was highlighted by their lost-time accident rate, which was lower than that of men. Moreover, women undertook all types of jobs effectively.

Peak employment at the Boston Naval Shipyard reached 50,128 in July, 1943. In recognition of its high production record during World War II, the Boston Naval Shipyard was awarded a fifth star for its Army-Navy "E" banner in 1945. The Shipyard was thus placed in the top spot among all war industries, both governmental and private.

Residents Seek Continued Input On North Area Central Artery Reconstruction

by Marianne Martin

Despite funding constraints, engineers and consultants denied rumors that the public meeting held Tuesday, June 17th at the Knights of Columbus Hall was the last scheduled public meeting on the North Area Central Artery Reconstruction Project. Mario Tocci from the office of Commissioner Robert Tierney's of the Massachusetts Department of Public Works, said there is a problem funding the meetings, which cost approximately $6,000 a piece, but once a "cost effective" schedule is arranged, the meetings will continue. He said the next meeting will probably be held in September.

The bulk of the high price tag for the meetings was attributed to the presentation materials, including models, sketches, and drawings. Many residents were angry that the material cost was being charged to the public meetings, since the very same material is used at the various interagency meetings. Tocci said that these expenditures would be coordinated.

Matt Coogan, the Deputy Secretary from the Executive Office of Transportation and Construction Department, stressed that the funding worries should not take precedence at this point in the project. "We can stretch money," he said. "The most important thing we can do is come to a consensus on what you, the community, wants and then we can fight for the money in stages. We'll go to the legislature if we have to."

The North Area Central Artery Project is currently at what is termed the "25% stage" of design completion. The plans, to date, which were presented to the community on June 17th, were forwarded to the DPW, after which the designs will be at "75% completion." Resident Bill Lamb commented that if the next public meeting is held in the fall, around the same time contractor bids go out, then the community "can only listen." Lamb said there are too many unanswered issues on this project and the community should be actively involved. Another resident, Peg Bradley, suggested that the materials and models for the project be placed on display somewhere in Charlestown so that residents could review them at their own pace, digest the material, and come to the meetings complete with well thought out comments and suggestions, making for a more productive meeting.

Peter Smith, from Childs, Bertman, Tseckares and Casendino, Inc. (CBT), reviewed with the gathering an eight page list of issues either under study or issues resolved by the engineers since past meetings. While many of the items listed dealt with important, but somewhat minor aspects of the project, there were other items such as emergency vehicle access during the construction, which have yet to be discussed in great detail. Other issues such as parking, landscape, and street scape design, the loop ramp area, and the ventilation buildings were discussed at this meeting.

Dick Wheeler, Director of the USS Constitution Museum at the Charlestown Navy Yard, warned residents that unless parking was secured for visitors to the Navy Yard, Charlestown residents would suffer the consequences. "When I said in The Boston Globe that the tourists to Old Ironsides should come first, I meant that," Wheeler began. He said that residents should address the parking situation at the Navy Yard now, and once the construction begins, for both "civic" and "selfish" reasons. "If you don't worry about parking for these tourists, they are going to impact the community. Cars from Ohio will be parking in front of your homes."

Wheeler told the gathering that plans to secure parking under the Mystic Tobin Bridge, "where your fathers and grandfathers parked when they worked at the Navy Yard", has fallen through the cracks. Wheeler added he has brought his concerns to the National Park Service who "care, but don't understand." He continued, "I'm hearing some very fuzzy thinking from the Park Service. They're going to have to trust us that this (increased parking problem) is going to happen."

Elaine McCarthy agreed with Wheeler that the space under the bridge would be ideal for the Navy Yard's needs. Peg Bradley added, "The Museum and 'Old Ironsides' won't go away during the construction" and that all the agencies involved, the National Park Service, the Massachusetts Port Authority who own the land under the bridge, and those involved with the Central Artery Project, should meet and address the problem.

Wheeler warned, "When you hear the National Park Service's presentation — and it is going to be smooth — wade through the articulation. If I lived in Charlestown, I'd be rip-roaring mad."

The National Park Service parking situation was among the issues under study by the consultants. According to the handout, "The National Park Service is obligated to take the lead on this matter." The Massachusetts DPW will also work with the Park Service to identify their parking needs.

