Charlestown Catholic Elementary School News

Charlestown Catholic Elementary School will open its doors as a new school on Thursday, Sept. 9 at 9 a.m. In preparation for this new venture, a new library and computer room are being built, the satellite dish has been installed, and cleaning and painting are in process.

The faculty and principal are eagerly awaiting this opening. The enrollment is up to 310, and increasing each day. There will be two classrooms of Grades K, 1, 2 and 6. The rest will be a single grade. All the teachers have been hired and they are also preparing their classrooms for September.

The opening Liturgy will be celebrated on Friday, Sept. 10 by Fathers Daniel Mahoney, Ron Coyne and James Canniff. This Mass will take place in St. Catherine's lower church at 9 a.m. All are welcome.

Kindergarten classes will begin on Monday, Sept. 13.

The Boston Parks and Recreation Department sponsored two park dedications on a recent sunny Saturday, honoring two native sons of Charlestown. Family members and friends filled the park areas as markers were unveiled in their loved ones' names.

Charlestown Historical Society To Meet Aug. 17

The Charlestown Historical Society will meet on Tuesday, Aug. 17 at 7 p.m. at the Bunker Hill Museum, 43 Monument Square, Charlestown.

Society President Kay Whelan invites the public to join society members to tour the museum, now celebrating its 18th year of presenting the rich history of Charlestown to the community as well as to the thousands of tourists who pass through its doors each year. Future plans for the museum will be discussed at the meeting.

Refreshments will be served.

Park Dedications Honor Two Native Sons Of Charlestown

The day's events began at Cook and Hill streets for the dedication of the new playground to the late William "Zeke" Marsden.

Zeke, who succumbed to a battle with cancer just over two years ago, was active in many community endeavors. He served as president of the St. Francis de Sales Parents Club and was a director of the Bunker Hill Monument Association.

As the gathering waited for the ceremony to get underway, a group of young people and several adults filed down Cook Street, took a left on Hill Street and disappeared into the home of Ginger and Milton Brasler-Cunningham. Some people then realized that this was the Chapel Choir of the University Baptist Church in Fort Worth, Texas that was scheduled to perform two concerts in Charlestown that weekend.

St. Catherine's Pastor, Father Ron Coyne, prevailed upon the group to sing, and they willingly opened the ceremony with the National Anthem and followed with For The Longest

Time.

Their appearance at the site, seemingly from nowhere, brought smiles from Zeke's family and many friends as they recalled how Zeke met people with such ease during his career on the railroad, frequently making friends with them and bringing them home. The music of the choir was most appreciated and was a welcome addition to the ceremony.

Gun BUYBACK Program In Charlestown Aug. 16-20

As you may know, the city of Boston like many cities throughout the country, is taking part in a National Gun Amnesty Program in an attempt to remove as many guns as possible from the streets.

Through the Healthy Charlestown Coalition, it was decided that the community will focus on Gun BUYBACK from Monday through Friday, Aug. 16-20. There will be two sites that will receive the weapons: Area A Police Station at 40 New Sudbury St., Boston, and St. Catherine's Rectory, 49 Vine St., Charlestown.

Guns may be turned in during this next week between the hours of noon and 7 p.m. at these two sites, and there will be police officers at the rectory during these hours.

The procedure for turning in guns will be as follows:

- Guns must be in working condition, unloaded and enclosed in a clear plastic bag inside another container (such as a gym bag, backpack, etc.) when transporting the weapon to a drop-off location.
- The person who turns in the gun voluntarily and complies with all announced conditions will not be asked to identify himself.

- The Boston Police will issue a receipt for every gun turned in, and the receipt will not identify the receipt holder.

- The person holding the receipt may present it along with a copy of the police report to any Bank of Boston without identification and receive $50 cash.

- Every person who voluntarily turns in a gun and complies with the announced amnesty program conditions will be granted amnesty from the Boston Police Department and the Suffolk County District Attorney for illegal possession or carrying a gun connected with its surrender.

For confidential information, call 236-BACK or Father Ron Coyne at 242-1750.

Community Meetings On Charles River Crossing Plans

The Massachusetts Highway Department has announced a series of community meetings to explain the three new designs for the Central Artery/Tunnel Project's Charles River Crossing. The meetings will be held in the neighborhoods affected, including East Cambridge, Charlestown, Beacon Hill, Back Bay and the North End.

Each of the design alternatives reduces the environmental and aesthetic impacts of the project's previously approved river crossing, Scheme Z.

"Many people have expressed concern about the Project's Charles River Crossing," said Peter M. Zuk, Central Artery/Tunnel Project director. "The public now has a full opportunity to learn more about and comment on the designs under consideration."

The meetings will be held as follows:

- Wednesday, Sept. 8 at 7 p.m. in Cambridge at the V.F.W. Hall, 59 First St.;
- Thursday, Sept. 9 at 7 p.m. in Charlestown at the K. of C. Hall, 75 West School St.; and
- Monday, Sept. 13 at 7 p.m. at the Spaulding Hospital, 125 Nashua St., Boston, for Beacon Hill, Back Bay and the North End.

These meetings are being held in preparation for a formal public hearing at the Museum of Science on Tuesday, Sept. 14 from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

The new designs are described in a Draft Environmental Impact Statement/Report filed July 30 with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and the Massachusetts Executive Office of Environmental Affairs. This document is now available at public libraries.

Each of the designs carries the Central Artery (I-93) across the Charles River and uses different combinations of bridges, tunnels and viaducts to make connections between the Central Artery, Storrow Drive, Route 1 (Tobin Bridge) and other regional roadways.

The Massachusetts Highway Department will select a final design following the end of the public comment period on Oct. 5. The preferred design will be published in a Final Supplemental Environmental Impact Statement/Report to be published late this year. Final federal and state approval is expected in early 1994.

