Council Declines To Vote On New England Aquarium Proposal

by Lynn Peters

The Charlestown Neighborhood Council held off on its expected Tuesday night vote on the New England Aquarium's proposal to build its new multimillion-dollar facility on Parcel 5/Dry Dock 5 in the Charlestown Navy Yard because of an insufficient community benefits package.

The council instead voted to request that NEA officials compare their initial 1989 proposed package for the failed Dry Dock 2 project with the one revised just this week and provide a written explanation on why some benefits had been rewritten vaguely and why others had been left out altogether.

A vote would then be taken on whether to approve the concept of an aquarium in Charlestown, based on satisfactory benefits for the neighborhood, on Monday, May 7 at 7 p.m. at Kent Community School, 50 Bunker Hill St.

"The development is supposed to be a benefit in itself," said council Chairman Dennis McLaughlin, "but we have to deliver a benefits package above and beyond that."

McLaughlin called for benefits in terms of bottom-line figures, as did other council members who found the proposal incomplete or loosely written. Council member Dan Kovacevic called the language in the document "legalese," commenting that the NEA legal department must have spent time making sure that it was vague.

Among the benefits that council Secretary Stephen Collins pointed out for questioning were those that had been rewritten or omitted from the earlier package. Admission discounts for Charlestown residents are to be at cost, according to the latest draft, as is use of aquarium function facilities for community events. Neither has a clear benefit for residents, said council

Bunker Hill Day Parade Committee Seeks Community Support

The Charlestown Veterans/Bunker Hill Day Commemorative Committee is seeking the support of the residents and merchants of Charlestown for the 1990 Bunker Hill Day celebration. It is hoped that the events will serve as a significant and meaningful tribute to our patriot forefathers on this, the 215th anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill.

The Bunker Hill Day Parade, the highlight of the celebration, will be held on Sunday, June 17, commencing at 1 p.m. from the Hayes Square area of town. This should be one of the largest and most outstanding parades in the Greater Boston area.

Some of the top musical units already committed to the parade include: The Polish American String (Mummers) Band of Phila-

IF YOUR LOAN IS REJECTED

You found the perfect home, but finding the perfect financing has become elusive. After completing the application process, your lender has turned you down, and you're upset. Can anything be done to turn this setback around?

A lot depends on why you were turned down. If your income is too low to satisfy one mortgage company, there might be another one with more liberal qualifying guidelines. If you have had credit problems, some lenders may be more willing than others to help you clear them up in a manner that satisfies their underwriters. If your loan runs into problems, sit down with the loan officer and your Realtor to investigate the possibility of using a different lender. The first company may be able to "assign" the package to a competitor, enabling you to use your same credit report and appraisal. You will need the cooperation of your sellers, too. While loan rejections are disappointing, they often have happy endings.

As you are most likely aware, due to the fiscal constraints imposed on the city of Boston, the funds available from the city to underwrite parades are limited. Thus, financial assistance must once again be sought from the community — from you, the residents, local business people and community organizations, in order to make this 215th commemoration of the Battle of Bunker Hill a success.

The fund raising for the parade and commemorative celebration is being carried out by a small but dedicated group of residents. These people are giving many hours of their time to make this a truly memorable celebration for the community and they need the support of every resident, whether he or she be a lifelong Townie or a newer resident of the town.

Monies must be raised in order to pay the fee or expenses of each band, drum corps, color guard or other unit that takes part in the parade. Music units charge from $800 to over $2,000 to participate in the parade if they are from Massachusetts, and much more for those units that are being brought in from distant states — none of them come for free.

There are several ways you, the resident, local business person or community organization can help.

- Send in a donation to the Parade Committee using the coupon on this page. Once again this year, the Monument will be featured weekly in the Patriot so the community can see the results of the fund-raising efforts. Contributions of $25 or more will be acknowledged under the Monument.

- Drop your change (or more if possible) in canisters that will be located in the local stores.

- Buy a raffle ticket at $1 per chance ($10 per book) on numerous prizes to be drawn prior to the parade (date, time and place to be announced).

Organizations or businesses that are interested in sponsoring a unit for the parade should contact the Parade General Chairman, James W. Conway, at 241-9511 or evenings at 242-6187.

The Chief Marshal of the June 17 Bunker Hill Day Parade is William McCabe, Commissioner of Public Safety for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. As of July 1, he will be the commanding officer of the State, Metro, Capitol and Registry of Motor Vehicles

Police Departments under the consolidating act of Massachusetts.

McCabe served 26 years in the Massachusetts State Police, attaining the rank of Lieutenant Colonel by the time he reached the mandatory retirement age of 50.

He is a Korean-era veteran of the U.S. Army where he served as an E/5 (staff sergeant) in the Signal Corps.