Nick Reed, Landscape Architect from CBT, presented residents with a variety of design alternatives for the City Square area where a number of new land parcels will be created, including a larger City Square as a result of the depression of the overhead roadway into tunnels. Most of the parcels are slated for development, however, they may remain vacant for four or five years before any development occurs. Reed has proposed a temporary landscaping plan for the parcels so they "will not look like an abandoned lot during the interim."

Two of the parcels discussed individually were Parcels 5 and 6. Parcel six is the proposed site of a 14 space parking lot for the Charlestown Court House, who will lose a 20 space area as a result of the project. Parcel five, the enlarged City Square Park, was discussed in depth. Utilizing the community input from the January meeting on the project, Reed said the square will be left "very green" as requested by residents. While the design he presented was termed as "temporary", many residents said they would prefer the design to be permanent.

Included in Reed's design was a wall or barrier along the Rutherford Avenue boundary of the square, which will serve to buffer the park from vehicular noise and exhaust fumes. Also in this area will be the permanent mounting of the World War II Veterans' Memorial and some artifacts from the YMCA currently located in City Square, but scheduled to be demolished. On the northern section of the square, on the Chelsea Street side, will be a bus stop and on the Park Street side, a hard surface area will be created for possible community uses. Extending across the square will be two pedestrian walkways, one from Park Street towards the Paul Revere Park, and the other from the outbound side of Rutherford Avenue to Chelsea Street.

Smith told the residents that the funding has yet to be appropriated for any of the landscaping proposals, but stated he was confident that the DPW would "okay" the City Square plan, since it was a revision of a 1982 landscape report which was accepted.

Rick Johnson commented, "Too much attention is being placed on temporary landscaping. We here in Charlestown should fight for something permanent. I'm afraid that once we get the land, we'll grow so attached to it that we won't want a building."

Others stressed the need for parking in the City Square area being what it is, perhaps one of the parcels could be used as a parking facility, even on a temporary basis. Dan Jaffe said, "The needs today and those of the 1990s may support the need for buildings, but this community will still be shy of adequate parking." Jaffe suggested constructing a parking garage in the loop ramp area, west of Rutherford Avenue.

When asked who would be responsible for the maintenance of these parcels during their temporary landscaped condition, Smith said, "We're not up to that point yet," but, "someone from the DPW said they would define that prior to the landscaping."

Eric Anderson questioned if the consultants and engineers could work with the community to ensure that Charlestown does not become overgrown with advertising billboard which will try to capture the attention of the increased traffic using the new roadway. Anderson cited the Cambridge Parkway as a beautiful roadway turned sour by advertisements for whiskey, etc. Smith told Anderson that a request for a "billboard free" area would best be addressed "in the political arena," however, Anderson said that there were a number of heavy hitters involved with this reconstruction project and the community could use their help. "You, being a big force, could say to the legislature that this is a billboard free area," Anderson said, "We need your help."

Reed also presented plans for the streetscape of City Square and the pedestrian walkway to be created between Lowney Way and Water Street, Main and Warren

Main And Warren Streets Reconstruction Update

Work continues on the first 1,000 square feet of the Main and Warren Streets Reconstruction Project, between Mishawum Street and Albion Place. John Driscoll, Project Director from Baker and Company, contractors for the project, reports that the smaller of the two necessary "tie-ins" for the water lines have arrived and are in the process of being connected. Driscoll said once the larger tie-ins are delivered, the water work will be completed, including the moving of some of the fire hydrants. The wait for these tie-ins has been responsible for the delay in the reconstruction project, but the time lost on this phase of the project will be "made up" in the second phase, added Driscoll.

After the water work is completed, a layer of fine grading will be set, followed by a dropping of the utility lines. Driscoll said that the gas company is currently dropping their lines. The telephone and cable companies will drop their lines sometime next week. Once the utility companies are finished, Baker and Company will set a denser grade material over these lines as a last preparatory step before pouring the asphalt.

Since the construction company is limited by contract to only 1,000 square feet of work at a time, Driscoll said he is hopeful the Massachusetts Department of Public Works will allow the construction team's request to have a second team begin work at the City Square end of the project area, in addition to extending an additional 1,000 square feet from Albion Place toward Thompson Square.

BRA Board Approves Two Charlestown Development Proposals

by Marianne Martin

The Boston Redevelopment Authority Board of Directors voted favorably on two Charlestown development issues at their Thursday, June 27th meeting.

