

Dear Twitter User,

We are sending this e-mail in order to inform you of the content deletion request (attached) sent by the Telecommunications Directorate to Twitter regarding your Twitter account @CthulhuSec.

The Telecommunications Directorate decision must be sent to court and a court decision must be made within 48 hours.

We have waited to be informed of a court decision. We have now received the (attached) decision and Twitter at present has not carried out any action with regard to the below tweet:

https://twitter.com/CthulhuSec/status/699247420803309569/ ...

One of our main principles is to respect the right of our users to have their voices heard and we prioritise protecting that right. For this reason we may decide we have sufficient grounds to make an appeal. If you are considering making an appeal to this court decision in the Turkish courts, please get in touch with us as soon as possible.

If you believe that we have mistakenly contacted you and/or the document attached does not concern your Twitter account, please let us know as soon as possible by replying to this email.

This notice does not constitute legal advice. You may wish to seek legal advice on this issue.

With our respect,
