PROJETO SMART METROPOLIS

Cidades visionárias estão promovendo um novo paradigma em Tecnologia de Informação e Comunicação para transformar seus sistemas, operações e entrega de serviços em uma abordagem verdadeiramente integrada e inteligente. Nesse contexto, o Projeto Smart Metropolis, desenvolvido no Instituto Metrópole Digital (IMD) da Universidade Federal do Rio Grande do Norte (UFRN), em Natal-RN, Brasil, busca desempenhar um importante papel na implantação de cidades inteligentes e humanas, congregando pesquisadores e profissionais com experiência teórica e prática em áreas como Ciência da Computação, Engenharias e Ciências Sociais. Como resultado concreto, o Projeto visa a concepção e desenvolvimento de métodos, técnicas e ferramentas de suporte ao desenvolvimento e implantação de aplicações de serviços integrados a serem oferecidos por cidades inteligentes.

O SmartMetropolis é composto por cinco pacotes de trabalhos temáticos: (i) Sensoriamento, (ii) Infraestrutura, (iii) Middleware, (iv) Análise e Visualização de Dados e (v) Aplicações. Cada pacote possui um coordenador que lidera as atividades desenvolvidas por um conjunto de professores e alunos nos niveis de Graduação, Mestrado e Doutorado. Todos os produtos do projeto são testados e implantados por parceiros fundamentais, tais como a Prefeitura da Cidade do Natal e a Secretaria de Segurança Pública e Defesa Social (SESED) do Governo do Estado do Rio Grande do Norte.