First on the agenda was the request to transfer the interest in the Geselfi Corporation, parent company of the Charlestown Navy Yard development team, Immobiliare New England, to Neil St. John Raymond, Chairman of the Board, Robert Farrell commented that he was "satisfied" that Raymond would honor the 1978 Land Disposition Agreement between Immobiliare and the Authority.

"Mr. Raymond has assured me that it was his intention to complete and expedite what is there (in the agreement) with an emphasis on housing," said Farrell, "I'm more than satisfied."

Raymond told the Board

he will maintain the same management staff from Immobiliare, with some additional personnel. He also said that he will be rethinking the hotel proposal originally considered for Parcel 5 in the yard.

Bunker Hill Post 26, American Legion Hosts Annual 'Nite Before' Banquet

1985 CHIEF MARSHAL Edward Kelly presented a citation on behalf of Governor Michael Dukakis, to 1986 Chief Marshal Florence Johnson.

PRESIDENT of the Boston School Committee, John A. Nucci (right), presented a citation from the School Committee honoring Chief Marshal Florence Johnson.

PARADE CHAIRMAN James W. Conway welcomed Maureen Dunn, Northeast Region II Coordinator of the National League of Prisoners and Missing in Southeast Asia and presented her with a cap as Honorary Chief Marshal of the 1986 Bunker Hill Day Parade.

Saturday evening, June 14, 1986 marked the 68th Annual "Nite Before" Banquet, sponsored by Bunker Hill Post 26, The American Legion, at the Preble Room in the Charlestown Navy Yard.

The honored guest on this occasion was Florence Johnson, Past Commander of Post 26, Chief Marshal of the 1986 Bunker Hill Day Parade.

The invocation was delivered by Reverend Thomas Conway, Pastor of Saint Margaret's Church in Dorchester, former Pastor of Saint Catherine of Siena Church in Charlestown. Prayers were offered by Reverend Isaiah Sears, retired Pastor of the First Baptist Church and Reverend Brian Murdoch, Pastor of Saint John's Episcopal Church.

Other headtable guests included: Past National Historian of The American Legion and Banquet Chairman, James W. Conway, who acted as Master of Ceremonies; Commander of Bunker Hill Post, Arthur L. Hurley; Representative Richard A. Voke; Senator Francis D. Doris; Boston City Councillor Robert Travaglini; Boston City Councillor Albert O'Neil; Boston School Committee President John Nucci; Honorable Mary M. Brennan, Presiding Justice of the Charlestown District Court; Captain Philip M. Quast, USN, Commanding Officer of USS BUNKER HILL; John Burchill, Superintendent of the Boston National Historic Park; Past National Vice Commander of The American Legion, Frank R. "Butch" Kelley; John Wrenn, Chairman of the New England Caucus of The American Legion; Department of Massachusetts Commander of The American Legion, John J. Mulhern; Maureen Dunn, President of the Northeast Region II of POW/MIAs; and Commander Joseph Brown, USN, Commanding Officer of the USS CONSTITUTION.

The guest speaker, who responded to the toast "The Day We Celebrate", was Clarence M. Bacon of Maryland, Past National Commander of The American Legion.

Bacon recalled his first visit to Charlestown, some 40 years ago, while his ship, the USS Consolation, was undergoing overhaul in the Boston Naval Shipyard.

He spoke of the Monument, "which stands proudly in perpetual memory of those brave men, the founders of this nation, who risked their fortunes and lives for liberty. They faced overwhelming odds from a larger, better trained, British force. But they knew what had to be done and they did it. They could take the Mother Country's tyranny no longer, and they risked everything to gain their freedom."

Bacon noted that "since the American Revolution, there has never been a generation of Americans free from the pain of death on the battlefield . . . the price of freedom, handed to generation after generation by the founders of this great Republic, has not been easy or without cost." He stated that since the American Revolution, through the conflicts of Beirut and Grenada, the "total loss of American lives is just under 1,200,000."

The speaker pointed out that "we as a people and a nation have much to be thankful for" . . . citing "the opportunity to live and work in peace and security in the greatest nation ever conceived by man and the guaranteed right of every citizen, regardless of race, religion or creed to be treated equal under the Constitution and the Laws of the United States." Bacon related the significance of the 200th anniversary of the Constitution that will be celebrated in 1987, and that this year marks the 210th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence and the 100th birthday of the Statue of Liberty.