McCabe has served in various capacities in several Charlestown organizations. He has been a member of the Board and served as Treasurer of the John F. Kennedy Family Service Center, a member of Bunker Hill Council 62, Knights of Columbus, a member of St. Vincent de Paul Society of St. Francis de Sales Parish, a charter member of the Bunker Hill Associates and he served on the Steering Committee of the Charlestown Fire Victims Fund.

Both Chief Marshal McCabe and the Parade Committee welcome the assistance of anyone interested in helping to make this Bunker Hill Day Parade, dedicated in honor of "The Thin Blue Line — Our Law Enforcement Officers," an outstanding success. Help is needed on the various fund-raising committees as well as in the organization of the parade and the commemorative exercises.

The next Parade Committee meeting will be held on Sunday, May 6 at 6 p.m. in the first floor conference area at One Thompson Square.

To Be Honored As Outstanding Foster Family

Robert and Virginia Ellington of Sackville Street will be among the 51 foster families from across the state to be recognized for outstanding service at a special recognition ceremony on Saturday, May 12 at the Sheraton Tara in Framingham.

The Ellingtons were nominated by social worker Sandra Mahoney because of their willingness to spend special time with their foster children as a family unit. Charlestown Association Of Parents Features Talk By Dr. Ralph Minear On Raising Children

by Gloria J. Conway

Some children call him Dr. Ear, while others have named him Dr. Mear. But by whatever names his young patients call him, Dr. Ralph Minear is a trusted and beloved friend to many of Charlestown's children. He has served on the pediatric staff at the Bunker Hill Health Center for the past 10 years and is now chief of the department. He is also the author of several books, his latest being Kids Who Have Too Much.

Minear shared his professional and parental expertise with members and guests of the Charlestown Association of Parents at an April 12 gathering in the BHHC conference room. The audience ranged from expectant parents to the parents of young adults.

The doctor spoke of the stresses of modern times that put pressures on parents in bringing up their children. He referred to previous generations who had nearby relatives to offer support in the raising of children and how today's parents rely on books and friends for their support.

Minear asked the parents to reflect on the character of their child when he or she was very young. He told them to remember that children are not clones of their parents.

The doctor brought the parents through several of what he called severe crises in the parent-child relationship.

The first crisis he discussed is when mom returns to work. He told the parents not to be ambivalent, but to decide who will be the best mother substitute by looking carefully at whether this person agrees with your expectations on parenting. Determine the feeding schedule of the child in your absence, especially if the child is still breast-fed. And make the house safe as the child becomes increasingly independent and active.

Feeding a child can be another crisis, according to Minear. This is a time when the child can be in control by closing his mouth. He told the parents that a child will get sloppy, adding, "Let them get messy." Cover an area of the floor with a piece of plastic and put the high chair on it, he said, noting that it is important not to inhibit the child. He told them to try to avoid stress at mealtime because if parents are tired, they can set up conflict with the child.

Another area of stress familiar to parents is bedtime. The doctor told parents that if they both work this may be the only time of day the child spends with the parents, and he advised them to be flexible. Minear said parents should determine what the child needs for sleep and plan bedtime accordingly. He cautioned not to always respond to a child's refusal to go to bed, noting that a child can think up a million excuses.

Minear advised parents to prepare the young child, particularly one between 2½ and 6, that bedtime is coming. He said that winding down activity is important as bedtime approaches and a move is made toward getting the child to the bedroom. He stated that parents must be firm.

Birthday and holiday gifts prove to be another stress, said Minear. He stated that parents might have standards for a child's gifts, but there are often others, especially relatives, who give too much. He pointed out that gift selection is difficult, noting that advertised toys generally don't require the child to do anything. He said that the child wants something creative, and it is important that gifts stimulate them and help them use their imagination. He stated that parents are in charge and they should set the limits.

Entering preschool can be another stress. Minear said there is no right or wrong as to whether a child should attend preschool. He advised parents to assess the child and then determine what is best.

Minear advised parents to spend time with the child, noting that children are spontaneous — they don't plan their lives — and if they see something, they want to share it. He said that it is up to parents to "shift gears" when this happens, for it is an important time and you have to listen.

He also suggested not keeping the child too busy, as children might want some play and quiet time.

Minear called quality time an overstatement. He said that parents can be doing anything and at the same time just enjoying their child. He pointed out that it is possible to be with someone and yet not be together.

As to money, the doctor said that having too much was as bad as having too little. He said those with too little are always searching, and their survival is threatened. He noted that the lives of those with too much are not rich and full. He said that they become jaded, and the joy of achieving is eliminated.

Minear told parents to enjoy their children and help them develop into what they want to be, not what you want them to be.

St. John's To Celebrate 150 Years

St. John's Episcopal Church is commemorating 150 years on Sunday, May 13. Through the carefully kept accounts in the original minute book, which is still in the possession of the church officials, and from other early records, it is possible to look back on the founding and the early days of the parish.

