Community Gets First Look At Proposed Whydah Pirate Museum

by Kathy Giordano

The Whydah Pirate Complex development team was received with near exuberance by the community last Monday night when members of the Charlestown Neighborhood Development Committee brought the principals involved in the proposal to a public forum. The Knights of Columbus Hall was crowded with residents eager to hear the plans for a pirate ship museum that could be built in the Yard's End section of the Charlestown Navy Yard.

The presentation prepared for the community's benefit was nothing less than a sophisticated, professional rendering of a 21st century attraction that on the outside captured the essence of the 19th century architecture of the neighborhood it would inhabit.

Through the use of a slide show presentation, project principals Roland Betts and Tom Bernstein walked the audience through the history of the pirate ship and its infamous captain and his crew. Also displayed on screen were artifacts that were discovered at the ocean's bottom from the shipwreck, proven to be that of the Whydah. Architect David Schwarz then pictorially explained how his firm, Architectural Services, P.C., devised the design for a structure to both accommodate a museum and blend with the Navy Yard setting.

The proposed museum would be located on Dry Dock 5/Parcel 5 in the Charlestown Navy Yard.

The site consists of 5½ acres, 150,000 square feet of which would house the facility. The primary entrance/exit to the museum would be directly from a newly created Gate 6 at the end of the Navy Yard. Piers 10 and 11 would be included in the development package.

Schwarz stated that the dry dock would be incorporated into the design of the facility as an important link with a Yard's End Park. Pedestrian walkways and shuttle boat launch areas would highlight this main entry side of the building. Boardwalks, outdoor dining areas, waterfront stores and green, open space would surround the museum, he stated. He added that the structure, as proposed, would stand 110 feet high at

Opening Of New Olives Restaurant Benefit For Life Focus Center

Olives will soon be moving. The work on the new restaurant and bar in Roughan's Hall at 10 City Square is almost completed. To celebrate the opening, owners Todd and Olivia English are hosting a fund raiser to benefit their City Square neighbor, The Life Focus Center, on Sunday, June 28 from 4 to 11 p.m. Tickets are available in advance, or on the day of the event, at the old Olives at 65 Main St., for a donation of $20 per person.

According to Olivia, "As we grow, we're happy to be more involved with the community. The community has given so much to us so far and we're glad to be able to give something back. Working with The Life Focus Center has helped redirect our efforts in this regard. We're interested in building a new City Square neighborhood and our alliance with The Life Focus Center is the start. It has been a pleasure to work with Jack Millerick and Jim Conway on this event. They and the staff have gone out of their way to make the planning a success."

Jack Millerick, director of the Life Focus Center, a program for the mentally retarded and physically handicapped, commented, "We're happy to be associated with Olives in their opening. Their invitation to participate in this event is a continuation of the old Charlestown neighborhood — neighbor helping neighbor."

"We encourage Charlestown residents to come to the opening and see what we're doing and, at the same time, they will be helping contribute to the community because the proceeds will go to The Life Focus Center," Olivia concluded.

The Monument Square resident had planned for some time to take her vows at 5:30 p.m. on June 13th at St. Mary's Church. At 5:20 p.m., hundreds of people were outside her home being entertained by the Aqua String Band who had come all the way from Philadelphia. The area was cordoned off to all traffic — including a limo. At 5:25 p.m., the bride and her party were seen running down Soley Street toward a waiting groom . . . All went well, however. With the bridal party's return, all concert-goers gave the bride and groom a standing ovation . . . How many couples can claim such a warm send-off for a happy life together? . . . Warm wishes to you both. We look forward to wishing you a happy first anniversary at next year's concert.

• You'd Be Surprised . . . to know who these men are! But I'll never tell . . . One Charlestown "man's man" was seen at the Mummer's Concert carrying a purse. Although trying to pass it off as his wife's bag, eyebrows were raised . . . and the second "man among men" was seen marching in the front line of dignitaries in the Bunker Hill Day Parade wearing his wife's sneakers. He said he wore them because they were comfortable! . . . Gee, fellas, you're just swell!

