White Men Responsible For Almost All The Greatest Human Accomplishments

by Dr. Ricardo Duchesne
(Vertaald in het nederlands)

The biggest reason why Whites are believed to be racist is that they are far the greatest achievers in human history and they created the nations non-whites crave to inhabit. The very existence of White Men goes against the principle of equality since they are responsible for almost 100% of the greatest achievements in all the fields of human endeavor since ancient historical times. This is a big reason why White nations are earmarked for total race mixing, and why White Males are the most resented group.

The following lists come directly from tweets I wrote over the last few months. These tweets are based on careful documentation and extensive research. One of the reasons I was suspended from twitter is that hundreds of complaints were regularly sent against me for speaking about the unique greatness of White men.

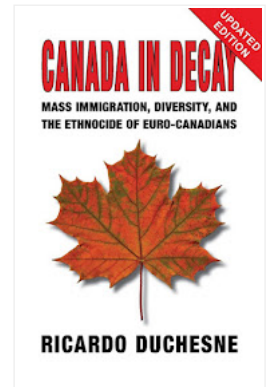

These lists (a few may exaggerate a tiny bit, for the sake of argument) will show that White men are responsible for almost everything that is noble, beautiful, and excellent in history, far surpassing the achievements of all the other races combined. The sheer fact that White men came up with all the disciplinary fields taught in our universities speaks volumes: archaeology, botany, economics, sociology, anthropology, history, biology, chemistry, genetics, physics, medicine, literature, theology, architecture...all of them.

The greatest painters, novelists, historians, biologists, physicists, classical composers, poets, car designers, mathematicians, architects are White men. White men were the greatest nation builders in history. They discovered and mapped the entire earth, every river, mountain, sea, desert -- including every territory inhabited by non-whites.

THE "I" WHO SPEAKS IN THIS BOOK IS BY NO MEANS THE AUTHOR. RATHER, THE AUTHOR WISHES THAT THE READER MAY COME TO SEE HIMSELF IN THIS "I"; THAT THE READER MAY NOT SIMPLY RELATE TO WHAT IS SAID HERE AS HE WOULD TO HISTORY, BUT RATHER THAT WHILE READING HE WILL ACTUALLY CONVERSE WITH HIMSELF, DELIBERATE BACK AND FORTH, DEDUCE CONCLUSIONS, MAKE DECISIONS LIKE HIS REPRESENTATIVE IN THE BOOK, AND THROUGH HIS OWN WORK AND REFLECTION, PURELY OUT OF HIS OWN RESOURCES, DEVELOP AND BUILD WITHIN HIMSELF THE PHILOSOPHICAL DISPOSITION THAT IS PRESENTED TO HIM IN THIS BOOK MERELY AS A PICTURE.

For especially stupid and uneducated people! Slavery has been the absolute norm on Earth for 6,000 years. Egyptians, Asians, Arabs, Whites, Negroes had slaves! Slavery was as commonplace as marriage or military service. All world religions perceived slavery as an ordinary human condition. And ONLY WHITES 150 years ago voluntarily freed slaves! In 6,000 years of human history, no one has ever done this. If it weren't for whites, slavery would be a common norm now, in our time. White guilt?

For several thousand years, the population of the Earth lived in conditions close to the Middle Ages. There was no electricity, no medicine, no technical inventions, no cars, no TV, or thousands of other things that are now the norm in the modern world. But only whites made the industrial revolution in the 18th century and made the modern world technological and progressive! White guilt?

Black has not even created a wheel in its entire history! Of the 900 Nobel laureates, there is not a single black scientist. Of the top 100 universities in the world, there is not a single African one. Now imagine if the whites did not share their inventions with the blacks. What levels of development would whites and blacks be in 100 years? Or after 500? Without white inventions, blacks would now live as before in the Stone Age! White guilt?

We gave these savages absolutely everything to make them feel human, but in return, as always, we received only black ingratitude! STOP BLM VIRUS!

You're completely right! Whites 'invented' humanity. And now that very invention calls on us to share our inventions and eliminate the suffering of all others. Because WE do not want to see them going through hardships in their harsh environments. That's the burden that comes with being the most superior. And the superior ones are gonna get all the criticism too, that's just a thorn in our crown.

