Board Of Appeal Postpones Action On Asphalt Plant To Allow For Community Meeting

Charlestown residents packed the hearing room of the City of Boston Board of Appeal on Tuesday, May 1st to hear the application of the Simeone Corporation of Stoughton and to offer testimony on the proposed construction of an Asphalt Batch Mixing Plant with accessory storage aggregates for 20,000 gallons of asphalt and 10,000 gallons of fuel at 100 Front Street, Charlestown.

For the majority of the 125 persons in attendance, including a cross section of long-time Charlestown residents and newcomers to the community, this was the first opportunity that they had to hear the presentation of plans for this plant. The plans were laid out by Phil Murray, Attorney for the Corporation along with Engineer

Joe Hanbury who presented the technical and site plans, referring to Stanley Siegel of Diversified Engineering Services who had prepared the traffic impact analysis for the company and to Jim Collins of Urban Resources, paid consultant to the project, who was termed by Murray as "community outreach liaison". Salvatore Simeone, President of the Simeone Corporation was also present.

Attorney Murray, in his opening remarks, referred to a letter dated February 2, 1984 from the State Department of Environmental Quality Engineering approving the plans as proposed by the Simeone Corporation. He stated that they were awaiting an answer from the City of Boston Traffic Department as to the Traffic Impact Analysis that has been submitted to that office. Murray said that the 2½ acre site, bordered by I-93 and the railroad, has been purchased from the B&M Railroad. He said the corporation proposes to clean the parcel and develop their plant.

Corporation Engineer Joe Hanbury told the Board that this would be a three-ton batch plant and he felt that it would fit into this Industrially Zoned area. He said that there would be no hazardous substances on the site and that the pollution control devices at the plant would assure that air emitting from the plant would be cleaner than the ambient air.

B.H.A. To Sponsor Child Fingerprinting Program

The Boston Housing Authority will sponsor a voluntary fingerprinting program for all children of B.H.A. tenants and employees on Saturday, May 5, 1984 at 55 Bunker Hill Street, Charlestown from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. The B.H.A.'s Public Safety Department is holding these fingerprinting clinics throughout the city for participating children in B.H.A. family developments. Children taking part in the program will be fingerprinted and will receive a fingerprint sheet for their parents to keep as a permanent record. Each child will also be provided with a free "lifesaver" tag, containing information on the child's name, address and medical history and kept attached to the child's shoe.

The program was initiated by the BHA's Public Safety Department as a service to tenants and employees. Public Safety Director Earl A. Bolt stated:

"The fingerprinting of children is recommended as a safety measure in the wake of growing numbers of incidents of missing children and we are pleased to be able to offer this vital service to all of our residents and employees. We are particularly grateful to the BHA managers and Team Police Officers whose active participation in this project has played a large role in making it possible."

Named

National Award Winner

JONALYN AGRI

The United States Achievement Academy has announced that Jonalyn Agri of Charlestown has been named a 1984 United States National Award winner in Science.

This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes less than 10% of all American high school students.

Jonalyn, who is a junior at Matignon High School, was nominated for the National Award by Mr. Robert Visnick, a chemistry teacher at the school. Jonalyn will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, published nationally.

The Academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors or other school sponsors and upon the Standards of Selection set forth by the Academy. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability, and recommendation from a teacher or director.

Jonalyn is daughter of John and Catherine Agri of Charlestown. Her grandparents are James and Catherine Rooney of Charlestown and Helen Sullivan of Avon.

Voke Fights For Elderly Exemptions

Representative Richard A. Voke is pleased to report that legislation which would allow persons sixty-five years of age or older an increased tax deduction for interest earned from savings held in Massachusetts has received initial legislative approval. In a recent Executive Session of the legislature's Joint Committee on Taxation, members voted in favor of the local legislator's bill; sending a message to the floor of the House of Representatives and other lawmakers that the contents of the legislation are of high merit and worthy of their favorable report.

Representative Voke, who is the principle sponsor of this legislation testified recently before the Taxation Committee. In a well prepared and thoughtful address, Representative Voke highlighted the intent of the legislation as well as its benefits to the senior citizens of the Commonwealth. In closing, Representative Voke asked the Committee for favorable consideration of this important piece of legislation.

