The legitimacy of the status of the political subject The Imperium of Diamonds

Since the end of the Second World War, the UN organization has been founded on rules that have been developed for over seventy years to support the states in their right of full independence, freedoms from foreign colonization or administration, and the cessation of any risk of war conflicts.

This means that the government of the Republic of Egypt must respect the rights of our integrity, and there is no other claim than the establishment of our relations over the practices of International Diplomacy among states, and thus also the joint recognition of the legitimacy of the territories under the De Jure Statute.

The Government of the Federation is recognized by International law, and in no way is there any need and necessity to obtain foreign recognition of the law and legality of the sovereignty of the government. The current status of International rules determines the legality of each entity as a de jure government, as long as it is the legal basis for Terra Nullius' status first basis of their territories. There are many other states in the world that don't have the status of legitimacy of their policy, but only because their legal status is based only on an entity with a requirement of state independence and separation from the sovereign state of the opposition government of a country with a de jure status and therefore such a requesting entity independence gains only de facto status, and full International recognition is required to gain de jure status, as a next level of state development.

The Imperium of Diamonds federal government is primarily based in full on the terra nullius territory and therefore the first claim to this exercise is the status of the sovereignty of De Jure as a fully sovereign government with a right full of integrity without the right of another state to the demands of any of its intervention, because in territory is no one competition.

The Federal government of the Imperium of Diamonds openly demonstrates all intellectual and socially legitimate capabilities of the ability to provide life resources suited to the stable development of civilization.

The Federation demonstrates the format of the jurisdiction law. The Federation demonstrates the legal claims of its own population and civil movement. Federation demonstrates values of economic character and development. The Federation demonstrates international political contacts. The Federation is active within legal principles and without threats of its own activities and position in opposition to political principles which would therefore mean the inability of legitimate recognition of the Federation.

All states in the world, have their origin in territory of Terra Nullius, as a Natural legitimation for "State Existence & Establishment".

Business Register Form

CAMAS must have a responsible administration strategy that involves the establishment of a thorough registry and management of all documents. Therefore, it is necessary to ensure the development of companies and the storage of their private data, in accordance with their establishment according to the principles of jurisdiction and requirements of the Federation.

CAMAS must use its own principles of documentation functionality and strategy that are appropriate to keep the management of documents in the client's anonymity protection system, and also with the rights to maintain the CAMAS membership of the CAMAS member agencies, still representing business entities without disclosing their business strategies and core development principles, or secrets.

Every business owner in the Federation must be a citizen of the Federation, meaning the use of, for example, dual citizenship or a direct register of permanent civil identity.

Companies that are under the administration of the CAMAS may not be owned by persons who are citizens of the Federation because the administration office of the CAMAS representation is active in the territory of the Federation, but that means at least CAMAS members are required to be registered as Federation citizens.