HOMEOWNER ASSOCIATION RULES

Many subdivisions have homeowner's associations with rules placing restraints on what you may or may not do with your property. They range from the types of vehicles that may be parked in front of the property to the colors you may paint the exterior. Many jurisdictions now require sellers to provide a copy of any rules or covenants to prospective buyers and allow them a period of time to study and approve them before finalizing the purchase agreement.

Most covenants are designed to keep owners from doing things that could depress property values, and they are generally enforceable in a court of law. If you are a rugged individualist and want to retain the right to park your vans in your driveway, paint your house a wild color, or erect a high privacy fence around the property, you may want to think twice about buying in a subdivision that won't permit you to do these things. On the other hand, many buyers find such rules reassuring. Whatever position you take, be certain that, before you commit to purchase a home, you understand clearly what any homeowner rules say and will be happy living with them.

For solid advice on buying or selling real estate, consult the professionals at Monument Properties. Please call us at 241-5900 or stop by our office at 85 Warren St., Charlestown.

Voke's Health Plan Signed By Governor

Gov. William Weld signed a law, drafted by Charlestown's Rep. Richard Voke that provides uninsured children of the working poor with basic health care coverage. The plan was included in the fiscal year '94 state budget.

In a statement released at the bill-signing ceremony, the governor praised Voke's initiative. "I am pleased to sign a provision extending the preventative pediatric health care initiative to children ages 6 to 12," said Weld.

Following the governor's press conference, Voke indicated it was a great day for many of Massachusetts' working poor families. "I am delighted the governor signed my children's health proposal. I am also grateful to my colleagues for their overwhelming support of this initiative," commented Voke.

The Majority Leader of the House of Representatives, Voke has a long standing history of working on health issues. Regarded by many observers on Beacon Hill as the top legislative advocate on health care matters, Voke began his rise in the House as the Chairman of the Health Care Committee. Since then he initiated funding for Alzheimer's patients, first brought the AIDS crisis to the attention of the legislature, passed legislation that aided premature babies with low birth weights and developed programs for the victims of head injuries.

Under the provisions of Voke's program, uninsured children between the ages of 6 and 12 will be eligible for health care coverage and receive mandatory education on the hazards of smoking. This plan will serve to expand the Commonwealth's Healthy Kids plan which currently covers children up to the age of 6.

"Realizing that many working poor families cannot afford health care insurance for their children, my plan will, among other things, allow children access to such pediatric preventative care as immunizations, physicals and lead paint screenings. These steps will serve to protect children from disease as their young bodies are susceptible to illness."

"The plan is cost effective. Our goal is to prevent children from becoming seriously ill. If we can prevent serious illness from starting in the children of the uninsured, then we can help families stay healthy, while also saving taxpayers from footing the bill of much more expensive emergency care. After all, an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," concluded Voke.

★ Neighborhood Council Meetings . . . Monthly Meeting

The monthly meeting of the Charlestown Neighborhood Council will be held at 7 p.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 7 at the K. of C. Hall, 75 West School St.

The council meetings are open to the public, and all are welcome to attend.

★ Charlestown Emergency Fund . . . Chairman Bill McCabe has announced that there will be a meeting of the Charlestown Emergency Fund Committee at 7 p.m. on Monday, Aug. 23 at St. Francis de Sales Rectory, 303 Bunker Hill St. All interested persons are welcome to attend.

★ 229-231 Bunker Hill St. . . . On Aug. 10, the city of Boston Board of Appeal voted to approve the petition by Kevin Smith to change the occupancy of 229-231 Bunker Hill St. from a store to a restaurant with take-out. Smith is planning to open a 70-seat restaurant with an Italian-style lunch and dinner menu. The board granted approval with the provisos that an emission-control system be installed in the chimney and the use of a trash compactor be investigated.

Smith presented his plans to the board along with photographs and almost 1,000 signatures in support of his venture.

Judy Evers, community liaison from the Mayor's Office of Neighborhood Services, testified in favor of the plan, telling the board that there are several vacant stores in the area and Smith's proposal would help revitalize the neighborhood. She said that it would be a local restaurant catering to local residents. Noting that parking was a concern of abutters, Evers stated that she would expect the line of communications to remain open and that Smith would be sensitive to the concerns of the abutters.

Richard O'Brien, Dan Duffy and Kevin's mother also spoke in favor of the petition as did Tom Jones of Carpenters Union Local 218. Letters of support were also presented to the board by the Executive Committee of the Charlestown Neighborhood Council and by Homebase.

Three residents of Mystic Street, abutters to the proposed restaurant, spoke in opposition to the petition. Pollution, smoke, waste management and traffic problems in what one abutter termed a residential area were among their reasons for speaking out in opposition. Also recorded in opposition was Boston City Councillor Albert O'Neil.

★ 34 Cross St. . . . The city of Boston Board of Appeal voted on Aug. 10 to approve a petition by Sheila LaPerle to change the legal occupancy of 34 Cross St. from a one-family to a two-family dwelling with the installation of a basement apartment.

LaPerle made a presentation to the board and brought with her a petition signed by her neighbors in support of her request. Three area residents were at the hearing in support of LaPerle.

Evers testified in favor of the petition, stating that this was an existing condition and that the house is presently being taxed as a two-family. O'Neil spoke in favor of the request.

★ Tobin Bridge Traffic Advisory . . . Due to on-going deck repairs, the upper level of the Tobin Bridge (southbound) will be restricted to one lane between the areas of Fifth Street and Admirals Hill in Chelsea from 8 p.m. to 4 a.m. until Aug. 13. The left lane will remain open. The current split lane configuration then resumes until the Toll Plaza.

