Dare to Lead

Based on the research of Dr Brene Brown, Dare to Lead™ is an empirically based courage building program designed to be facilitated by organizational development professionals.

The most significant finding from Brene's latest research is that courage is a collection of four skill sets that are teachable, measurable, and observable: navigating vulnerability, operationalizing values, braving trust and rising skills.

The Dare to Lead™ program focuses on developing these courage building skills through workshops, trainings, and coaching to help individuals, teams, and organizations move from armored leadership to daring leadership.

Who is a leader?

Why is self-awareness important for leaders?

How do we armor?

What is the role of daring leadership in creating safe spaces?

This course answers the previous questions. We dive into concepts such as cheap seats, circling back, integrity partners, living BIG, and common off-loading hurt strategies. The course also looks at how shame shows up in work, and the impact it has on innovation, creativity, collaboration and human relations & well-being.

Concepts pertinent to personal growth and development, emotional intelligence, resilience, engaging in feedback, team management and embodying empathy are covered in depth.