In conclusion, Past Commander Bacon stated, "Our

JAMES W. CONWAY, Banquet Chairman, presented Clarence M. Bacon of Maryland, Past National Commander of the American Legion, with a Bunker Hill Plate in appreciation of his serving as guest speaker at the Banquet.

FLORENCE JOHNSON, Chief Marshal of the 1986 Bunker Hill Day Parade and Vice President of the Charlestown Historical Society, was honored by the Society. Society President Kay Whelan, in making the presentation, noted that Florence was the first woman honored by being named Chief Marshal.

GUESTS at the "Nite Before" Banquet included (l. to r.) Past National Historian and Banquet Chairman, James W. Conway; Joseph F. Kelley, member of Post 26; Joseph P. Kelley, World War I veteran, member of Post 26, and an Honorary Chief Marshal of the Bunker Hill Day Parade; Past National Commander Clarence M. Bacon; Past National Vice Commander Frank R. Kelley, World War I veteran.

KAY WHELAN, President of the Charlestown Historical Society, presented a plaque to James W. Conway, from the Society, commending him on his over twenty years as chairman of the Bunker Hill Day Parade and Commemorative Exercises.

message is the same today as it was here at Bunker Hill in 1775 — to live free and independent in the Republic united for the good of mankind . . . Let us remember our obligations as citizens and resolve to continue with the ideals wrought here at Bunker Hill, and Lexington, and Concord, and throughout the tiny 13 colonies — for a life of freedom and the pursuit of happiness as one nation under God, with liberty and justice for all."

Thank You

I would like to thank my family, relatives and friends, and also the Priests and Nuns from Saint Catherine's, for their kindness to me while I was in the hospital.

Sincerely,
Mary (Sis) Rizzo

Thanks To The People Of Charlestown

As President of the Holy Name Band Association, I would like to take this opportunity to personally express my gratitude to the people of Charlestown during the Bunker Hill Day Parade!

It is one of the few Parades we attend where we are greeted with continuous applause and cheering along the entire route. It is very gratifying, especially on the hills, to know that people appreciate your efforts!

A "Special Thanks" must go out for the concern we saw for our kids on such an extremely hot day! We never once had to ask for water along the route, because the people of Charlestown were ready and willing to provide for us. You have no idea what this means and how grateful we were! You always hear about "Townie Spirit" — well, Holy Name Band saw it first hand!!!

Finally, my thanks to the people who organize this great parade for inviting us each year. It must be an awesome task to run a parade of that size, yet it seems to get better every year!

Sincerely,
Charlie Murray
Holy Name Band, West Roxbury

Thank You

On behalf of the Charlestown Militia Company 1775, I would like to thank the following people and businesses that helped to make the "Battle of Bunker Hill - 1986" a success: The residents of Charlestown; Mayor Raymond Flynn; Superintendent John Burchill of the National Park Service; Department Superintendent Wendall Simpson of the National Park Service; and Franklin Montford of the National Park Service; James Kidder of Priscilla of Boston; Tim Walsh of Walsh Associates; Captain Nathaniel Warner Company; Menotomy Minutemen; Wilmington Minutemen; 7th Mass. Regiment; Kevin Burke; John and Linda Fitzgerald; James O'Neil; Bernie Kelly; Bob Davidson; Jim and Gloria Conway; Kay Whelan; Kathy Giordano of The Charlestown Patriot; Judie Dunphy of The Charlestown Patriot; Norita Lee of Norita Lee Communications; The Print Stop; Charlestown Liquors; Paula's Place; Bunker Hill Florist; Kerrigan's Flower Shop; Front Page Restaurant; Mail for Tots; the Bunker Hill Day Parade Committee; and Heidi Maggelet.

Also, a special thanks to a select few of Militia members who gave of their time — Ensign Basil Greenlaw, Sergeant Major Dexter Wise, Janice Maggelet, Kathy Jones and Michael Maggelet.

Your Humble Serveant,
Captain Frank Maggelet

Board of Appeal Defers Decision On Bunker Hill Street Proposal

by Joseph Dove

A decision that could change the occupancy of 180-190 Bunker Hill Street from Two Stores, One Restaurant and Four Apartments to Two Stores and Fourteen Apartments was deferred by the Board of Appeal of the City of Boston until August 19th. An insufficiently formed proposal, no off-street parking provisions and local residents not being given the opportunity to voice their opinions were given as the reasons.

The appeal was filed by Patricia Heelen, seeking with reference to the premises at 180-190 Bunker Hill Street.

