EFFECTIVE MARKETING

You're hysterical. Your home has been listed for a month, and you've had only two newspaper ads. Your house is being shown fairly regularly, but in the back of your mind, you wonder if the agent is doing enough.

Sellers often equate effective marketing with classified ads in the Sunday real estate section every weekend. In practice, however, these ads generate relatively few sales of the properties they feature. The most talented Realtors know their market well enough to know where buyers for your home are likely to come from. They will then look for the best way to reach those people; with direct mail, telephone contact or specialized ads in neighborhood publications. They will also work to get their colleagues excited about your house, especially agents who tend to have many listings or sales in your neighborhood. Finally it's important for you and your agent to communicate often so you'll know exactly what he or she is doing and what you might be doing to get your house sold.

For solid advice on buying or selling real estate, consult the professionals at Monument Properties. Come by our office at 85 Warren St. in Charlestown or call us at 241-5900.

$25,000 is needed to put the Bunker Hill Day Parade on the streets on Sunday, June 13. With the fiscal constraints on the city of Boston, only a limited amount of money is being allocated to the celebration by the city and each unit is asking for an increase in its fee. Thus the success of the celebration depends on you — the residents, merchants and organizations. Donations of $25 and over will be publicly acknowledged.

In order to ensure pedestrian safety and to direct traffic, police officers will be on detail. The officers will be stationed at Bunker Hill and Vine streets, at the Water Street on-ramp, at the Water Street on-ramp merge with the Tobin Bridge and with the construction crew.

★ Tax Credit For Working Families . . .
Sen. Thomas F. Birmingham, chairman of the Senate Committee on Ways and Means, has announced that he will join the 1993 Earned Income Tax Credit Campaign (EIC) and that the resources of his office will be made available to assist the EIC outreach.

The Earned Income Credit (EIC) is a tax credit designed to benefit working families that have at least one child living at home for more than half the year and income of less than $22,370 for 1992. The credit is available to both married and single parents. Even families whose income is so low that they do not owe federal income tax can be eligible to receive a check up to $2,211.

"According to Internal Revenue Service estimates, 10s of thousands of Massachusetts families are eligible for the EIC credit and are not receiving it. With so many Massachusetts residents struggling financially as a result of the poor economy, it is important that we draw attention to an underutilized benefit for those who need it most," said Birmingham.

The EIC is a "refundable" credit. This means that eligible working families can benefit from the credit even if they owe no federal income tax. Eligible families that owe no income tax receive a check from the Internal Revenue Service in the amount of their credit. If a family does owe income tax, the EIC reduces the amount of taxes owed. If the family's credit is greater than the amount of taxes it owes, the family's tax bill will be reduced to zero and the IRS will send the family a check for the remainder of its EIC.

Eligible families must do two things to receive the EIC: they must file a federal income tax return using either Form 1040A or Form 1040 and they must also file a tax form called Schedule EIC with their tax return.

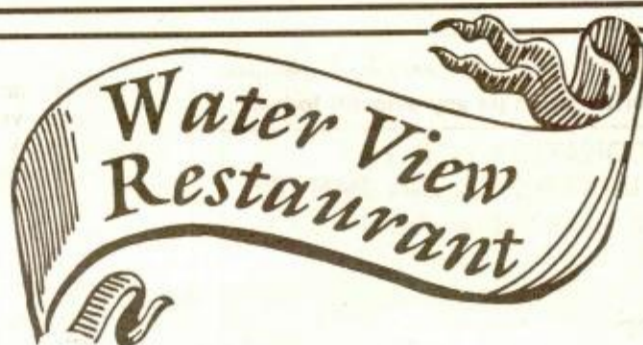

"I urge those families who feel that they may qualify for this benefit to seek further information by calling my office 722-1650. This benefit is designed especially for working families and they should take advantage of it," concluded Birmingham.

★ Street Reconstruction Update . . .
Mother Nature continues to foil any ideas of starting construction this spring. Susi & Son has obtained the necessary work permits, has the construction signs in place, the traffic mitigation plans are all approved and the preconstruction video was even done in between snowstorms. The plan at the moment is to try and start on Lawrence and Seminary streets on Monday, March 29, weather permitting. Watch for the leaflet distribution if you live in the planned construction area. The calendar says spring is here and as soon as the weather agrees, construction will be able to be started.