The beginning of St. John's Parish in 1840 appears to have been based on the vision and initiative of the Diocesan Board of Missions. At its convention in June 1839, the Board recommended that parishes be started in Charlestown and in Worcester, based on the rapid growth and importance of the two cities.

In November 1839, with the help of the Episcopal clergyman who was serving as chaplain in the Charlestown Navy Yard, a preliminary meeting of a few prominent Charlestown men was called. A larger general meeting followed at which the Board of Missions offered to pay the salary of a minister, and a committee of six men was appointed to raise the $345 estimated to be necessary for a parish budget.

The church's first public services were held in Fuller's Hall on the east of City Square on Sunday, Jan. 5, 1840 with some 75 people in the morning and more in the afternoon. Within six weeks the rector was also holding regular mid-week lectures in the Congregational rooms on Town Hill. A Ladies' Circle was formed and would later hold a bazaar that cleared $800. A Sunday School of 20 scholars was organized on May 10, and for many years, according to an elderly parishioner, St. John's was the only non-Roman Church in Charlestown to observe Christmas

ST. JOHN'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH at 27 Devens St. will mark its 150th birthday on Sunday, May 13. Special services are being planned to commemorate the occasion.

Meanwhile, within 10 weeks of the first public service, and with only 20 families definitely associated with the new parish, a committee was appointed to solicit $10,000 for a suitable house of worship. In less than a month, $6,000 was pledged, and a drive was launched with the help of the Diocesan Board of Missions to raise the other $4,000 among the four nearest Episcopal parishes of Boston. When nothing came of the effort, the original committee did some further canvassing in Charlestown. By June 4, 1840, they felt able to assume the full responsibility for the entire $10,000 and a building committee was organized.

A lot of land was secured that fall, and the cornerstone was formally laid on May 5, 1841. On Nov. 10 Bishop Griswold consecrated the completed building.

Among the 24 names that appear on the articles of association are those also found in James F. Hunnewell or Timothy Sawyer's works on the history of Charlestown: a schoolmaster who helped the boy Starr King; the treasurer of the newly opened railroad to White River Junction; a captain in the U.S. Navy in charge of Boston Station; and an editor of the Bunker Hill Aurora; the donor of the bronze statue of John Harvard to the University in Cambridge; the prime mover of a reception for Gov. Louis Kossuth of Hungary; and others of seemingly substantial middle-class standing in the community.

Griswold's prayer for the consecration of the new church building included the following words, which are not used in the current Book of Common Prayer:

"I do hereby enjoin that men enter this House with pious reverence and religious awe ... that here devout worshippers ... confess their sins before God that they may obtain through faith in Jesus Christ and the merits of His blood, perfect remission and forgiveness, ... and that in this the Lord's House, all the ordinances of Christ be administered and received, according to His own appointment; and that all other things be done decently, in good order, and to edifying, to the glory of God and to the salvation of His people."

The parish has continued at its present site at 27 Devens St. since 1841.

(The information for this article was submitted by St. John's Sesquicentennial Committee as part of the special May 13 birthday service.)

The Charlestown Youth Hockey Association capped off its successful 1989-90 season with its annual Pizza Party on April 21 at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

CYHA President Bill Burke and Vice President Anne Considine presented each hockey player with a trophy. A special presentation of a citation from the Boston City Council commending CYHA for its outstanding commitment to the youth of Charlestown was made by Board Member Bud Lacey to Considine on behalf of Boston City Councillor Robert Travaglini.

Each of the CYHA players were given a chance ticket on a bicycle. The bike had been won by Peter Doherty of Reading in a March raffle, and he donated it back to the organization. In Saturday's drawing among the players, Pat Lacey was the lucky winner.

SUMMER CAMP SIGN-UPS

Sign up for summer day camps on Wednesday, May 2 at 2:30 p.m., but there are some changes in the camps this year which we would like parents to note.

The Computer and Day camps are being combined and called the Summer Club. This will allow an increase in the number of boys and girls in camp and offer every child a variety of experiences that will be hard to find in any camp.

Campers will be divided into two age groups and alternate each day, with one group going out to a beach or park and the other group staying at the club for computers, arts and crafts, swimming, sailing, scavenger hunts and other games. There will also be outdoor activities and afternoon trips for the group at the club. Every Friday both groups will bus to a park for a cookout or other special event.

Because of increased need for day camp, it is our hope to turn no one away this summer. The ages for the Summer Club are 6 to 13, and the fee will be $60 for each two-week session. Sessions begin July 2 and run until Aug. 24.

ADVENTURE CAMP

The Adventure Camp will be a tri-club camp this summer with slots available for the South Boston and Roxbury Boys & Girls Clubs, as well as for the Charlestown Club members. There will be four slots per club per session, and campers will not be allowed to repeat. This camp is for 12- and 13-year-olds. Sign-ups begin on May 2.

