

1. How to Find job in qatar no age limit – Alljobsपो Qatar

There are so many ways to finding a job in your desired location. As you asked for Qatar only and I am also working here as of now, so I can tell you about here.

Below are the ways I also tried to find the job here in Qatar:

Reference: If you have any of your relative/friend already working in Qatar, you can ask for reference. I tried this for more than 5 years before came here but could not find one because none of relative/friend working in office job. They all working in labour work.

I have seen here that if company having a job opening, they ask first to their staff if they have any suitable candidate. By this, they can save the advertisement and consultancy fees. Of course they will hire after interviews and based on your experience and knowledge for the job.

Job Portals: You can create your resume on famous Job portals. I got my job because of this one. A genuine company will not charge anything to hire you. Generally company spends for visa and travel expenses. You can check out several Alljobsपो Qatar.

Before approaching to Consultancy Company, they try to find the candidate through Job portals. You are creating your attractive resume mentioning your desired job profiles and work experience in detail. If company find you suitable for the job, they will contact you directly. Advise: If any company contact you, before accepting job offer I will advise you to check online for the authenticity of the company. Hope you are aware about scams related to fake jobs.

Plan a Visit to Qatar: Now Indians can travel to Qatar without Visa for 30 days and it can be extended for another 30 days.

If you can spend some money, you can plan your visit to Qatar. You can visit companies and drop your Resume. If you are lucky and having good profile, they can take interview same time and may be you can get job immediately.

2. How to Find Jobs in Qatar Easily - Alljobspo Qatar

So how do I screened applicants:

1. you have to make an “x-factor” resume. You have to highlights your strengths, skills, and most of all YOUR ACHIEVEMENT/ACCOMPLISHMENT/ CONTRIBUTION TO YOUR PREVIOUS COMPANY. Don't forget to write your ACTIVE phone number and email address. NEVER LIE IN YOUR RESUME.
2. Paste a recent photo on your resume. Photos not for Facebook profile, photos you see in LinkedIn is more appropriate.
3. Attached proof of your credibility: work certificates, achievement awards, trainings or merits your received, your school credentials and passport copy.
4. Make a PDF file of 1–3
5. Browse and Search job hirings in qatarliving.com, and in gulftimes calssified ads section. These two alone are strong sites.
6. I don't recommend “door to door” application. but if you wanna try that, it's okay, it's just so tiring. And weather now in Qatar is too humid. So anyway, this is your choice.
7. Send your cv, attached the PDF files. Don't forget to create an application letter, there are lots of templates in google for you to follow. I said follow NOT COPY PASTE. Make an “impact” letter where the HR people will be interested to call you and ask you to report to attend your first interview.

8. In attending interview, wear white shirt (long sleeves). Dress appropriately. Come 15 minutes earlier prior your interview time. Bring another set of your documents. Be ready AT ALL TIMES. Be courteous, polite, and smile when someone greeted you. Some companies have CCTV camera in the receptions, your behavior and how you act inside company premises is being watched by the management. So be aware. You can check out several Alljobsपो Qatar.

Remember: it's not only your boosted cv that will help you to land a job of your dreams. Your character is also a major factor. Plus how you answer the questions.

4. Tips to Use on Jobs Search in Qatar – Alljobspo Qatar

It can be difficult to get a job in Qatar even if you're an experienced professional or a graduate in Doha. Here's a list of tips.

The most important thing to remember when looking for job opportunities in Qatar is that you are selling yourself to the employer; therefore you have to make yourself a valuable asset that will be an important addition to their company.

Searching for a job

There are four main approaches to finding a job in Qatar and all four depend on the kind of job that you are qualified to do.

Company websites – a lot of companies have a careers section on their website. This is the first thing that you should look for when searching for a job as the positions available are listed here as well as requirements and application processes.

This refines your search and minimizes the risk of job scams. You can also find all the information regarding the job and contact the companies directly (cold calling).

Network – Whenever you meet a person you are networking, and creating a network of people that you know could get you hired. You can check out several Alljobspo Qatar.

Do not always look outside your circle when looking for a new position, a person that you already know could be an asset when you are looking for employment. They could be someone that works for the company that you are interested in who can get you the relevant phone number or email address of the person that is in charge of recruiting or they could pass your CV onto the relevant person and put in a good word on your behalf.

Cold calling – Find out the name of the company and the relevant telephone numbers, be assertive and stand your ground when calling them. Ask to speak to the hiring manager. Be friendly but firm and do not let the person on the other end of the line intimidate you. Cold calling is a daunting task but it is effective as many people do not take this initiative and it will give you the perfect opportunity to make a sales pitch and an impression on the person hiring. You will be remembered when your CV lands in their inbox.

Recruitment agencies – companies hire recruitment agencies to find the most qualified candidates for the employment position that they require. These are more often than not high end jobs offering management and executive positions. The agency then narrows down a list of candidates for the company accordingly.

Once you have finished the application process all you can do is wait to be called to an interview. If you are living overseas the company could fly you in, all expenses paid, for the interview or you could be sent to a local office. Of course this all depends on the job that you have applied for.

The Interview Preparation

Some companies will send you an itinerary of what you need for the interview and you should follow that list as closely as possible. It always makes a good impression when you come to an interview prepared. If the company has just invited you for an interview without any additional requirements please bring a hard copy of your CV. You may also want to bring in any letters of recommendation from previous employers. Make sure that all your hard documents are well presented with no creases or stains. Have your documents in a folder as carrying them loosely makes you seem messy and unprepared.

Above all, you also need an optimized resume to land you the job. If you want to get one written, you can check my blog