The railing fabricator for the Mead Street Stairs (40 Flights) is about finished making the railing. When the ice and snow melt off the stairs, he will be able to get out there and set up the trial section of railing for inspection by the Boston Redevelopment Authority. Again, when the weather agrees with the calendar, the stairs project will also be able to get going. Look for leaflets in the vicinity of the stairs for the start-up of that contract as well.

Questions, concerns and complaints are being handled by Community Liaison Peter Looney at 722-4300 ext. 5674.

Voke's Group Meets With Congress On Water Bills

Thirty-five Massachusetts legislators, led by House Majority Leader Richard Voke, met two weeks ago with the entire Massachusetts Congressional Delegation to discuss the issue of sky rocketing water and sewer rates charged to member communities of the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority (MWRA). The meeting, which was held in the Washington, D.C. office of Congressman Joseph Moakley, also included the participation of U.S. Speaker of the House Tom Foley.

"As evidenced by the attendance of Speaker Foley, I was pleased to see just how important rate relief was to our congressional delegation. While I have had several talks with Congressman Joseph Kennedy regarding the subject and know he shares my commitment to help local ratepayers, listening to Senators Edward Kennedy and John Kerry and the rest of our congressmen speak showed me they do understand the issues and will continue to act in our best interests in terms of seeking federal funding," said Voke.

After opening statements by several of the congressmen there, Voke began the morning program by framing a picture of the present situation: "We are in a crisis situation, one which was not created solely by the 2.5 million MWRA ratepayers, but one which is being rectified solely by those very same 2.5 million MWRA ratepayers." From there, Voke went on to retell many of the situations revealed to him by Charlestown residents and businesspersons, along with his own personal concerns that spiralling rates would continue to dampen individual household and business budgets, the local and regional housing markets and the entire regional economy.

In addition to getting a rundown of the actions of the congressional delegation on the federal level, the state legislators also engaged in a question and answer session with their federal counterparts in an effort to identify problems and work on solutions on both levels of government.

"Beginning with a comment by Sen. Kennedy that the harbor was going to be here for hundreds of more years, we embarked on a discussion of long-term bonding as a way of spreading out capital costs over the life-span of the harbor. We also addressed many other aspects of possible relief, including federal and state loan and grant programs and the impacts these would have on rates," noted Voke.

Speaker Foley concluded the meeting with revelations regarding his own district's experience in the state of Washington. The greater Seattle area recently concluded its own water and sewer infrastructure program which similarly drove rates up.

Voke's group also met Wednesday with key staff people in the House Appropriations office. There, they lobbied federal staffers to review possible language changes in congressional appropriations which would allow federal funds to be applied to the MWRA debt service now, instead of future costs down the road.

"We were able to explain how a $20 million grant by the state was equal in terms of immediate rate relief to a federal grant of $200 million, simply because the language with the federal grant would not allow us to apply the money to today's loan repayments. While the idea of rate relief may sound easy, as shown by this concept and others, we were in fact dealing with the staffers on some very complicated issues," noted Voke.

Satisfied with their trip to the nation's capital and the responses they heard, Voke noted the MWRA State Legislative Caucus would now continue its focus on bills and appropriations requests it has sponsored on Beacon Hill.

"Although nothing is concrete, I do believe our joint efforts on the state and federal levels will pay great dividends. While we can be pleased that there is some light at the end of the tunnel, we must continue to move forward to reach the end of what has proven to be a very frustrating and complicated journey for rate relief," concluded Voke.

Sullivan Elected 1993 'Mayor Of Charlestown'

Charlestown-To-Charlestown Committee Chairman Arthur Hurley, who acted as master of ceremonies, introduced the three candidates and afforded each of them the opportunity to thank those who supported them and who worked on their behalf. He then introduced past Mayors and Roses who were present, and members of the Charlestown-To-Charlestown Committee.

Hurley called 1992 Mayor Patricia "Pat" Harty to the microphone for her farewell speech. Brief as usual, Harty thanked her family and friends for their support in what she said was the "fastest year of her life." She said she hoped that the next Mayor would have as great a year as she had. This year's Charlestown Rose Shannon Kiely and Harty exchanged gifts with thoughts and thanks expressed for the year the two had shared.

The crowd then waited for Harty to announce the name of the new Mayor of Charlestown — Erin Sullivan. Sullivan then made her way to the stage as her family and friends showered her with hugs, kisses and congratulations.