OVERNIGHT CAMP

There will again be scholarships and reduced rates available to a number of overnight camps through the club this summer. Included in this list are the Boys & Girls camps in Duxbury, Agassiz Village in West Poland, Maine, and the Braintree Camp in Peterborough, N.H. Anyone interested in overnight camp should call Jerry Steimel at the Club.

TOURNAMENT WINNERS

The winners in last week's Games Room tournaments are to be congratulated for the skill they demonstrated and their good sportsmanship. The winners were: Christine Locke, 8 Ball; Paul Hansen, Bumper Pool; Mike Collins and Joe Lawler, Table Soccer; Mike Collins, Table Hockey; Kelly Gilgunn, 10 and Over Obstacle Course; and Surita Rorie, 9 and Under Obstacle Course.

SCIENCE NEWS

Congratulations to Chris Walsh and Erin McDonough for winning the Egg-Drop Contest. The winners were able to successfully drop an egg from the third floor of the club onto the pavement below without it breaking. Ask them for their secret!

There is a bridge-building contest underway in the Science Lab, and anyone interested may join. Please note that the annual Science Fair will be held May 30 to June 1. It is not too late to begin working on a project.

TUTORING

Anyone interested in having a tutor in any subject for their child contact Connie MacDonald at the club. Anyone who has two hours a week to donate to a young person, please call the club.

Boys & Girls Club
Celebrates
97th Anniversary

The Boys' Club of Boston was established in 1893 in response to a social need for a place and way for boys to engage in wholesome, developmental activities during their leisure time. In 1990 the need still exists in these more sophisticated, somewhat more prosperous, but essentially same environs of Boston.

From its original modest setting on the second floor of a small wood-frame building in Charlestown, the organization has grown to include three large clubhouses and memberships in Charlestown, Roxbury and South Boston. The program was expanded in 1979 to include girls and was subsequently renamed the Boys & Girls Clubs of Boston.

In its 97th year of service, the Boys & Girls Club is today a big and busy clubhouse — a place and a way for fun and learning. Its activities are recreational and educational, its new and expanded programs keep up with current demands on the boys and girls. Stimulating the interests, energies and intellects of the over 5,000 members in the three club-houses, its general program incorporates numerous sports and games; vocational and cultural classes; as well as training in civic, government and citizen responsibilities. In an unregimented, non-sectarian milieu, this training is characterized as informal while it is directed toward the individual — his/her particular talents and problems.

The Boys & Girls Clubs of Boston offers youth a well-rounded year-round set of choices regarding the use of their free time. It also provides some new ways and some new places for every youth, including that youth who feels he/she does not fit into his prescribed world.

The Boys & Girls Clubs of Boston is 97 years old, and wiser than ever in the ways and play of boys and girls.

Evening Teachers Walk Out At BHCC

This week evening teachers at Bunker Hill Community College joined the faculty of 11 other community colleges around the state in a walkout for more money. The Massachusetts Community College Council, the union representing the part-time teachers, and the Board of Regents of Higher Education have been negotiating a contract for three years.

BHCC President Dr. Piedad Robertson, however, did not seem too alarmed with the situation. She said that classes did meet on Tuesday night after the decision to strike that afternoon with 70 percent of the evening faculty intact.

"The strike bothers me in the sense that it disrupts the flow of the students' education," Robertson said. "We will be open, and a group of administrators will take over the classes to complete the two weeks that are left in the semester."

Robertson said approximately 3,000 students attend BHCC evening classes, with nearly 100 part-time teachers. Currently, the average per-class salary at BHCC is $1,200. With the Board of Regents recommending 35 percent increase, teachers would see an additional $550 the first year and a 10 percent increase in the third year.

The teachers requested an independent fact finder, who recommended a 70 percent increase in the first year.

A staff member at BHCC stated that although the council has been in negotiations for three years, the proposed 35 percent salary increase came directly from the administration to the teachers, circumventing the union. The spokesperson said that there was concern that the normal process for negotiating had been circumvented.

Birmingham Kicks Off Campaign For State Senate

Tom Birmingham, a candidate for state Senate, hosted his campaign kickoff at the French Club in Chelsea last Thursday. Nearly 400 people, including elected officials, attended, representing a broad cross section of the district.

In his remarks to the gathering, Birmingham stated: "With the economic crisis in state government, I anticipate a real dogfight on Beacon Hill in the difficult days that lie ahead. We will need a senator in the State House who will be respected and who will ensure that our district receives its fair share from state government."

Birmingham is a lifelong resident of the district, attended local schools and went on to Harvard, a Rhodes Scholarship and Harvard Law School. Since graduating, Birmingham has devoted his professional career to representing the interests of working people as a labor lawyer. He lives in Chelsea with his wife Selma and his two children Erica, 7, and Megan, 4.

Not For Nothin' . . .
But Have You Heard . . .

