

Re: KMOV Request for Comment; Semaglutide

11/20/2023

At IV Nutrition, the health and safety of our clients remain our utmost priority. While recent news reports into the use of compounded semaglutide may have raised concerns, we want to assure our clients that our clinics were not under investigation, and the pharmacy we collaborate with for semaglutide has been found to meet all required standards.

It's essential to emphasize that at IV Nutrition, we not only adhere to industry best practices but also go above and beyond to ensure client safety. We maintain stringent policies and procedures that meet or exceed regulatory requirements. Our commitment to sourcing medications, vitamins, and nutrients from reputable, licensed suppliers is just one facet of our dedication to maintaining the highest standards.

Moreover, our team comprises of licensed medical professionals who operate under the close oversight of our experienced medical directors. This structure ensures that every aspect of our services, including the sourcing and administration of medications, vitamins, and nutrients, strictly adheres to best practice guidelines and ethical standards.

We take pride in our proactive approach to safety and integrity, especially when compared to other clinics offering similar services, who may not approach client safety with the same rigor that we do at IV Nutrition. Our steadfast commitment to your well-being guides every decision we make and every action we take at IV Nutrition.

Should there be any questions or concerns, we encourage direct communication with your local clinic.

Sincerely,

James Hart