Sullivan expressed her thanks to all who had anything to do with her success in winning the election as Mayor. She told the gathering: "My father always told me that hard work pays off. I am happy tonight to say he was right."

Sullivan went on to say that she had put a lot of hard work and time into the race, but was not alone in doing so. She credited her

"good friend and campaign manager" Mary Callahan, her brother Jackie Sullivan, her boyfriend Jay Colbert, her friend Steve Owens and friends and family who made her victory possible. She concluded by stating that she will be proud to represent Charlestown in Charlestown, County Mayo, Ireland.

Sullivan was presented her medallion of office by outgoing Mayor Harty. In addition Harty passed along a purse to Sullivan containing 10 Irish pounds for her to take to Ireland, in what has become a tradition with Charlestown Mayors.

Sullivan's niece Jenna Donovan came forward with a crown of flowers for her aunt. Also, Harty's daughter Patti presented a bouquet of flowers to her mother on behalf of the family.

Hurley called Bob "Sunshine" Brooks to the stage to make a presentation. Brooks, the president of The Print Stop in Somerville, has been doing the printing for the committee since its inception. He presented an engraved plaque listing the Mayors and Roses from 1983 to 1992 that Hurley said would be displayed in a prominent place.

Hurley then announced the official tally for the Mayor's race. Sullivan won the election with 11,470 votes.

Boutwell came in second with 2,802 votes. He was awarded round-trip air fare to Ireland and $300 in spending money.

In third place was Perito with 600 votes. The committee presented her with a $100 gift certificate.

Sullivan Elected 1993 'Mayor

Page, who had entered the race for Mayor but had to withdraw for personal reasons, was presented a $50 gift certificate.

The formal program concluded with the drawing of one of the ballots for a $1,000 prize. And the winner was no other than the new Mayor of Charlestown, Erin Sullivan. Following the drawing, Sullivan announced that she was going to donate half of the prize money to five Charlestown organizations. Donations of $100 each will go to the Charlestown Boys & Girls Club, Life Focus Center, Charlestown Little League, Charlestown Youth Hockey and Charlestown Pop Warner Football.

Sullivan, who resides with her family on Washington Street, is a graduate of Christopher Columbus High School. She is employed by the federal Environmental Protection Agency.

Asked why she threw her chapeau into the race for Mayor, Sullivan said that she thought she could do the job well and would be a good representative for Charlestown. She stated that she was "definitely surprised — very surprised" when the announcement of her election was made. She went on to say that she had worked very hard at the campaign and would have been happy whether she won or lost.

Sullivan stated that her winning the Mayoral race and the drawing for the $1,000 prize just had to be "The Luck of the Irish!" and she was looking forward to her year as Mayor.

will appear this Sunday evening at the Berklee Performance Center on Massachusetts Avenue in Boston as part of the BHA "Youth On The Rise" Gospel Fund Raiser. The event begins at 4 p.m., and tickets are on sale at the rectory. Youth On The Rise is one of the BHA programs that supports young people at all BHA developments, including Bunker Hill here in Charlestown.

■ Pro Line . . . Jimmy Vesey's 34th goal of the season was the game winner as Providence defeated St. John's 4-3, as two of the AHL division leaders battled before a sold-out Providence crowd on Sunday.

Over in the NHL Keith Tkachuk added an assist as fourth-place Winnipeg defeated Calgary 4-2. This assist brings Keith's stats to 23 goals and 20 assists for a total of 43 points.

The New York Islanders remain in a close Patrick Division race. Only five points separate teams from second to fifth place. Tommy Fitzgerald has seven goals and 17 assists for the Isles.

■ CHAD Meeting . . . The bi-monthly CHAD meeting will take place this Friday, March 26, at the Bunker Hill Teen Center, 76 Monument St. The one-hour meeting begins at noon and all are welcomed to attend.

■ Fact Not Fiction Day . . . The Boys & Girls Club will be hosting a Fact Not Fiction Day for young people on Saturday, April 3. The all-day event, focusing on substance issues, is sponsored by CHARlestown Against Drugs and attendance is encouraged.

■ Charlestown Baseball . . . The "Old Towne Team" held its annual winter meeting on Saturday at the Boston Athletic Club. The winter meeting is the initial kick-off for the Charlestown baseball team that begins its third season in the Tom Yawkey Baseball League this summer. An April Fund Raiser is being planned and, once again, game sponsors will be needed.

