

A Roundup Of Final Week's Standard And Featured Articles On TUAW

Final week was a busy one along with your favorite TUAW writers posting some glorious How-To guides, commentary and different helpful articles. This is a quick roundup of our latest characteristic worthy posts you will have missed:

Apple's failed attempts at taking over the digicam trade are now collector's objects

Rumor Roundup: 'A number of sources saying just about the identical thing'

Methods to fully cover any app or folder on your iPhone or iPad

Has Apple offered its 500 millionth iPhone?

This is not the iPad Pro [Video] iPhone 101: How to use Reader mode in Safari to simplify internet pages for studying Apple's state-of-the-art, ground-breaking, game-altering... cassettes?

The last word Mac consumer's information to Minecraft on OS X - mods, skins, and extra

Mac 101: The right way to enable or disable automatic app downloads

Apple, Comcast, and net neutrality

How The Simpsons came up with the "Mapple" universe

13 years ago at this time, Apple began shipping OS X 10.0

JibJab's StoryBots will hook youngsters and their mother and father too

Rumor Roundup: "Flop"

TUAW will be again next week with one other spherical of helpful how-to articles and original features, so ensure to come again and see what's new and what's useful.