GIBSON IDEAS FOR FINANCING DURING A TIGHT MORTGAGE MARKET

No. 1 THE SUBSIDIZED MORTGAGE RATES AS LOW AS 3% BELOW CURRENT RATES

Through a major mortgage lender we can introduce the buyer of your home to a mortgage program where the rate can be lowered as much as 3% below current rates by paying "points" (a point is 1% of the mortgage amount). Call for details.

THE SELLER SUBSIDIZED MORTGAGE

Another way of lowering the effective mortgage rate is for the seller to pay (for a limited time) the difference between the current high rates and a lower, more attractive rate. The advantage to the seller is to pay a relatively small amount to attract a buyer and avoid lowering the sale price. We'll be glad to explain this and other ways to sell in a tight and very expensive mortgage market. For financing ideas, call JOEL CLAYDON at:

Collier's Market - Courteous Service And Quality Merchandise

by Maria Girvin

It's kind of like shopping in the old days.

Before the A & P's and the Star Markets.

The old days when a butcher was more of a family friend than a faceless being who kept meat cases stacked with packages wrapped in cellophane.

Shopping at Collier's Market, 246 Bunker Hill Street, is a step back to basics — the basics of courteous service and good quality merchandise.

Now in its fourth week of operation as a meat, produce and grocery store, pride is reflected in Charlestown resident Robert Collier's first business venture through the freshly painted walls, the neatly stacked canned items and the several "first dollars" hanging on the wall behind the meat counter. "Why customers quit your store" headlines a sign further down the wall, listing the "don'ts" in serving the public.

"Anything else Mrs. O'Leary? ... No, the fish isn't in yet ... You don't have to walk back just tell me what you want. I've got nine children. Anyone of them would be happy to deliver it."

Robert Collier of Albion Place

has the goal of opening several other corner stores in the future. A meat specialist for First National 28 years, Collier now works with his children ranging in age 24 to 4 and a First National co-worker who taught Robert how to cut meat, to provide general grocery services to Charlestown.

No stranger to Charlestown, Collier has been very active in children's sports. He is a past director and coach of Pop Warner and presently serves as treasurer. He was also director of Little League and now serves as treasurer.

"I've always had an inkling to do this and when First National closed, I thought this was a good time."

As a meat specialist, Robert's store will specialize in meat, offering a better grade of meat than found in larger supermarkets. He says his prices will be in line with market conditions. Fresh fish can be purchased on Thursday's and Friday's and there is free delivery for everyone.

Collier is confident that his personal service and good quality meats will make his store a success. "I've had a tremendous response already. One woman came all the way from Arlington to buy five pounds of sirloin steak tips."

Free delivery can be requested by calling 242-3141.

Charlestown Little City Hall News

The road construction of Bunker Hill Street is completed. Consequently, there is no excuse why street cleaning cannot be done efficiently. However, even with the construction out of the way, street cleaning cannot be done correctly if residents refuse to move their cars.

In the past I have given notice of police tagging for illegal parking on street cleaning days. Many residents heeded this warning for a while and the street conditions improved. However, as seems to be the history of getting residents in a routine of moving for street cleaning, residents have become lax again. Consequently, cars will be tagged.

ATTENTION

Residents of Bunker Hill Street and Main Street, check outside your door for street cleaning hours. A sincere effort will be made to clean up.

Boys' Club News

by Charlie McGonagle

Alley cats and mongrel dogs, such is the extent of the city dweller's exposure to wildlife. How easy it is to remember one's first trip to the country in a borrowed, beat up sedan, complete with running boards and rumble seat.

Ma and Dad occupy the front seat, the kids the rear. They are awed as the city buildings are replaced by suburbia's single family homes, and finally an open pasture. Under a lonely shade tree stands a cow — bending toward her grassy meal.

"Look," says Dad, "A cow!"

He points to the center of the meadow. His arm extended to the left. The children cease their back seat activities, their attention drawn toward the single tree and the feeding cow.

"Wow!" exclaims the younger son. "Which one is the cow?"

The arguments which may develop between city dwellers and their counterparts in suburbia are many. Each side feels the advantages of the particular choice outweigh the disadvantages, and each side, of course, is legitimate in its arguments. In many cases, the bottom line is choice.

Several years ago, I had the good fortune of being in the right place at the right time. My daughters were very young, and I was interested in giving them a week or two each summer in the country or at the seashore. After spending a few very enjoyable weeks at a New Hampshire cottage, the opportunity to buy the place presented itself in a more than inviting way. The owner's family had grown, the family business had expanded, and he was very anxious to relieve himself of the burden of maintaining a place his family no longer used. He "made me an offer I could not refuse," as somebody once said.

Over the next few years, I was afforded the opportunity of experiencing life in the country, and although I have derived an enormous amount of happiness from my good fortune, I have also encountered problems which are totally alien to us, the city folks.

For instance, in the city we have water provided by the city. If we encounter a problem, we call the city. In many summer cottages, mine included, the source of water is a well. If a problem surfaces, you either fix it yourself, call in a man at great expense or dig a new well. While all this is going on, you borrow water from your neighbor, providing his well is operable, to make a pot of coffee, and you travel to the lake with a five gallon container to get enough water to flush your toilet and wash your dishes. Now, anybody who has ever used a toilet knows it is flushed much more often than once a day. The more days that go by without correcting the problem, the more irritated your neighbor becomes with your constant knocking on his door with empty bucket in hand, and the more irritated you become each time you hear a flushing toilet, knowing the result will be another trip to the lake for another five gallon delivery.

I have, out of necessity, learned to drive a point fifteen feet into the ground, draw water, connect it through a pump to the sink and toilet. I have also learned to appreciate water, to sit and listen to it fill the tank behind the toilet, knowing I no longer must rescue five gallons of the cool, colorless liquid from the lake. The splashing sound of water against porcelain can create a symphony of beautiful music, believe me, it can.

I have met the challenge of the Carpenter Ants, but only after becoming, once again, out of necessity, a student of their idiosyncrasies with their tireless habits. These tiny gnawers can destroy the supporting beams of a home in short order. Unlike the cooperative Alley Cats and Mongrel Dogs of the city who respond to an angry "Shoo!", the Carpenter Ant allows that, and any other command of that nature, to fall on deaf ears. In the case of the Carpenter Ant who is leaving small piles of sawdust in various locations around the summer home, an exterminator is an absolute must.

The pesky Mosquito is another creature whose presence, in great numbers, is not felt by the city dweller. God help the person who would like to sit in his suburban yard after supper on a warm summer evening, thus the popularity of screened porches and portable screen houses.

The Black Fly, an insect whose size greatly contradicts the viciousness of its bite, can be described only as a vampire. The Black Fly bite has a delayed and drastic reaction. The itching and swelling can last for a week, the broken skin, sometimes two weeks.

I have seen an uninvited chipmunk visit a family party, clearing the cottage of humans in less than ten seconds. I have seen a bee walk noisily across my pillow, no more than two inches from my nose, a skunk walk by defiantly, causing all in attendance to freeze in their tracks, breathing only when absolutely necessary, and raccoons causing a middle of the night racket at a nearby garbage barrel.

And this year I have seen the Gypsy Moth Caterpillar. Recently a friend called. "I think your cottage is moving," he said. Because it is less than forty-five minutes from here to there, I hopped in the car and drove northward to investigate.

Since I had last seen it, the cottage had grown a coat of black, moving fur. I had the perfect solution. I would hook up the garden hose and wash the creepy critters off — once and for all. With hose in hand, I attacked. They fell by the scores. A triumphant smile worked its way to my lips as I continued the watery onslaught around the house. Finished now, I stepped back to admire my work. The smile turned itself upside down as I saw the caterpillars had reclaimed their territory.

Mixing the chemical "Sevin" in a garden sprayer, I climbed to the roof and began coating the leaves of the overhanging maples and oaks, or at least what was left of them. It was at this point that I discovered the caterpillars and the mosquitos were allied by a secret pact. For each caterpillar I attacked, a half dozen mosquitos dove, Kamakazee-style, in my direction.

Resembling, I suppose, one of The Three Musketeers, I directed the chemical spray toward the trees with my right hand, and swatted mosquitos with my left. All the while, I straddled the "A" frame of the roof, quite precariously, I might add.

An hour and a half after I first began my assault on the Gypsy Moth Caterpillar, I descended from the roof, defeated. Only the sound of the gentle rain falling softly on the remnants of oak and maple leaves afforded me any pleasure. I looked skyward to see the source of the showering mist. There was not a cloud in the sky! The sound I was hearing was that of thousands of caterpillars enjoying a gourmet dinner catered by Mother Nature herself. I had heard of this sound, but until now, had not believed it.

I could see the sunlight touching the lake's opposite shore as it struggled in its final minutes to illuminate. The summer cottages peeked through spring's new foliage. A bird whose name I did not know, perched itself upon a nearby branch. His cheerful song answered by another in the distance. I sat back and sipped the pleasure of nature, grateful for having a place like this to come to.

Three caterpillars marched forward on my car's hood. Two more fell upon the windshield. I slapped at a mosquito feasting on my face, and began to scratch at the Black Fly bites, just now beginning to make their presence known. The Skunk passed, lifting his tail menacingly in the direction of my car. It was time to come home.

Redistricting And Parade Main Topics Of CTC Meeting

by Maria Girvin

District representation in the City Council and on the School Committee was widely discussed at last week's Charlestown Town Council meeting held at the Kent Community School.

Dave Scanders, a member of Boston's Back Bay Organization called FEN-PAC and supporter of a petition to put the districting proposal on the 1981 ballot, spoke before residents, explaining the petition and why he supported it.

According to him and circulars being passed around Boston neighborhoods, Charlestown has not seen one of their residents serve on either the School Committee or the City Council in 30 years. This is typical of other communities like Brighton. Scanders said that by dividing the city into nine districts of 73,000 residents each and electing officials from each district along with several officials at-large, there would be more accountability for councillors and school committee members. "You can't be represented any worse than what you already are," said Scanders.

Scanders said that should the petition, which has received 24 thousand signatures, (needing only 15 thousand, to be placed on the ballot) pass by popular vote, Charlestown will probably be aligned with the North End and East Boston in making up one district and equalling approximately 73 thousand residents. There would be less competition among neighborhoods and communities for policy-making, according to Scanders.