■ Charlestown Pride Notes . . . Charlestown Pride — the ball hockey team — surprised a lot of people in its Teen Connection ball hockey opener. Shane Fisher had three goals, Greg Staples had two goals and Jim White had one for the very young team. Andrew Ray did an excellent job in goal, especially in the closing three minutes.

Charlestown Pride — the basketball team — was defeated by the Condon 79-69 in the opening round of the Nate Hurwitz Basketball Tournament. Veteran Mike Erardi had 15 points and six assists for Charlestown.

■ Tidbits . . .

— She's back! Alexis Finneran is home from the south, and the south will never be the same. Welcome home!

— Happy birthday to Joe Scadding.

— It's good to hear that "Bernie's" ankle is feeling much better.

— Is "Bloodhound" Vesey boycotting taxi cabs?

— Benj Quinn is back from "spring break" and has returned safely with his mother's hair dryer that he borrowed. The Quinns are a one-dryer family, and Mrs. Q is happy to have her prized possession back — the dryer.

— Congratulations to Sean Mullins from his buddies.

— Does Jennifer Ray have a new boyfriend?

CHAD Junior Bowling League

by John Dillon

After a week off, the CHARlestown Against Drugs (CHAD) Junior Bowling League got off to a great start.

The Cappucci team took a piece of first place by slamming the Lori-Ann's team for eight points. Taylor Halley was a superstar for the Cappucci team, bowling 70 pins over his average. Meghan Buckley was her steady self, helping the Cappucci team defeat Lori-Ann's. Andrew Southern and Leslie Southern turned in good performances, but just couldn't overcome Halley's outstanding pin total.

Also taking eight points was the Bunker Hill Real Estate team. Michelle Marino and Nicole Eddy each had a great day for Bunker Hill Real Estate, while Tammy Biggins and Pat Pinder put in great efforts for the Charlestown Patriot team in a losing cause.

In other action, the Erins team is moving up in the standings, posting an eight-point win over the Nucci team. Jill Connolly bowled 40 pins over her average for the Erins team while Kevin McCusker anchored the win with a steady performance. Sean Reilly and Matt Paley each had a good day for the Nucci team, but they just couldn't overcome Connolly's 40-pin bonus for Erins.

The American Legion team split four to four with the B&B Oil team.

The Kennedy Center

team split with the Crickets team. Christina Biggins, Amy Capithorn and Mike Lane turned in good performances for the Kennedy Center, while Nicole Lane, Philip O'Neil, Andrea Webber and Kelly Gouthro did well for the Crickets team.

Bowlers of the week were: Taylor Halley, 70 pins over his average; Jill Connolly, 40 pins over her average; and Michelle Marino, 33 pins over her average.

Girls Ball Hockey Championship

Newtowne defeated Main Street 4-2 to earn the right to face off against the Parkies for the championship. Kristen Powers scored a goal and assisted on two others to lead Newtowne to victory. Shannon McLaughlin set up Michelle Macomber for the game winner. Macomber later added an insurance goal to help Newtowne advance to the finals.

On Thursday, the Parkies showed up cool and calm, knowing that Newtowne would have to win two straight games to claim the crown.

The Parkies jumped out in front 2-0 as Corey Gallagher scored twice with assists from Kolleen Hayes and Mary Kay Tkachuk. Newtowne countered with goals from McLaughlin and Jessica Sweeney to tie the game. The night belonged to the Parkies, though, as Melissa Doherty snapped a 2-2 tie late in the second half and Gallagher completed her hat trick to give the Parkies the 1993 championship.

Two-Time Champion

The reason why Stephanie Ward's name was omitted from the flag football champions was because we wanted to make two very important announcements at once.

Congratulations to Stephanie, who is the only girl in town who is both a flag football and ball hockey champ.

Boys Ball Hockey

JAFT 8 - CHAD 4

Jason MacDonald made save after save to help JAFT overcome a sluggish first half and defeated CHAD in a heated contest. Pat Owens, the league's leading scorer, netted five goals including the game winner.

Charlestown Pride 6 - Petrifeski 5

Charlestown Pride took a giant step into the win column last Tuesday when they shocked Petrifeski in what turned out to be the game of the week.

Following Fisher's goal, Pride Coach Bob DeCristoforo called a time-out to discuss the defensive game plan. Coach D's plan worked to perfection as Pride goalie Andrew Ray halted a last-second Petrifeski attack. Greg Staples' all-out hustle was a key in the Pride game plan. DeCristoforo chose not to comment when asked about his game plan. Fans close to the players' bench state they heard the words, "Just win, Baby!" echo out of the Pride huddle.