"The number of proposed units in relation to the size of the existing structure shows that this matter needs much more study," said Richard J. Dennis, Chairman of the Board of Appeal. "I suggest that you (Heelen) go back and work with the BRA staff on the problems."

John Tobin, President of the Charlestown Neighborhood Council, was on hand to ask the Board to delay their decision until such time as area residents could be notified of the proposed change. "I would also ask that some presentation be made to us (Council)," he said, "and that the abutters be given an opportunity to give their input to the proposed construction."

Another public hearing on the matter will be held at 11:00 a.m. on August 19th by the Board of Appeal.

The next Explorer Post Meeting will be held on Thursday, July 10th at 7:00 p.m. at 55 Bunker Hill Street.

Swim Teams Splash Around With H.P. Hood Inc.

Swim teams from the Boys and Girls Clubs of Boston were sponsored this year by H.P. Hood Inc., Charlestown. Harry Hood, the Hood mascot, opened the season in the fall at the Charlestown, Roxbury and South Boston Clubhouses with ceremonies promoting health and competition.

The season started with a kick-off event where Harry Hood presented the teams with sweatshirts, balloons and Hood citrus juices. Throughout the year the Boys and Girls Clubs of Boston swim teams competed against teams from other boys and girls clubs in the Boston area. Hood provided citrus juices for the swimmers at each home meet.

The season wrapped up this spring and Harry Hood was present again to hand out the awards. Swim team members at each club voted for their teammates to receive awards for: "Most Improved Swimmer," "Best All-Around Swimmer," and "Sportsmanship." Hood presented savings bonds to the winners in these categories at each clubhouse. All other swim team members were presented with certificates.

At the Charlestown Clubhouse, Paul Griffin received "Most Improved Swimmer," Myra Adams received "Best All-Around Swimmer," and Margaret Chase was awarded "Sportsmanship." "Swimmer of the Year," and "Outstanding Female Swimmer-Coaches Award."

Clippings From Gardens For Charlestown

by Jimmy Hall

Many of the worst vegetable pests seem to make their appearance during the month of July. Many gardeners would like to avoid the use of insecticides in the garden but would still like to harvest a decent crop. There are several ways to get the jump on pest insects, but they require vigilance on the part of the gardener and also a willingness to tolerate some insect damage to the vegetables.

1. Spend at least 15 to 20 minutes a day in your garden. Look under leaves, examine stems closely, be aware of what is going on in and around your plants.
2. Become familiar with both pest and beneficial insects that may be in the garden; not every insect is a "bad bug".
3. Keep weeds out of the garden; weeds provide both shelter and food for many pest species.
4. Use yellow "sticky" traps to trap such insects as aphids and whitefly. These may be purchased commercially or made at home using cardboard squares painted yellow and coated with mineral oil or petroleum jelly. Place them on a stake so they are at plant height.
5. Many insects can be managed by hand-picking the adults and larvae and squashing the egg masses. Don't be afraid to handle insects; they won't bite.
6. B.t., a bacterium lethal to caterpillars, will control such pests as the imported cabbage worm and tomato hornworm. Insecticidal soaps will control soft-bodied insects.

Sometimes it will be necessary to use an insecticide. Please be sure to read the label carefully before using the product and to follow all the label directions!

With all the above in mind, be on the lookout this month for the Mexican bean beetle, Colorado potato beetle, squash vine borer, tomato hornworms, imported cabbage worms and striped cucumber beetles!

by Suzanne Roche
Charlestown Youth Soccer Club's season was a huge success with more than 70 children, ages six through eight, playing six out of eight games scheduled. The games were played on the Charlestown High School's football field by the four teams that made up the league. The teams were: The Shamrocks - Coach, Mike Duncan and Back-up Coach, Don Bilodeau; The Strikers - Coach, Bob Murray and Back-up Coach Chris Roebelin; The Hot Peppers - Coach, Sis Greatorax and Back-up Coach Patti Machado; and The Goal Busters - Coach, Bob Urquhart and Back-up coach, Suzanne Roche.

This first season's success was due to the efforts of many individuals who worked as a team, as well as to the enthusiastic participation of the boys and girls and their parents.