Voke made the following comments about his most recent legislative initiative: "Persons sixty-five years of age or older make up 12% of the state's population. Many of these elderly persons are retired and live on fixed incomes. Even with the apparent stabilization of the inflation rate, the elderly are finding it increasingly more difficult to survive on their life's savings. Area banking institutions are paying 5% - 6% interest on savings and the elderly are, in fact, losing money to inflation prior to their spending it to purchase essentials. This loss to inflation is compounded to an even greater extent when the Commonwealth levies a tax on the interest their money earns.

The bill I filed, and testified on recently would allow persons sixty-five years of age or older to take an increased tax deduction on interest income earned from savings held in Massachusetts banking institutions. This tax deduction would ease the elderly's inherent financial burden, thus allowing them to lead more normal lives.

Representative Voke is enthusiastic and optimistic over his proposal's prospects. He plans to monitor this legislation closely throughout 1984. If information is desired on this bill on any others, persons are urged to contact the Representative. He can be reached by phoning him at his State House office at 722-2130.

Charlestown Marks Good Friday With Annual Procession Of The Cross

The Charlestown Clean Up held on April 14, 1984 was successful due to the commitment of the City of Boston to provide the resources to get the job done. Coordination was the key and the coordination of resources by David Flanagan of the Mayor's Office of Constituent Services was exceptional.

The effort that the City and many volunteers put in is wasted unless clean-up becomes part of our daily routine rather than a once a year activity. Let's continue the effort; don't litter!

Board Of Appeal Action

Three Charlestown parcels were acted upon by the City of Boston Board of Appeal at public hearings held on Tuesday, May 1, 1984 in Room 801 at Boston City Hall.

The Board voted, by request of the Attorney for applicant Bonnie Widdoes, that action on the variances for construction of three one-family houses at 3-A, 3-B, and 3-C Monument Square be postponed until 9:30 a.m. on May 8, 1984.

The Board voted to postpone action on the application of Simeone Corporation for the variance to allow construction of an Asphalt Batch Mixing Plant at 100 Front Street, Charlestown until June 5, 1984 to allow for the presentation of the plan to the community at an open public meeting.

The Board approved the variances requested by Ronald Alex, Barbara Thornton, and Patricia Andreotti requesting a change in occupancy for 284 Bunker Hill Street from a three family dwelling to five apartments. The variances were granted with the proviso that any exterior changes be subject to design review by the B.R.A.

Scheduled for Board of Appeal action on Tuesday, May 8 at 11:00 a.m. is the application of St. John's Episcopal Church at 41 Monument Square in respect to Articles 8(8-7-8), 14(14-2), 15(15-1), 17(17-1), and 23(23-1) of the Boston Zoning Code with the request for change of occupancy to five apartments.

Postpones Action On Asphalt Plant To Allow For Community Meeting

Attorney Murray cited abutters Boston Sand & Gravel and the B&M Railroad as being in favor of the plan. Statements by him as to there being no pedestrian walkway through (the site is adjacent to MDC's Paul Revere Park) and that considerable money had been spent by the company for community outreach, were met with murmurs of disbelief from the audience.

Murray introduced letters of recommendation from officials of several of the towns in which the corporation has a plant and listed several items that they felt would benefit the community, namely: jobs (10-15 full time); competition for the city, as there is only one other batch plant in Boston; and Simeone's record of involvement with youth programs and scholarships in other towns.

Engineer Hanbury said that most of the opposition to the plant was based on air and traffic concerns. He said that DEQE would monitor the plant and that they would be subject to the rules and regulations of that body. He said that if a problem arises, the community can work with DEQE. As to traffic, he referred to the traffic analysis, which concluded that this operation would have no impact on the residential community and a minimum impact on City Square.

Board Member Alfred Gross asked the corporation if this plant would be permanent or temporary, to which Salvatore Simeone responded that they would not be putting this effort in if they did not consider this permanent.

The question of Board Member Paul Parks to Attorney Murray as to whether the Simeone Corporation had structured a community meeting was met with a resounding "No" from the gathering. Parks suggested that his sense was that a clear, concise presentation had not been made to the community, to which Murray responded that the company had fulfilled the legal requirements of community outreach. Parks continued by stating that he was not suggesting that the company had not met their legal requirements, but was questioning the maximum information flow to the community, to which Murray responded that they stand on their record.

Jim Collins then addressed the Board. He stated that the Simeone Corporation had begun informal discussions in the community, noting that Mr. Simeone is married to the former Mary Carr of Charlestown, and that he (Collins) was brought on board last Monday (April 23rd). He said that he contacted the Patriot on Tuesday, finding out that the newspaper had already been contacted by community residents. Collins stated that if the Board felt that the traffic and air statements were acceptable and if it was the community relations aspect that was being questioned, then the corporation would abide by the wishes of the Board and, with a time limit, go before the community.

