OFFICES RAIDED! PAPERS STOLEN!

In the early hours of the morning the offices of the Frigarian Pinnacle were confiscated by a cadre of women in bright scarlet uniform and stripped of all papers and materials. Inquiries to the lithe woman in command an individual with an old scar across one eye, were rebuked firmly. The Scarlet Dancer, as this paper has taken to calling her, offered no further explanation for the seizure and warned that continued prying would be dealt with far more harshly.

Follow up inquiry lead to city hall where a clerk informed that a filing irregularity had listed the property as vacant. When pressed the unnamed source voiced suspicions of tampering with the records but could provide no leads.

The suggestion of tampering with public records without proof would normally be consigned to crank theories. However since the guard was conspicuously absent during the raid and has offered no assistance since, conclusions arise.

As we do not inhabit the world of dime-store novels, staff of the Frigarian Pinnacle have not received any further threats or altercations with The Dancer or any other members of the scarlet troupe.

We at the Frigarian Pinnacle can only speculate at the intent. An index of missing materials found most were magical treaties and research, but some foreign posts for this paper were usurped.

Since there has been no official sanctions and the clergy have assured the offices of the Frigarian Pinnacle that they have no issue this leads to one chilling conclusion: The Dancer and the Scarlet Troupe are operating outside the law.

We at the Frigarian Pinnacle will pursue this story but seek information to proper compensation.

LOCAL

BEWARE THE BRINY WATERS OF THE BEACH!!

As a newcomer to these shores, I thought I would warn others of the very real and ghastly dangers lurking from the depths of the water. If you happen to chance by a lone male wading naked run, run fast and far, for he will try and lure you into the very water that left him to mutate into a horrific and terrifying horned beast that will chase you down least you are quick and nimble, or lucky enough to hide among the caverns of the waterfall. For me, I was fortunate. I ran like the wind for the safety of the gates of Fragaria. The only reason I outdistanced the beast was a brave sister who engaged him in mortal combat telling me to run, so run I did. I've not seen that brave, heroic sister since. I can only assume that the foul beast dragged her back to its' lair and devoured her, or worse.

Woman of the Week - Evalynn

If you seek a good time look no farther than Evalynn du Navos.

Fond of drink and trouble this roguish woman only occasionally pays for all the booze she imbeds, and usually with stolen coin. If the going gets tough she'll not stick around but it's fine, she has contacts everywhere and can, eventually, for the right price, get you out.

A bit of advice: Be careful carousing, she's handsy.

Diplomats

While perusing the Crimson Dancer reporters discovered there are diplomats for the two cities. Historically diplomats and embassies allow states to minimize conflict over differing opinions and goals, however this seems unlikely to be the case currently as the diplomats reside within their own states.

Records show the embassies were at one point open in the twin cities, but were closed due to 'religious and cultural differences'. With tensions cooling perhaps now is the time to try again.

What is your opinion? Write in to the offices of the Pinnacle.

Sexy Wrestling

Nothing like a festival to bring people together and the latest female wrestling match by the Guild of Solar Lions was certainly that. Drawing in a large crowd the Guild members should be very proud of themselves.

When speaking with officials they offered tantalizing hints that further events were coming. An unconfirmed report suggested the possibility of both endurance tickling and spanking events though no comment when. The next match will be Feb. 7

Weather

Fragaria retains a brisk climate with a chance of flurries in the late evening.

Genius Locus

The rolling dunes of the southern desert are a place of extremes. Freezing at night and burning during the day, the coarse sand blows and smothers the city in a silicate embrace.

Yet this harsh landscape holds many secrets, none more mysterious than the Genius Locus that embodies it's fickle whims. Going by the name Désirée this sprit of the sands grants wishes and brings delight to the people of the south for the cryptic purpose of drawing more power.

TRAVEL

Tower of Sardica

Let's return to the tower of Sardica in the eastern wilds and what an explorer finds when first entering. The first floor hosts a range of dangers, but when you enter that unassuming door you are nearly always confronted by mephits. Frail beasts, these creatures are skilled with magic and flutter about on tiny wings. The red ones delight in blinding their opponents while the white will be happy to administer little shocks.

A shield against elemental damage will negate most of their oomph. Also try to get close, it will allow you to take swings when they are casting. Turn outsider is also a fine trick to have on hand.

SOCIETY

Dear Northern Sisters
(and other cuddles)

Alright ladies, I need some suggestions. I've seen the most gorgeous hunk of sorta human I've *ever* laid eyes on, but can't get his attention. He's always surrounded by the ladies or out chasing them. How do I get him to chase *me*? I've even sent him flowers! Come on, girls, I need this boy to stand still and smell my roses!- Southern Ali

Her & Him

Her

Southern Ali, your query possesses a clear logical solution which is not trivial but solvable. Take Heart. Consider the women he surrounds himself with. Is there a discernible pattern? If you want his attention you may need to divine what he likes to get that craved attention.

Him.

Southern Ali, I could tell you patience is a virtue but you seem more interested in vice. Getting a man's attention is usually not hard, it's keeping it. That 'sorta human' has some potential, many inhumans have attractions to strange scents and items, perhaps it's time to perfume yourself?

String's the thing

Fashion forum continues to discuss the hottest trends in town.

Sometimes the best way to make a statement is to be bold. When heels aren't enough to draw someone's eyes it's hard to fail by baring skin. Lace and leather, expertly cut, and held on by liberal amounts of magic, can do wonders for your profile in any gathering. The pressure of all those stares will help to keep on what little material you decide to accent with, but be mindful of stray hooks, nails and pawing men least you bare all.

Imbedding

Welcome back to the housing guide where we discuss the latest tricks to getting the most out of your home. This week: Imbedding.

The carpenters, masons, artists and other crafters of Frigaria are quite talented. The lucky home owner has a bounty to choose from. However space in apartments can be a premium and many items are designed with the Mountain View homes in mind. So today we discuss ways to conserve space.

The armoires here are a challenge to acquire and provide unrivalled storage. They take up a decent amount of floor space however and in this apartment that's too costly. The clever home owner has decided to imbed them in a wall, just enough to reduce their foot print while still having them usable. As an added bonus the white colour contrasts sharply.

This trick can be used along the exterior walls to great effect but in this example you can really see it.
