MirageSale A New Path Forward

Renewing a vision to grow the adoption and utility of cryptocurrency and P2P digital cash:

The origin of MirageSale came forth from an idea to change the world, local communities, and people as we have come to know them. For the majority, the current economic and financial instruments being used as a medium of exchange, work against their best interests due to the centralization of monetary power and control. Where today, we have all come to feel and experience the symptoms of a plagued financial system such as high inflation and massive amounts of debt.

Relating to the monetary control of society, fiat currency has a 99.9% success rate in collapsing through devaluation, for time has shown to be the enemy of fiat, however, the ally of crypto.

It has become less and less of a secret, that cryptocurrency, and its many utilities, have the potential to be the "cure" of such systematic disease, caused by the means of centralization. The inevitable conclusion of centralized power and control is to see the day where the mistakes, greed, and problems of the few, are forced amongst and become the problems of the many.

As a result, MirageSale, took on a vision, one that was rather simple, yet courageous. Not to recreate the wheel, but, to utilize existing technologies such as Monero and Bitcoin, to empower local communities through Clearnet access to a local marketplace backed by the utility of crypto. In doing so, attempting to enhance the value and utility of this asset class while giving everyday people a choice when it comes to what money they choose to buy and sell with.

In particular, promoting Monero, due to its privacy-protecting protocol, with the realization of a future, where financial and digital privacy seemingly becomes less existent in our lives. MirageSale saw this as an opportunity to serve as a benefactor to society, in efforts to preserve financial privacy through a marketplace giving it added utility. Thereby, acknowledging the importance of privacy and recognizing Monero.

MirageSale continues to be driven and persistent in its mission to grow the vision of a world adopting cryptocurrency while allowing it to become more accessible as P2P digital cash.

However, there was still one issue. That despite MirageSale's efforts to create and grow the utility of cryptocurrency, it still suffered from the same problem that leaves society vulnerable today. Vulnerable to the hierarchy that belongs to centralization.

Therefore, MirageSale has decided it is taking steps back, in order to power each next step forward. Creating a new path, a new roadmap, to better serve the original purpose and vision into the future. That being to empower people, local communities, and the world through a new age of currency.

One that is powered by technology and the people. One that continues to be, whether it seems real or not. The Mirage.