Board Chairman John Priestley told the gathering that the Board had not had time to read the material in detail. He noted the date on the letter from DEQE, stating that three months had elapsed, and went on to say that making a copy available to the newspaper or having flyers distributed would have addressed some of this issue of information dissemination. Priestley went on to say that the situation puts the Board to a disadvantage in that people who would be presenting testimony would not have been able to base their comments on fact.

The Board called for testimony from the gathering. There were no Charlestown residents voicing support of the plan testifying at this hearing.

Boston City Councillor Albert "Dapper" O'Neil had presented the Board with petitions from some 300 Charlestown residents, mainly from the Harvard Street, Washington Street, Old Rutherford Avenue area in opposition to the Asphalt Plant. O'Neil also went on record as requesting the Board to deny the application.

Boston City Councillor Robert Travaglini noted "complexities and discrepancies" in the plan and asked the Board to postpone the decision until the community could meet.

Charlestown resident, Michelle Sodergren, whose traffic expertise noted fallacies in the traffic analysis, cited the phrase "in good faith" that was used by Simeone engineer Hanbury and then by Councillor Travaglini in their testimony. She went on to say that at an informal meeting with representatives of the corporation last Thursday evening, Hanbury was asked that "in good faith" would the corporation ask the Board for a postponement in order to make a presentation to the community and Hanbury answered with an outright "No".

Representative Richard Voke also appeared before the Board to request a postponement on behalf of the community, as did Lucy Ferrullo from the Mayor's Office of Community Participation. Massport Director Dave Davis had also submitted a letter in opposition.

Opposition was presented by Katherine

McLaughlin, whose Rutherford Avenue home is in sight and sound of Boston Sand & Gravel. She noted the noise in the early morning hours as they are awakened by the trucks on that site, which is adjacent to the site of the proposed Asphalt Plant. She also spoke of the heavy amount of dust raised by the trucks in that area.

Bonnie Widdoes, a Soley Street resident, expressed her dismay at the location of this plant at the waterfront entrance to this up and coming community.

Don Jackson spoke in opposition to the plant on behalf of the North Area Task Force, which has been working with city and state officials in the proposed reconstruction of the roadways in City Square. Jackson then introduced State Department of Public Works Project Manager for the North Area, Fran Bruno, who stated that the site is in the middle of a ramp and connector road for the road project and the DPW will take the parcel by eminent domain in 1 1/2 years. He went on to say that the Department is opposed to this plant at this site, at this time and presented a letter to the Board to this effect.

Julia O'Brien, Director of Planning for the MDC stated that they, as abutters, were not notified of this hearing. She stated that the MDC has been working to increase the Esplanade Park through this area and that traffic would seem to have an impact on the adjacent Paul Revere Park. John Lorden, Senior Right of Way Agent for the MDC also noted his opposition.

Michelle Sodergren, in detailed testimony, questioned the truck routes leaving the site and the failure of the traffic impact analysis to qualify the traffic count from the 1982 and 1984 studies of City Square in that the North Washington Street Bridge was under construction at both times, thus diminishing the normal volume of traffic. She stated that this plant would be adding considerable traffic to an already intolerable traffic situation.

Executive Vice President Mon O'Shea of Bunker Hill Community College, also a Charlestown resident, said that no one notified B.H.C.C. of this proposal and that the administration is very distressed about the process. He referred to a study done by the college last fall showing that the college must take extraordinary care to safeguard air, both inside and outside the contained structure. He went on to say that even though the information available to the college was almost nil, they are concerned with the numerous trucks and the transportation of products.

Other points of opposition included the fact that this area is visible to residents of Rutherford Avenue and Washington Street and when the YMCA is torn down it will be in open view; historical importance in its proximity to the Paul Revere landing site; the noise and shaking of homes by large trucks; the failure of truck drivers to follow prescribed truck routes; the importance of the shoreline to the city; the fallacy that trees would conceal the plant; and con-

Accepting Camp Referrals For Physically Disabled

The Massachusetts Easter Seal Society is now accepting referrals for its residential summer camping program for youngsters with physical disabilities.

The Society will fill some 150 openings in its unit at Camp Agassiz Village in Maine. Four, two-week sessions have been planned for boys and girls between the ages of six and 17 years who are physically disabled.

A trained counselling and nursing staff and specially adapted facilities at Agassiz Village are designed to provide the campers with individualized attention amid surroundings which are accessible for even campers in wheelchairs.