Our white ancestors granted us the innovations we take for granted today and it made us comfortable but at the same time lazy. So much so, that we outsourced the ability to manufacture these innovations at little to no expense from ourselves. Now we are completely dependent on foreign nations to provide us with the innovations our ancestors created. If you haven't noticed already, there are certain things we can't find in the stores anymore because Chinese factories were closed since January. Since we don't manufacture them ourselves we are completely reliant on the Chinese. In some way one may make the case that China owns our way of life and this is not a good thing whatsoever. It's one thing to find racial solitude by going our separate way through enclaves but if we can't break the leash of dependancy on China, no enclave can be sustainable. A collapse of China is a collapse of us. We have been given a sniff of the smelling salts through this Covid fiasco and we should all be awake. But we aren't. Shouldn't we be thinking about creating a less dependent economy at home. If we were to even find succession with a province, should we not be prepared to be more self reliant on everything from our dependence on energy to the manufacturing of food and products? We need to be thinking about an autarky system. We live in a country that has the resources for this. About 20 years ago, one of my main passions was investigating ecologically self dependent societies. That was at a time when a lot of people were investigating this. Some people in this area made some great progress but their will power to continue just faded. The torch needs to be handed over to a new generation. There is more urgency to this than ever before.

I don't think at the time the whites who sent their manufacturing overseas were being anti-white. Any white entrepreneur who wanted to save costs on labour were purely motivated by profit. The philosophy is entrenched into what is called neo-liberalism and it was nation leaders like Ronald Reagan, a B-level actor turned politician and Margret Thatcher who pushed for this. It was short term gain for long term pain and we are seeing the beginning of that economic pain right now. The Chinese business man thinks in 20 year plans. The average westerner thinks in four year plans. This doesn't mean that westerners are not thinking ahead. There are some Scandinavian countries which promote more self sufficiency. The technology to be more self sufficient is in place. It's just a matter of building a social movement to embrace those technologies. That won't happen in the current neo-liberalized nation of Canada. And this speaks to why Canada is pandering to the ideology of diversity. The co-dependence we have established with many foreign nations makes us subservient to an international outlook. We are in the pockets of the Chinese in so many ways and if Canada is deemed a "racist" anti-chinese country, many white business people are paranoid they will be targeted and maligned at the international level. So one could say, it's not entirely a cultural phenomena to push for this diversity virtue signalling. It's based on business protectionism. In this regard anyone who Both Pushkin and Alexandre Dumas were part black. Pushkin was an eighth and Dumas was a quarter. I'm sure if you scrutinized the pedigree of several of these people you would find many of them to be mixed ethnicity.

The term 'race,' in the light of modern genetics, is a nonsense term. If you want to make any sense at all then use the term 'ethnicity.' Otherwise, you will sound like an outdated pseudo-scientist.

I think you are all a little too eager to self-congratulate. If "Whites" are so great then why are so many presently in a hurry to self-eliminate?

"If you want to make any sense at all then use the term 'ethnicity.' Otherwise, you will sound like an outdated pseudo-scientist"

Zoologists use the term "species" in the taxonomy of categorizing what in human terms would be race. A bonobos ape and a chimpanzee ape can both interbreed but they are classified as different species of the same pan troglodyte genus. The human is in many respects a genus of the four different species we find with negroid, mongoloid, australoid and caucasoid mammals. And just like the different species, there are sub species. Chimpanzees have four sub-species variants. Likewise in the human domain we find sub-species as well. The middle east is full of sub-species humans. Zoologists would not use a term like ethnicity in their studies of primates because the term is representative of learned actions and not inherent traits. Zoologists are not pseudo-scientists. They don't have a political agenda so they can create taxonomy categorizations without bias. The real pseudo scientists are those who apply different standards to the study of human biology over the study of other animals.

It seems that your strategy in your argument is that old "out of date" meme to curry consensus. True science doesn't strive for a consensus on whether someone "sounds" out of date. It strives for the universality of objective consensus to notice say the difference between an orange and an apple. Both are different from the outside in. And thus the same with the different races. For instance, shovel shaped incisors are an asian trait. This is not an outside

"You sir, are ironically the one promoting pseudo science."

I'm trying to keep science out of it.

Humans are naturally tribal. They naturally form mental constructs of "us" and "them." Humans feel most at ease with those of their own kind. These people make up nations. Centuries of European history went into forming the idea that nations should have their own defensible territory/homeland. I don't think any of this needs a scientific scaffolding to back it up.

Personal experience and anecdotal experiences (like the video from Liberia) tell people that they should not live in proximity with certain identifiable groups. They don't need some kind of Social Darwinian theory to justify wanting to avoid these groups and live amongst their own.

"Wrong. Two individuals from two distinct species cannot mate and produce fertile offspring. That's the definition of "species."

So why is the coyote and the wolf as different species of the same genus Canis, able to interbreed to form the Coywolf?