Traffic Headaches Predicted With Arrival Of The Tall Ships

by Kathy Giordano

Sail '92 will bring the largest fleet of sailing ships of the 20th century into Boston Harbor on July 11. Sail '92 also promises to bring the biggest headache of the 20th century into Charlestown on July 11.

At a public meeting on June 9, representatives from the Boston Transportation and Police Departments met with the Charlestown Neighborhood Council's Basic Services Committee at a public meeting to outline the city's plan to accommodate the millions of visitors expected to view the extravaganza.

William Good, deputy commissioner of the Boston Transportation Department (BTD), stated that Sail '92 will take place from July 11 through 16, with the heaviest concentration of visitors expected during the weekend of July 11 and 12.

Good stated that the "only way to address public safety is to restrict access to the neighborhoods being impacted (South Boston, North End, East Boston and Charlestown)." These restrictions refer to private, personal vehicles. "Our objective is to allow no more cars into a neighborhood than were there prior to 5:30 a.m.," he stated.

To achieve this objective, Charlestown will be blocked off to all outside traffic, with the exception of emergency vehicles, from 5:30 a.m. to sunset on Saturday, July 11 and Sunday, July 12. Persons wishing to leave the community by car during these hours will only be allowed to exit at predetermined points along the outer perimeter of Charlestown. A pass card will be given to the driver to allow the vehicle to re-enter. Vehicles will have complete mobility within the community, allowing residents to drive anywhere within Charlestown.

"MBTA bus service will be operating," according to BTD Construction and Event Management Director Richard Loring. "The Bunker Hill and Main Street buses will run on an enhanced weekend rush hour schedule. However, they will be operating to and from Sullivan Square only. No buses will leave Charlestown for Haymarket Square or downtown Boston." Loring stated that bus riders wishing to get into Boston would have to go to Sullivan Square and ride the Orange Line.

Good reported that the Charlestown Navy Yard will host 15 Class A and B vessels. In addition, "maxi-yachts," which accompany the large ships, will be moored behind The Schrafft Center in Sullivan Square.

According to Good, shuttle buses, water shuttles and charter buses will provide pedestrian transportation to the Sail '92 events.

Good admitted that the plan is rigid, but stated, "There are not a lot of options open to us to allow for the control of traffic needed."

The Charlestown Patriot will give a more detailed report on Sail '92 and its ramifications on the community in upcoming editions. Residents seeking information, can call Loring at 635-4676.

Forum On Boston Recycling Planned

by Leslie Jacobs
Charlestown
Recycling Volunteers

An educational forum, "Boston Recycling at a Crossroads: What's the Next Step," will be held on Wednesday, June 24 at 7 p.m. in the Piemonte room of Boston City Hall.

Funds of $3.7 million have been made available to Boston by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts to develop the city's recycling program. To receive the funds, the city must have a specific plan. At present, city officials are exploring the possibility of siting a Materials Recovery Facility (MRF) in or near Boston.

The forum will address what a MRF is, why Boston needs one, financing and operating a MRF, the implications of siting such a facility in Boston and options for Boston's recycling future.

Speakers will include Charles Royer, director of the Institute of Politics of the John F. Kennedy School of Government at Harvard. Royer is a former mayor of Seattle, Wash., a city with a successful recycling program.

Others speakers will be Adam Marks, plant manager of New England CRInc in R.I. and former head of recycling for the state of R.I.; Willa Kuh, director of the Division of Solid Waste Management, Mass. Department of Environmental Protection, and Rick Innes, executive assistant to the commissioner, Boston Public Works Department.

The forum is sponsored by the Boston Recycling Coalition (BRC), a citizen's group representing those Boston neighborhoods, including Charlestown, involved in recycling. The forum is open to the public, and the Charlestown Recycling Volunteers encourage you to attend.

Stephanie . . .

Congratulations on your graduation from Lawrence Memorial Hospital School of Nursing
. . . we are so proud of you!

