Conclusion

Sonofit, a natural ear cream that is believed to treat ototoxicity, has been based on our analysis. We found that many of the ingredients we researched are popular with herbalists because they contain a mixture of antioxidants as well as anti-inflammatory, antibacterial, and antimicrobial properties. They have also been shown to reduce the risk of hearing loss due to wax buildup and infection.

How could this remedy be used to treat tinnitus? More research is needed as most sources agree that tinnitus originates in the brain and not the ears. Talking to a healthcare provider is essential before adding anything to an existing regimen. This is especially important to avoid ear infections.