- Look Out Myrtle Beach . . . They're coming back! Last year's hurricane has not hurt the golf courses at the famed Myrtle Beach, so 55 of the K. of C.'s "best" golfers will be returning this week for their annual tournament . . . Word has it that they actually do golf when they arrive at their sun-filled destination. Of course, that word came from a very unreliable source. Whatever, fellas, have a great time!
- Doors Of Charlestown Contest . . . entries are available at the Patriot office . . . these hard to come by entry forms can be picked up on a first come, first get basis. This Preservation Society run contest is certainly the most fun we've seen in quite some time. Get your entry today!
- The Christmas Walk Poster Contest . . . entries can be viewed this weekend in the Preble Room in the Navy Yard. Saturday, Sunday and Monday, April 28-30, between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. are the times to drop by and see the art work that has been submitted by local youngsters. The winner of the contest will be announced in next week's edition of the Patriot.
- Psst . . . Word from Dr. Michaelson's office is . . . Barbara Kelly will no longer be referred to as "the younger Mrs. Kelly" in the doctor's office. She'll be turning 50 on April 30th! . . . Hope it's a great year!
- If you were turning 81 on May 2nd what would you do? . . . Well Ed McGuinness was seen getting ready for the big day at the Nisson's Bakery — squeezing day-old buns! Hope your birthday brings you as much joy as you bring to all who know you, Eddie!
- Birthday Celebrations This Week . . . Include Maureen Marx of the Charlestown Branch Library whose big day is the 29th . . . Helen Dacey who'll be treated to a day-long celebration on the 25th (Helen is a former Townie now living in Winthrop) . . . Paul Bassett will be celebrating on the 30th and this week also marks the birthday of Bill Ellington. Have a wonderful time, folks! . . . A belated birthday wish goes out to Brandon Jackson who turned 10 on April 21st. Hope it was a great one, Brandon!
- Recuperating . . . at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Jamaica Plain is Lou Perreault after a recent operation . . . at home after eye surgery is Margaret Austin . . . and in traction for a badly broken arm is little James Santosuosso at his 13th Street condo. We hope each of you will be up and about real soon!
- Have You Noticed . . . the deplorable condition of the streets after the weekly garbage pick up? Many complaints have been heard and referred to the Mayor's office. Hope the service "picks up" real soon, by having the sanitation disposal engineers clean up after the mess they make.
- Congrats To . . . Nicholas Smith, Alyssa Vanderpool and Chi Dung Tran who participated recently in the Boston Public Schools Citywide Science Fair . . . and to Pope John High School students Jodi Neff for completing a 10-week program in biotechnology at Northeastern, Brian Santos who just returned from Washington D.C. and Richmond, VA with the Pope John Chorus and, last but certainly never least, Derek Mellendy who was named a Catholic Central All-Star in Basketball . . . These are great kids who deserve all the recognition they can receive.
- Top Prize Winner . . . of the Boston Society of Architects annual awards for Housing Design is William Rawn Associates for the Charlestown Navy Yard Rowhouses on 13th Street. The 50 affordable units were developed by the Bricklayers Union under the direction of Tom McIntyre . . . congrats, Bill!
- Sad News . . . was word that Sister Mary Clara, CSJ had passed away last week. Sister Clara taught at St. Mary's Grammar school for 20 years between 1946 and 1966. She is warmly remembered by all her former students for the love and personal attention she found time to give each one of them.
- Greg, We're Sorry . . . CYHA omitted your name from the roster last week, so you didn't receive the recognition you deserve . . . The wing on the Squirt II Championship Team is no other than Greg LaVallee!
- Mmm, Mmm, Good . . . eighth-grade students from St. Francis de Sales School will be selling home-baked goods after the 4 p.m. Mass this Saturday, the 28th. Funds raised will help the class cover expenses for their upcoming class trip to Montreal.
- Countdown Continues . . . It has been 34 days since Charlestown had had a liaison on the CANA Project . . . We're still waiting for someone from the community to replace "our man in City Square!"
- May Day Is Tuesday, May 1 . . . Celebrated as a festival of spring in most countries, it is also a commemoration for the working class, labor demands and support of the eight hour work day. The usual form of remembrance in this country has become dancing around the maypole . . . However you might wish to remember the day, just find time to get out and enjoy!
- Saturday is Arbor Day . . . Go out and hug a tree!

The U.S. Postal Service's unofficial motto might be, "Neither snow nor rain nor heat nor gloom of night stays these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds," but if you live in what is considered a condominium complex, a recently imposed Postal Service regulation prohibits mail delivery to your door.
Residents of these condo developments either pick up their mail at a centralized mail room or mail boxes usually located at the entrance to the units. This ruling has created problems at the newly constructed townhouses on Main Street.
When the Charlestown Economic Development

Corporation started selling its new homes at Main and Baldwin streets, mail deliveries were not being received by the new homeowners. Inquiries were made by EDC Board members to the Postal Service the result being a refusal to have local mail carriers make door-to-door deliveries under the new regulation. EDC pursued the issue informing the Postal Service that these new homes were that — homes, not condos. Nonetheless, the Postal Service stood fast, informing the developer that door-to-door service would not happen.
Calls for assistance were made by the EDC to Congressman Joseph Kennedy and City Councillor Robert Travaglini. The two elected officials picked up the fight with Thomas Ranft, Postmaster for the Boston Postal District. It was brought to his attention that this newly developed complex consisted of 20 one-family houses and six two-family houses that were individually owned, "fee simple" and separately deeded pieces of property.

