THE PROCESS

Our ability to create beautiful works of art for our customers comes from a combination of over 200 years' experience passed down through generations, the newest innovative technology and our talented craftsmen.

The art of Fine-Craft-Etching is a highly intricate and detailed process that has the ability to bring life and personality to any memorial.

RESULTS & WHAT TO EXPECT IF CHOOSING YOUR OWN IMAGE

02

Customer satisfaction is key, and we want our customers to be pleased with the final results. There are a few factors to consider in creating the highest quality final design. Our aim is to design unique pieces of art that represent your loved one and although our aim is to deliver highly detailed results every time, final results will vary depending on the quality of image/photograph given by the customer. The higher the quality of image (high pixel rate, digital file, clear quality and good lighting) the more effective final result will be.

Unlike other forms of engraving which can be carried out on a variety of materials, Fine-Craft-Etching is a less heavy form of engraving that focuses on the finer details.

The process of Fine-Craft Etching is to give an elegant, highly detailed and realistic result. Due to the delicate nature of the fine etching process, it works better on some materials than others.

We recommend choosing a darker, less patterned material as this compliments the light and dark tones of the final design.

If choosing a lighter material we would recommend a darker plaque (such as black granite) insert is used.

Portraits

Adding a fine etched portrait to a memorial is a beautiful and lasting way to remember your loved one. It adds a personal touch to a memorial that sometimes words can't express.

To make sure you select a suitable photograph for maximum detail, view our examples on page 2.

HOW LONG SHOULD YOU EXPECT IT TO LAST

Once the surface of granite is etched, then the engraving will last for an eternity. Although we use the highest quality materials on the market, unfortunately painted designs will fade over time. The life span of a hand-painted design will be dependent on a number of factors, exposure to weather conditions being the main one.

It is important to remember that even though the paint may fade over time, the original Fine-Craft- Etching will always remain, and having it repainted is always an option.

YOU'RE NOT LIMITED TO THESE DESIGNS

We try to offer a diverse range of design options, but we also understand that you may be looking for something specific, as we understand every person holds different values and interests. If you can supply us with a high quality image or design we will do everything we can to insure a beautifully finished design.
