Curriculum

American School of Ulaanbaatar provides an educational program based on the Massachusetts Common Core Curriculum for grades 9-12. The curriculum ensures that our students are well prepared for postsecondary education. In the last two years of high school, students will focus on their individual interests and identify and prepare for post-secondary goals. ASU graduates have the knowledge and skill they need to meet the entrance requirements for specific Western university and college programs. The rigorous curriculum offers opportunities to explore subjects in depth. A strong emphasis is placed on critical thinking and develops the ability to appropriately and expertly question established norms and values while developing and questioning our own positions as well. Students are leaders in their own learning, exploring knowledge and reflecting on their context within a specific situation and within the world as a whole.

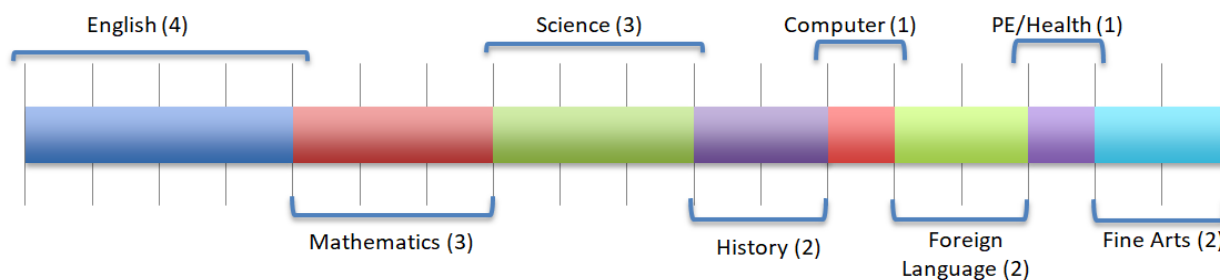

Co-Curricular Activities

Students can choose from more than 20 athletic, cultural, service, and personal enrichment activities in addition to Student Council, National Honor Society, National Art Honor Society, Model United Nations, and Global Issues Network.

Graduation Requirements:

At ASU, English is the language of instruction. 40 hours of community service and 30 credits are required for graduation, of which 18 are compulsory and 12 are electives. One credit is awarded per course successfully completed per semester.

18 Compulsory Credits
