

Minecraft's Twitch Livestreaming Arrives On Windows And Mac, Documents Block-by-block World Constructing

A number of weeks back, Mojang and Twitch announced plans to bring world-constructing livestream talents to Minecraft. Now, that characteristic is stay. As soon as gamers link their respective Mojang and Twitch accounts the enjoyable can begin by the settings menu or by tapping F6 to start capturing the action immediately. Games The new functionality is supported on both Windows (XP and later) and Mac OS X (10.7 or later) for showing off these more elaborate development abilities -- like constructing out the remainder of Europe or some such.