So why is the bonobos ape who is a different species of the chimpanzee and belonging to the same genus Pan able to interbreed as was noted in Dutch zoology circles?

These are just a couple examples of many which proves that species belonging to the same genus group can interbreed.

You said it yourself that you do not prefer the idea of a scientific scaffolding to backup the idea of racial separatism. And this gets back to the practice of pseudo-science to meet a political or social agenda. Where is the line drawn? I can't truly see how applying zoological taxonomy to a hominoid genus makes the case for some sort of downplay of the human condition. If anything it would enlighten us to be more objective in our analysis of nature overall.

In regards to "hybrid vigor", tell me, how is the coywolf more constitutionally vigorous than the wolf or coyote? I would be really curious to hear your argument this way.

Then the taxonomy of chimps and bonobos will have to change. The fertile offspring rule is, to my knowledge, a hard and fast rule.

The same will probably happen with the coywolf. Both parent subspecies have 78 chromosomes so interbreeding is completely possible.

It is my understanding that the coywolf has a far more extensive range than either of its "parent" subspecies.

Remember, our mental constructs of Domain, Kingdom, Phylum, Class, Order, Family, Genus and Species are only tools to help us understand the natural world. This taxonomy is discrete, genetics and biology are not. We will always have to bend our taxonomy as our understanding of the world grows.

Re. "Two individuals from two distinct species cannot mate and produce fertile offspring."

The biological concept of a species describes reproductively isolated entities - that is, they breed with each other but not with other species. This does not mean that they can't reproduce viable offspring - just that they don't normally do so.

Please note that wolves and dogs, among other different species i.e bears, cats, birds - can mate and produce viable offspring.

Hybrid vigor is a concern within a genetic cluster known as race and more so in smaller clusters known as ethnic groups. European individualists are atypical in that they have historically practiced exogamy, rather than endogamy - that is to say marriage outside the tribe, clan or extended family.

Non-European collectivists have in general practiced endogamy with some highly consanguineous groups to this day practicing cousin marriage with uncle niece marriages, being thought to be the most perfect. It's always quite

"fertile" is not the same as "viable."

I've never heard of the term "hybrid incompatibilities."

"That Neanderthals raping Homo sapien women had viable offspring, is no different than wolves and dogs doing the same."
You are speculating. Neanderthals are, little by little, being seen as far more human than we thought them in the past. For example, they had larger scull cases than modern humans. This does not automatically presume that they are more intelligent but it raises questions. Another example: they were thought to be purely meat eaters but deposits on their teeth indicate they ate a large amount of vegetable matter. I for one would be very pleased to discover that I have 3% or more Neanderthal genetic material. It granted Europeans greater tolerance to cold climes; greater immunity to certain diseases; greater ability to metabolize animal fats; etc. In fact, one the hallmarks of European descent is having Neanderthal genes. Black Africans and East Asians tend not to. (East Asians are more likely to have Denisovan genetic material.)

By viable I meant fertile, meaning that the offspring of a wolf and a dog can reproduce. This is not very difficult to confirm. Just ask Mr. Google like all the cool kids.

Regarding Hybrid Incompatabity please see :

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wi...>

There is quite a bit more online and it gets complex but I think you may now understand that breeding with a different race does not necessarily produce healthy offspring. I do concede that non-Whites would score a genetic upgrade by reproducing with a European. I take a biological view of our reality and if you are interested in how that relates to miscegenation, you can look further down on this page and read my response to Jacob Scheffer, concerning Racial Idealism.

When it comes to Neanderthals and Humans, a lot of Human women would have died in childbirth due to their narrower pelvises and the Neanderthals larger heads.

Race is a biological term that describes regional ancestral genetic clusters.

The left likes to redefine words that they find troublesome. We should not give up semantic ground to allow them to implement normative ideologies, that do not correspond to reality. The word Race is the newest target that they find inconvenient.

Giving up semantic ground to the Bolsheviks is always a mistake.

"He who controls the language controls the masses."
- Saul Alinsky

Race is a biological reality in that there is a corresponding statistical reality, described by that word, that is observable and quantifiable. Regional ancestral genetic clusters are expressed non-randomly and correspond with the different races despite any straw man that can be deployed, against the lack of a firm boundary between these genetic aggregations.

When we look at the genes of people we don't find that they are equally spread across the human population, but that the genes of humans are gathered in clusters that depend on where their ancestors are from. The picture of human genetics is not randomly distributed.

2 ^ | v •

Le Vicomte → Joe • a year ago

As a synonym to the term "nation" (in its original meaning) the word works just fine. But there are traps when using it.