Among the individuals whose contributions insured that everything was ready for the season was Polla Bilodeau, with her excellent organizational skills, as well as being one of the "prep team" that lined the field, carried markers and balls. Next was Kim Wright, Program Director at the Boys and Girls Club, whose experience in sports provided practical advice as well as doing the actual purchasing of lining equipment, driving referees back and forth to Tufts and being an integral member of the "prep team". The "prep team's" third member was Bob Urquhart, who also coached The Goal Busters. The Boys and Girls Club provided staff members Danielle Ondrink and Andy Foose, Harvard University soccer players who conducted the first demonstration of the basics of soccer, and led the drills that helped to evaluate each boy's and girl's ability and skill level. Chris Roebelin and Jeff

Murray, Tufts University students and Butch Chardavoyne, parent and experienced referee, enthusiastically refereed the games. Coaches Mike Duncan, Bob Murray, Sis Greatorax and Bob Urquhart generously gave up their Saturday mornings to guide their teams. Karen Hayes, Pat Urquhart and Suzanne Roche served as members of the Board that planned the league. Bob McGann, from the Charlestown Community Schools, provided advice and encouragement as well as the shirts. Bill Brine of Brine Sports donated the soccer balls and Don Bilodeau took the pictures that documented the league's progress in The Patriot.

Due to popular demand, The Charlestown Youth Soccer Club is planning an expanded fall season that will include a nine to 11 year old division. Volunteers are needed for coaching positions, referees and "prep team" duties.

Call 241-8200 for further information. Watch for registration information in late August in The Patriot. Thanks to all the members, the Charlestown Youth Soccer Club can look forward to a fall season that promises to be a winner, too!

Boys and Girls Club Announces Summer Day Camp Schedule

The Charlestown Clubhouse will be conducting its first two-week session of summer day camp between July 7th and July 18th. Daily trips will be taken to the following locations:

- July 7th — Good Harbor Beach
- July 8th — Walden Pond
- July 9th — Silver Lake
- July 10th — Hopkington State Park
- July 11th — Hampton Beach
- July 14th — Kingston State Park
- July 15th — Cochituate State Park
- July 16th — Salisbury Beach
- July 17th — Stage Fort Park Beach
- July 18th — Mystery Ride

The day camp is being run in cooperation with Charlestown Community School and the Kennedy Family Service Center in providing a comprehensive summer program to neighborhood youth. In addition to the day camp activities, the Club will be the site of a Summer School Program. Tutoring help in this activity will focus on children's reading and math skills.

In addition to those activities occurring at the Boys and Girls Club, other recreational programs will be taking place at the high school complex on Medford Street. Several swimming activities will be available in the olympic sized pool and other activities will take place in the gym and on the outdoor playing fields. For further information call 242-1775 or 242-2770.

Pop Warner Corner

I am sorry to announce that due to the lack of response during registration, I am forced to cancel the Pop Warner Football League in Charlestown for the upcoming season.

Every effort was made to notify youngsters of the registration, including notices in The Patriot; signs were placed in Mishawum, Newtowne and in some of the stores along Bunker Hill Street; and registration forms were sent out to eligible players and were left at Saint Francis de Sales and Saint Catherine Schools.

Of the 33 forms mailed out, seven were returned to me and only 12 of the 30 forms left at each school were returned.

We cannot run a football league with only 19 players — there is nothing more I can do. I hope that we will be able to have Pop Warner Football in Charlestown next year.

Thank you,
Matt Stillman

Votes Approval

The Board voted unanimously in favor of the transfer.

The Board also voted favorably for the request by Robert Borsakian to construct a 28,000 square foot facility on Parcel 15-2C2, A Street. This is the third time Borsakian's request has gone before the Board seeking approval to construct a new facility for his business, the Liberty Bell Wholesale Grocery, currently located on Main Street.

Honor Roll

The honor roll for the fourth quarter at Don Bosco Technical High School in Boston has been announced by Charles A. Schuetz, principal.

Two Charlestown juniors, John W. Ezekiel of 28 Pleasant Street and Kevin M. Robinson of 20 Adams Street, received second honors.

North Area Central Artery Reconstruction

Streets will be linked to City Square by the use of similar curbing and brick sidewalks. As for the Warren Street Extension which will be built, Reed said that concrete sidewalks will be used to tie in with the waterfront roadways. All walls and curbing will be constructed in traditional Charlestown granite and brick, Reed assured.

