

KIBO ECLIPSE REVIEW

Making money through online business has been a dream of many.

But the problem is how to make it real? What should be the right approach?

The Kibo Eclipse might be the solution you are looking for.

What Is Kibo Eclipse?

Kibo Eclipse is a brand-new training package designed and developed by eCommerce experts Aidan Booth and Steve Clayton.

This training course will teach you how to run an online business that sells physical products without working with Shopify or Amazon platform.

Kibo Eclipse lets you easily create a store with any type of product. Once you determine what sells the most, you can scale it and advertise using free traffic sources.

Who Are the Mentors?

The Kibo Eclipse breakthrough was developed by two well-known internet marketers, Steve Clayton and Aidan Booth. These two experts have linked their palms to assist customers in utilizing their eCommerce business solutions to earn extra money.

Aidan Booth is a New Zealander who moved to Argentina in 2003. He failed to obtain employment. After many struggles, he eventually established his first website, www.aidanbooth.com, in 2005. His site was not working at first. As a result, for months, he had to pay traffic to generate income.

He then experimented with more prominent affiliate and e-commerce websites, which didn't work out for him. Then, in 2010, a Google algorithm update struck his new extravagance hard, forcing him to lose money on the website.

However, he was not stopped in his tracks when it came to starting afresh, increasing force, and making greater profits in the potential of internet traffic. At around this moment, Steve Clayton and Tim Godfrey, another member of Kibo Eclipse, met him.

Steve Clayton is also a well-known ultra-successful marketer who partnered up with Aidan back in 2013.

Steve is a seasoned eCommerce specialist with a lot of expertise in digital marketing and management.

The pair has established several successful internet enterprises and has produced several training programs to share their knowledge with the rest of the world.

Their joint adventure "Kibo Eclipse" training session is intended to become a breakthrough for e-commerce platforms and businesses.

How Does Kibo Eclipse Work?

- A generic website domain will be provided to you as a student.
- After that, the Eclipse course will assist you in establishing a store with a high-converting theme and a pre-loaded website.
- You'll be shown how to promote the best product of the year that sells the most.
- The next stage is to expand your inventory by adding different items to the website.
- The order goods will be delivered to customers directly by the US suppliers at the time of sales.