People, reputedly, are 80% nature and 20% nurture. "Nurture" can be a combination of 'the Great Traditions,' 'the Little Traditions' and unique personal circumstances. By using the term "ethnicity" I get the full package. If I use the term 'race' then it is implied that nurture isn't involved. I don't believe that. People learn attitudes from their grandparents over the generations. That's how most of our Greco-Roman Tradition is transmitted down to us.

And when one uses the term 'race' it implies biology and science alone. But in science, it failed. You won't hear a Population Geneticist use the term. Not because they think it not politically correct. They don't use it because after numerous modifications it still failed to adequately describe mankind. The failures are numerous. For example, Joe, you are, I assume, a Caucasian. Who is part of your club? Jews? Well they are Caucasians. How about an Afghani? You guessed it. Well let's fix that by creating sub-races: Semites, Hamites, etc. And what about that smelly goatherd from the Caucasus Mountains? Well guess what, he's got a better claim to being Caucasian (White) than

Using the term Race does not imply that there are no environmental factors related to rearing and socializing children within a society.

The more realistic argument to make is that different ancestral genetic clusters nurture their children in different environments, with different methods employed to raise and socialize them. Some races pursue a high yield, low investment strategy and have as many children as possible, while investing as little as possible in their care and upbringing.

Other persistent ancestral genetic clusters use a high investment strategy having fewer children and investing more effort to rear them to adulthood. This was especially true in the unforgiving and harsh environment of Northern Europe.

Herein lies the problem. The people with a high yield, low investment strategy, expect me to pay to raise, educate and maintain their brats. All that those poor, pathetic non-Whites want, is free everything forever, for them and their entire extended families, and their dozens of future children, and all of the future generations to come. "You wished many of them were race-mixed"

Not true. I said that: upon scrutiny one would probably find that many were of mixed ethnicity (or mixed races as you put it). And to the best of my knowledge the ancestry of these two illustrious writers is not disputed and is well documented.

"Quite ironic that you could only find African cannibals to challenge an article about White greatness."

I'm not challenging "white greatness." I think that showing such a video gets the job done more effectively than saying, "my brother's bigger than your brother."

My objective is the survival of the Greco-Roman Tradition and its People. (I don't care how I match up to the hanger-on ethnicities.) And I wish to do so in the most effective and efficient way possible. My objective is not to strut my team's accomplishments about. What does that buy me? Yes, we need to know our history but otherwise it's a waste of time. It doesn't get the people of European descent into a defensible territory (or territories). In fact, beyond educating some on the accomplishments of the Greco-Roman tradition, it needlessly creates resentment and draws accusations of supremacy. I don't want or need supremacy. Unfortunately we DO...!

In the past we didn't need to bang our own drum - and if we had done so it would have been considered bragging which a truly superior race would never do, by definition..! Also, every other race - black, brown, yellow, whatever - all knew it instinctively BUT, unfortunately the last 2 generations of whites have been thoroughly indoctrinated to HATE their history and most either have no idea or don't care about their past achievements. They have been "schooled" to believe that any race, even or especially blacks, could have done the same if they also had "exploited" the world..!

"It is nowadays considered a display of one's sophistication for whites to fawn over and patronize mediocre non-white cultures and exaggerate their trivial achievements. The truth is that whites are embarrassed by the extent of their accomplishments so they are taught to be modest about their own race whilst elevating the "achievements" of non-whites and pretending that their cultures are not only the equal of ours but somehow more righteous"

I agree with your point that we need a defensible position to make our case for going our separate way however no one is implying that our strategy be to take a supremacist position in our fight for space and resources. In the larger picture of nature overall, the supreme species within a genus group is the one which dominates its presence (usually by population) over the other correlative species and sub-species. In this regard, the mongoloids have the advantage currently. Nature would regard them as the supreme species. Our innovations, (now shared) do nothing to keep us in the top spot. We also need to factor the energy required to keep these innovations alive. Is that energy sustainable and in accessible supply? We are at a waking point in our realization that we cannot be dependent on China anymore. The best thing whites can do is to cut the cord or reliance on China. We need to heavily invest in high tech micro production facilities. Certain Scandinavian countries are doing this and all they really need to do to keep their societies improving is to start closing the doors to the third world before civil war breaks out and they get heavily distracted.

Evil white men then created mega corporations that have destroyed the middle class, traditions and culture. I love the women in my family and I would be nothing without them. Secondly, you need to figure out what you want women to be. When they work and want to do the things men do, you accuse them of acting like men.
