

This privacy policy applies to the data read from files through this application. The publisher of the application provides this privacy policy. Microsoft is not responsible for any use or collection of data inconsistent with what is described in this privacy policy. The application may read or change your files in order to provide functionality. In some cases, you will not receive a separate notice when a file is read or changed.

Your use of the Services or Sites will be governed by any terms of use for the Services and Sites, and any data used or collected by the Services or Sites will be governed by any privacy policy for the Services or Sites.

If you have questions about this privacy policy, please direct your questions from www.cemmutlu.com