Club 24 9 - The Vultures 2

Club 24 scored eight straight goals after falling behind 1-0 early in the first period. Vulture goaltender Jeff Andrea, who played well in defeat, was attacked from every angle. Six different players figured in the scoring for Club 24. Paul Tibbetts led the way with three goals and one assist.

JAFT 5 - VB's 3

Defenseman Jim Gillen recorded four points as JAFT held off the VB's. The 5-foot, 200-pound Gillen, obtained last year from waivers, had three goals and one assist as JAFT moved into first place with five points.

Petrifeski 7 - Pasqualies 5

Marc Dallosa netted five goals and his brother Dan made numerous quality saves as Petrifeski rebounded from a loss earlier in the week to claim sole possession of second place. Joe Gilmore assisted on two of Dallosa's goals while adding one of his own. Pasqualies' Keith Wallace held on to a share of the league scoring lead with two goals and one assist in the losing effort.

The government has endorsed the use of chiropractors by including their treatment in Workmen's Compensation.

If you've been hesitant about seeing a chiropractor and this hasn't answered your questions, feel free to ask us directly. Call today.

We have reserved the rink from 10 a.m. to noon. Buses will leave from St. Catherine's Church at 9:15 a.m. and return at 12:30 p.m. All parents are more than welcome to accompany their children and to skate as well.

The cost of tickets, which go on sale April 5 at St. Francis de Sales and St. Catherine's schools, will be $5. This includes skate rental, transportation and admission.

• Eighth Grade Girls Olympics — St. Catherine's will again enter a team in the annual Eighth Grade Girls CYO Olympics on Tuesday, April 20. We will compete against 11 other parishes in basketball, volleyball, gym hockey, water basketball and superstars contests at West Roxbury High School. All girls in grades 7 or 8 in either public or parochial schools who reside in Charlestown are eligible to play for St. Catherine's team.

St. Catherine's sponsors this event each year and we are looking for high school students to referee and keep score throughout the day.

A bus will leave from St. Catherine's at 8:30 a.m. and return around 5:30 p.m. Lunch is included.

All who are interested in playing on the team or refereeing are asked to call Father Coyne at 242-1750.

• Color Guard — We congratulate both St. Catherine's "Townies" and "Little Townies" Color Guards for a wonderful, exciting year. It is a thrill to see our children develop their gifts and talents before our eyes. The girls who march in the color guards are a credit to themselves, their families, their parishes and our town.

The Eastern Mass. Finals will be held this Saturday, March 27, beginning at 2 p.m. at Salem High School. We wish our girls the best. They will have off the month of April and we will be holding recruitment in early May for new girls between the ages of 6 and 11. Our dream is to attract as many girls as we can into the wonderful world of color guard.

• CYO Plans Spring And Summer Schedule — We would like to set dates for upcoming events that the CYO will sponsor, but we want to be sure the activities and time will be beneficial for all. We invite those who would like to be involved in setting these dates and determining which programs will be well-received to join us as we plan them. The meeting will take place at St. Catherine's Rectory, 49 Vine St. at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, March 30. Your input will be appreciated.

We hope to sponsor the following: CYO Boys Baseball and Girls Softball, an All-Nighter, CYO Harbor Cruise, Teen-age Family Feud, trip to Canobie Lake, Scavenger Hunt, Teen-age Lipsynch Contest, Deep-Sea Fishing, three-day rip to Montreal and any other suggestions you may have.

At least one parent of each child, whether he or she is in public or parochial school, should be present in the lower church on Sunday, April 4 at 7 p.m. This session is an attempt to convince you of your importance in the religious education of your children. It is also our opportunity to assure you of our support for you and our love for your children.

• Altar Boys Walk-A-Thon — On Saturday, April 3, St. Catherine's altar boys will walk 15 miles to help defray the cost of their summer trip to Washington, D.C. from June 27 to July 1. Thank You, Charlestown

Over the last two months, I asked some of you to buy chances from me — some of you several times — to support my candidacy for Mayor of Charlestown. I just want to thank everyone who bought chances.