★ Charlestown Recycles . . . The Charlestown Recycling Volunteers will be at the parking lot in the Bunker Hill Mall adjacent to Johnnie's Foodmaster this Saturday, Aug. 14 between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. to receive your recyclables.

★ Korean War Veterans Memorial . . . Since the recent dedication of the Korean War Veterans Memorial at Shipyard Park in the Charlestown Navy Yard, numerous inquiries have been coming into the Patriot office as to how a brick in the memorial's pathway can be purchased. Information forms are available at the Patriot office at One Thompson Square or Memorial Chairman William "Red" Mason can be contacted for information at 508-823-4260.

There are the names of six Charlestown men who were killed in action in Korea inscribed on the memorial. They are:

- William Francis Sheehan, USA, killed Sept. 16, 1950;
- David H. McDonald, USA, killed Oct. 5, 1951;
- Henry Harrington, USA, killed Jan. 12, 1952;

- Joseph F. Riley, USA, died Jan. 15, 1954; and ★ Street Reconstruction Update . . .

Mario Susi & Son are fast approaching the completion of work on the Charlestown Streets Project. This past week, his brick sidewalk subcontractor completed the installation of the brick accent strip around the Training Field and his paving subcontractor put down the finish pavement on Lexington, Common and Park streets, and part of Prospect Street. The paver will be back in to do Prescott, Lawrence, Seminary and Mt. Vernon streets, and to finish Prospect Street as soon as his schedule permits, possibly as early as today.

Meanwhile, Susi himself worked on the installation of the storm drain connection from Devens and Prescott streets to Main Street and did some punchlist work on Essex Street.

Besides the paving, the largest items left to be done are the installation of the signs and pavement markings, and the fall tree planting. A few gas lights remain to be installed as soon as the parts arrive from the manufacturer. Susi will also now be able to get into his own punchlist work and the former contractor's punchlist work in earnest.

The Forty Flights project is waiting for a final inspection.

Concerns, comments or complaints are being handled by Community Liaison Peter Looney at 722-4300, ext. 5674.

Playground At The Doherty Park Nears Completion

PLAY EQUIPMENT is being installed and a completion time of 2 to 2½ weeks is given for the playground in the Doherty Park on Bunker Hill Street. Although area parents have expressed dismay at the length of time taken by the contractor to complete this rehabilitation, Boston Parks Regional Administrator James "Stretch" Walsh said that the contractor is well within his allowed time frame. Walsh explained that safety guidelines and handicapped accessibility have, by law, set limits on the placement of equipment. However, he stated, a rehabilitation that was priced at $70,000 was subsequently increased to $90,000. It was also noted by Leo Boucher of the Parks Department that every item requested by attendees at a June 1992 community meeting on the park was included in the final plan.

DiLibero Presents Economic Development Proposal

Maria DiLibero, candidate for the District One

Boston City Council seat, presented the following economic development proposal:

economic development proposal:

"Given the uncertainties of today's economic climate, most of us are not only worried about what tomorrow may bring in terms of our own jobs, our businesses and careers, but also what the years to come will bring as they shape our children's economic destinies.

"We need to look at economic development issues from two points of view and realize that they are not in conflict, but rather serve to benefit each other. We need to get away from the point of view that issues revolve around downtown versus the neighborhoods. We need to recognize that we need each other. Downtown is where the jobs are and, whether we like to admit it or not, it is the core of our tax base. The neighborhoods are where the people are.

"Here in this district, we have wonderfully diverse neighborhoods and shops. Look only at how many people come back to the North End or East Boston on weekends to buy what they can't find anywhere else. Recently, the city has begun to make positive moves in making it easier to do business in Boston, and we need to take it a step further. The merger of city agencies involved with economic development is a good thing, because in deciding where to locate a business, there needs to be one place where you can go for information, approvals and assistance.

"Those of us in the neighborhoods have to continue to exercise our voices and our viewpoints in reviewing development proposals, and as city councillor, I will be an effective leader in this area. But we need to recognize that new business is not the enemy. They provide jobs, tax revenue and hope for the future. "As your city councillor, I will be your voice in helping to bring new industries to the Charlestown Navy Yard. I will be working hard as your voice in the debate on how we can best re-use land atop the Central Artery. We need to better involve perhaps our greatest assets, the colleges, universities and medical institutions, in exchange for continuing tax-exempt status. As your city councillor, I will lead the fight to ensure that neighborhood residents receive priority in hiring. In return, we, as elected officials and as ordinary citizens must again dedicate ourselves to a return to excellence in our schools, in order that these institutions

The Race For City Hall

At-Large City Council Race

Iannella Announces Candidacy For Boston City Council At-Large

Richard Iannella announced his candidacy for an at-large seat on the Boston City Council in the North End at a place some call The Prado and others call Paul Revere Mall, where 72 years ago his father Christopher Iannella lived in an apartment building which was torn down by Mayor Curley to make room for the mall. It was his father's first home in America when he came as a small boy from Italy. From this street his father grew up, worked his way through Harvard Law School, got married and raised a family. He served on the Boston City Council for three decades and, when he died last September, was the longest-serving City Council President.

Richard said, "All of my life my father taught me to believe in city government and to respect public office. He taught me that a politician isn't someone fancy with special privileges. My father believed that his job was to listen to the people who elected him and to make government work for them. He was a bridge-builder, the kind of public servant who always looked for a middle ground of compromise. He was the most honest man I ever knew, the fairest and the kindest. When he gave his word, you could swear by it.

"I'm not going to try to fill my father's shoes, that would be impossible. But I am going to try to bring to City Hall the commitment, honesty and grace with which he served on the council. I'll never be ashamed to tell people that I am Chris Iannella's son."

"But I also want people to know that Richard Iannella is his own man. I bring to this candidacy my own ideas, my own vision and my own experience," stated the candidate.

