

BD FOOD SAFETY

FOREIGN SUPPLIER VERIFICATION PROGRAM

Get Online FSVP Training and food safety training from BD Food Safety to learn regulatory requirements for imported food, which might be missing in other food safety training programs. Imported food safety regulations can be very different from what the norms are here in the U.S.

The FSVP demands that imported foods follow the same public health requirements as food produced in the United States. After successfully completing this course, you will be able to understand the FSVP's criteria and how these requirements can be met in your specific situation.

Who Needs FSVP Training?

- Food importers located in the United States
- Brokers and exporters of foreign food
- Grocery stores that buy inventory from international suppliers
- Restaurants that source overseas supplies for fresh food preparation
- Representatives who handle the importation of foreign food

The Role of FSVP Courses

- Understanding the proper documentation processes for foreign foods
- Getting to know foreseeable hazards with foods from certain places
- Examining a foreign supplier's performance
- Familiarizing yourself with risks that can be posed by contaminated or adulterated food
- Learning how to conduct supplier verification processes