Kennedy stated: "These are not condominiums and so postal delivery regulations pertaining to residential delivery at newly constructed condominiums should not apply." He continued: "I am asking for the immediate assignment of residential delivery service to these addresses."

are attached rowhouses with main entrances facing the street; and that the area involved is so small that little time would be saved by a central delivery."
Taking all the evidence into account, Ranft reconsidered his decision and an agreement has been reached to the satisfaction of all parties involved. The new homeowners will no longer have to pick up their mail at the Charlestown Post Office, as has been required since they moved in.
Mail carriers will be allowed to make deliveries at each address but only at street level. The carriers will not climb the steps to the already installed mail boxes, but will instead use the mail boxes presently being mounted on the front of the buildings.
The first mail deliveries should arrive to the new homeowners within a week, according to EDC representative, Attorney John Tobin. The key phrase in the Postal Service motto is "appointed rounds." Weather has not kept the mail from getting through, only bureaucratic interpretation.

You gave us a dream - To be proud -

The Charlestown Against Drugs Corner . . .

DRUG-PROOFING YOUR KID

- Set expectations and follow through. Never threaten, but be clear that you want no alcohol or drug use. Tell your children what you will do if they don't meet that expectation. Do it every time they don't. Empty threats are meaningless.
- Don't accuse if you suspect drug use or drinking. Calmly discuss any suspicions you have with your children. Overly emotional angry outbursts only tend to cut off parent-child communication.
- Avoid labeling and name-calling. Remember that you're dealing with your children's behavior, not their character. Don't set out right away to change their attitudes or beliefs about drugs and alcohol because their point of view is bound to differ from yours. Your goal is for them to change their behavior, not their beliefs.
- The goal is to help your children understand that, although you strongly dislike and disapprove of drinking and drug use, you still love them. This is the reason why you enforce the consequences you have set.
- Promote alternatives. Boredom is one reason why kids get into drugs. There are lots of worthwhile things going on.
- Take advantage of teachable moments. If you see a TV commercial for alcohol, ask your children why all the people in the ad look healthy and athletic and are never shown drinking, with a hangover or with their head in a toilet throwing up.
- Know what's going on with your children at home, at school and with friends. The major cause of drug abuse and experimentation is peer pressure. Know your children's friends. Know the attitudes your children pick up from others, including baby sitters, adult family friends and relatives.
- Know what you're talking about when you talk about drugs and alcohol. Nothing turns kids off faster than if they find out your information is outdated and incorrect.

There will be four Minor League teams this year. Three managers are on board, and one more is needed. Managers should meet at the field at 6 p.m. in order to fill out all the teams. One Minor League sponsor is needed. The fee is $50, and a sponsor who will stay on with the league is preferred.

Notice To Players

If a Major or Minor League player loses a cap, a new one will cost $4.

Also, the annual Briars Award for outstanding sportsmanship was not presented this year to an individual who captured the eye of tourney spectators, but to the entire S.W. Boston Boys & Girls Club 16-and-Under team. Congratulations to a group of fine young men. The tournament organizers extend special thanks to all who assisted, whether it be officiating, timing, scoring or all the other little things that needed to be done in order for the event to be a success. Without this help over the years, the tourney would not be the institution that it is today.

Free Legal And Banking Seminar For Senior Citizens

Financial security and forward planning are key concerns for all members of the community. These issues will be addressed in a free seminar designed to meet the needs of senior citizens in Charlestown which will be held in the lobby of Newworld Bank, 5 Austin St., Charlestown, at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, May 1. Co-sponsored by the law firm of McCullough, Stievater & Polvere and Newworld Bank Charlestown, the seminar is entitled "In Your Hands: The Legal Tools for Preserving Personal Autonomy."

"Preventive law is our philosophy," said John C. McCullough, partner in the law firm of McCullough, Stievater & Polvere. "This seminar will emphasize that approach. We are committed to a greater flow of information between lawyer and client, and have designed the evening's program with that in mind. We plan to provide senior citizens of Charlestown with an opportunity to become informed, educated and motivated to maintain control of their finances and legal affairs now and in the future."

The evening seminar will focus on decisions concerning legal and financial affairs in the event of illness or incapacitation. Welcoming participants will be David Carr, president of the Newworld Bank Charlestown, while McCullough will open the presentation with an outline of its overall purpose and ultimate goals. In a special video actress Helen Hayes will address the importance of control, and look at the steps to take now to preserve autonomy in the future.

