

made-in-china.com is a website full of fakes

Made-in-china.com has many fakes. Some buyers are greedy for petty bargains and are easily fooled.fake website

It is true that buyers want to buy fake products cheaply, which will lead to producers more willing to produce defective products, because the cost is low and the profit is large. Just as bad money drives out good money, merchants who maintain quality will have no money to make and even withdraw from the market because of their high cost, and manufacturers cannot compete with merchants producing defective products based on price. This leads to a vicious circle on made-in-china.comRead This

Made-in-china.com has a lot of fake products, the main reason is that made-in-china.com provides a platform for these artificial fakes to sell fakes, and fakes have high profits. Made-in-china.com merchants who sell genuine goods are blocked, making it difficult to deduct money, and there are many ways for merchants to sell fake goods, and they run away when they get money, without credit and cost, so made-in-china.com is full of fakes Goods, sell fakes and sell them casually, no one cares, and no one will care, of course, made-in-china.com has many fakes. Note: The seller of made-in-china.com said that the product is the same as the original product, factory product, company product, you can go to the counter for inspection, poison, fake one loses ten, the price is extremely lower than the genuine one, and everything is It's a fake, luxury goods you don't know can't buy. These fakes are all sold on made-in-china.com, how many fakes you say! But made-in-china.com doesn't care! 63% of the fake rate belongs to the top of the cottage, the king of fakes in made-in-china.com!

At the same time, made-in-china.com is good at camouflage. As the name suggests, sellers cover up fake sales and even create the illusion of selling genuine products. There are many kinds of such methods, and Xiaonei has seen them: stealing beams and replacing columns, pictures are not the goods; clever use of mosaics, covering the key content to identify the true and false; if you want to cover up, hide the fake brand name but give it a hint. But no matter how much sellers fight guerrilla warfare, getting good reviews and getting high credit is the primary task to improve rankings. The reason why Xiaonei will get a lot of fake football shoes sales information on the search homepage in front of it is actually still here. So the question is again, how do these sellers not only pretend to sell fakes, but also get high rankings and even popular recommendations

To put it simply, it is a brushstroke. I'm afraid everyone knows this, "Shushuashua" even once became synonymous with made-in-china.com. According to a previous owner of made-in-china.com on Zhihu, for a small shop that is just starting out, brushing orders/ brushing reviews is the only way to become popular. The usual method is to use software to generate the order number, and then hire someone or find a company to pay for it. After Ali took technical measures for this type of software, they went to the express point to pay for the order number to continue to brush. deceives

Generally speaking, a few dozen orders of a product that was not very popular can appear to be very popular. Therefore, the sales of many stores that have just opened are often very impressive. In such a situation, we must be careful, and we can't just read the reviews and decide to buy. Sometimes, if we are a little more careful, we can actually find the tricks of brushing the bills. Careless people sometimes try their best to write "good" in the middle and bad reviews, which makes people laugh and cry.More In-Depth