He said his candidacy is about giving Boston a clean slate, giving Boston a fresh start that saves taxpayers money instead of spending it.

For the past eight years, he has served as Boston Code Enforcement Chief. His job was to keep the streets and lots clean; to get residents and businesses to dispose of their trash properly and legally, adding that "Boston is a cleaner ci-

Your birthday's here, Cricket, and it makes me recall,
The ones that have passed, twenty-three in all.
I wanna go back and have them once more,
I wanna bake you a cake and write twenty-four.
Oh what I would trade, oh what I would give,
To wipe away November 5th, that you could've lived!
Why did you leave, Jimmy? Why did you go?
There are so many answers that we'll never know.
The hurt is so bad since you went away,
Why did you leave, Jimmy? Why didn't you stay?
With your Nana and Freddie and, of course, Uncle Joe,
Your party's in heaven and we cannot go.
So instead of a cake, I'll bring you a rose,
And I'll try to accept the way that life goes.

Over 100 Attend Wallace Charlestown Meeting

Over 100 Charlestown residents attended the organizational meeting for City Council candidate Brian Wallace at the K. of C. hall last week. Jean McLaughlin introduced Brian as a "long-time friend of Charlestown, who has worked in and with our community for many years and has made a great many friends here."

Wallace, in his remarks to the large crowd, said he is running for the Boston City Council "to bring some common sense back to government." Wallace went on, "We have a system that caters to special interest groups and is persuaded by the whims of the media. I am not running for the Boston City Council to please or to appease the media, the courts or the bureaucrats. I'm running for the City Council because of them."

"I'm running for the City Council because we have a system that pits lower class whites against lower class minorities for jobs, schools and housing. I'm running for the City Council because we live in a city that has the second highest death rate in the country, after New York City, and nobody is even talking about it. Our elderly and children under 10 years of age make up 48 percent of all pedestrians killed in Boston last year. People who don't even live in this city are using our streets as speedways to their suburban homes, usually between 5 and 6 p.m. every evening. Somebody has to take the initiative to stand up and talk about these problems before any more residents are needlessly injured or killed.

"I'm running for the City Council because somebody has to address the problem of schools in Boston.

We are losing the middle class in this city at an alarming rate because they can't afford to pay $4,500 per child for a parochial school education and they refuse to subject their children to an inferior and dangerous public school education. So, instead of political signs going up on houses or lawns, we are seeing for sale signs in their stead."

Wallace concluded: "We are living in a system where a child by the age of 18 will have witnessed over 6,500 murders on TV, videos and movies, and still every 20 seconds a new gun is produced in this country.

"People in power, whether in Washington, Hollywood or at a state and city level, are just not getting the message. Well, it's about time they did. I'm running for the City Council because I'm not afraid to say what is wrong, nor am I beholden to any special interest group, other than the people of this city."

ment, acted as master of ceremonies.

He introduced Boston Parks Commissioner Pat Harrington who spoke about the continued capitol improvements being carried out by his department in the Charlestown community. Harrington stated that $1 million has been spent on Charlestown parks over the last five years, and the Caldwell Street Park is to be the next on the construction schedule. He praised the area residents for their help in creating an outstanding playground.

Acting Mayor Thomas M. Menino expressed his pleasure at being present at the dedication of the park "in honor of a person so active in the community," adding that he has "never seen a park so well-designed as this two-tier facility." He stated that this park will be "an honor to Zeke for as long as there is a city." He then presented a bouquet of flowers to Zeke's wife Marie "Peachie" Marsden.

Peachie thanked the officials for the dedication to Zeke, noting "Zeke will never be gone — he is in the heart of everyone of us."

Walsh stated that there was no controversy about the design of the park, and the name had been petitioned for by Carolyn Shannon even before the park was built. He said that he had not known Zeke but during a visit to the Eastover resort, he saw a framed photograph of Zeke on the wall.

Zeke, his family and friends had been frequent visitors to the resort. Walsh asked Eastover owner Bob McNitch to tell him about Zeke and McNitch responded, "Zeke was a gentleman."

Menino, Peachie and her son Michael then unveiled the marker dedicating the park in Zeke's name.

It was then on to the Ryan Playground in Sullivan Square for the dedication of the new street hockey rink in memory of Bryan McGonagle.

Bryan, age 9, died as the result of injuries sustained in a bicycle accident on Labor Day weekend two years ago. Bryan was a student at St. Francis de Sales School. He played for Charlestown Little League, Charlestown Youth Hockey, Charlestown Gym Hockey and the Everett Huskies Pop Warner Football Team.

Leo Boucher of the Boston Parks Department served as master of ceremonies for this dedication. He told about the Charlestown youngsters who circulated a petition on their own to name the street hockey rink in memory of Bryan and asked the gathering for a round of applause for the local youngsters.

Menino added his praise and congratulations to the Charlestown youngsters. He spoke of the "spirit of Charlestown where residents come together and help their own." He presented a bouquet of flowers to Bryan's mother, Barney.

Family members were introduced. They included Bryan's mother and father, Barbara (Barney) and Pat, his brother Michael and his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McGonagle and Mr.

and Mrs. Frank Kelly.

Barney then thanked the many people, agencies, organizations and businesses who helped make the day possible, concluding with: "We thank everyone for being here for us today."

The sign dedicating the rink to Bryan was unveiled and a plaque containing the same inscription was presented to his family. This plaque, too, was a suggestion by the group of Charlestown youngsters.

The gathering was then invited to enjoy a cookout and ice cream.

Graduate From Bentley College

Business leaders must embrace a "new paradigm" that recognizes "that we all rise and fall together, that my happiness and well-being is connected to your happiness and well-being," ice cream entrepreneur Bennett "Ben" Cohen told Bentley College graduates in his commencement address.

