

Minecraft: Pocket Edition is Officially "hotter than The Sun"

How popular is the mobile version of Minecraft? Minecraft servers pretty dang popular, according to developer Mojang's latest blog post. According to Mojang, which was recently bought by Microsoft, Minecraft: Pocket Edition is larger than Texas, 23x hotter than the Sun and "more than the entire observable universe." Mojang also has a 30-million statistic for those who want to check out the actual numbers. This is the number of times the pint-sized version of the game has been bought.

Minecraft: Pocket Edition was launched long before the free to play trend became a "thing". It's sold for US$6.99 on the iOS App Store and Google Play and has never had any price adjustments. This means that the game has brought in about $210 million in revenues. This is quite a bit of cheddar. And with its high App Store ranking, it's likely to continue earning money for many years to come.
