

Pokémemes Tournament Autumn 2014

Here's how the tournament will be organized:

- 1) You, your partner and your opponents for the round will converse about a suitable time of the day you can battle.
- 2) You'll send either PiC or me a message on RaidCall saying something like "Hi, [insert the four players' names] would like to battle now. Please reply as quickly as possible."
- 3) Wait for either of us to respond to your message. This will most likely not take more than 10-15 minutes, either because we're busy watching another battle in the meantime or because nature calls or the like. We'll likely respond with "I'm ready to spectate your battle", in which we mean to see if any of you disconnects during the battle.
- 4) After the battle, one of you will record the battle and send the spectator the battle code.
- 5) You wait for more information regarding the next round.

If the time of the day on Saturday doesn't fit with your time zone or schedule, please contact either me or PiC and we'll work out an agreement to when you'll have your battle.