I would also like to thank Mary Tracy, Steve Halley, Pat Travis and Kevin Williams. I'd like to say thank you to Billy and everyone at the Ironside Grille for everything they did. I think the next time I will hire a weatherman to work on my staff. By the way, the party that was cancelled by the Blizzard of '93 will be this Saturday, March 27 at the Ironside Grille, so stop by so I can thank you. (No chances are being sold.)

I'd like to say good luck to Mayor Erin Sullivan — good job!!

And to my wife, thank you for being so patient. I am on my way home!

Could Be Again Mayoral Candidate
Stoney Boutwell

P.S. Thank you to the Sullivan family for the laughs on St. Pat's Day. Don't tell my staff I was there!!!

Many Thanks

Many, many thanks to all who attended the corned beef dinner sponsored by the Daughters of Isabella No. 1. I am also very grateful to all who helped me to get this night together. It is a great feeling to see so many people get together every year and have such a great time.

Again, a million thanks,
Mary Callahan, chairlady

Good Luck, Erin

I want to take this opportunity to wish the new Mayor of Charlestown, Erin Sullivan, good luck in the coming year.

Here's an Irish Blessing for you: May the leprechauns be near you to spread luck with care, and may all the Irish angels smile on you each day as mayor.

Anyone who has been mayor hates for it to be over. We just get the hang of it and it's time for a new mayor. Another year is needed, but none of us want to put our family and friends through all that hard work again.

I want to thank my family and friends and Shannon Kie-ly, my Rose, for making this a fun year for me. I want to thank the 32 people who went on the trip to Ireland with me, for without them it would not have been as much fun.

Being the 10th mayor was an honor for me and gave me the opportunity to represent the town I love so well.

Thank you again,
Pat Hartly

Look Out . . . Here Comes Ray

Well, the stampede is on as all the wannabes get in line for the upcoming expected slugfest of a mayoral campaign. John Nucci, Rosaria Salerno, Bob Rufo, Brian Donnelly and Tom Menino, and perhaps "Dapper" O'Neil and Mel King to add some spice to the political pot. However, before handicapping the mayoral race, let us consider Mayor Ray Flynn and the job he has held since January 1984.

Flynn was the right mayor for his time, just as Mayor Kevin White was likewise for his. Kevin White made being mayor look like the most important job in America. Ray Flynn made it look like fun. But when Ray wasn't riding fire trucks or streetsweepers, he was working equally as hard as any mayor before him. Some say he was the hardest working of all.

All of us have our Ray Flynn stories. I first met Flynn during the anti-busing years in Southie. Back then he was viewed as a parochial pol who couldn't see beyond Andrew Square. But he surprised all by his growth and maturity in public office. Some say he changed from his days as state rep over along East Broadway but, in many ways, Flynn remained true to his political principles and his work ethic. Success in politics is timing, luck and hard work. Ray took his work seriously as state rep, city councilor and ultimately, mayor. With each new office his responsibility grew but he never forgot his South Boston roots . . . the values he held . . . the people who elected him.

This isn't bumkissing because it is not everyday that a major city gets to elect such a solid character for mayor. He was never a machine or a PR creation. He is a man with a heart and a soul, a man of feeling and wonderful understanding of just what Boston is. He also doesn't forget his friends. When my mother passed away in October, the mayor was out in Michigan campaigning for Bill Clinton but on the morning of my mother's funeral in Charlestown at St. Mary's Church, he was right there in a pew at my mother's Mass. For that I will never forget him. If he does return home to run for a statewide office after his tenure as U.S. ambassador to the Vatican, I will be there for him as he has been for me.

Boston has had its share of mayors, some better than others, some misunderstood and some, thankfully, whose tenure was mercifully short. Two have even gone on to become governor, but none before Ray has ever moved from City Hall to St. Peter's Square. Couldn't you just see James Michael Curley giving Pius XI a piece of advice about neighborhood politics? Curley never got that chance but, look out John Paul, 'cause here comes Ray.

Sincerely,
Sal J. Giarratani

Swan Swipers Swat Again

This is an update for the many folks who have shown so much interest in Swanee's fate. Townies are such terrific people, a few have even offered to hold a fund raiser. I do appreciate their thoughtfulness but I do not want a replacement swan, just my own!

One gentleman, showing his concern, asked me (he couldn't quite remember what it was I had missing): "Aren't you the one that had a lamb? I explained, "No that was Mary — I had a swan."

I've even received phone calls from people thinking someone had suddenly burst out honking . . . but they turned out to be false alarms (hoots and howls are not honks). Thank you for your concern.