The co-chairman, chief executive officer and co-founder of Ben and Jerry's Homemade Inc., said that his $130 million publicly held company and others are "proving that businesses, large ones, small ones, public ones, private ones, can integrate a concern for society and make a reasonable profit at the same time."

Bentley College, which this year celebrated its 75th anniversary, is New England's largest institution of higher learning specializing in professional business education. The Waltham college awarded undergraduate degrees to 1,023 students.

Among the graduates were Edward T. Pacheco, who received a Certificate in Accountancy, and Elizabeth A. Paquet, who received a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Communications.

Ice Cream Party Enjoyed By BPS Extended Year Program Students

by Laura Sullivan

The students of the Boston Public Schools Extended Year Program, which is being held at Charlestown High School for special needs students, enjoyed an ice cream party recently. The ice cream was donated by Ned Rosselle of The Red Store. The youngsters were very excited and there was dancing and singing and, of course, ice cream.

The program assists the youngsters in becoming more independent and also helps them to learn. The staff takes them to local parks and stores.

There are about 100 students with a variety of disabilities in the program, and they come from all over the Boston area. The program began on July 6 and will conclude on Aug. 13.

The staff thanks the community for its help and extends a special thanks to Ned Rosselle from The Red Store for the ice cream and all the fixings.

Commandant's House Open Daily For Tours Through Aug. 31

The 1805 Commandant's House in the Boston National Historical Park in the Charlestown Navy Yard is open daily due to public demand. The house had previously been open only on a limited basis during peak season.

The Commandant's House, which dates from 1805, is a two-story brick house built in the Federal style. It was the residence of Navy Yard Commandants and First Naval District Commanders and their families until the Yard was decommissioned in 1974. The house is now preserved by Boston National Historical Park.

The Commandant's House is the oldest building in the Charlestown Navy Yard. Although the identity of the architect is unknown, the design for the house was based on a plan that was used for Commandant's Houses in all of the original six U.S. Naval Shipyards. Of the six, the Charlestown Navy Yard Commandant's House is the only one that is open to the public.

"The Commandant's House is one of the most interesting attractions in the Navy Yard. It represents not only several important periods of architecture in the United States, but also the day-to-day lives of the people who lived there," said Boston National Historical Park Superintendent John Burchill.

The Commandant's House is open from 1 to 4 p.m. with talks at 1, 2 and 3 p.m. every day from now through Aug. 31. Visitors have access to the entire first floor, including an exhibit of photographs and memorabilia showing what the house looked like during the 169 years it was occupied.

The Commandant's House was the site of many receptions and galas, where domestic and foreign naval officers and dignitaries gathered. Guests at the house included U.S. presidents, James Monroe, Andrew Johnson, Theodore Roosevelt, Franklin Roosevelt and John F. Kennedy.

In addition to holding many official events, the house was the private residence of the Commandant, his wife and his children. The Commandant's family was accorded all the privileges of their high social rank. In fact, legend has it that one of the family's cats, Patches, was routinely saluted by guards after returning from a day of foraging in Charlestown.

Completed in 1805 for the first Commandant of the Charlestown Navy Yard and his family, the large brick residence reflects the classical influences of the early 19th-century Federal Period. The first floor consists of a sun porch which spans the length of the house, two large adjacent parlors with fireplaces, a formal dining room, a small rear office and a kitchen.

Over the years, the house was modified to adapt to the harsh New England climate. In 1825, the number of windows on one side of the first floor was reduced from 12 to four; in 1835, central steam heat was installed; and in the 1930s a sun porch was added as a Works Project Administration (WPA) project during the Depression. The construction of the Tobin Bridge in the 1950s, next to the Commandant's House, necessitated switching the main entrance from the northwest to the southeast side of the building.

The National Park Service administers 30 acres of the 130-acre Charlestown Navy Yard as one of the eight sites that make up the Boston National Historical Park.

The National Park Service offers a variety of public programs and presentations in the Charlestown Navy Yard. For more information, please call 242-5601.

■ Pride Day '93 . . . Bringing young people together has always been a trademark of any program that I try to be involved with. Saturday, young people from Charlestown joined with young people from the North End and North Adams, Mass. to participate in the annual North End Against Drugs Pride Day. It was a very enjoyable day for all who took part in basketball, softball, baseball games and a cookout. The North End Against Drugs, similar to CHARLESTOWN AGAINST DRUGS, message was loud and clear. This is the second year CHAD was invited to participate. My thanks to Brian Wadman, Shannon McLaughlin, Jennifer Ray, Courtney McLaughlin, Stephanie Ward, Erin McLaughlin, Kelleigh Mahan, Shannon Doe, Kelli Burke, Jolie Burke, Andrew Ray, Jimmy Yandle, Greg Staples, Dave Evers and Mike Burns for their participation.

■ Women's Ball Hockey . . . Kolleen Hayes and Mary Crilley had two goals each as the Parkies defeated Main Street 4-1. Christine Sorrentino had the goal for Main Street. Newtowne remained undefeated, topping the Cheezy Chicks in a 3-1 thriller. Shannon McLaughlin had two goals for the victors, but Cheryl Lyman's goal, giving Newtowne a 3-1 lead, was the game breaker. Rookie Kelleigh Mahan had the goals for the Cheezy Chicks.

The Parkies got a big break when no one from Nicole Matson's Lancers showed up.

The standings as of Aug. 9 are: Newtowne 4-0, Lancers 3-1, Cheezy Chicks 2-3, Parkies 2-3 and Main Street 0-4.

■ Old Colony Basketball . . . Greg Jackson had 18 points, but Charlestown Pride was defeated 60-52 by Ocean Kai in week five of the Old Colony Hoop League. Charlestown Pride is 2-3. Sunday we play Amrheins at 4:30 p.m.