I came here thinking Florence Nightingale and glory
I leave here thinking of a thousand faces . . . those faces, hard, hurt feelings,
AND I LEARNED TO CARE.

I saw a dying young man of four
AND I LEARNED TO CRY.

I watched a mother kiss the miracle of her first baby
AND I LEARNED JOY.

I saw an old man with no visitors stare out at the Christmas snow,
AND I LEARNED LONELINESS.

I saw the skilled hands of a surgeon,
AND I LEARNED TO MARVEL.

I saw his lips moving with prayer,
AND I LEARNED,
WITH GOD THERE IS ALWAYS HOPE.

The smiles on all these faces taught me that work here is not in vain.

The world no longer revolves around me . . .
I revolve around the world . . . the world of those needing help.

And it must be the greatest of all privileges to be part of this birth, death, and the interim that is the pulse of human life.

★ Pier 5 . . . The Raymond Group requested community support for a temporary development proposal for Pier 5 in the Charlestown Navy Yard. The request was made before a Charlestown Neighborhood Council Development Committee meeting on June 15.

James English, consultant for the Raymond Group, stated that the entire proposal "is temporary in nature, available to be removed if and when a permanent development proposal for the pier comes forward."

English explained that the Raymond Group wishes to create activity in the Navy Yard and give community non-profit groups an opportunity to generate money for their programs.

The plan includes paving the pier and erecting a series of temporary tents and a food concession stand. The tents would be offered to the non-profits, English said, free of charge. The pier would also contain 80 parking spaces, open to the public at no cost, so that the area would become more accessible to visitors.

English stated that the temporary development of the pier could last for up to four years, or until a viable development plan is ready for construction.

"The Raymond Group would open the facility as soon as regulatory authorities would allow it to be constructed." He added that the pier's accessibility to the public would not be restricted, but enhanced by the proposal. A 36-inch high chain would be installed, connecting the pier's ballards, as a visual protective barrier from the water's edge. Toilet facilities and seating would also be provided, English explained. Security personnel would patrol the pier during the evening hours to protect the contents of the concession stand and tents. These security officers would not restrict access to the pier after the vendors close for the day, he stated.

Development Committee Chairman Tom Cunha announced that the Neighborhood Council will receive the Committee's report on the proposal at the July 7 monthly meeting. The Council will vote on the issue and forward the recommendation to the Boston Redevelopment Authority.

According to Cunha, the focus of this meeting will be on traffic and parking.

★ Charlestown Street Reconstruction Update . . .

Ralph Cunningham, resident engineer with Bryant Associates, has informed the Patriot that the contractor, John Mahoney Construction Co., continued to work on Chestnut Street. The pavement was completely stripped, new gas light bases were installed and new curbs were reset and installed as needed. The roadway was graded rough and fine, making it ready for the paving on June 22 or 23. The Boston Gas Company installed the feeds to the new lights and the cable company installed new T.V. cable along the street.

The curb was installed on Adams Street and the contractor completed the new light base installations. The remaining roof drains were also hooked up by the contractor. A new concrete sidewalk was poured in front of the American Legion hall in time for the pre-parade festivities.

In the same neighborhood, the contractor completed the water main installation on Putnam Street and did a good portion of the work on Ellwood Street.

Other crews continued to work on Devens Street where the stripping of the pavement was completed and the new curb installation started.

Around the corner on Old Rutherford Avenue, the contractor pretty much finished installing the new storm drains and completed a good portion of the pavement excavation. Work is scheduled to begin on Washington Street now that the parade is over.

Toward the other end of town, the contractor got underway on Russell Street where the new storm drains were installed between Mead and Oak streets. The drain work was started between Eden and Mead streets.

The construction crews made a good effort in preparation for the Bunker Hill Day Parade with clean up and paving work to facilitate the parade and other celebrations in the community.