Camp activities include swimming, archery, a ropes program, arts and crafts, overnight camp outs, wheelchair sports and field games. A low counsellor to camper ratio enables all activities to be adapted to each camper, no matter how severely disabled, to participate to the fullest extent of his ability.

Transportation is provided to and from Maine each session. Scholarship assistance is available for all qualifying youngsters.

The Society also conducts a limited program for severely disabled young adults, ages 18 to 25 years, at Camp Hemlocks in Connecticut.

Prospective campers interested in making application to Easter Seal camping should write to the Easter Seal Society Camping Department, 934 Statler Office Building, 20 Park Plaza, Boston, Ma. 02116 or call 482-3370 or 1-800-922-8290.

C.H.S. Students Visit Research Center

A CHARLESTOWN HIGH SCHOOL student Director of Mechanical Development at the activates the Boston Elbow by flexing his Liberty Mutual Research Center in arm muscles while T. Walley Williams, Hopkinton, explains its operation.

Twenty-seven Biology and Chemistry students from Charlestown High School recently paid a visit to the Liberty Mutual Research Center in Hopkinton, Massachusetts to learn about industrial hygiene and the use of replacement body parts of "prosthetics." The discussion and demonstration were part of the ongoing CHS-Liberty Mutual Partnership Program.

The students first participated in a question-and-answer session with Charles Boone, covering the topic of industrial hygiene. Boone, an industrial hygiene training consultant at the Center, said that toxic substances have always been present in the industrial workplace. This fact, according to Boone, requires an emphasis on precaution and avoiding exposure.

Boone then introduced T. Walley Williams, project director of mechanical development at the Center, who gave a demonstration of the Boston Elbow, a prosthetic device developed by Liberty Mutual for above-the-elbow amputees. According to Williams, the Elbow's motion relies on electrical impulses in the bicep and tricep muscles of the amputee's upper arm. The Elbow can support up to 50 pounds with a lifting capability of four and one-half pounds, said Williams. Several CHS students experimented with the Elbow and became adept at controlling the muscle impulses used to flex and extend the Elbow.

Boone then led the students through the facility's analytical laboratory and explained how scientists there use equipment designed to analyze, prevent and control dangers in the workplace.

The Chemistry and Biology students who attended the recent meeting at the Liberty Mutual Research Center in Hopkinton were: James Biggs, Robert Brooks, Daf-

program will begin soon and will prepare graduates for entry-level positions in the printing industry.

Course work will include English as a second language, paste-up and operation of a photo stat camera, platemaker, printing machine, cutter and folder. Most of the training will be devoted to "hands-on" instruction.

Classes will be held Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Plan to attend one of the information sessions on Friday, May 4, 3 to 4 p.m.; Wednesday, May 9, 12 noon to 1 p.m. or Thursday, May 17, 7 to 8 p.m.

you (the Board) and if we don't want it, (the plant), we shouldn't have to have it". And a Monument Avenue resident put forth the statement that "one of the arguments (by Simeone) is that Simeone is good to the community, but it clearly shows that regardless of what their letter (about community concern) says, they don't care." Resident Mike Walsh, of Concord Street said that the "best thing that the Simeone Corporation could do for the youth of Charlestown would be to drop the project."

As the hearing drew to a conclusion, Board Secretary Richard Dennis stated that under an Industrial Zone, many uses for property are allowed and the rights of the applicant have to be considered. He stated that this "should be viewed as a service to the City of Boston". When a resident in the audience asked Chairman

Priestley what effect the DPW taking of the land might have on the outcome of this hearing, he replied that it probably would have no effect.

Chairman Priestley, just before calling for a vote of the Board, stated that he wanted to determine if the overwhelming opposition was real or misplaced. He said he would like the residents to have the material that the Board has in their hands to support this proposal, noting the public is entitled to the information.

The Board voted to postpone action on this application until June 5th so that a community meeting can be forthcoming.

The Patriot contacted Simeone consultant, Jim Collins, just prior to press time and he stated that the meeting will be held during the week of May 21st and that the date, time, and location will be announced shortly.

SMOOTHER HOUSE SHOWINGS

In order to sell your home, the buyer has to LIKE WHAT HE SEES during the showing. Here are some tips to make that showing more productive:

Minor signs of wear should be corrected. A few dollars spent touching up the front door or replacing worn trim or removing rust stains can add hundreds of dollars in sales appeal. However, don't go overboard in painting or wallpapering. You may not get your money back.