However, Little City Hall Manager Brian Hickey disagreed saying the present at-large voting process provided an automatic coalition of communities and officials on the council and school committee, citing Charlestown's alliance with Dorchester and South

Boston, who hold the most seats on both the council and school committee.

Other residents agreed saying that should Charlestown merge with East Boston and the North End, they would be outnumbered by the two predominantly Italian neighborhoods and thus votes would be made along ethnic lines, decreasing Charlestown's chances of seating a resident in public office.

Resident Jimmy Walsh agreed that a more equal balance of power was needed in the City Council and the School Committee but suggested revising the City Charter to provide more power for the City Council as a better alternative to districting communities.

Funding for next year's Bunker Hill Day Parade was put before residents by Chief Parade Marshal Bud Whelan who said a strong possibility exists that the city will no longer provide the initial $5,000 to offset parade costs, once Proposition 2½ goes into effect.

Whelan said $4,000 will be needed in the parade fund by February, if the Parade Committee is to continue planning, as commitments to hire bands must be made at this time.

"If there isn't $4,000 in that till by February, I'm not going to knock myself out," said Whelan. "There just won't be a parade. And that's a very sorry thing to happen."

Whelan also said the committee will need 100 to 200 people to help with next year's parade, selling chances, helping with fund-raisers, etc. "There are 17 thousand residents in Charlestown and if each one gave a dollar, there would be one of the best parades we ever had."

According to Whelan, several Charlestown clubs have agreed to sponsor bands next year and the Knights of Columbus has committed $1,000 seed money.

CTC member Kenneth Morse reported that he and CTC member Don Jackson met with Deputy Superintendent Joseph Saia to discuss combining the Community/Police Relations Meeting with the CTC Meetings.

The police meeting will be first on the agenda and after an allotted amount of time will retire to a table in the back of the hall for residents wishing to privately discuss problems with the police representative.

The first meeting will be on a trial basis.

Headstart Program Gets New Playground

by Keith F. Westerman

Area schools, government agencies, businesses, and residents gave the Kennedy Center's Headstart Program a head start on summer fun for its young enrollees recently when they gathered together to rebuild the Headstart playground at the Old Kent School.

More than 20 individuals donated their time and, in the case of the businesses, materials for a two-day reconstruction of the playground's landscape and play structures.

During this reconstruction project, the old sand in the playground was removed, trucked out, and replaced. Two truck tire structures which will provide play for the children were built, and the entire area was completely cleaned.

The Headstart Program presently serves more than 170 local preschool children with socialization programs, one of which is supervised recreational play in the Old Kent School playground. And, in addition to the enrollees, many of the neighboring youth of the Bunker Hill Project make use of the Headstart playground, seven days (and nights) a week.

THE GENEROSITY of donated time and materials by individuals and businesses has resulted in a renovated playground for children enrolled in the Headstart Program.

Given the budget concerns of the Kennedy Center, the project was welcomed by the agency.

Said John T. Gardiner, executive director of the Kennedy Center, "The companies, government agencies, schools, Headstart staff, Headstart parents, and local residents who worked on the playground ought to be praised for their unselfish help. It was very gratifying to see support in the community."

Those who donated time and materials included:

- J.F. Kennedy Family Service Center, Early Childhood Program, Staff and Children
- Parents Council of Charlestown Headstart and Day Care
- Northeastern University, Department of Recreation and Leisure Studies
- Boston Sand & Gravel
- Ted Horne & Ed Coldman, (Maintenance and Repairs, Bus Driver, Kennedy Center)
- ABCD Youth Affairs (Henry Smith)
- Ben Heller Tire Company (Chelsea)
- Jet Realty (Somerville - Joe D'Ovidio)
- Charlestown Board of Trade (Joe Flaherty and Bill Galvin)
- MASSPORT, Division of Consumer Affairs (Kathy Leonard and Bob Dentriment)
- Company B 101st Engineers, Chelsea National Guard
- Anonymous Donors and Workers

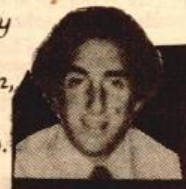

Steve Shuman, Headstart program director, called the project fantastic. "It was amazing to see so many diverse community groups pull together for a much needed construction project. I want to thank the Headstart staff who put this together, especially Rob McGill, our teacher coordinator who organized this desperately needed work."

ILL-FITTING DENTURES

Dentures which have been worn for some time can become loose. This is especially true if the dentures are not removed from the mouth for at least six hours a day allowing the tissues time to recover from the stress which dentures cause. Also, the ridges on which the dentures rest change continually making it necessary to have new dentures or dentures relined periodically. Furthermore, growth of extra tissue, bone problems, and even tumors can cause dentures to fit poorly. Routine dental examinations, even for patients with dentures, can be done to avoid, to minimize, or to treat these problems.

Property Equalization Representatives In Charlestown

Charlestown residents will be seeing representatives from the City's Office of Property Equalization (OPE) as they continue visiting homes to collect information about property characteristics.

This effort is part of the citywide, court mandated project to revalue all real property (residential, commercial and industrial) in Boston by the Fall of 1982.

Pictured below is John Fiumara completing the inside inspection. During this interior portion of the visit, he will list such information as the type of plumbing, electrical and heating systems, in addition to other structural characteristics about the house. Perimeter, story height and square footage are just several of the items he will list as he measures the outside of the house.

OPE data collectors are trained to measure residential property and to list specific information about property characteristics. They are not interested in residents' personal belongings, as they have no bearing on the value of property. Their only job is to collect the information necessary for a fair and accurate revaluation of your property.

The data collectors will be wearing clearly marked identification badges bearing the City of Boston seal. They will make their visits Monday through Saturday.

The information gathered by the data collectors will be checked by the Office's quality control staff and by the property owners. Within a reasonable amount of time before homeowners are due to receive their equalized values, they will receive a copy of the information gathered for their own verification.

For further information, or to schedule an appointment for this visit, please call 725-3307.

JOHN FIUMARA, Property Equalization Representative, records the type of millwork in a house in Charlestown. Representatives will be visiting homes in Charlestown during June and July.

Receives Masters At Bentley

More than 7,000 people attending Bentley College's 62nd Commencement ceremonies on Saturday afternoon, May 16, heard Juanita Kreps urge almost 1,000 degree candidates to enter the business world looking for "exciting work, not certain answers."

Local degree candidate who participated in Bentley College's commencement ceremonies include: Joan M. Kottcamp of 35 High Street who received a Master of Science Degree in Finance.

Graduate From B.C. High

On Sunday, May 31, 1981, Boston College High School's 117th annual commencement took place in the Viola Stadium on the school's Dorchester campus. The 275 graduates received their diplomas from B.C. High President, the ment sometime next week when the plan is finalized. We will be soliciting funds from many of the larger businesses here in Charlestown to defray some of the costs of opening the pool. Any type of donation, ideas and suggestions are welcome.

In order to make this project work, The Charlestown Board of Trade will need a great deal of help from the Charlestown community itself. From the youths, we will need unending cooperation in helping to curb the senseless vandalism to the pool and the problems in the park when the pool is closed. We also need the adults to give us suggestions and ideas to help the pool open and run smoothly throughout the summer months. In short, we need the assistance of the entire community, organizations, clubs, stores, businesses and every individual that wants this pool open and successful. It is a community based project and it's future completely depends on the people of Charlestown who care as much as we do about the town and it's residents. We need your time, your help and your support in any way you can give it.

Joseph T. Flaherty, President
Charlestown Board of Trade

Judy's younger brother, Steve, won a First Place Award in the Archdiocese of Boston Art Fair. He received his award on May 2, 1981 in ceremonies at Boston College. Steve is in the third grade at St. Benedict's School in Somerville.

Judy and Steve are the children of Mr. and Mrs. James Kimball.

Voke Continues Fight For Increased Funding

Representative Richard Voke joined with other members of the Boston Legislative Delegation in an attempt to force Mayor White to maintain police and fire services at current levels or run the risk of losing millions of dollars in additional state aid if these these vital services are cut. Representative Voke and his colleagues pushed for an amendment to the state budget adopted by the House of Representatives during its marathon late night session last Saturday, which is designed to prevent the mayor from laying off public safety workers and closing police and fire stations.

"We have worked too long and fought too hard for the twenty-five million dollars in new state aid which Boston should be receiving next year as a result of this budget" declared Representative Voke. "All our efforts will be in vain unless this money is used to preserve and protect the neighborhoods of Boston and not for hiring more political cronies", Representative Voke told his colleagues.

During the budget debate Representative Voke consistently voted for every amendment to send more local aid back to the city of Boston and he is hopeful that the state senate will add more local aid when it votes on the budget next week. "I believe the intent of the supporters of Proposition 2½ was to stop wasteful government spending and the high property taxes which result from it. Those who voted for 2½ did not intend to jeopardize the lives and safety of the people of Charlestown", commented Representative Voke.

Representative Voke has pledged to continue to support increased funding for the city and to make sure that the money will be spent wisely.

No Public Drinking

On Sunday, June 14, 1981, the annual Bunker Hill Day Parade will be held throughout the streets of Charlestown.

On this day, the police officers of this district have been informed to strictly enforce the NO DRINKING ORDINANCE.

There will be NO DRINKING

ALLOWED ON THE PUBLIC STREETS OF CHARLESTOWN.

Those drinking in public will first be warned and if they persist they will be arrested under the provisions of the City of Boston Ordinance No. 14 which reads as follows: “No person shall in any public way or public alley, whether in or upon a vehicle or on foot drink any alcoholic beverage.”

This City Ordinance will be strictly enforced on the 14th of June - the day of the Bunker Hill Day Parade so that the community may have a pleasant day, a successful parade and a celebration not marred by any unpleasant incidents.

Cars Will Be Towed

Residents of Charlestown, their guests, visitors and businessmen are warned that they must remove their cars from the parade route and assembly area by 10:30 a.m. on Sunday, June 14, 1981 so that the parade may proceed in an orderly fashion without obstructions. Any cars left on streets at 11:30 a.m. will be towed by the Boston Police Department.

Streets that will have the NO PARKING PROVISION from 10:30 a.m. until the conclusion of the Bunker Hill Day Parade June 14, 1981, are: Bunker Hill Street, from Chelsea to Sullivan Square; Main Street from the intersection of Main, Bunker Hill and Medford to Union Street; Union Street; Washington Street from Union to Harvard; Harvard Street from Washington to Main; Pleasant Street from Main to Warren; Warren Street from Pleasant to Monument Ave.; Monument Ave. from Warren to Monument Square; Monument Square from Monument Ave. to Pleasant; High Street from Pleasant to Green; Green Street from High to Bartlett; Bartlett Street from Green to Concord; Monument Square from Concord to Lexington to Winthrop; Winthrop Street from Monument Square to Common; Common Street from Winthrop to Park Street.