Middlesex Paving Co. is expected to get back to work on the Mead Street Stairs (40 Flights) next week. Meetings between the engineers, the Boston Redevelopment Authority (BRA) and the contractor are on-going regarding the re-use of the old footings that were found when excavation work began. A final decision and details on the modifications to the plans is anticipated to be released by the end of next week.

Cunningham stated that new street construction start-up dates are announced in this week's notice by the John Mahoney Construction Company. He said that the contractor will now be starting some streets as early as originally anticipated. Residents should read the notice in this week's Patriot and make note of any work that will be taking place in their neighborhood.

Peter Looney, a Charlestown resident and member of the Charlestown Neighborhood Council, has been appointed by the BRA to work as the Community Liaison Officer on the Charlestown Streets Reconstruction Project which has been underway for some time now.

Looney's role is to act as the go-between or middleman between the contractor, John Mahoney Construction Company, and Bryant Associates, the engineering firm hired by the BRA to oversee the construction contract.

All calls from community residents concerning the construction project should continue to be directed to Megan Mahoney at 696-8446 for official registration by Mahoney Construction Company. Once the call is recorded, it will be forwarded to Looney for appropriate action on behalf of all Charlestown residents.

Residents Outraged At Recent Attacks — Look To Police For Safer Streets

by Kathy Giordano

The Charlestown Neighborhood Council Public Safety Committee and the Boston Police Department Community Relations Officer held their monthly meeting on June 9. The meeting primarily concentrated on recent violent incidents in the community that caused serious bodily harm to two men.

The first incident took place outside the Bunker Hill Community College train station where a man was attacked by two youths wielding golf clubs. The attack resulted in the victim having to be transported to Mass. General Hospital (MGH) for treatment of his injuries. Some 50 stitches were needed to close the wounds on his head and upper body.

The second incident occurred on Bartlett Street, adjacent to the rear of the Bunker Hill Monument. A resident of Concord Street was approaching his home when he was attacked by three teen-agers. He was knocked to the ground, kicked, beaten and, despite pleas for mercy, was stabbed three times. He, too, was taken to MGH and treated for his life-threatening wounds.

Community outrage on these two unprovoked attacks filled the conversation at the meeting. Residents demanded that the names of the young men who committed the crimes be published in The Charlestown Patriot "so that all would know them for the scum they are," one resident stated.

member Jim Conway, whose wife, Gloria Conway, is publisher of the newspaper, stated: "The policy of the paper is not to print names until the person goes to trial and gets convicted." He added, "It serves no purpose to unnecessarily place added burdens on the families of suspects who might be innocent of the charges. It's a long standing policy — not about to be changed."

Officer Joe McNulty stated that although the names of those arrested for crimes is available to the public, if the newspaper does not care to publish them, he would give the information out upon request. He advised residents to call him at 343-4627.

Conway added: "We have to stop burying our heads in the sand. There has been a change in Charlestown. Somewhere along the line, with the cooperation of the police, the community can work toward bringing back safer streets. The Neighborhood Watch program, where neighbor looks out for neighbor, is a viable solution." He added, "We're not getting the round robin police patrolling we deserve. There has to be more done about drug and alcohol related problems. We have to catch this increase in the bud." He said to McNulty, "Get the word back to the deputies that Charlestown is not going to stand still. We demand more accountability from the police."

Council member Bill Galvin stated that he would like to know what happens to those who are arrested for these crimes. "Do they go to court? Are they found guilty? I'd like to know if the court system is working."

Council member Jim Mansfield stated: "The police have to stop telling us that 'this doesn't happen in Charlestown.' It does happen in Charlestown and you are giving the community a false sense of security."

Moe Gillen, also a council member, stated: "I'm tired of the police saying 'We're looking at the whole picture.' We don't care about the whole picture. We want to be able to walk down our streets in safety." He continued: "The police are supported and respected in Charlestown. We'd like that sentiment reciprocated."

