Subject: Re: Follow up - Classical Conversations story

Classical Conversations has supported more than 37,500 Licensed Directors over the past 22+ years. We are thankful so many have been blessed by this work. We provide licensed materials so our Licensed Directors may operate a business using the Classical Conversations® structure, content, and pedagogy. Classical Conversations licensees are free to set up their businesses in the legal structure of their choice.

We are a for-profit, homeschool curriculum company with the purpose of developing classical Christian homeschool community leaders. Classical Conversations exists to know God and to make Him known. In alignment with that mission, we donate more than 10% of our profits to churches and Christian causes annually.

We are not a legal or accounting firm, therefore we do not give legal or accounting advice. Classical Conversations licenses a product to its customers. Licensees are encouraged to work with local professionals for their business needs.

We regularly consult with our legal and tax advisors to ensure we are acting with integrity and in compliance. Classical Conversations' practices are in compliance with the U.S. Department of Labor handbook that can be found at <https://www.dol.gov/>.

We solicit customer feedback when designing curriculum, training and support, in an effort to continually improve all aspects of our organization. Our community directors are our number one customer and we have record retention this year.

We recognize that licensing with Classical Conversations is one method that an individual may choose as a classical Christian educator and that many choices exist in which to support their family. As such, we are grateful for the opportunity to serve families and look forward to helping more families and leaders who desire to partner with us to offer classical, Christian education for their children and community.
