

Runescape November Behind the Scenes

The official Runescape website is offering a lengthy look ahead to what's to come for players in November. The online game is focusing on player-submitted feature ideas. This has led to a number of new features and options for gameplay which include:

An 'assist' system that will allow players to use skills on items from another players' inventory, with no any risk of the item being stolen.

Another quest in the Zanik line, which involves the Land of the Goblins, will test your abilities and knowledge against a challenge that requires stealth and subterfuge.

Minor tradeskills improvement like a test of your proficiency and the capability of blacksmiths to work with a complete set of materials.

There have been changes made to the Duel Arena. AGILITY TRAINING This includes 64-player tournaments and the possibility of tracking your Tournament rank.

A Grand Exchange, which will sell game-related items across all servers.