McNulty retorted: "We (the police) can't be every place, every second. You have to be our eyes and ears. Neighborhood Watches can be set up. We have a drug hot line. The Drug Unit is here in the community. We also have detectives here working under cover." He added: "There is no false conception on crimes. What happens is reported in the Patriot. What I'm saying is Charlestown is not as bad as other neighborhoods." He concluded: "If you see this type of activity, call. Get involved. Call 911. Let us know."

Community Gets First Look At Proposed Whydah Pirate Museum

its highest point and a maximum of 60 feet in height for the vast majority of the facility.

Visitation, according to Betts, is expected to peak the first year of operation at 1.5 million people, dropping to 1.2 million during the museum's second year and gradually "creeping up" to the level of 1.4 million.

Admission fees were established according to similar tourist attractions in New England. Betts stated that an adult ticket for the museum would cost $15.

children $8.50 and groups would pay between $10 and $11 per person to enter. Each tour of the pirate museum would last between three and five hours, he added.

The ticket price would enable the visitor to relive the life of a pirate through visual and hands-on exhibits. The centerpiece of the museum would be an authentic replica of the Whydah ship which could be boarded and explored through the assistance of the ship's crew dressed in period costume.

Other features of the pirate complex would include a visit to a Caribbean town and a journey to Cape Cod aboard the Whydah. This journey would include surviving the shipwreck through a motion simulation and "ride film" experience that would end in being taken to Boston's Admiralty Court to stand trial. There, the visitor would witness and participate in a re-enactment of the pirates' trial.

A "Pirates Hall of Fame" from the 1700's Golden Age of Piracy would be viewed by boat after the execution takes place at Charlestown Ferry.

Science and cultural exhibits and a conservation lab will educate the visitor on marine archaeology and techniques used to conserve artifacts taken from the sea.

After the close of the presentation, Development Committee Chairman Tom Cunha asked the development team: "Before we go any further, do you have the needed money to build this complex? Or, to rephrase it — Do you have the pockets?" In reply to Cunha's question, Betts stated: "You've got the site. We've got the pockets!" The pirate complex would cost an estimated $70 million to build.

Benefits that would be derived from the complex include:

- 300 union construction jobs during the 18 month construction period, generating approximately $35 million in wages;
- 350 new permanent jobs, including full-time, part-time and seasonal employment opportunities;
- Child care opportunities for employees;

- Affordable housing and job training linkage money;
- Millions of dollars in contracts for goods and services;
- Educational programs with both the Boston Public Schools and local parochial schools;
- Open space, access to Boston's Harborwalk and enhanced water shuttle service;
- Added revenues for Boston and Massachusetts;
- Community involvement

Community Gets First Look At Proposed Whydah Pirate Museum

in a Community Task Force to provide on-going input regarding employment, programs, local vendor opportunities and other community-related issues;

• Community participation on the Complex Board; and
• Community hiring opportunities.

The members present were allowed to address the developers with questions or remarks before the floor was opened for community participation. Other Council members present included Bob Wallace, Jeanne Davis, Jim Mansfield, Moe Gillen, Marty O'Brien Sr., Jim Conway, Tom Pitts, Bill Galvin, Dan Kovacevic, Ken Stone, Mel Stillman and Peter Looney.

Conway made a statement directed to Paul Barrett, deputy director of Economic Development for the Boston Redevelopment Authority (BRA). He said: "I would concur with you and others that the whole aspect of slaveships and slavery should be treated with sensitivity. I would hope that the input of noted historians, knowledgeable about these points, be part of any proposed advisory committee." He added: "Any advisory committee should be broader in its composition with historians and experts who would be competent to advise on all aspects of historical accuracy, such as slave ships and slavery, maritime history/architecture, life styles, historical artifacts and piracy."

Conway was referring to a statement made by Barrett in Boston's daily newspapers last week regarding the formation of an advisory committee to oversee the historic aspects of a slave ship, one of which was the Whydah before it was captured by pirates.

Barrett replied: "A number of people came to us regarding the issue of slavery. There will be a group working with the development team and the BRA on this subject including scholars and historians. The rest of the project, we hope, will be endorsed by the Charlestown Neighborhood Council and the community."