■ Off To Providence . . . This weekend Jim Yandle, Andrew Ray, Jimmy Tallent and David Small will take part in the Triple Play 3-on-3 Basketball Tournament in Providence, R.I. The winners in each division will be invited to the National Tournament in Colo.

■ Whatever Happened To . . . ? This summer we tried to organize a roller blade league and an open ball hockey league. Information and rosters were given out and only three roller blade rosters were returned, and no open ball hockey rosters came back. My only suggestion at this late date is some type of tournament.

■ BHA Multi-Cultural Festival . . . The BHA annual Multi-Cultural Festival will take place on Sunday, Aug. 22 at City Hall Plaza from noon to 4 p.m. This event is coordinated by the BHA Youth on the Rise Program, and celebrates the diversity of Boston neighborhoods. Everyone is welcomed and encouraged to attend.

■ Tip Of The Hat . . . Paul Martell did another fine job directing the BNBL League this summer. His efforts kept a lot of kids busy all summer. Good luck to the BNBL teams that will be taking part in the upcoming citywide playoffs.

■ Star Of The Week . . . Andrew Ray put on quite a basketball offensive display in weekend action at Fast Break in the North End. Andrew is quickly becoming a fine player.

■ Tidbits . . .

- Birthday best to Donnie Kelsey.
- Billy "The Pop-Up Toaster" is still batting .480 according to his stats.
- Joe Lawler is thinking about a career in the Fire Department.
- Brian "Billy Joel" Wadman is taking self-defense lessons, and is also the lead singer in a new Townie Glee Club. It seems the Fast Break Players Greg Staples, Pat Collins, Dave Evers and Billy Joel sing on the "T" on their way to Saturday games.
- Jimmy Tallent has a new bathing suit.
- Hello to Melissa McGrath.
- "Which way to the lodge?" asks Andrew Ray.
- Timmy Monaco likes cantaloupes.
- Roi, don't forget to return the Ryan lounge chair and cooler.
- Ask Danny Gibbons who "Two Can Jibba" is.
- Jason Smith would like get well wishes. He injured his knee . . . falling off a bridge?
- Pat Collins really did strike out in Saturday's North End softball game.
- Shawn Murray sends greetings to Bosco pals Phil Myers and Matt Maheigan.
- Welcome home Jamie McLaughlin!

key and Jim Tallent.

As the story goes, which is all over town by now — the team was amazing! The first game was won by a diving save by Farris, set up by Farrell and then spiked over the net by Tallent to win the game.

By the third game, the teams were tied 1-1. At the end of the game, the team was down one point. DeRoeve fired an overhead serve which couldn't be touched by the other team. It was a tie game. DeRoeve served again, the ball was hit back — Golden made a great save, Hickey slipped but recovered in time to set it up from her knees to Evers who put it in the back corner to win the game.

It's either that story or the one where the net broke after the first serve, the group ate pizza and headed for home — believe what you will. Either way, they had a good time.

Eight teen-agers came together on Aug. 2 to form a talented, dynamic volleyball team. They traveled to Brockton to play St. Coleman's CYO.

The players were Nicole DeRoeve, Dave Evers, Katie Farrell, Shane Farris, Kevin Golden, Paula Hic-

The Singing Priests, who have been entertaining thousands of people for over 20 years, will be taking a well-deserved rest after September and will not be making any scheduled appearances for a while. Their show includes highlights from the past, show tunes, solos, humor and tributes to musical greats.

We invite people of all ages to join us in a Charlestown tribute to the priests who serve many of us. This show should be a sell out! Why not be one of the crowd?

The proceeds of the show will benefit St. Catherine's Parish.

Shams Tear Up Town Team

by Sean P. Smyth

The Marlboro Shamrocks pounded a Boston EFL team for the second straight week, this time the Charlestown Townies, while cruising to a 36-0 rout Saturday night at Kelleher Field.

Marlboro started its scoring early when Dave Palazzi threw a 20-yard pass to Skeeter Beaulieu only 1:35 into the game, giving Marlboro a 7-0 lead. Later into the first quarter, Charlestown's Taylor Boughnou fumbled on the Shamrocks four-yard-line. Seven plays and 80 yards later, Frankie Fay capped off the drive with a four-yard run. Ex-Townie John Toyias kicked both extra points and Marlboro had a 14-0 lead.

The Shams extended its lead in the second quarter. Toyias booted a 40-yard field goal and also kicked the extra point when Palazzi scored on a four-yard run. This gave the defending league champs a commanding 24-0 half-time lead.

In the second half, it was all Marlboro. Jerry Creamer, the back-up quarterback, threw a 47-yard touchdown pass to Beaulieu shortly after the kickoff. The Shamrocks added one more touchdown, this on a pass of 20-yards from Creamer to Bob Ferrari.

The Townies, (1-3), will battle the Boston Braves Friday night in Charlestown at the Charlestown High Field on Medford Street at 7:30 p.m. for the city bragging rights. Get there early, as seats for this game should be tough to get. Admission is free.

EFL Notes

Townies owner John Houlihan will be opening a Townies souvenir store on Bunker Hill Street in the near future. The store will feature Townies memorabilia and other sports stuff. Give the place a good look when it opens — more details to follow . . . Townie players are among the EFL stat leaders: Jeff McCarthy, first in pass interceptions; Taylor Boughnou, sixth in rushing; and Rob Ferraro, third in punt returning . . . Last week's Charlestown-Marlboro game will be aired on Boston cable in the upcoming weeks . . . There is also something in the works for an EFL Game of the Week on Cablevision . . . Stay tuned.