Also the streets where the parade is assembling will have a ban on parking from 10:30 a.m. until the parade leaves the area sometime after 12:30 p.m. Those streets are: Lowney Way; Chelsea Street from Gate 4 to Medford Street; Decatur Street, Vine Street; Tufts Street; Ferrin Street from Lowney Way to the Kent School.

those who worked on the fund raising committee. Through their efforts and with the generosity of many clubs, organizations, businesses and individuals, the committee has been able, for the third consecutive year, to expand the Bunker Hill Day Parade by providing necessary monies for additional new musical bands and drum corps.

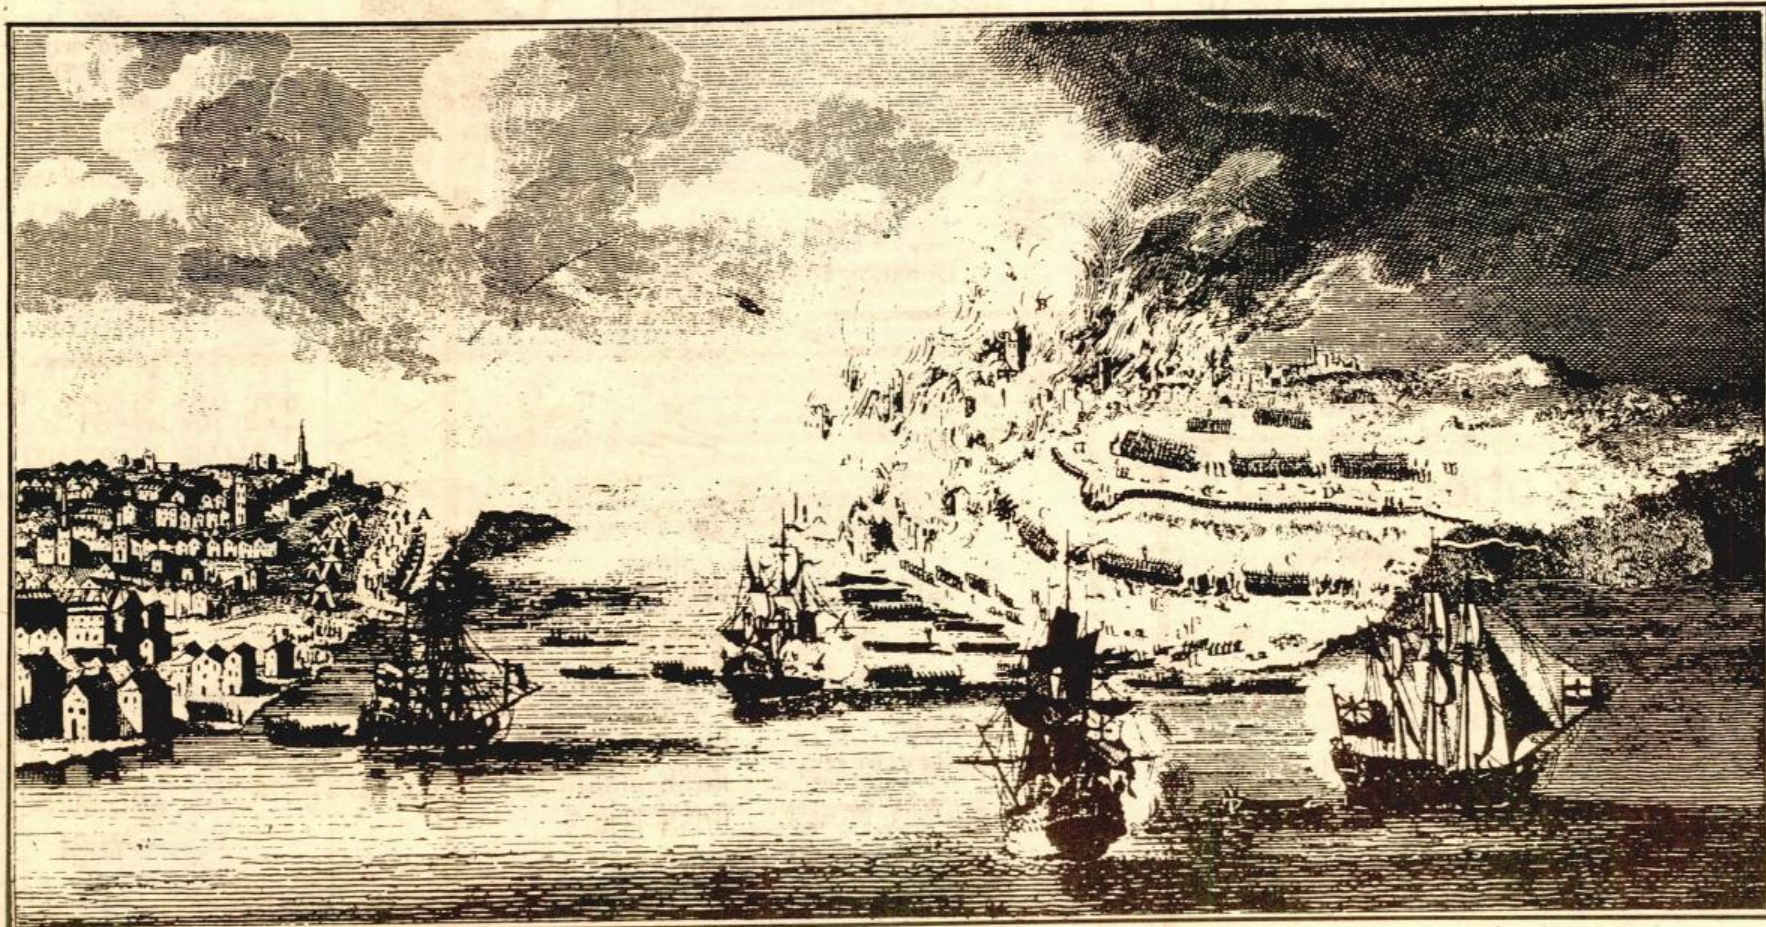

A special feature of this year's parade will be the first appearance of the Horizons Drum Corps, which is made up of 125 Charlestown youngsters. This Corps, which was formed less than a year ago, has been sponsored by the Charlestown Board of Trade.

“This should be one of our biggest and best parades, one we can all be proud of”, stated Chief Marshal Whelan. “Let's make the Bunker Hill Day Celebration a happy one by putting out the ‘welcome mat’ to all our guests and visitors. Remember the bands, drum corps, militia, military, veteran and other marchers are here to entertain us. With the cooperation of all, this can truly be a memorable day — let's all make sure that none of the ‘wise guys’ mar the day — for too many people have worked too hard to make this a topnotch parade — one we can all be proud of”, concluded the Chief Marshal.

Residents, guests, visitors, and especially candidates for political office are requested to clear their cars from the parade route and assembly area. Your cooperation will be greatly appreciated in order to facilitate the formation and the movement of the parade through the streets of Charlestown. Bunker Hill Monument Association To Meet

The 158th Annual Meeting of the Bunker Hill Monument Association will be held on Wednesday, June 17, 1981 at 12:30 p.m. at the Bunker Hill Museum, 43 Monument Square, Charlestown.

The Guest Speaker will be Dr. Thomas N. Brown, Department of History, University of Massachusetts-Boston. For the past year and a half Dr. Brown has been working assiduously on cataloguing the archival material of the Bunker Hill Monument Association. He will speak on what he has discovered in our archival material.

Through the kindness of Mrs.

Anna Reffi, a member of the Association, a lunch of ham, chicken, potato salad, rolls, dessert and coffee will be served prior to the annual meeting. Mrs. Reffi is defraying the cost of this luncheon from her own pocket and will not accept reimbursement from the Association. However, she has requested that each person donate a minimum of $3.00 for the luncheon, all of the proceeds to go to help support the Bunker Hill Museum which is in dire need of operating funds. The Association is truly indebted to Mrs. Reffi for her thoughtfulness.

An invitation to attend the annual meeting has been extended to Mr. Benjamin F. Stacy of East Orleans, MA, a grandson of Benjamin F. Stacy who operated Stacy's Pharmacy in Thompson Square. Mr. Stacy has a medal from June 17, 1889 which belonged to his grandfather, evidently a member of the Association, which he is willing to donate to the BHMA. The arrangements for the donation have been made through the kindness of Secretary Abner Kingman Pratt, II.

Bunker Hill Day Exercises To Be Held On June 17th

The Bunker Hill Day Commemorative Exercise sponsored by Bunker Hill Post 26, The American Legion under the auspices of the City of Boston will be held Wednesday morning, June 17th, 1981.

The program according to Standing Committee Chairman James W. Conway, Past Commander of Post 26, A.L., will begin with an Ecumenical Service at St. Francis de Sales Church, 313 Bunker Hill Street at 10:00 a.m.

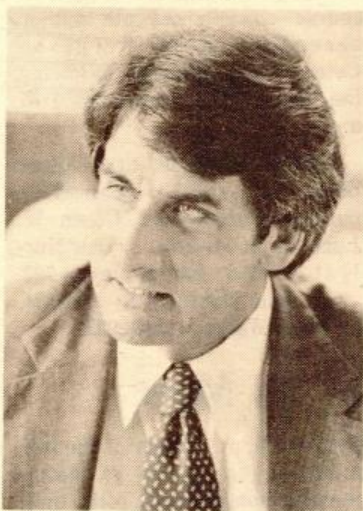

Following the service, the veteran, military, militia, and patriotic organizations will assemble outside the church and there will then be a procession to the Bunker Hill Monument

Grounds for the Patriotic Exercises.

The Patriotic Exercises held annually on the Monument Grounds will commence at 11:00 a.m. Scheduled as the Monument Orator for the 206th anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill is Thomas P. O'Neill, III, Lieutenant Governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

O'Neill is serving his second term as Lieutenant Governor. His political career began in 1972 as a state representative where he was elected President of the Freshman Class of Legislators. In 1974, O'Neill established himself as a state-wide candidate winning election to the office of Lieutenant Governor. In 1978, he was re-elected to a second term drawing the largest plurality of any nominee running opposed or unopposed in the Massachusetts Democratic primary.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR
THOMAS P. O'NEILL, III

The Lt. Governor graduated with a B.A. degree from Boston College in 1969 and earned an M.P.A. from Harvard in 1979 at the John F. Kennedy School of Government.