I did finally hear from the swipers again . . . The other day I returned home to find an empty milk carton hanging from my door . . . with this heading:

MISSING SWAN $WANTED

with this assumed message from Swanee . . .

*Just wanted to let you know,
I'll survive*

*They are feeding me good and the drinks are fine
But get up the CASH,

To The Swannappers:

Swanee is here in town, I've known this from the start, Or else he would have died from a broken heart!

Name your price and tell me what you want me to pay, I've room on one Visa and will make the "drop" today!

Your corruption of Swanee is no longer a joke, As MY Swanee has never been known to smoke!

Nor would he drink a boycotted beer — unless intimidated, Not while distribution problems are being negotiated!

So, bring my Swanee back home to me, enough is enough, We are all getting a little weary of this stuff!

P.S.: You left your fingerprints all over the milk carton and tape. You dopes should be called "The Gang That Couldn't SWOOP Straight!"

I thank the Patriot for putting up with this "fluff" . . . I will ask the next Mayor of Charlestown to intercede in this matter. I will now end these communiques until Swanee is back home and we hold a gala welcome home FLOCK party!

Claire

Students At St. Catherine School Hop For Easter Seals

Students from St. Catherine's School, Charlestown recently hopped to help people with disabilities, raising $308 in an Easter Seal Hop-N-Ing.

The children spent the previous week learning about disabilities — what causes them, how disabilities affect people's everyday lives, the equipment used to cope. After that, they were ready to help.

Each child secured pledges from family and friends for every hop performed during a three-minute Hop-N-Ing. The funds raised help provide Easter Seal services for men, women and children with disabilities.

Easter Seal services include summer camp, therapeutic swim programs, home health care, physical and occupational therapy, speech therapy, equipment loan, technology for independence, support groups for people recovering from strokes and information and referral services.

Last year more than 17,000 children across Massachusetts learned about disabilities and hopped for Easter Seals, raising nearly $250,000.

Art Institute Of Boston Sponsors 12th Annual Congressional Art Awards

The Art Institute of Boston has announced the annual "An Artistic Discovery," an art competition for high school students in the Eighth Congressional District in Massachusetts. Now in its 12th consecutive year, the Congressional Arts Caucus has recognized the creative ingenuity of American high school students through this nationwide arts competition.

"The Congressional Arts Competition is a great opportunity to recognize the talented young artists in our area. My hat goes off to the Art Institute of Boston (AIB) and Mayor Raymond Flynn's Office of Business and Cultural Development for their help in coordinating this fine project," said Congressman Joe Kennedy.

According to Stan Trecker, president of the AIB, all students attending high schools in the Eighth Congressional District are eligible to submit their individual works of art through their high schools. All entries must be submitted by April 30. A jury of art professionals will judge the entries during the week of May 14.

The winning entry from the Eighth District will be on display on Capitol Hill in Washington D.C., along with other winning entries, for a period of one year. "Through this project, we hope to reinforce to our community leaders and the public the importance of art education in our high schools and the outstanding creative work being done by both students and educators," said Trecker.

For further information, high school students who attend school within the Eighth Congressional District should contact their school's art department, or call the Art Institute of Boston at 262-1223.

CHILDREN'S THEATER WORKSHOP

At The Charlestown
Working Theater

442 Bunker Hill St.

242-3285

The newly reopened Charlestown Working Theater (CWT) will begin its youth program this spring with a Children's Theater Workshop. The workshop is for children ages 7 to 12, and will run from April through June.

It is exciting that the tradition of children's theater will be continuing at the CWT. In the spring workshop, children will be involved in all aspects of putting on a play — they will write their own script, make their own costumes and build their own sets, all under the guidance of the workshop instructors. Acting games and exercises will be a part of the program, which will culminate in a public production.

The other major component of the workshop will be a series of field trips and demonstrations. The children will be shown how to work with lights, sound and music at the theater. They will also get to watch people at work in the community, at everything from a restaurant to a radio station.

The workshop will be held one- to two-times a week, on Saturday mornings and on a weekday afternoon. More specific days and times will be announced at registration.

Registration will take place from 10 a.m. to noon on Saturday, April 3 at the Charlestown Working Theater, 442 Bunker Hill St. There is a registration fee of $2, but there are no other charges for the workshop.

For more information, call the CWT at 242-3285.