Teens Spend Summer Helping Elderly In ABCD Summerworks Program

by Laura Sullivan

Charlestown teens who are part of the elderly services group at the Kennedy Center for the summer are working with the senior citizens and learning at the same time. They are helping to serve lunch, cleaning up, doing errands and even playing bingo with the elderly.

The group is undergoing special training that helps them understand the elderly and their needs. They have a special teacher who helps them learn about safety issues, and how to deal with the elderly on a one-on-one basis.

The group goes to two different work sites; one of the sites is the Golden Age Center on Main Street, and the other is the Senior Lounge on Bunker Hill Street. At these locations, they serve lunch and clean up.

The program, which began on July 6 and continues until Aug. 20, is under the ABCD Summerworks. There are seven teens in the group: Dede Arroyo, Carla Delivert, Christine Sum, Devin Velasquez, Nicole Williams, Marsha Xavier, Daniel Velasquez and Valerie Costas. Several of the teens are also involved in a group called Moving On, which is an all-year program that helps teens get ready for the working world of today.

The supervisor of this group is Nancy Kane, who is employed under the Massport job program. Besides their work, the teens have meetings to just get together and talk about subjects that have to do with the elderly.

CHARLESTOWN TEENS under the ABCD Summerworks program have spent the summer working with and for local senior citizens. Shown at the left is Marsha Xavier washing a refrigerator in an empty elderly apartment . . . Second from the left, Christine Sum scrubs the floor in an elderly apartment . . . Second from the right, Dede Arroyo and Carla Delivert prepare to serve lunch to the senior citizens . . . On the right, Devin Valasquez washes the sink in an empty elderly apartment.

Stikes Honored By His Hometown

Dr. C. Scully Stikes of Charlestown, president of Bunker Hill Community College (BHCC) in Charlestown, was honored by the city of Louisville and Jefferson County, Ky. for his participation in a neighborhood reunion of Smoke-town, a community of Louisville where Stikes was born and resided until he was 12-years-old. The purpose of the reunion, which included an afternoon of entertainment, games and food, was to redevelop and celebrate the first predominantly African-American community in Louisville, established in 1866.

Stikes received several commendations. A proclamation signed by Mayor Jerry E. Abramson, named Stikes Distinguished Citizen and expressed gratitude for his appreciation of fellow citizens. The Board of Aldermen issued a Certificate of Merit which recognized Stikes' outstanding contributions to the Smoke-town community. County Judge/Executive David C. Armstrong presented a Certificate of Appreciation to Stikes reading, "In grateful recognition of your interest in the support of Jefferson County and its citizens."

In his remarks to reunion guests, Stikes focused on community pride and new strategies to solve urban problems. He also expressed his thoughts on success, saying that hard work and dedication determined success.

Stikes is the fourth president of BHCC. His academic credentials include a BA in psychology and biology, an MEd in rehabilitation counseling, an MA in sociology and anthropology and a PhD in organizations development and counseling. In addition, Stikes has extensively researched issues of race and culture and has written and lectured on cultural understanding over the last 20 years.

ty than it was eight years ago." He went on to say that in the last six years his department has returned more than $400,000 to the city treasury which represents 15 percent of its operating budget.

When Iannella says "let's give Boston a clean slate," he says he is not only talking about streets and alleyways. "I'm talking about this city, its people and its institutions. I'm talking about things we can touch and see, the quality of our schools, the safety of our streets, the strength of our commerce. I'm also talking about things we can't see, but we can feel; things like our sense of security. Our civility and compassion toward one another. Our self-respect. When I say let's give Boston a clean slate, I'm talking about a state of mind; a fresh vision of hope, prosperity and tolerance to carry us into the 21st century. I'm talking about new ideas."

Iannella's issues include fair water rates, recycling and neighborhood policing where officers get out of their cars and on their feet. He will ask for enforcement of the ordinance requiring that city workers live in Boston so that city salaries are spent in the city.

Iannella also says "it's time to get the school superintendent out of the business of reforming the administration and get back to the business of teaching children some new ideas in the classroom. Let's put into the curriculum a course on recycling. Let's teach the children that taking care of the environment is a way of being kind to themselves. Let's put in another course on keeping the city clean. And while we're at it, let's give these kids clean schools to learn in."

Iannella concluded: "The City Council can be a good and positive force for change in Boston. It is the elected body that is most accessible to the people, the one that best gives voice to the needs of Boston's residents. My candidacy recognizes the long and honorable tradition of the council. It also recognizes that the council needs a clean slate and fresh ideas. Fresh ideas that save money instead of spending it."

Voke Locks Up Jail Funding

State Rep. Richard Voke, a leading advocate on public safety policy, successfully secured an additional $5 million for county jails. The funds were vetoed by the governor following the Legislature's recommendation that they be included in the Fiscal Year 1994 budget. Rep. Voke indicated he was perplexed by the veto since the administration originally requested the money when they offered their budget recommendation.

"Time and again we see the violence that occurs in society. The commonwealth needs prison beds to incarcerate those who are a threat to the stability of our neighborhoods. By overriding the veto, my colleagues and I have sent a clear message that the Legislature is willing to do its part to ensure jail space is available to house criminals," said Voke.

The Charlestown lawmaker said the funds are earmarked for correction houses at the county level. He pointed out that the Legislature has a longstanding commitment of assisting counties with the financing of their jails. Last year, Suffolk County received approximately $40,392,258 in state grants for their jails. Due to the Legislature's override, Voke said he expects no prison beds will be lost and, in some cases, capacity will actually be increased.

"It would be unfair and unwise to turn our backs on the county penal system. Now, more than ever, we should be working hand in hand with our sheriffs as they face the difficult task of operating a jail system. It is encouraging to see that the Legislature has risen to the occasion and delivered these funds for the safety of the citizens of Charlestown and beyond," concluded Voke.