Until April of 1980, Tom O'Neill coordinated the Office of Federal/State Relations with offices in Washington and Boston. He is credited with bringing in millions of dollars in federal aid to state and local governments, to economic development projects and to human services for the people of Massachusetts. On April 1, he expanded the role of his Office of Federal/Local Relations, to work more closely with local cities and towns.

On a regional level, O'Neill was instrumental in developing the Coalition of Northeast Governors, the Northeast's chief lobbying arm in Washington. In 1978, he was named chairman of the Coalition's Advisory Board and is currently chairman of the Federal Funds Subcommittee.

He is presently chairman of the Massachusetts Arson Task Force.

Nationally, the Lt. Governor has served on several boards, including the President's Advisory Board on Ambassadorial Appointments. He has co-chaired the National Water Policy Task Force's subcommittee on Urban Water Needs and until recently served on and chaired the U.S. Department of Interior's Advisory Board on the Outer Continental Shelf.

O'Neill, 35, is the son of Mildred (Miller) O'Neill and Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr., Speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives. He married to the former Jacqueline Anne DeMartino of Dedham. The O'Neill's have one daughter, Leigh Crowley.

Lt. Governor O'Neill will be following in the footsteps of that great orator Daniel Webster who gave the oration at the laying of the cornerstone of the monument. Other noted speakers of recent vintage have been: the late U.S. Senator Leverett Saltonstall, Speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr., former U.S. Senator Edward Brooke, U.S. Senator Edward M. "Ted" Kennedy, Mayor Kevin H. White, former Governor of New Hampshire Meldrim Thomson and Massachusetts Attorney General Francis X. Bellotti.

Chairman of the Bunker Hill Day Commemorative Exercises James W. Conway and the committee extends a warm welcome to all residents, community organizations, and patriotic organizations from within and outside our community to join with us on the morning of the 17th of June in both the Ecumenical Services at St. Francis de Sales Church at 10:00 a.m. and the Patriotic Exercises at the Monument at 11:00 a.m. With the cooperation and attendance of all, these commemorative exercises will be truly a fitting tribute to our fallen heroes of Bunker Hill.

Bunker Hill Museum Celebrates Sixth Anniversary

BUNKER HILL DAY — JUNE 17, 1981 marks the Sixth Anniversary of the Bunker Hill Museum at 43 Monument Square. The Museum, under the sponsorship of the Charlestown Historical Society, affords "Townie" and tourist alike an opportunity to glimpse back through the years at some of the events and artifacts that have contributed to this town's rich heritage. The Museum is open Tuesday through Sunday from 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. It also houses a gift shop with books, candles, and a variety of items, many of which relate to Bunker Hill. The Museum is open "free to all" and is able to exist on limited funds raised through several projects and from sales at the gift shop. Take a few minutes to visit the Bunker Hill Museum during the upcoming Bunker Hill Day Celebration and remember the proud heritage that is Charlestown.

Charlestown Women Played Important Role In Finishing The Monument — The Fair of 1840

by Maria Girvin

Today the Monument stands safe and secure always to be maintained with Federal money because of its proud symbolism and historical value. However, getting to the height of 221 feet was no easy task, as our forefathers encountered that age old problem of "not enough money." Therefore, women (and men) may be interested in knowing that Charlestown females were the ones who came to that giant obelisk's rescue when the men were at wit's end on how to finish building it, back in November of 1835.

Up until that date, $54,433.67 had been spent on the obelisk with $4,720.85 being used for the ceremonies on June 17, 1825 when the cornerstone was laid. By February 1828, the obelisk stood 37 1/2 feet high but funds were exhausted. Work resumed June 17, 1834 and continued until November, 1835 to reach a height of 83 feet but further attempts to obtain more money were unsuccessful. Neither an appeal for state aid or an address to the citizens brought forth the needed dollars. Finally the Bunker Hill Monument Association became so embarrassed they sold a large amount of the 2 3/4 acres originally purchased for the monument. In September of 1840, the women did what the men could not, they raised $30,035.53 through a fair held at Quincy Market and work was resumed. The top stone was raised July 23, 1842.

So when Charlestown residents go to the Charlestown fair this weekend, they can remember that it was a fair which finished that obelisk we rally around every year.

This fair is different today, but I doubt, it is more fun. A look back at the yellow, fragile pages of The Monument, a daily newsheet published out of Quincy Hall during September 8th, 1840 to September 15th, tells us what the fair was like that finished building the Monument.

Admission to the fair was 25 cents and all ladies tending to a booth at the fair were subject to several rules, the first two being held the most important.

"Each lady will endeavor that the articles on her table shall be good of their kind, and at fair prices. Change shall be given to purchasers as readily as though we were literally behind the counter; nor shall our desire for the completion of the Monument induce us to use importunity, or any other means of increasing our funds inconsistent with the respect we owe ourselves, and the cause in which we are engaged."

There was plenty of quality merchandise to be found. Some ads appearing in The Monument read as follows:

MONUMENT CAKE. Two cakes made in the form of Monuments, each containing six gold rings, to be seen at Refreshment Room, No. 21

A CHAIR in which Queen Victoria might be proud to sit, may be seen at the New Bedford Table, No. 31

Of course, when trying to run a successful fund-raiser, you've got to extract a few emotions before the money can flow. The Monument, therefore printed the following letter in its September 9th issue:

LETTER OF AN OLD SOLDIER
 (The following letter contained a donation of ten dollars.)

Old Essex, August 10, 1840

Dear Madam — I understand that an effort is making to raise funds to complete the Monument on Bunker Hill. I have had occasion to go to Boston several times yearly for half a century. I seldom, if ever, go and return without casting an eye on Bunker Hill, when my thoughts revert to that bloody and distressing Saturday, June 17th, 1775. I was too young to take an active part in that great struggle, but was in hearing of the thunder of the artillery, and in sight of the smoke of the burning of Charlestown. I well remember the dismay it caused in our village. I want to have the too long delayed work finished. I send you a small sum to help onward with it. You say, you do not look for large donations, but trust, as the many small rills fill the ocean, so your Fair will overflow with the numerous offerings of patriotism, gratitude and love. The two former efforts failed — the set time had not come — but now, you say, when all unite in the undertaking, may we not confidently count on success? You may. Was there not blood shed on that hill from every state in New England? Will they not aid in covering their precious dust? I trust they will.

A Soldier of the War of Independence

It must be said that the women were very modest in tallying up their success. The Monument relates a response to a gentlemen's inquiry (not a Yankee, The Monument says) who asked, "Will it not disgrace the men of New England to call on the women to finish the Monument?"

"It may be said that this is 'man's work,' came the editor's reply. "Well, to men the work and the ordering thereof will be committed. We want no jurisdiction, no privilege, but that of assisting to obtain funds—and we are often in the same way, called upon to bring our aid to most of the great objects of moral improvement in the Christian world."

What would Gloria Steinam's reply have been?

So while enjoying yourself at the fair this weekend, remember that it all started in 1840, and while The Monument editor, Mrs. S.J. Hale, didn't take a ride on a Ferris Wheel, there was as much symbolism in her fair as there will be in yours.

Historical Facts On Charlestown You'll Never Need To Know

by Maria Girvin

With the annual Bunker Hill Day Parade only three afternoons away, our minds turn to the history that makes Charlestown a proud place to live. Just about everyone knows the details surrounding the Battle of Bunker Hill, the battle's colorful men like General Warren and Prescott and how the laying of the cornerstone on June 17th eventually became an obelisk 221 feet high on land that was Breed's Pasture. However, there are numerous other historical tidbits that surround Charlestown, that while not connected with Bunker Hill, might be of interest. They're not quite as important or significant but they still tell of Charlestown's infancy and for that reason alone are fun — kind of like looking at a family photo album. For instance...

Few persons know that Charlestown has the dubious honor of having been the first in Massachusetts to hang an innocent woman for witchcraft. Most will tell you that Salem cornered this market but they are wrong.

Margaret Jones could attest to this — that is could have in 1648, for in that year on the sunny day of June 15, she was condemned to death and hanged for having a "malignant touch."

According to historical reports, the evidence was stacked against Margaret who, according to law had been watched at certain times, (especially at night) for discovery of witchcraft. It was said that persons touched by her "were seized with deafness, vomiting, and violent pains." Margaret practiced as a physician and though she used harmless medicines like aniseed, liquors, etc., they produced "extraordinary violent effects." She would tell those who would not employ her that they never would be healed, and in consequence their diseases and hurts baffled the apprehension of all physicians and surgeons. Some things which she foretold came to pass accordingly, and she could tell other things of which she had no ordinary means to come to the knowledge" (it was assumed she spoke to the devil to acquire this knowledge.)

One story told against Margaret was recorded as follows: "As she lay in prison, a little child was seen to run from her into another room, and being followed by an officer, it was vanished."

Although her execution day was sunny, a strong, damaging storm in Connecticut was accredited to her wrath. Several days later the "diabolical rolling" of the ship "Welcome" was also blamed on her and her husband Thomas who was trying to secure passage on that ship to Barbados.

Claim the 300 year old reports,

"That ship called the Welcome, was a Boston ship of three hundred tons, and concerning her it is honestly told, that as she was riding before Charlestown, having in her eighty horses and one hundred and twenty tons of ballast, in calm weather, fell a rolling, and continued so about twelve hours..."

Poor Thomas was arrested and imprisoned, for how long, it is not known. Nevertheless Margaret Jones perished on the gallows, "as much for her good offices, as for the evil influences imputed to her," they said back then.

Margaret was not the only one from Charlestown to swing in the gallows. In the mid 1700s two slaves, Mark and his co-hort Phillis also etched their names in history.

For seven days, Mark and Phillis, who loathed the strict discipline of their master Captain John Codman of Charlestown, slipped arsenic in their master's watergruel and sago. On July 1, 1755 the old guy died.

It wasn't long before the coroner discovered poison in the body and the two slaves were arrested. Their trial was watched by both America and England as it was the first instance of petit treason (a crime committed by a vassal against his lord) in Massachusetts.

On September 18, 1755 the two faced about as diabolical a punishment as the history of New England has to offer.