Attorneys Gerald McGonigle and Ann Meissner Flood from McCullough, Stievater & Polvere will discuss durable powers of attorney, living wills, revocable trusts and other tools useful in controlling the decisions about health, legal issues and financial affairs in the event of illness or incapacitation. In addition, banking services available to senior citizens through Newworld Bank Charlestown will be a subject of discussion.

The speakers will be available to answer individual questions following the program. Refreshments will be served.

For further information, contact McCullough, Stievater & Polvere at 241-8332 or Newworld Bank Charlestown at 482-2607.

WHAT ABOUT THE HEATHEN?

Many people put off or refuse to trust Christ as Savior from sin because they find fault with God's plan of salvation, that requires all men to trust Jesus in order to be saved and go to heaven. They feel that a loving God would not send people in far off countries, that have never even heard the name of "Jesus Christ," to hell. But the Bible teaches that all men are witnessed to by God. God witnesses first through His Creation (Rom. 1:20-25). Then, Jesus "lighteth every man that cometh into the world" (John 1:9), but sinful man rejects that light (John 1:4,5). The Holy Spirit also is in the whole world to "reprove the world of sin, and of righteousness, and of judgment" (John 16:8), but men refuse to be convicted of their sin, that they knowingly commit (Rom. 2:14,15). If a heathen responds to God's witness, somehow God will see that he hears of Jesus (Acts 8:26-40). If you have put off salvation, remember, the same God who is convicting the teeming millions in China and Africa, is also trying to convict you of your need to repent of sin and trust Jesus as your Savior. Why not be saved and become a Christian today?

Council Declines To Vote On New England Aquarium Proposal

(continued from page one) members, based on rising costs before the aquarium is built. Neighborhood representation on the NEA Board of Trustees does not specifically call for Charlestown residents in the new draft. Tuition-relief and accompanying summer employment for Charlestown students pursuing aquarium-related careers have been eliminated from the package, as has a day-care center for full-time aquarium employees.

"It seems that the benefits that are missing or reworded are the ones that are going to cost the aquarium money," Collins said.

Also discussed was a 25-cent-per-car surcharge in a proposed parking garage to benefit a Charlestown Community Fund. Council members questioned whether that income would be consistent year to year or a smart way to generate money from the traffic impacts.

"If we tie ourselves to a per-head parking fee, we do damage to the community fund," said council member Tom Cunha, who cited the efforts to limit automobile traffic with public transportation. "It seems self-defeating to get as much public transit as possible."

Cunha said the community should also be protected against inflation, although he added that he understood that NEA is a nonprofit group. "What we're doing is accepting a new neighbor, but we're also accepting the trash and traffic that is going to be generated," he said.

Council member Moe Gillen asked that aquarium officials look back to their earlier proposal and respond to each item as to why they would or would not go forward with specific community benefits. Kovacevic agreed to a paragraph-by-paragraph breakdown, adding, "In order to have continuity, we have to see the difference from where we were when we thought we had an agreement to now."

Although Paul Barrett, Boston Redevelopment Authority assistant director for Harbor Planning and Development, argued that the benefits are different because the Dry Dock 5 proposal is different, Kovacevic said that the neighborhood is still faced with a $150 million project.

"If there are legal reasons that certain aspects can't be met, we're reasonable people," Cunha said.

NEA officials will now rework the benefits package and itemize the 33 benefits listed in the 1989 proposal. Bill Whitney, aquarium project director, said he still believes there is a "mutuality of interest" and that NEA is happy to look at the draft again. "I think the council is trying to get the best possible deal for the neighborhood," Whitney said after the meeting. "We think we can do that and still make sure we're comfortable."

Meanwhile, the BRA has scheduled a public hearing on Thursday, May 10 on the tentative designation of NEA as redeveloper of Dry Dock 5. The master plan and zoning for the entire Navy Yard is on hold as the BRA waits for the review of the historic impacts to the area by the U.S. Department of the Interior, which will take approximately six months.

There will, however, be no final designation on the aquarium or the 25,000 square feet of research space in the Navy Yard for two years, according to Barrett, who said that BRA dealings in the Yard have always been subject to the federal review process because of the area's historical significance. "But the government understands our concerns with the economy and that we have to keep moving," Barrett said.

Learn To Knit At The Library Discussion Group

Beginners will have the opportunity to learn to knit at the second of three sessions of the Adult Discussion Group, on Wednesday, May 2 at 10:15 a.m. at the Charlestown Branch Library, 179 Main St.

This series, under the supervision of Librarian Theresa Nesbit, is giving beginning knitters confidence in pursuing a new hobby. There will be five experienced knitters to give help and instruction at the session. Each participant will be allowed to proceed at her own pace.

Scarves have been chosen for this project, as they can be made with a minimum of shaping instruction. Instruction is focusing on fostering development of pattern stitches. Each participant should come with eight ounces of natural or natural-blend yarn and number eight or 10 knitting needles.