Peter Steele, curator for the Boston National Historical Park, informed the committee that the Park Service has a role in the restoration of the historic aspect of the Charlestown Navy Yard. He stated that a representative from the Park Service's Philadelphia office would arrive in Boston next week to review the Whydah Pirate Complex proposal.

He stated: "We feel that it should relate to the Navy Yard interpretively. Relate to the history of building naval warships and naval ships of the 19th century. We do have a problem with it. Does it relate to the history of the Navy Yard?"

Steele also expressed concern with traffic, parking and pedestrian access to the Navy Yard, stating: "This proposal is different from the New England Aquarium."

Ivy St. John added to Steele's statement on the importance of "scholarship" and relating to the Navy Yard trades. She said: "You have to draw a link." She asked that discussions on landscaping and how it would work with the harborwalk, traffic, parking, height and density, and how people would get in and out of the Navy Yard be included on the agenda for the next meeting. "We need to have a sense of how it would be done," she stated.

Bill Lamb requested that the developer bring back to the community a model of the facility and sketches that would show what the structure would look like from eye level.

Cunha announced that the next public meeting on the Whydah Pirate Complex proposal would take place on Monday, June 22 at 7 p.m. at the Knights of Columbus Hall. Included on the agenda for this, the second meeting, would be traffic and parking issues. The developer, if prepared at that time, will also answer other concerns raised at the June 15 meeting.

BOB D'S BEAT

by

■ Thompson Island . . . The fourth annual Mayor's Youth Campaign kickoff took place on Saturday at Thompson's Island. Young people from many neighborhoods of the city gathered together for a great day of fun, food and entertainment.

Attending the event from Charlestown were: Kelly Burke, Bob Lawrence, John Burke, Debra-Lee Eatherton, Pat Gould, Neal Boyle, William Boyle, Kendall Junta, Nicole Marino, Kellie Burke, Jessica Lawton, Roselyann Boyle and Crystal Lawton. The group was organized by Mary Featherstone of St. Catherine's.

■ Tom Yawkey League . . . Going into this week, Charlestown remains on top of the Rivera Division of the Tom Yawkey Baseball League.

The standings are: Charlestown 6-1-0, McKay 6-2-0, Avi Nelson 6-3-0, Al Thomas 5-3-1, ADSL 4-5-0, Powder House 3-4-0, Shamrocks 1-5-1 and Cambridge 1-7-0.

■ Unsung Heroes . . . Just a word of praise to our Charlestown Traffic Supervisors who see every day that our school kids get safely across the streets to and from school. The local supervisors are: Diane Ferreira, Margaret Broderick, Ann Elwell, Sheila Farley, Janet Black, Susan Cannizzaro, Candy Doherty, Lori Murphy, Charleen Polisky and Denise Dagle. Your work is noted, needed and much appreciated.

■ Basketball Tournament Success . . . Over 50 young people took part in a Pre-BNBL Basketball Tournament during Charlestown Pride Week, organized by Danny Ryan.

■ NHL Clinic . . . A Street Hockey Clinic, featuring some NHL stars, will be taking place this Saturday afternoon at Columbus Park in South Boston. Youngsters interested in attending should see Danny Ryan or Bob D. for details.

■ Just A Thought . . . Charlestown has given this city many firefighters over the years. I wonder how the person(s) who light dumpster fires in Charlestown (several over the past few weeks) would feel if one of these firefighters got killed rushing to one of these unnecessary fires. It could happen!

A LITTLE BIT OF BACK TALK

Did you know that to become a certified chiropractor takes a minimum of six years of college training? In most states chiropractors are required to attend and pass annual seminars to have their licenses renewed.

The government has endorsed the use of chiropractors by including their treatment in Workmen's Compensation.

If you've been hesitant about seeing a chiropractor and this hasn't answered your questions, feel free to ask us directly. Call today.