The prisoners were "drawn" along the road, probably on a litter that was pulled over the ground, to their place of execution at Cambridge in the shadow of Harvard College, "attended by the greatest number of spectators ever know on such an occasion," say eye witness records.

Phillis was stripped, placed by the stake and covered up to her waist with small pieces of wood and faggots. Her executioner tied a rope around her neck and then to the stake, through which a hole had been pierced for the purpose. Lighting a torch, he held it in his left hand as he grabbed the rope with his right, pulling and twisting the rope as he lighted the death pyre. The purpose of the rope was humane: to have Phillis choked into unconsciousness before the flames reached her.

Mark was than hanged from a gallows in the manner of the period. No one knows why women were forced to undergo such a dramatic and torcherous death process while a man was simply hanged.

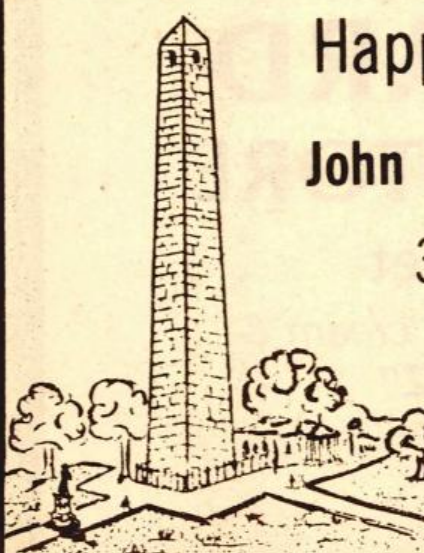

Believe it or not, this story ties in with Paul Revere's account of his "midnight ride", he speaks of galloping by Charlestown Neck and reaching a point "opposite where Mark was hung in chains." At that time, everyone knew the story about Mark and Phillis — now so do you.

And wouldn't you know that it was a Charlestown girl who was the first woman to set foot on Boston soil?

It was sometime in 1630 when the infant settlement of Charlestown was suffering from disease and death due mostly to a very bad water supply. William Blackstone, the first white settler in Boston felt sorry for his fellow settlers in Charlestown and invited them to partake in his excellent Boston spring.

I Am Your Flag

By Charlie Ross
I was born on June 14th, 1777.
I am more than just cloth shaped into a design.
I am the refuge of the World's oppressed people.
I am silent sentinel of Freedom.
I am the emblem of the greatest sovereign nation on earth.
I am the inspiration for which American Patriots gave their lives and fortunes.
I have led your sons into battle from Valley Forge to the bloody ridges of Korea.
I walk in silence with each of your Honored Dead, to their final resting place beneath the silent White Crosses, row upon row.
I have flown through Peace and War, Strife and Prosperity, and amidst it all I have been respected.

My Red Stripes ... symbolize the blood spilled in defense of this glorious nation.
My White Stripes ... signify the burning tears shed by Americans who lost their sons.
My Blue Field ... is indicative of God's heaven under which I fly.
My Stars ... clustered together, unify 50 states as one, for God and Country.
"Old Glory" is my nickname, and proudly I wave on high.
Honor me, respect me, defend me with your lives and your fortunes. Never let my enemies tear me down from my lofty position, lest I never return. Keep alight the fires of patriotism, strive earnestly for the spirit of your Republic.

Worship Eternal God and keep His commandments, and I shall remain the bulwark of peace and freedom for all mankind.
I am your Flag. (Author Unknown, and with thanks to submitter Catherine Hardiman of Dorchester)
NOTE: Fly the flag on Flag Day June 14 ... and with pride!

ANOTHER OF "TODAY'S HEROES" IS A HEROINE ...

A Bayonne subscriber has brought the valiant efforts of a Colonia, N.J. mother-grandmother's fight against sex education in diocesan parochial schools to our attention...and we can all learn and benefit from the courage of Catherine Denk.
According to a New York Daily News story. Mrs. Denk was fired from her posts as non-paid volunteer teaching religion to public school children, and unsalaried head of the Altar Rosary Society, at St. John Vianney Church, after a letter she wrote charging that the bishop's "passed mandatory sex education against our will. Their pastoral letter on education in human sexuality is a sacrilegious fraud" was published in The Star-Ledger, a daily newspaper in Newark.

Mrs. Denk has been a teacher at the parish for seven years and, while she didn't think local priests or officials in the Diocese of Trenton would be happy about her letter, she didn't expect to be fired. "This is a democratic country and a democratic church and I have the right to say what I want on a public podium or in a public letter," and - to her everlasting credit-she added "I will not give in. I'll continue to be critical of the bishops and I'll fight my dismissal."

It is interesting to note that she wrote the letter because she claims the bishops ignored the will of the people, which she said was clearly expressed in countless parish meetings throughout the state and at state hearings on sex education in the schools. "It was so obvious to anyone who went to the hearings, regardless of their religion, that the Catholic people there were opposed to sex-ed. Then the bishops turned around and voted for it. It's disgraceful," she said.

Good luck, Mrs. Denk, and we want you to know you're not alone in addressing this all too important matter of sex education!

Zeke Marsden would like to remind all those with raffle books for the Get-A-Way Fourth of July weekend to the Cape Cod Irish Village to meet and hear Noel Henry to please get them back to him at 38 Mystic Street or drop them off at the rectory.

The lucky ticket will be drawn this Friday, June 12th at Bishop Lawton Hall at the Coloniell Caper Dinner Dance. This is the last fund raiser of the 1980-81 school year.

I would also like to thank everyone connected with our school and the many people that don't even have kids in the school, the many people from the B&M R.R., and from out of town that have helped me out the last two years with the various fund raisers for our school while I was President of the Parents' Club. You all were a great help to our school.

I do have some books left so watch out, I'll be running with them for a last minute push.

Don't forget to look into those school bags, as the summer raffle books are probably there with the report cards. They will be due back in September.

As they say, see you in September.

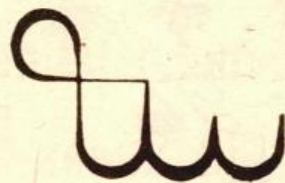

Also thank you, Peachie, for putting up with me. I Love You!

Historical Facts On Charlestown

fer, many Charlestown settlers moved in August of that year to Boston, or as it was called then, Shawmut. In the first boat-load was Anne Pollard, a mere girl who would live to be 105. According to her, she had been in Charlestown only a few days when the "bad water" prompted her and some other young people to cross into "Shawmut". As the boat drew up towards the shore, she, before anyone, jumped from the bow of the boat onto the beach, declaring herself to be the first white female to trod upon Boston soil.

Although for many years, Charlestown had its own separate government, it was so close to Boston, that it shared in numerous activities, battles, etc.

It also shared a ghost story. One about a Peter Rugg of Middle Street, Boston, who for over 50 years was seen on various New England highways, seeking the way to Boston, but always traveling in the opposite direction.

The man always looked weather-beaten, confused, and anxious. Always at his side was his small daughter Jennifer. Together they rode in an open chaise, drawn by a large bay horse, who despite the weary look of its travelers, always seemed well-fed and anxious to speed off into the night. Some said that a storm always followed contact with the trio. This is not so farfetched when learning of a story told by Peter Rugg's descendants.

Known for his terrible temper, Rugg once swore a fearful oath that he would reach home with his daughter in spite of a tempest's blast or never reach home again. He meant only to travel from Arlington to Boston. But he was never seen again.

His wife and neighbors thought they heard the crack of his whip and the tread of his horse at night, several months following his disappearance and one night waited up to see him. Sure enough he passed down Middle Street pulled by his great horse and with his daughter at his side. To everyone's amazement the horse pulled the carriage right by Peter Rugg's door, although it was obvious that the poor man strained and struggled, trying to slow up the horse. It was all in vain.

It was said by travelers that Peter Rugg could be seen in the lightening of a New England thunderstorm trying to make his way back to Middle Street. However, his last known dramatic appearance was on the Charlestown Bridge which according to toll gatherers, he often passed swearing over the toll rates and never stopping to pay.

Finally one toll collector decided to take action and one rainy night stationed himself in the very center of the bridge. Just as the horse and carriage passed him, he threw the three-legged stool he had brought at the horse, but to his astonishment the stool passed harmlessly through the animal.

Have you seen Peter Rugg?

And to end on a Revolutionary

Remembering Bunker Hill Day!

by Sal Giarratani

This weekend coming up is the best weekend in the world for our Charlestown because it's Bunker Hill Day Weekend!

Tonight the Third Annual Street Fair and Carnival opens up over at Ryan Field with a fireworks display. Tomorrow evening the annual Bunker Hill Day Dance will be held at St. Catherine's Hall, Saturday evening the Bunker Hill Post 26, American Legion will sponsor the Annual 'Nite Before' banquet over at the Legion Hall and on Sunday, the annual Doll Carriage Parade will be held at St. Mary's Parish Hall.

All these events plus a few I, probably, forgot will be the lead-in to the annual Bunker Hill Day Parade commemorating the 206th anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill. This yearly celebration has also become a sort of Charlestown Founders Day which this year will have an additional patriotic flavor of Flag Day as well.

So get ready for Sunday afternoon (12:30 p.m. starting time) for the Parade. The streets will be lined with people who will view the brass bands, drill teams, bagpipes, Engine 50, People's Fire House No. 2, horses and politicians — especially the last!

Thousands of "Townies,"

former "Townies" and those who wish they were "Townies" will jam the sidewalks, sitting on chairs, curbs and steps, watching from windows and porches. Kids will be waving flags, losing balloons and having a terrific time. Hawkers will be selling their wares and everyone will be caught up in the Bunker Hill Day festivities.

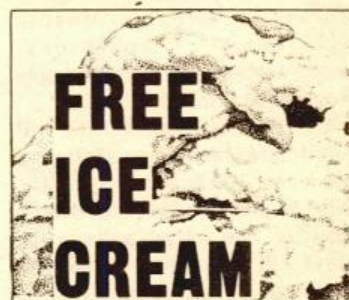

I have many wonderful memories of past parades, standing in City Square with my brother and parents and lobbying for balloons and ice cream. My parents would never miss the parade and afterwards going to my mother's girlhood friends' homes to share past memories of growing up in Charlestown.

Once I remember my grandfather coming out of that bar in old Rogan's Hall. He was in his seventies then but he still managed to get back to Charlestown from Quincy to renew old friendships and pass the bar.

On Bunker Hill Parade Day everyone can be a kid again, listening to all the music and the people around you. So sound the horns and beat the drums cause here comes the Parade!