Storage space should look, spacious. It's not enough to toss out all the junk you've been hoarding in closets at the attic, basement or garage. You'll see be left with plenty. Be sure to stack or hang them in a manner that looks like you have room to spare. Don't give prospects the idea that space is at a premium in your home.

Needed repairs should be admitted. If there's an obvious flaw that is beyond your means to fix, have your Realtor point it out and then concentrate on your home's assets.

Where Are The Gentlemen?

I was down at Johnny's Foodmaster last Friday afternoon waiting for my son to pick me up. One of the cashiers, a young girl, became ill. I believe it was the head cashier who came to her assistance. The head cashier was trying to carry her to the office.

Not one other person tried to help. There were a couple of husky men watching it all, but none offered their help. An elderly lady grabbed one of the carts and helped to sit the sick young lady on it.

Where are the gentlemen of yesteryear????

Keep Up The Good Work, Charlie

Gloria Conway, Editor
Charlestown Patriot
One Thompson Square
Charlestown, MA 02129
Dear Gloria:

For the past two years I have been reading with great interest the S.T.O.P. articles by Charlie Ross. Not only have I found his columns informative and well-written, but I have found in them a refreshing willingness to champion such values as God, family, country, work, thrift, saving, sacrifice, and, most important of all, the rights of the unborn.

How refreshing that is in an age characterized by a media which is cynical, superficial, and so often contrary to the traditions on which this country was established.

Keep up the good work, Charlie, and keep up the good work Charlestown Patriot.

Sincerely,
Frank L. McNamara, Jr.

Facts About Drugs - F.A.D.

Heroin has always been a drug that strikes fear in the heart of parents. The myth that all adolescents who try marijuana will some day be on heroin, lies at the bottom of this fear. But what are the facts about this drug?

Heroin is one of a group of drugs called opiates. This group includes opium, morphine, codeine and papaverine. There are related synthetic drugs such as methadone, meperidine (Demerol) and oxycodone (Percodan). Opiates are derived from the dried juice of the unripe seed pod of the Opium poppy, and it has marked sedative and pain-killing effects. These narcotics are used medically to ease pain, suppress coughing and relieve diarrhea. Low doses block the sensation of pain without greatly interfering with other central nervous system functions. Higher doses and the sedative effects become more noticeable.

Narcotics can be effective orally, but injections are faster. Tolerance develops over a length of time (the need for increasing the amount to get the same effect.) Physical dependence on narcotics develops along with tolerance and withdrawal symptoms such as muscle cramps, chills, sweating and nausea are experienced when the drug is discontinued. Withdrawal begins at about the time the next dose would have been taken and reaches its peak 36 to 72 hours afterwards.

Even comparatively small doses of narcotics produce marked effects on mood. Other effects are heavy limbs, dry mouth and warm sensations. After awhile a user will not want to stop because of these withdrawal symptoms.

Though addiction is different for every person, heroin and the other opiates are not drugs to "try out" for recreation.

Charlestown Police Line

From the desk of

Deputy Superintendent Joseph V. Saia, Jr.
Commanding Officer, Area A
Downtown, Charlestown, East Boston, Beacon Hill

On April 21, 1984 at 1:45 a.m., Officers Hennessey and Hogan observed a blue pick-up truck being followed by a small car blowing its horn and flashing its high beams off and on. The victim told the Officers that the truck had hit her motor vehicle and fled the scene without the driver making himself known. The officers chased the truck while the cruiser's lights were flashing and siren on. The suspect fled at a high rate of speed until he was stopped on Corey and Vine Streets by the Officers who were also assisted by Sergeant Mulloy. The suspect was unsteady on his feet; his eyes were glossy and he had a strong odor of alcohol on his breath. He was then arrested for Operating While Under the Influence, Operating to Endanger, Leaving the Scene of an Accident while Causing Property Damage, and Failure to Stop for a Police Officer. He was then transported to Area A, advised of rights and booked.

On April 22, 1984 at 11:05 p.m., while driving south on Rutherford Avenue (underpass), the victim hit a pole causing one of the hubcaps to come off. He then parked in the right hand lane and walked back to retrieve the hubcap. After picking up the hubcap, he noticed a car blowing its horn and speeding towards him from the far end of the tunnel. The vehicle sped by him and smashed into his parked auto. The victim, a Police Officer himself, then placed the suspect under arrest, advised him of his rights, and booked him for Driving while Under the Influence and Operating to Endanger.