Kennedy Center Urges Support For 1990 Walk For Hunger

The Kennedy Center Board and staff members challenge the entire Charlestown community to get involved in the 21st annual Walk for Hunger on Sunday, May 6.

You can either sponsor a Kennedy Center person or walk yourself. The Kennedy Center's walking paper is hanging on the first-floor bulletin board at 27 Winthrop St. Stop in and sign up as a sponsor by pledging what you can. You can also pick up your own walking papers in the Kennedy Center's reception area and enlist your friends and neighbors as sponsors.

Unfortunately, many Charlestown residents know how it feels to be hungry or to find the refrigerator empty. The emergency food assistance efforts of the Kennedy Center and St. Catherine's Food Pantry are aided directly by proceeds from the Walk for Hunger. Your efforts will directly help hungry people in Charlestown and the other 250 organizations Project Bread assists. Let's work together and help Project Bread break the $3 million mark this year.

For more information, call Project Bread at 723-5000 or the Kennedy Center at 241-8866.

In Support Of The Aquarium Proposal

John Prescott, executive director
New England Aquarium
Central Wharf
Boston, Mass.

Dear Mr. Prescott:

I am writing to express my strong support for the New England Aquarium's proposal to relocate to Dry Dock 5/ Parcel 5 here in the Charlestown Navy Yard where I live.

This proposal is such a valuable educational and cultural opportunity for all the residents of Charlestown that it will rank with the Battle of Bunker Hill and our beloved "Old Ironsides" right now and for many years to come.

It's so nice to be on the cutting edge this time. We Townies haven't often had the choices which contribute to our pride.

This marvelous opportunity to have the aquarium is invaluable to the present, newest and oldest generations, and all who follow us.

I could almost swear that the aquarium will contribute some new residents and Townies to the history books of our nation. Our nation is in desperate need of such people now and forever.

Please support this move.

Very sincerely,
Ruth E. Duffy

MATTERS OF THE HEART

Absence makes the heart grow stronger.

Since 1986 Roger Sweet, M.D., director of the MGH Community Health Associates, and Peggy Carolan, manager of the Bunker Hill Health Center, have been working with their Cardiac Advisory Board to help the community understand the problem of heart disease and plan for interventions and education strategies. The Cardiac Advisory Board consists of community leaders from Charlestown agencies, organizations and businesses. For the past four years the Cardiac Advisory Board, the Health Center, Johnnies Foodmaster and the Lions Club have joined together to sponsor Charlestown Loves A Healthy Heart Day!, a screening program which has reached over 400 people each year.

Healthy Heart Day will be held on Wednesday, May 23 from noon to 7 p.m. at Johnnies Foodmaster and in the Lions Club Eyemobile. This year the focus will be smoking, one of the big three controllable risks for heart disease. The theme is Absence Makes The Heart Grow Stronger.

Mark this important date on your calendars now. Matters of the Heart will feature articles on smoking over the next few weeks.

BHA To Start Mailing Moving Notices

by Lynn Peters

Representatives of the Boston Housing Authority told Bunker Hill Housing Development residents this week that their moving notices are nearly ready to be mailed. Notices will be sent to residents of Building 14, which includes 146 Medford St., 33 and 44 O'Meara Court, and 105 Walford Way, on May 4 with a temporary relocation assignment. The notices are due back to the BHA with residents' signatures on May 11. Residents will then have approximately a month and a half to move.

Residents of Building 15, which includes 97 Walford Way, 148 Medford St., and 34 and 42 McNulty Court, will be mailed notices on May 18 with a May 29 due date at the BHA. Notices will be sent to Building 18, which includes 118 Medford St., 81 Walford Way, and 33 and 41 McNulty Court, on June 4. Residents will have until June 12 to sign and return them.

BHA representatives, including Relocation Specialist Peter Sleeper, met with residents of the three buildings on Tuesday night for what was scheduled to be a briefing session to explain the process. The discussions, however, seemed to break down in confusion with most questions deferred to another meeting scheduled for next week.

Residents raised questions about storage, mail and the logistics of the move from their current apartment to a temporary unit, and back to their original home or into another appropriately sized permanent apartment.

Moving families will have to schedule appointments with the development manager and Sleeper, who promised to move them through the process as smoothly as possible. That process involves filling out paperwork, showing apartments, coordinating forwarded mail and the telephone company, and visiting the homes of those who are unable to get to the Administration Building.

Renovations are expected to begin in July and require residents to temporarily relocate while their apartments undergo extensive work. The work itself will be the subject of a meeting tonight, April 26, between the Bunker Hill Tenants Task Force and the BHA.

Police / Public Safety Meeting

The monthly Police / Public Safety Community meeting will be held on Tuesday, May 8 at 7 p.m. at the Kent Community School, 50 Bunker Hill St. All residents are invited to attend.