Historical Facts On Charlestown

note, try this tidbit of Historical trivia.

In 1775, a Bermudian named Harris had gone to Cambridge, Massachusetts and told George Washington of 112 barrels of gun powder being held at the Bermuda magazine in Saint George. He suggested that he steal it for the desperate Americans.

In August of that year, a group of Bermudians whose sympathies lay with the Americans, furnished boats at Saint George where they waited while one man broke through the roof of the magazine. The barrels of gunpowder were rolled down to the beach and smuggled off to waiting sailing crafts.

In 1781, it was hoped that this loyalty would be repaid by Americans invading Bermuda but George Washington declined as Britain had once again built up her sea power. Otherwise, you wouldn't need a passport to get there today.

Some say that Bermudian gunpowder was supplied to Americans fighting at Bunker Hill, however, historians disagree.

Ship Model Exhibit To Open June 27

The U.S.S. Constitution Model Shipwright Guild of New England will present their annual exhibit of ship models at the U.S.S. Constitution Museum in the Charlestown Navy Yard.

The exhibition will be held from June 27 through July 5 under the auspices of the National Park Service. The NPS had commissioned the Guild to construct several models representing different periods and types of ships that were built here at the Charlestown Navy Yard. Together with these ships which will remain on permanent exhibit, the Guild will have a showing of its own, bringing the number of models exhibited to exceed 100. These models will represent many types of ships, and sailing craft. The models themselves will range from 'ship-in-bottles' to some ship models over four feet long (and almost as tall), bringing to the public fine examples of Yankee tradition and workmanship.

The Shipwright Guild's purpose is to enhance the art of model shipbuilding through its activities, workshops, and exhibits. It was founded in June of 1979 with only 14 members, and it has flourished to about 150 today, and is still growing. Members range from the neophyte to the professional, from teenagers to the retired. Members are both men and women coming from all kinds of professions and backgrounds. The Guild offers workshops at the museum for local youths, giving them 'hands-on' experience with the craft. They also give demonstrations during school vacation weeks and holidays for the visitors of the Constitution Museum. These demonstrations show the various techniques involved to create a ship in miniature. In addition for its members they produce a monthly newsletter and have monthly meetings giving tips and information for building models and related nautical topics. The Guild has a clearinghouse for ship model plans, and help is always available to the beginner.

To Talk Of Many Things

by Sal Giarratani
ENGLAND OUT PEACE IN
"Ireland unfree shall never be at peace."

-Padraic Pearse, August 1, 1915
"This is an American problem. Freedom for enslaved people is an American problem."

- Rep. Marie Howe (D-Somerville), May 14, 1981

The present struggles of Ireland can be traced back to the 12th century when the English moved across the Irish Sea. Ireland was to them a potential military point to protect their Atlantic flank. That the island was inhabited was not even discussed. What England wanted, it just took!

Since the British first landed, through Cromwell and his "final solution" for the Catholic problem, past King William of Orange, and countless rebellions, including the 1798 rebellion led by Protestant Wolfe Tone, the Irish have somehow survived it all.

Lord Macaulay in a speech in the House of Commons back in 1844 said that Ireland was a dangerous state, one that was to be governed "by means of bayonets, of artillery, of entrenched troops."

And not much has changed as can be seen in the following remarks made by Joe Cahill, a member of the IRA to the New York Daily News back on December 2, 1971, "We have known for a long time that the only thing the British react to is the bomb in politics . . . Talking will get us nowhere."

It's not easy for Americans to get some real news about Northern Ireland, news that is straight not laced with British propaganda.

I find it difficult to understand why people like US Senators Ted Kennedy, Pat Moynihan, Speaker "Tip" O'Neill and Gov. Hugh Carey can't see the forest from the trees when it comes to justice and human rights in Northern Ireland.

I have been following the issue of human rights in Northern Ireland long before I did a paper on it when I was a junior at Boston State College back in 1971.

As a member of the Massachusetts Young Americans for Freedom, I successfully got the issue on the YAF agenda back in 1970. If we could be concerned about Eastern Europe, we could also be concerned about freedom in Northern Ireland.

The issue is indivisible. Inhuman treatment of individuals is unacceptable under any system of government. It shouldn't matter if violators of human rights are friendly or unfriendly, whether they are our allies or foes. Human rights are human rights — period!

Today, we are living during a period when the Irish Question faces its greatest moment since the period between 1916-22.

EASTER REBELLION, 1916

On East Sunday morn in 1916, a small group of Irishmen took a move — a daring move — toward freedom. For one short week the Easter Monday Rising existed. A provisional government was set up and published a Proclamation of the Irish Republic on the morning of April 24 which stated in part, "We declare the right of the people of Ireland to the ownership of Ireland and to the unfettered control of Irish destinies, to be sovereign and indefeasible . . . we hereby proclaim the Irish Republic as a Sovereign Independent State . . . The Republic guarantees civil and religious liberty, equal rights and equal opportunities to all its citizens...cherishing all the children of the nation equally, and oblivious of the differences carefully fostered by an alien government."

The British Government put down this rebellion like all previous ones. They executed and tortured the leaders and many of the participants as well. This callousness and overreaction gave renewed spirit to the Irish people. It was only just a new beginning. Between then and 1922, two elections were held — both highly supportive of a free and united Ireland, unattached to the British Government.

The British, however, forced the people tired of bloodshed, to accept a 26-county Irish Republic. Either take part of the loaf or lookout for more British-produced warfare.

For nearly the last sixty years, six counties have remained out of the hands of Irish men and women and for the same period of time, the descendants of the Ulster Plantation have lorded over the native Irish, practicing every bit of discrimination possible.

Today, the spirit of the Easter Rebellion lives on. The message remains the same: England out of Ireland — Ireland's future in Irish hands.

TODAY AND TOMORROW

The bloodshed and fighting continues, the IRA have vowed to battle on and England — well England is still England!

The only hope for peace will be a new 32-county United Ireland based on the principles of the Easter Rebellion Irish Republic. It is the only remedy which would truly and adequately recognize the fact that Ireland is, and of right ought to be, a single unified nation.

And this will not come about except by world-wide pressure on Great Britain to stop the killing, bloodshed, hatred and forced hunger protests. The United States have a duty and obligation as the leader of the West to get England on the stick — to get England to change the status quo. Policies have remained the same whether the Prime Minister is a Wilson, Heath, Callaghan or Thatcher and it's about time our Irish-American President Reagan tells the British to become part of the solution for a change!

BOTTOM LINE

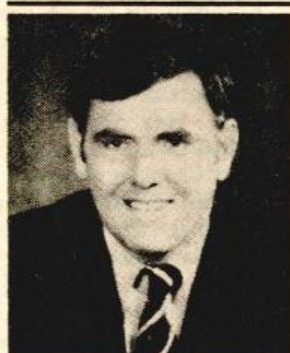

Together, We the People can make the difference if we keep on keeping on!

People's Fire House Number 2

DAY 34 FREEDOM

PEOPLE'S PARADE

Look for the People's Fire House No. 2 float in the parade's second "community" division . . . Engine Company 50 will be in a starring role this year.

This, your Parade — a people parade — without your support — moral, manual and financial — could be the last. Next year the city may give nothing or next to nothing to get this parade on the streets and it will take united community action to make sure that the Bunker Hill Day Parade has a future in front of it. Memories of past parades will be all we'll have left if we don't come together as a community. It will take some 12 to 15 thousand dollars to have a 1982 parade. If you are interested, the People's Fire House No. 2 urges you to become involved in the 1982 Parade Committee which begins its work as soon as the last marcher crosses the finish line at Winthrop and Common Streets.

It will take more than ten or fifteen people to make a go of it in 1982. If you want the parade to keep on keeping on, join in!

ENGINE 50 FIRST AGAIN

Engine 50 once again has proved its need to the community. It was the first piece of fire apparatus at the scene to fight the fire last week on Medford Street being the first pumper to arrive. Engine 50 is a sight worth seeing. Let's hope it will stay in the community providing the fire protection we need!

KUDOS....

Kudos go out to Boston Patrolmen Gary Greenwood, Anthony Pezulo, John McLean and Saul Chajmowizz for the valiant rescue work at the scene of that fire.

AND BRATS TO

. . . the 911 emergency number. If your house is burning down, a recording telling you all the lines are busy could really be a wrong number!

DON'T FORGET

A Mass of Thanksgiving will be celebrated at St. Mary's Church for the restoring of Engine 50 Fire House on Thursday, June 18 at 7:00 p.m. and Fr. Paul McCarthy will be the celebrant.

PEOPLE TO PEOPLE FIRE HOUSES

Looks like the people of Salem are getting in on the act now. Recently, Engine 6 in Salem was deactivated by the city, so the people occupied the Firehouse. They've dubbed it "People's Fire House No. 6, are holding the Engine 6 fire apparatus hostage and vow to stay there until it's reactivated.

People's Fire House No. 2 salutes them for standing up for proper fire protection!

BOTTOM LINE

This week's bottom line is short and sweet: Have a great Bunker Hill Day, enjoy the parade and everything!
 See you next week!

1981 Silver-Haired Legislature Campaign Begins

Secretary of Elder Affairs Dr. Thomas H.D. Mahoney has announced the start of the 1981 Silver-Haired Legislature program in Massachusetts. "Our first Silver-Haired Legislature in November, 1980, was enormously successful," said the Secretary.

"The 160 elder Representatives and 40 Senior Senators not only passed bills establishing their own priorities for the real General Court, but most of them have returned to their home communities and have become vocal, active advocates."

Governor King praised the program adding that, "There are no better spokesmen for our senior citizens than our senior citizens themselves." Both Speaker of the House Thomas McGee and Senate President William Bulger made the actual House and Senate Chambers available for the Silver-Haired Legislators who represented districts identical to the real state legislators. Massachusetts was the fifth state to develop a program. More have followed.

September 15, 1981 has been set for the special election to be held in special polling sites throughout the state. Last year over 400 sites were open and over 54,000 ballots were cast, the largest ever in the nation for a first time effort.

Any person over 60 who is a registered voter must file nomination papers with not less than 50 signatures of people also 60 and over who live in the districts the candidates wish to represent. The filing deadline is July 31 at 5:00. Papers postmarked after that date will not be accepted.

Nomination papers are available through Councils on Aging, Home Care agencies, or by contacting the Department of Elder Affairs. A toll-free number is 800-882-2003.