On April 25, 1984 at 12:00 a.m., Officers responded to 25 Park Street, the "Sweet Potato", on an Assault and Battery in progress. Upon arrival, the Officers found four victims who stated that they were sitting in a booth having a drink when a group of unknown males from 21 to 30 years in age entered the bar room and asked one of the victims where he was from. Upon replying South Carolina, one of the suspects told him "he had better leave", in words to that effect. Afterwards, two of the victims went to the men's room, and the group followed them in and started beating on them for no apparent reason. At the same time, one of the female victims, who lives in Charlestown, went to the payphone to notify the Police when one of the suspects knocked the phone from her hand and pulled off her gold necklace, dropping both to the floor.

Right after the assault, the unknown suspects fled out the rear door on foot in the direction of Main Street. One of the victims was bleeding from the face and nose. He stated that he would seek first aid on his own.

Computer Program For Children At B.H.C.C.

"Basic-ly for Kids," a computer program which gained wide popularity last Fall when it was inaugurated at Bunker Hill Community College, will again be offered during the summer semester.

The course introduces children nine to 12 years of age to various computer programming and hardware concepts and has a strong "hands-on" orientation. Students learn by doing as they actually operate and program the college's interactive computer system designed especially for the course. Upon completion, the students take a complete tour of the college's computer facility and receive a certificate.

During the course, the youngsters learn a computer vocabulary which includes such things as input and output devices, storage of materials, programs, hardware, software, etc.

Courses in Part I will be offered June 11 to 27, 12 to 28, July 9 to 25, 10 to 26. Part II will be offered July 9 to 25.

Many parents will be able to schedule some of the 200 other courses available during the Summer session while their children work on the computers.

Registration will be held on various dates between May 10 to 31.

For more information, call the Division of Continuing Education, 241-8600, extension 444.

City Gardens: Growing Vegetables - Transplants

by Barbara Mehegan

Spring has finally arrived - the sun has shone for several days, and winter jackets are finally back in the closet. The urge to work outdoors and plant is overwhelming. The easiest way to transform an empty square of dirt into a garden is to transplant seedlings started indoors or bought from a nursery.

Commercially-grown seedlings are ready to plant immediately, but seedlings grown indoors must be "hardened off" - placing the plants outdoors for progressively longer periods of time over about two weeks to accustom them to the harsher outside conditions. Begin setting out the plants on a cloudy day, or shade them with newspapers to shield them from direct sunlight, to prevent withering. Once the sheltered seedlings are used to life in the great outdoors, they are ready to move into their new homes.

Following the directions for spacing, dig holes for the transplants. Thoroughly water both the holes and the seedlings. Deep watering with a little liquid fertilizer will help reduce transplant shock. If peat pots are used, slit the sides and bottom to promote root growth. If flats were used, remove the seedlings with as much of the root system as possible. When handling the seedlings, do not grasp the stems; if the stems are crushed or bent the plant will be permanently damaged. Instead, hold the leaves because new leaves will form to replace any that are injured. Don't handle the stem if it is narrower than the width of your finger. Plant the seedling at the same depth as grown in the flat, except for tomatoes, which are planted more deeply to bury most of the stem and encourage root growth.

After placing the transplant in its new home, fill the hole with sifted soil and tamp the soil gently around the outer edges to avoid breaking the delicate tiny roots. Water the entire area thoroughly.

When transplanting the seedlings, you can begin the first battles against insect pests. If, when turning the soil, you discovered fat white or gray caterpillars curled in a "c" shape, you may be plagued with cutworms which cut off an unprotected plant at soil level. Foil the pest with a 3 inch collar made from a paper or styrofoam cup which encircles the stem and sticks down into the soil about 1 inch.

Cabbage root maggots tunnel into the roots of broccoli, radishes, turnip and cabbage. To deter this pest, make a flat mat using carpeting or tar paper to encircle the stem and prevent the fly from laying her eggs close to the plant's roots. Crops planted by seed can be protected by use of a chemical added to the soil, or by planting twice as much since not every plant is attacked.

Clubroot is a soil borne disease of the cabbage family. If it attacked the cabbage plants last season, it's waiting for this year's victims. There is no known protection, but its impact can be reduced by maintaining a soil pH of 7.0 to 7.2.

For more information, or for answers to specific questions, contact the Suffolk County Cooperative Extension Service at their new location, 150 Causeway Street, Room 803, Boston, or call the Plant Hotline at 227-8818, 9:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m., Monday through Thursday.