Charlestown Teens — A Source Of Pride

Dear Gloria:

We hear so much these days about high school graduations and teen-age accomplishments in the athletic and academic areas of their schools and almost always the talk turns to teen-age violence, drug use, vandalism, etc.

We as proud grandparents would like to tell you about two of our grandchildren who graduated from high school this month and their accomplishments, because we think they represent what the vast majority of Charlestown teenagers are all about.

Christine is the daughter of our son Kevin and Patricia Galligan Coleman and is presently living in Brockton. Christine graduated from Notre Dame Academy in Hingham with the following honors: National Honor Society in English; National Honor Society in French; the Notre Dame Medallion for Academic Achievement; Notre Dame Track Team, four years; and Outstanding Performance Award in French and English.

Christine received a full scholarship award to Bentley College in September.

Francis is the son of Francis and Sharon Martin Coleman

Dear Gloria:

Just a short note to say "thanks" to all who participated in any way that made the annual Doll Carriage Parade the highlight of "Pride Week."

A "special" thanks to the Bunker Hill Day Parade Committee, the 520 Club, the Bunker Hill Irish Heritage Society and the Bingo Committee of the Knights of Columbus for their financial support.

Edna Kelly

My Thanks

Three Cheers To The Volunteers

Dear Charlestown Patriot:

Once again the people of Charlestown have demonstrated their overwhelming pride for the community. Three cheers to the many volunteers and organizations in town that made the remembrance of Bunker Hill Day so special.

Having had the chance to visit with many folks during Pride Week and greet many of my dear friends along the parade route, I could not help but feel such great satisfaction with another tremendous show of support for the entire week's events. As the challenge was great, all of those who contributed to the success of the week deserve our appreciation.

On behalf of those who truly enjoyed the week, I would like to extend my sincere thanks for yet another successful celebration. I would be remiss if I did not extend this appreciation to The Charlestown Patriot whose coverage allowed all of us to be kept up-to-date on the activities within the town.

Finally, let me say that representing Charlestown is a true pleasure. For it is the community's spirit of giving and bonding as one neighborhood, that makes me so proud to serve the town. Having had the opportunity to travel from one end of the state to the other, I can honestly say I have never witnessed a community that has such respect and dedication for itself as does Charlestown.

Congratulations on a job well done.

Very truly yours,
Richard A. Voke
State Representative

My Sincere Thanks

Dear Friends:

I wish to extend a deep and sincere thank you to the priests, members of the faculty and staff, and to the parents who planned and participated in the pleasant evening last Monday night in Bishop Lawton Hall. I leave St. Francis de Sales School with happy memories of 18 years of service to the children of the parish. To the third graders of 1991-1992 I would like to say a special thank you — "YOU WERE A SUPER CLASS and I wish God's special blessing on each one of you."

We Love You, Judy

Dear Editor:

Well, what do you know — people of Charlestown, especially the tenants of the Bunker Hill Housing Development, have renewed admiration for Judy Evers.

How can we ever forget one who is so sweet and feels deeply for the needs of Charlestown people. It is so important to us who call on her for help. Her heart is always for us.

Recently, Judy had her arm in a sling and underwent surgery. Through her pain she listened to everyone's problems, never complained and fought so hard through it all. She never let on that she was in pain. We found out later through other sources.

Thank you Judy. Keep up the good work. We "still" love you.

Your Charlestown Friends

My Thanks

Dear Friends,

My recovery at the Mass. General Hospital was certainly aided by all the concern and care given me by my family, many friends and the wonderful doctors and nurses at the hospital.

Mere thanks does not seem adequate to express my gratitude, as you will never know how much the cards spiritual bouquets, flowers, plants and visits were appreciated and buoyed my spirits. An extra "Thank-you" is extended to Father Daniel Mahoney and Father William McConnell for their visits to the hospital, to Father Thomas Navien for his visits to my home, to Sister Margaret and the staff of St. Francis de Sales School for the lovely plant, to the members of St. Francis de Sales Guild and to the Daughters of Isabella for the beautiful centerpiece.