Loss Of Federal Funds To Impact

Health Center's Dental Program

The dental program of the Bunker Hill Health Center has been serving the Charlestown area since 1969 and has earned an excellent reputation for the high quality standards of care provided.

Unlike many medical services, which are well covered through most insurance programs, dentistry has depended heavily on a combination of collection of monies paid by patients for their care and by governmental subsidy. The winds of change are upon us with the loss of these governmental funds imminent. This means we will no longer be able to subsidize patients receiving care or to continue the public health aspects of our program. The dental department must change its financial policies to insure collection of patients bills at

We recognize that for many patients this may be an inconvenience and for some a burden, but for us it is a necessary and appropriate step to take to insure the continuing delivery of dental care.

Killoran To Compete In Shriners Football Classic

Local high school football heroes will compete at Boston College's Alumni Stadium on Saturday, June 20, in the Third Annual Shriners High School Football Classic. Over 15,000 people are expected at the 7 p.m. kickoff. The Massachusetts State High School Football Coaches Association and the Shriners of Aleppo Temple in Wilmington will co-host the game, the proceeds of which will be donated to the Shriners Burns Institute and the Springfield Hospital for Crippled Children. Converse of Wilmington is the key sponsor.

Representing 75 Massachusetts high schools east of Worcester, the 88 participating all-star seniors have proven themselves both athletically and scholastically.

In its third year, the goals of the Shriners Football Classic have not changed. According to Game Director Jim O'Connor, athletic director at Catholic Memorial High School in West

Roxbury, "Our goals are twofold: We want to give young athletes the opportunity to help other people by supporting the Shrine Hospitals and we want to promote high school football throughout the state."

General Chairman Ed Johnston of the Shriners said, "When the football players and cheerleaders recently toured the Shriners Burns Institute, it was a very emotional experience. After seeing the fine treatment given free of charge to the badly burned children, the groups knew for whom they were playing and cheering." Last year's game netted $25,000 for the Shriners Burns Institute and the Springfield Hospital for Crippled Children.

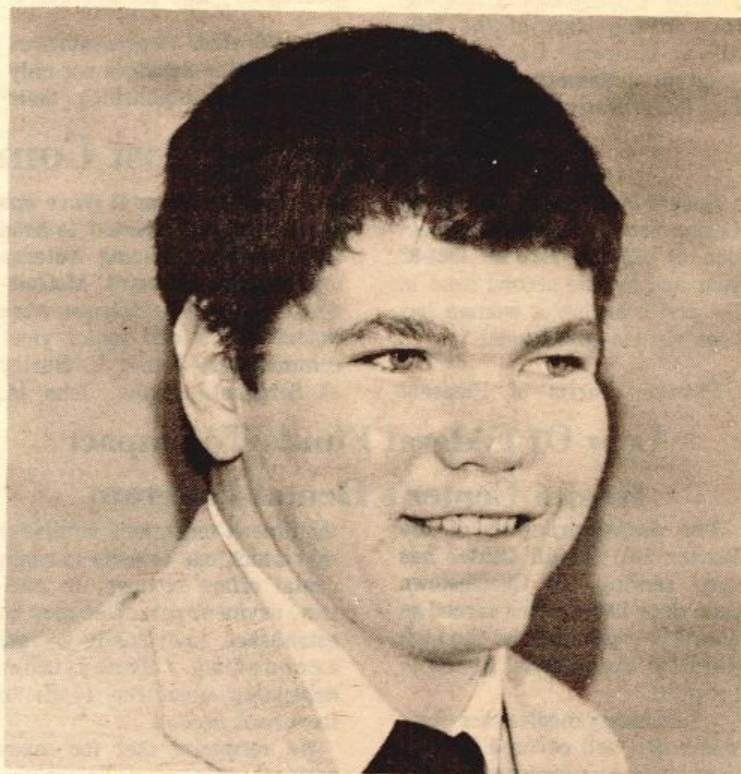

Program festivities begin at 6:45 p.m. with the Shrine honor guards flanked by the high school cheerleaders. At half-time the Gloucester High School band will perform and seven-year-old Florence Ogwen of Nairobi, Kenya, this year's Football Queen and an outpatient at the Shriners Burns Institute, will be introduced. The well-known Shriners clowns will entertain spectators in the stands throughout the evening.

Sports enthusiasts unable to attend the event can watch the game being broadcast live beginning at 7 p.m. by Boston's WLVI-TV (Channel 56). To create further excitement for both the game and the Shrine Hospitals, WSBK-TV (Channel 38) in Boston will present "Nashville Salutes the Shriners," a country and western special, on Saturday, June 13, from 8 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Preceding the game on Friday, June 19, at 6:30 p.m., a banquet will be held to honor the football players at the Shriners Auditorium. The Game Queen will be crowned at this event. Tickets are $12.50 each and the public is invited.

Game tickets are $4 for adults and $3 for students and may be purchased at the gate or at the Shriners Auditorium, exit 13 off I-93, Wilmington. For further information about the game and the banquet, call 665-6466 or 657-4202.

CHARLESTOWN RESIDENT John Killoran, a senior at Matignon High School, will play in the Shriners Third Annual High School Football Classic on Saturday, June 20 at Boston College Alumni Stadium along with 87 other top football players from eastern Massachusetts. Proceeds from the game will go to the Shriners Burns Institute in Boston and the Springfield Hospital for Crippled Children. Matignon High School coach Art Grahme will help to prepare Killoran for the event.

Five CYHA Hockey Players Selected For Colorado Springs Training Camp

The Eastern AHA selected five CYHA players to attend a camp tryout to be held July 9 and August 9, at Colorado Springs.

The five players are: Danny Campbell, Jackie Martin, Jerry McIntosh, Danny and Eddie Considine, all of Charlestown.

The AHA is attempting to identify future members of the U.S.A. Olympic teams.

In the past, the search for future Olympians was for College and Junior players. But this year, the search was broadened to include Midget level players.

The finalists named above were selected from approximately 150-200 Eastern Massachusetts Midget players.

Meets For 1981 ARCO Jesse Owens Games

The Boston Parks and Recreation Department announces that the preliminary meets for the 1981 ARCO Jesse Owens Games, for youth between the ages of 10-15 years, will be held at Charlestown High School on June 25 (rain date June 26) and at White Stadium, Franklin Park, on June 29 (rain date June 30). The meets will begin at 10:00 a.m. Competitions for track and field events include 30 running, jumping and throwing events. Participants may enter only one event in their age category.

36 finalists will be chosen to compete in the Regional Championship, scheduled for July 15 at Boston University's Nickerson Field. From the Regional Championship, 36 finalists will be chosen to compete in the National Championships at UCLA's Drake Stadium, in Los Angeles, California on August 1.

Registration forms are available at the Boston Parks and Recreation Department, room 816, Boston City Hall, and at neighborhood Recreation Centers. For information about age categories and registration contact Dorothy Curran, 725-4006, at the Boston Parks and Recreation Department.

Babe Ruth News

SCHEDULE

Saturday, June 13 - Babe Ruth Senior Division Charlestown Townies at Fraser Field, West Lynn at 10:00 a.m.

Monday, June 15 - Firefighters vs. Duffy Club at Ryan - 6:00 p.m.

Monday, June 15 - Babe Ruth Senior Division Charlestown Townies at Victory Park, Medford vs. Medford Colts at 6:00 p.m.

Tuesday, June 16 - McAvoy vs. 520 Club at Ryan - 6:00 p.m.

Wednesday, June 17 - Carr Club vs. Firefighters at Ryan - 6:00 p.m.

Thursday, June 18 - Mechanical Coordinators vs. Local 25 at Ryan - 6:00 p.m.

Thursday, June 18 - Babe Ruth Senior Division Charlestown Townies at Della Russo Park, Revere, at 6:00 p.m.

In league action last week, Dick Burg's McAvoy nine solidified their hold on a playoff berth with a come-from-behind victory over the Knights of Columbus, 13-12. John Roche had put the losers ahead in the 10th inning with a triple, but Dan Fitz came back for the victors by slashing a triple. Paul Wrenn singled to tie the game and moments later proceeded to steal home with the winning run.

The Duffy Club maintained their tie with the Carr Club for first place in the Eastern Division with a 16-11 victory over McAvoy's, thanks to two bases-loaded triples by Jim Coppinger. Tim Donovan also aided the offense with two key hits.

In another ten-inning game during the week, Jim Dole's Mechanical Coordinators clinched first place in the western division with a hard-fought 15-11 victory over the 520 Club, despite the fact that Chris Fratalia cracked three booming triples and teammate Bob McKinley got two key hits to force the game into extra innings several times...

In the BR Senior Division the Medford Colts spoiled the debut of the Charlestown "Townies" at Ryan by beating Wayne Davis' boys by the score of 6-3. The locals managed to hold the opposition to a 3-3 tie going into the last inning until a Colt home run was the margin of victory. Greg Snow started on the mound for the Senior Division nine but tired in the 7th. Ed Charbonnier led the offense with two hits. The "Townies" biggest threat came in the 6th inning but Mike Yandle's long smash got hauled in by Colts outfield.

JUST A REMINDER: Anyone involved with selling chance books for Babe Ruth may make their returns at the Fair anytime during its four-day stay...

Recently Honored

Jackie Martin from Baldwin Street was named the outstanding right wing of Don Bosco's fine hockey team at the ceremonies held two weeks ago.

Jackie was not present at this meeting because of being invited for tryouts at the Olympic Training Center in Colorado where he was accepted as a trainee.

You can be sure you are going to hear more about this fine young athlete in the school-boy hockey world in the near future.

Boys' Club Bunker Hill Day

Roadrace

The Charlestown Clubhouse, Boys' Clubs of Boston is expecting over 100,000 to line the route of the 11th Annual Bunker Hill Road Race when it starts at 11:00 a.m., Sunday, June 14.

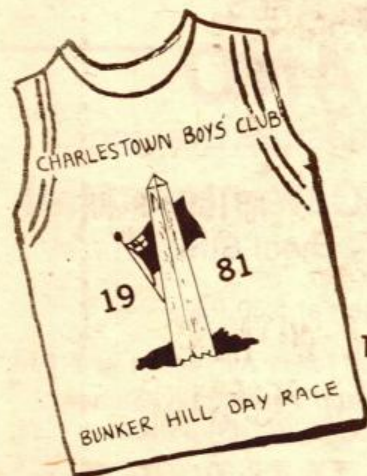

Spectators along the 2.0 mile and 5 mile course will actually be treated to a double feature, because the estimated 500 runners will be competing along the same route that the annual Bunker Hill parade takes, immediately following the road race. The race starts at Lexington and Bunker Hill Streets.

