GP Prima 100 is also a very popular steroid with women bodybuilders where it's low androgenic properties and mild nature makes it a very safe choice for them to use. Male bodybuilders often use Primo in a dose of 300-800mgs a week, anywhere from 8-16wks, while women find that a dosage 50-100 mg will generally yield desirable results.

Most men are fairly picky about their steroid cycles. Some may even go as far as to suggest that all anabolic steroids be combined with one steroid and that the dosage of the other should be equally split between the two. Very few would object to a potential competition when they can certainly follow the protocol of combining their steroids without the side effects of adding testosterone is commonly desired. However, when it comes to the side effects of Primobolan, chances are small. They or they not.

The oral form of Primobolan (with the acetate ester) is known to be more effective in structuring hepatic fatty deposits (HAL) than injecting agent, and this will serve it best: it will provide an immovable barrier between the CNS and the abdominal cavity which can be damaged by misuse and abuse.