Now at home, my spirits and strength are greatly improved each day by all your continued kindness.

Many Thanks,
 Esther (Essie) Martin

Memories Of Bunker Hill Day

Dear Gloria:

Once again another Bunker Hill Day holiday weekend has passed. When I think of this holiday, I think of younger days when my parents would take the family to watch the parade from our annual vantage point in City Square across from Station 15. The bands, clowns, pols and marching units would wind their way through Charlestown streets until they hit City Square.

My mother is a true Townie, and every year she would make it a point to return to visit childhood friends who remained. My father is dead now and my mother is over at Youville Hospital unable to watch the parade. For years they enjoyed watching the parade, cheering on the bands as they passed them by. But those days are gone. Events I thought would never change, have changed. As the Bible says, there's a season for everything under the sun, but some things will last forever as long as we have memories.

My funniest remembrance was watching my mother chase after her elderly father through the crowd lining the sidewalks of City Square. The more I watch my mother now, the more I see Grandpa. Both of them lived in Charlestown for most of their lives. My grandfather, Jimmy Harrington, left County Cork (Bear Island) in 1907 and either lived or worked in Charlestown until 1947. Each of them were definitely CharLEStown (as my grandfather pronounced it) Irish.

My best Bunker Hill Day parade was 1981 when I marched with the Peoples Firehouse No. 2 Committee shortly after the Engine 50 apparatus was reactivated by the city of Boston following the successful month-long takeover of the firehouse on Winthrop Street. As we marched to the cheers of the parade watchers lining the route, I never felt more proud of my community.

The Bunker Hill Day parade route is memory lane for me. Who can forget the free Hoodsies at the police station or watching women run out to James Michael Curley with red roses or the fire engines with sirens blasting or the Boston Police mounted patrol leading off the parade? Each year new memories added to the old and, hopefully, good memories to savor in later years.

Sincerely,
 Sal J. Giarratani

McCullough, Stievater & Polvere Celebrate 20th Anniversary

The Charlestown law firm of McCullough, Stievater & Polvere celebrated its 20th anniversary this week. In June of 1972 the firm opened its doors at the historic Round Corner building on Main Street, the same week as its neighbor, The Warren Tavern.

The developer had been in the process of doing the rehabilitation of the several landmark buildings making up the Thompson Triangle. He needed commercial tenants for the first floor of the brick buildings on Main Street. At that time, John McCullough was working at the Kennedy Center and was forming a law partnership. The idea of being in the newly restored building was exciting to him and his partners, Bill Stievater and Dan Polvere.

The catch was that the tenants had to do their own internal rehabilitation. Dan, Bill and John undertook this task with gusto, including personally sandblasting the interior brick walls (exposed brick was popular then). The interior of the office has been reconfigured several times since. There was also no air conditioning in those early years, in a space that had virtually no windows which could be opened.

Another early memory was the El, which ran for four more years along Main Street. Each time it went by the building shook and telephone calls had to be interrupted.

The firm began with the name partners and Mary Cole, a Charlestown girl, as office manager. Cole left in 1978 to pursue her career in Washington, D.C. but returned in 1989 to be the firm's administrator.

The early goal of the partners, who came from different backgrounds, was to have a neighborhood law practice while developing some special areas of expertise. The first few years were difficult (there was a recession then, too), but slowly the firm began to add attorneys and better technology and take more space in the building. In 1985, a northern office was set up in Westford.

Currently the firm has nine attorneys along with paralegals and staff, in various areas of law practice, including real estate and estate planning and civil and criminal litigation.

Managing partner Dan Polvere observes: "We could have selected a downtown location or a suburban setting, but we wanted to be part of a solid neighborhood community. And I like to walk to work."

Bill Stievater is the current president of the Charlestown Business Association and is active in the annual Christmas Walk. Over the years, partners and members of the firm have served in the Boys & Girls Club, the Preservation Society, Kennedy Center Board of Directors and many other local organizations.
