

*Imagine an experience that connects and empowers hundreds of women, breaks down walls, and brings reality and action to the idea that we as women can achieve MORE together, personally and professionally.
That's exactly what the Renaissance Women mission offers.
It's a movement, a movement that can transform your life.*

Even after many years, I am still humbled by the many amazing people who so willingly dedicate themselves to the mission of empowering other women in their given field.

You seem to mysteriously emerge from the chaotic waves of the world around you and find a way to give of yourself to others. I could write an entire book with the stories of the women I have met over the years; witnessing the transformation they experience while being part of a strong supportive sisterhood I, myself, am transformed! We are exponentially more powerful when we come together, and I have to say, life becomes so much more fun.

It's time to re-train our minds from a place of envy and competition, to a place that honors, appreciates and embraces the gifts of others, that does what we can to activate each other's power. It is the mission of Renaissance Women to transform and elevate the lives of thousands more women, simply by opening our hearts, our minds and our relationships.

I want to take a moment to thank the fabulous women who have supported this mission and have worked with me tirelessly over the past year to make this concept a reality.

I am confident that this experience will change your life as well, and gracefully pull you forward, like it has for me, to higher ground.

I'd like to also give a special thank you to the JW Marriott Houston for believing in this and opening up their doors, their beautiful venue, and their hearts to us. Their energy, enthusiasm, and support has been nothing short of a gift.

In closing let me thank YOU...thank you for giving Renaissance Women from across North America an opportunity to experience the magic that I have come to expect every time I encounter an incredible like-minded woman. I am humbly indebted to you for your passionate commitment and abundant love for the women, or as I like to call them, sisters, Renaissance Women has been created to serve.

Here's to breaking down barriers, opening our minds and hearts, and being part of this movement.

With gratitude, respect, and enthusiasm,

What is Renaissance Women?

This is not a networking group, or a 'mommy and me' group, singles club, or a super feminist organization. It is a special 'girls membership community' designed to educate, support and mentor women in their business and social life.

It's a powerful combination of strength, friendship and beauty. It will kick off with this extraordinary powerful and inspiring one day summit.

How do I become a member?

The premiere opportunity to become a member is to attend this summit and see what its all about- experience speaks for itself. From there, attendees will have the first invite to apply. Our first chapter will be hand-selected from the summit, and a phone interview follow up will be conducted.

Why is it going to be a private club?

Because we want to have the ability to decide who's in the club and if its not a good match. Why? Because positive energy, support and confidence is contagious, so if we have somebody in the club who's bringing everybody else down; manipulative, judgmental, just in it for themselves or just always a black cloud, that doesn't help members of the club.

Renaissance Women is strategically designed to be a collection of women who lead, build or aspire to build and elevate all areas of their personal, professional and philanthropic lives.

Why Houston?

The summit is open to women around the globe, we have women coming from New York, Los Angeles, Berlin, Toronto, London, and beyond! However, we believe Houston was the best choice for a number of reasons – Hello, THIRD COAST! We will have special rates and accommodations for ticket holders and will help provide you with travel info and assistance.

WHY - just WHY?

A community that actually builds your own confidence and tangibly helps other members, that's huge. Think of it as a sisterhood, we are all in this life for the bigger vision and each one of us is only as strong as our weakest link. So we don't let there be any weak links and we fight for each other - because together, our synergy is unparalleled. Together we can do anything.

Whether you feel 'stuck' in a part of your life or career and not sure what to do or how to change. You're an executive or entrepreneur at the top of your game and looking to find other like-minded women to spend time with socially and collaborate professionally. Or maybe you're a single mom who wants to go after her passion but needs help logistically or financially - RW is that special place.

How does that make you feel?

Here's how it works:

We achieve this through an ongoing series of interactive presentations, workshops and strategic partnerships with some of the most sought-after influencers, founders, and mentors to replace barriers and competition with collaborative success and deliver more purpose-driven information.

Renaissance Women is the event production of Interesting Agency, which has been formed to:

- Host this inaugural national event and ongoing summit series filled with strategic partnerships and delivering purpose driven information
- Create a VIP community to serve women
- Provide education, resources and real-life stories and connections to help you achieve your goals
- Build partnerships and strategic alliances with other conferences, summits, events and organizations that believe this skill-set is essential for women to win in their professional, personal lives and with everything they are involved with and care about.

Renaissance Women is more than an event or speaker series. It's an incubator for individual women and women's organizations to imagine, develop and realize the presentation of their own visions, to and for others.