As for the pedestrian walkway, Reed said it will either be constructed of 3 1/2 inch thick glass block, which is durable and attractive, "one of the best materials", he said, "it is easy to clean, and provides the walkway with additional lighting", or it will be constructed from concrete walls and a brick passageway. Reed said while the glass block is the more preferable of the two design alternatives, it is also the more expensive.

One resident questioned pedestrian safety in the passageway, especially at night. Smith said that all areas will be well lit, however, he warned, "I have yet to find a light that is vandal proof. There is no way to keep vandals from them unless there is activity or eyes on the street."

Reed said that the entire City Square area will be lit with gas light replicas, but said unlike those once seen on Main Street which "left a bad taste in your mouth," technology has advanced so that the new lights "are not vandal proof, but are vandal resistant."

Skip Smallridge and Deeneen Crosby from Wallace Floyd Associates discussed the loop ramp area. Smallridge told the residents that this area is difficult not only to imagine and comprehend, but also to explain because of the immense heights involved, and because most Charlestown residents do not really know the area.

"It's a multi-leveled puzzle", he began. Along the Cambridge side of this area, that city proposes to construct a residential area requiring the landscape architects to design a buffer, so, as Smallridge says, "people living there won't have to look at 88 foot high loop ramps and cars."

Included in this area is the Paul Revere Park which will be extended and design alternatives will be included in the Metropolitan District Commission's plan to extend the Esplanade to Charlestown. While the Paul Revere Park is included in the North Area project, the Esplanade is only funded as far as the design stage. Crosby said they "took the liberties" of designing such things as a pedestrian bridge from the Paul Revere Park over Miller's River and the B & M Railroad towards the Spaulding Rehabilitation Hospital, however, there has been no commitment from the MDC that these would be constructed.

While many present voiced support for the Esplanade expansion to Charlestown, others were concerned about the pedestrian safety on the proposed footbridge which would be 72 feet long with only two egresses, one at each end. Judge Mary Brennan from the Charlestown District Court, for one, said that such a structure would only serve to increase business at the court. Brennan said that there would be muggings and purse snatchings, among other crimes, on the bridge.

As for the loop ramps themselves, Smallridge described the landscaping according to the various heights of the ramps. At the portal, the land will be filled in. Underneath the intermediate section, there would be crushed stone. At the highest elevation, there would be dense plantings such as trees, which would serve to keep the motorists' vision focused on the roadway and not the surrounding views. The entire infield area will be fenced in.

Dan Kovacevic asked if these off ramps would be designed in such a way as to attract nesting birds. Smallridge said the ramps will be situated on 12 foot wide pedestal structures thus providing "no plan to relocate the starlings from City Square."

The final item discussed at the meeting was the design of the two ventilation buildings for the tunnels. Smith highlighted the most visible of the two, which will be located between the two loop ramps west of Rutherford Avenue. The other building which will be designed in a similar manner to the Rutherford Avenue building, will eventually be "wrapped" with an other building, since it is to be located on one of the parcels.

According to Smith, the ventilation buildings, which during normal traffic serve to bring air into the tunnels and, in case of a fire, reverse themselves in order to draw smoke out of the tunnels, will be 48 feet high and designed in a dual level structure. Since the Rutherford Avenue side building will be highly visible, Smith says it will be designed in an industrial manner, as not to look like a house or office structure. There will be three air stacks extending from the roof of the higher section of the building. Around the door and garage size entrance will be raised archway configurations as to emphasize the building's use. The building will be brick with precast cap around the facade with a copper or copper-colored roof. Smith said the building will either be yellow brick, similar to the Court House and Roughan Hall, or dark brick, like greater Charlestown.

Anderson commented that he did not want to see another yellow brick building. "I live on Town Hill and I've been talking to my neighbors and we're not crazy about yellow brick. Please don't go to any extra effort to find yellow brick."

While many residents asked that a meeting be scheduled for some time during the summer months, there was no indication that such a meeting would occur. As it stands, the next meeting will occur after Labor Day Weekend. The Charlestown Patriot will publish notification of any meetings regarding this project as soon as the information is received.

pedestrian conditions in that area."

Governor Michael Dukakis also praised city and state officials. "This is the way government is supposed to work," Dukakis said. "I'm extremely pleased that state and city officials were able to work together to make this project a reality. Charlestown residents should also be pleased with the new traffic signal system as well."

Projects like the Medford and Terminal Street new traffic signal system are part of Massport's overall commitment to work closely with local residents and elected officials in Charlestown.
