

A Desert Safari in Dubai

A safari brings to mind a romantic image of a travel across jungles and mountains. Earlier safaris were on foot, but now the modern safari is frequently conducted by a 4 wheeled driven vehicle. The desert safari is another mutation of the age old safari and it is every bit as exciting. In particular the city of Dubai offers desert safari which is basically a traverse the sand dunes. The desert is really a barren area made of sand and small hillocks called dunes. These dunes possess a peculiarity in that they aren't static and keep shifting with the direction of strong winds. When moving in the desert sand storms are not unheard of and at that time visibility may be reduced to zero. Thus there exists a need of a special 4x4 wheeled vehicle. Generally in Dubai the Toyota land cruiser is quite common. The vehicle is roomy and with AC on doesn't get heated in the hot desert. Earlier desert safaris were on camels - however that was in a bygone age.

While you're in Dubai you can book a desert safari with some of the umpteen tour operators available. All tour operators that run the Dubai desert safaris follow set route and regime. You'll invariably be picked up from your hotel or host to stay. This is each day and you will be part of a group of six who all travel together.

All of the vehicles assemble in a starting point. As a rule no single vehicle is able to go out into the desert. It can be dangerous as disorientation can cost you your life. Thus a whole fleet moves together. This is a thrilling experience and usually the desert safari will drive on within the desert and converge over a camel farm. You can then have a short ride about the camel. and also have a look concerning how camels are bred.

The safari will move on and get you to Bedouin camp. This really is wonderful experience and you may see how the Bedouins- the earlier nomads live in the desert. A Bedouin camp will also have an oasis and you will feel the cool waters as well as the romantic surroundings. Local girls will also apply exotic henna designs to suit your needs. Bedouin camps these days have all basic amenities and you may freshen yourself. You'll be served exotic barbecue dinner with Lebanese girls doing a belly dance for your benefit. The belly dance is the high point of the evening and sometimes girls from Mumbai will also be drafted for this show.