As for the racers, there will be three classes of competitors for both men and women; 17 and under, 18-39 and 40 years or over. Tank tops will be furnished without charge to the first 300 entrants. Runners may register at the Charlestown Boys' Club any time before eleven, the day of the race, for an entry fee of $5.00, payable to the Boys' Clubs of Boston. Certificates of completion will be awarded to all participants.

Thomas C. King, the Charlestown Clubhouse director, who is supervising the race says, "The number of early entries indicates the largest turnout in our history, but all are welcome, because there's plenty of room, and the proceeds from the race make an important contribution to the youth program at the Charlestown Clubhouse."

The race is being co-sponsored by Boston Parks and Recreation with a special boost from Pepsi and the merchants of Charlestown.

Best Card Of Season At Wonderland

The semifinals of the first $85,000 Double Distance Championship and the 17th running of the $3500 Bunker Hill Marathon will highlight the finest all-around card of the season Tuesday, June 16 (Bunker Hill Eve) at Wonderland Park.

Sixty-four dogs — 32 sprinters and 32 routers — started in the Double Distance Championship and only half remain for the semifinals.

The eight leading point-scorers in each segment (5-16ths and Revere Course) advance to the championship final on Saturday, June 20.

Skinny Beckner's Book Rack is seeking his fourth career stakes race crown at Wonderland. The competition over the 5-16ths course, however, is fierce with top speedballs such as Dick Andrews' Odd Happy, Jimmy Fortunate's Coasting On, Kansas' Rearing Rookie, Ryan's Lani O'Grady and Franklin Pike's Queen Dorene.

Chris Randle's Wyolene and Lectora were surprise opening-round winners over the Revere Course. Other high-scoring routers include White Shadows' Announcing, Frank Fulginiti's Chef Leo, Paul Discolo's GH's Melissa and Ryan's Genie

Aboard.

Ryan's Pretty Maid, runner-up in the recent $100,000 World Marathon Championship, leads a strong field of eight over the 7-16ths course in the Bunker Hill Marathon.

Last year, Ryan's Kochia won the Bunker Hill title and Pretty Maid, the course record at 7-16ths (40.00), hopes to make it two in a row for her kennel.

SPORTSMANSHIP AWARD

Definition: SPORTSMANSHIP! Conduct becoming to a sportsman and involving fair, honest rivalry, courteous relations, and graceful acceptance of results. Sportsman: One in sports who is fair and generous. A person who is a good loser and a graceful winner. Last year's award was presented to Tony Hollien of the Defenders. Tony exemplified the above throughout the entire season. The award was presented by Bill McKeon who plans to make the second annual award presentation at the end of the current season. The recipient will be Bill's choice of an individual who best typifies the above definitions. The presentation date will be announced later in this column.

See Double.

The Double Distance Championship: In the early rounds, 32 great sprinters race over the 5/16 course. Sixteen make it to the semi-finals. Eight will get to the finals. But only one will be called "Champ"... the one the others will probably be chasing for the rest of the season.

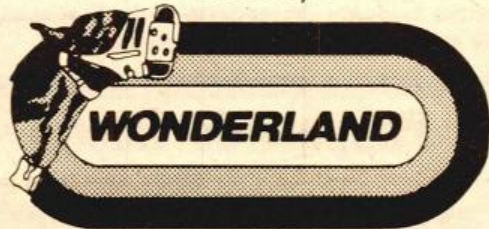

Then you can see it all again. Almost. Because 32 great distance dogs will also be doing their thing over the 3/8 Revere Course. And the distance Champ will have to prove himself the same way.

So if you love championship greyhound racing, you should get out to Wonderland. On the double.

Red Cross Aquatic School

The Greater Boston Chapter of the American Red Cross invites interested persons to attend one of its Aquatic, First Aid and Small Craft Schools to be held in late spring of this year. Of the more than 25 Red Cross Aquatic Schools held throughout the United States this year, the closest to Boston are Camp MAH-KEE-NAC in Lenox, MA and Camp 'Tevya in Brookline, N.H., said Frank Carroll, director of Safety Services, Greater Boston Chapter. The schools start on June 14 and end on June 23, he said.

"These Red Cross Schools help meet the need for qualified swimming and lifesaving, first aid, CPR and boating instructors," said Frank Carroll.

"This spring and summer, at campsites and college campuses around the country, hundreds of new instructors will be trained at these 7-to-10 day schools." Carroll added that a limited number of prerequisite courses may be offered in conjunction with the instructor training courses at some of the Aquatic Schools.

A comprehensive curriculum of lectures, seminars, course instruction and practice sessions at both Camps will teach the techniques of Water Safety, Basic Swimming, CPR Modular, Standard First Aid, Adapted Aquatics, First Aid, Canoeing, Boating and Sailing. Carroll said in order to attend, persons must be 17 or over, physically fit and better than average swimmers.

For further information and application forms, interested persons should contact the Aquatic School office at the Red Cross Chapter, said Carroll. The Chapter address is 99 Brookline Avenue, Boston, MA 02215. The telephone number is 262-1234.

To Charlestown Merchants

Dear Merchant,

As a merchant in one of Boston's neighborhoods, you undoubtedly have certain problems or issues confronting you and your business.

Roy Kitchens of the

Vote On Monday

To Our Seniors Citizens 60 years and over:

I would appreciate your vote in the June 15th election for the Mayor's Advisory Board on Elderly Affairs. Please vote at 112 Bunker Hill Street (corner of Lexington Street).

Thank you,
Helen Lawler

Neighborhood Business Program acts as your liaison to various departments (assessing, public works, traffic, etc.) with which you may have a problem.

At the present time a city-wide local development corporation promises to bring additional sources of funding into the neighborhood commercial districts. As soon as this is ready, you are sure to realize with Proposition 2-1/2 being considered, a new role by the City of Boston in helping to improve our neighborhood and deliver essential services.

Sincerely,
Roy Kitchens

A Note

Of Appreciation

To the Friends of St. Catherine's
I wish to thank all of the Friends of St. Catherine's and its staff, for the lovely plant they sent up to me for Easter. Thank you all; it was very kind and thoughtful of you.

Also I wish to thank my wonderful neighbors and friends for all the plants, masses and cards while I was in the hospital, also for the birthday cards and plants for my birthday also while I was there.

Again, thank you all for your kindness.

Mrs. Jeannette McLaughlin

Thank You

I would like to express my thanks to all my friends and family who showed their love and concern for me recently while I was a patient at M.G.H. I was showered with calls, visits, gifts, cards, flowers, and especially their prayers. May we all continue to have and hold this community's love for one another.

Love,
Dorothy Campanella

Memorial Mass

On Sunday, June 21, 1981 the Bunker Hill Post 26, American Legion will hold its annual Anniversary Mass for their departed comrades. Rev. Leonard T. Duffy, O.F.M. will celebrate the Mass which will be held at 5:00 p.m. at the post quarters, 27 Chestnut Street.

God Works In Strange Ways

The unexpected kindness from an unexpected place,
A hand outstretched in friendship,
A smile on someone's face,
A word of understanding spoken in an hour of trial,
Are "unexpected miracles" that make life more worthwhile.

I want to express my sincere thanks for the prayers and masses offered for Eddie during his recent illness. As Father Serino said, "God works in strange ways."

Our youngest son, Kevin, is stationed on the U.S.S. Carrier Nimitz. Eddie's heart attack was so serious that the doctor at the hospital suggested that I contact the Red Cross and have Kevin brought home. At 7:00 p.m. on May 23 the doctor told me that Eddie had pulled through the surgery. The prayers and Masses did that. At 11:30 p.m. on May 23, Kevin arrived home in Charlestown. Less than 48 hours later disaster hit the Nimitz and my son would have been on that flight deck. His father's close brush with death saved his son from certain death.

This is why I cannot thank the people and priests, especially of St. Catherine's Church, enough. There are no words to express my feelings of thanks and gratitude. Again from our hearts we say, "Thank you Townies" because without your prayers he never would have made it.

Forever thankful,
Ruthie Sweeney and Family

Bleak Future For Community Schools

To the Editor:

Each week thousands of Boston residents, young and old alike, take advantage of the wide range of educational and recreational programs offered at Boston's 20 Community Schools. The staff and neighborhood-elected Councils at those schools have developed some of the finest, most cost-effective programs in the city.

Yet, the future of the Community Schools in the City of Boston is bleak. The "line item" appropriation for Community Schools in the city operating budget, which was already severely slashed last year, is expected to be further reduced by 40-60%. Even though the city only provides about one-third of the operating budget of the Community Schools, this reduction will make it impossible to secure other "matching" grants from federal, state and private sources.

The other major city source of funding is the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) program which will provide approximately $25.7 million to the city in federal revenue sharing funds during the upcoming fiscal year. This week the mayor submitted his proposed CDBG application which contained only $1.5 million for human services (5.8% of the total budget) and no funds for the Community Schools.

The city's CDBG budget is another startling example of why Boston residents are so upset about the city's spending practices. Last year, for example, more than 40% of the mayor's original grant application was slated for administrative overhead until reduced by the City Council. It is this kind of waste and mismanagement which Boston residents were voting to eliminate with passage of Proposition 2 1/2 - and not the loss of essential public safety services or proven neighborhood programs like Community Schools which have been the first to "get the axe".

On June 10 we should get an indication of the administration's fiscal priorities. That is the day when the Mayor can administratively transfer funds between city departments without City Council approval. After June 10th surpluses in the Police and Fire Departments (including the additional $3 million received during the year from the state) can be transferred to pay for political patronage jobs in other less essential city departments.

When those funds were received from the state, I attempted to pass an amendment requiring any surpluses in the Police and Fire Departments to be brought forward for use in the FY'82 budget. After intense lobbying from the administration, the City Council reversed its earlier position and voted to allow the mayor to transfer those funds after June 10th.

The abuse of the transfer provision in the City Charter shows why strong legislative spending safeguards are so desperately needed. Without such controls, the delivery of essential public safety services and outstanding programs such as the Community Schools will be imperilled and Boston taxpayers will once again be on the losing side.

Sincerely,
Raymond L. Flynn
City Councillor
