

First Data Mobile PaySM Wireless Payment Solutions

Accept payments wherever you go by turning your mobile phone into a point-of-sale terminal

Go Beyond: First Data Mobile PaySM

In your business, the point of sale is an ever-moving destination. Wherever your customers are, that's where you'll go – which means you need a payment solution that's as mobile as you are. However, your transaction volume might not justify the expense of purchasing a mobile payment terminal, leaving you in the position of handling credit card information in an inefficient and unsafe manner, such as by writing numbers down to call in later. As an alternative, you may be accepting checks on faith, exposing you to the possibility of loss.

The Solutions

With the First Data Mobile PaySM solutions, you can offer fast, safe and flexible payment processing anywhere you go by using your existing smart phone.

First Data Mobile Pay App

Once you've downloaded the application, a handy encrypting card reader device plugs into your Android, BlackBerry or iPhone,* enabling you to slide your customer's credit card to capture a sale. Because the card is physically present, you avoid the higher card-not-present processing rates associated with hand-keyed transactions.

Web-based First Data Mobile Pay

Purchase no additional equipment; just use the data-enabled mobile phone you always carry, navigate to the First Data Mobile Pay URL, and enter and transmit the customer's credit card number.

With either solution, you can accept payments wherever you have wireless coverage with your current data plan provider. Payments are processed in real time, with an e-receipt generated and sent to the customer via e-mail as soon as the transaction takes place. You receive the fast funding that comes with instant authorization, and your customers can settle their purchases on the spot.
