I wish many happiness to all Islamic states in New Ramadan!

I King Gottwald I wish many successes at the beginning of Ramadan, and I congratulate You on the success of the constant support of the Islamic faith from all of Your Islamic nations, as well as from communities abroad.

I congratulate You on the successful launch of Ramadan, and I wish You well-being and the favor of Allah for Your countries and a better understanding of Islamic faith for anyone who recognizes and supports Islamic religion and peace and friendship among states.

The True Faith of Islam promotes friendship among peoples and peace-building, so it is always good to support Islamic states and peoples and give You always good opportunities for Your development.

Therefore, I congratulate all the people of the Islamic faith and wish all the good fortune in the days of Ramadan for all Your families and friends and lovers.

My interests are to support Your states and also the growth of Islamic peace traditions and to support the peaceful development of Islamic states, without radicalism and violence, without crimes against humanity and, above all, without steps leading to the enslavement of innocent states who want only a peaceful life and friendship with The love of their own families.

I wish all the best for all states of Islam, and for all Your families and friends, the Ramadan days are beautiful and celebrate the favor among the people, as well as the values of society and a better understanding of the faith in Allah.

That is why I wish You successful days of intellectual development and peace-building, achieving better progress in favor of society, but also showing to all peoples of the world that Islam is a belief in God that fosters only beautiful ideologies full of friendship and social cooperation, for good days and peace The development of society, and always in good interest without the aims of harming people in friendship and peace.

Allah is surely happy for Your prayers and Thanksgiving, and Your interest in Islamic states for trying to better understand and support the growth of the Islamic faith, so I believe that Your Ramadan days will always be only successful and peaceful.

I wish You much luck in the days of Ramadan and I wish You many successes in Your development!
