Sydney's next big artist that you've never heard of – allow us to introduce 'Saint Ali'

Sydney artist Saint Ali is well on his way to becoming something of an icon in the world of art - with a story to rival Warhol or modern contemporaries like Bromley and Mr. Brainwash. An underground buzz is building for a guy who just a few months ago was virtually unheard of in the art circuit.

Art lovers and collectors are expected to flock to the hottest event on this year's Sydney Art Calendar on Thursday, 11th April, with Saint Ali hosting his official artist launch party at his private Darlinghurst Gallery.

It is here that the revered artist, who has produced stunning portraits with some of the most beautiful celebrities in the world from Priyanka Chopra, Ruby Rose, Miranda Kerr, Fei Fie Sun to Delta Goodrem, will unveil his latest collection. This is an event that no true art lover would dare to miss!

Last month The Saint revealed the first series in his inaugural collection during the opening of his private gallery, which saw stars like Alex Perry amaze over his work and model Miranda Kerr becoming his latest celebrity fan.

Saint Ali said that he was getting mentally prepared to launch the second series in the collection.

"After a huge launch, I'm resetting my goals, getting mentally aligned and preparing for our next event," he said.

"Right now I'm focusing on commissions which everyone in Sydney is jumping on."

Saint Ali said he realised his passion for painting after spending twelve years of his life in the corporate world.

"And I'm done with it all. I've lived around the world. Met amazing people. Had unbelievable experiences," he said.

"After Xmas I was staring at a whiteboard in my corporate office - I mapped out a plan to get the f*ck out. I've got something big to offer the World and it's not from behind a desk. It's from in front of a canvas with a spray can and brush in hand.

"My love for creating an experience knows no boundaries – I don't think of myself as an artist. If anything I'm a designer. I'm designing for the fashion forwards, the risk takers, the influencers, the owners and the promoters of new ideas. That's my core. That's where life is lived!"

The media launch and art party will be held on Thursday, 11th April from 630pm – 930pm at the Saint Ali Gallery at Level 1, 163 William Street in Darlinghurst where art lovers will have a chance to get up close and personal with The Saint and see his stunning works of art.
