

January Activity: Right to Freedom of Speech, Thought and Belief

Our Definitions:

The Right to Freedom of Speech:

Everyone has the right to say his own opinion and share this with others. That is, all people may say their opinion. The other people should not criticize other opinions.

The Right to Freedom of Thought:

Freedom of thought means that you can say your thoughts aloud. You are free to think bad and good things (think what YOU want!).

By: Mohamed T., Ilmi and Özgür

The Right to Freedom of Belief:

Everyone has the right to belief what he wants. There are many different religions, for example Christians, Muslims, Jews etc. but everyone has the right to belief, believing or not.