My Thanks

To the Patriot, relatives and friends,
 Sorry about the lateness of this message of thanks to the many friends and relatives for their cards, baskets and prayers from the clergy for my return to health and home.
 Thank you again and God Bless,
 Mel Stillman

Thank You, Everyone

Dear Gloria,
 I would like to take this opportunity to say "Thank You" to everyone who supported my efforts in the future opening of the restaurant located at 229-231 Bunker Hill St.
 I would like to have named each person who contributed individually, but there are so many that I'll just say, "Thank You, Everyone."
 Sincerely yours,
 Kevin L. Smith

Thanks To Olives Restaurant

Thanks to Todd English and his wife Olivia, owners of Olives Restaurant, for sponsoring our team, Olives, in the Charlestown Softball League. We appreciate their generous donation and, although our year wasn't that great, for having confidence in a new young team just starting out.
 We were very dedicated and put forth a 100 percent effort every game. We hope to have the opportunity to represent Olives Restaurant again next year. Thanks again for your generosity and support.
 The Olives Team

Our Thanks

Dear Gloria,
 We would like to thank everyone who made the dedication of the Cook and Hill Street Park in memory of William "Zeke" Marsden possible. Even after all this time it is a special feeling to know that his spirit remains in the hearts and minds of the people in Charlestown.
 We are grateful to all of you who worked hard collecting signatures, and especially all of you who shared our special day. And lastly, a special thanks to the Chapel Choir of the University Baptist Church of Fort Worth, Texas, who seemed to appear from nowhere and sang the National Anthem. All in all it was a beautiful day, thanks once again to the wonderful residents of Charlestown.
 Sincerely,
 The family of Zeke Marsden

It Is Sad . . .

To the Editor:
 It is sad to see the resurgence of pot leaf as a fashion accessory.
 Many youth who wear the leaf design are thought to be unaware of its meaning. This trend's apparent appeal to the innocent makes it all the worse.
 For the naive, the pot leaf is a gateway, raising comfort levels toward a substance and lifestyle that wreaked wasteful harm upon recent generations of school children. Do we really want to return to the mediocrity of the 1970s?
 Responsible adults and the parents must make a stand. If your child shows interest in sporting a pot leaf, tell him or her this is one fashion for which you have zero tolerance.
 There is no middle ground. Anything less than complete rejection of drugs-as-fashion amounts to tacit approval of their use.
 Georgette Watson, executive director
 Governor's Alliance Against Drugs

Forms Division Of Continuing Education And Business Outreach

Bunker Hill Community College (BHCC) has formed The Division of Continuing Education and Business Outreach (CEBO) to provide opportunities to reach new market populations not traditionally served through the framework of day and evening credit courses.
 CEBO seeks to play a leadership role in identifying and delivering programs, training and partnerships to meet the growing needs of the work force in the Metropolitan Boston area in the decade ahead.
 by providing training and development opportunities for a work force who need technical skills and training to successfully compete in the technical job markets of the next century. To achieve its goal, CEBO will focus on: market driven course offerings, high academic quality, specifically designed courses for adult learners, accessible locations and excellent customer service.
 The Center for Business and Industry will also focus on contract training for DEAN CARL J. NELSON of the Division of Continuing Education and Business Outreach at Bunker Hill Community College (left) with Gretchen Wass of Charlestown, director of the Life Long Learning Program, and Milton Samuels (right), director of Business and Industry.

According to Carl J. Nelson, dean of the new division, "A significant gap has emerged between the declining skills of the work force and the increasing skill levels demanded in the global marketplace. Massachusetts boasts some of the best institutions of learning across the country, yet four-year colleges and universities prepare only the top 20 percent of the population for productive work."
 By forming one unit, CEBO, with a primary focus on business and community outreach, BHCC will expand into previously untapped markets. CEBO seeks to play a significant role in the economic revitalization of Mass.
 small and medium sized organizations. BHCC will position itself as the leading provider of customized training in Boston; the college has considerable experience in assisting small business owners. Through its association with the Small Business Administration and experience in offering the popular "How to Start Your Own Business" series, BHCC can provide a variety of consulting services to small and medium sized businesses.
 Working with Nelson in the new department are Milton Samuels, director of Business and Industry, and Gretchen Wass of Charlestown, director of Life Long Learning Programs.

Boston Seaport Festival Planned For The Charlestown Navy Yard

The Seaport Group, a joint venture of Conventures Inc. and The Don Law Company, will produce a new summer family attraction — the Boston Seaport Festival in the Charlestown Navy Yard. The Boston Seaport Festival will run from Thursday, Aug. 19 through Sunday, Aug. 22.

This multi-activity event will take place on Pier One in the Boston National Historic Park section of the Charlestown Navy Yard. Ten of Boston's most popular restaurants will offer both the traditional and creative seafood specialties to a crowd expected to exceed 20,000 people over the four-day event. The participating restaurants include Legal Seafoods, Skipjacks, Mamma Maria's, Barrett's, Angelo's Restaurante and J. Bildner's.

Non-stop entertainment will be highlighted by headliners Pousette Dart Band, David Wilcox, The Revels and Swinging Steaks, as well as other New England groups.

In addition, over 10 classic sailing vessels will grace Boston Harbor, including the Gazela of Philadelphia, Adventure, Bill of Rights, Corwith Cramer, Alexandria, Spirit of Massachusetts, Lettie G. Howard, Harvey Gamage, Black Pearl, Liberty, Sarah Abbot, Tanaquill, Glad Tidings and Compromise.

The Boston Seaport Festival will be fun for the entire family. Dockside demonstrations, roving clowns, magicians, a moonwalk and other children's activities are scheduled throughout the event.

The Festival hours are

Thursday from 4 to 11 p.m., Friday and Saturday from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m., and Sunday from noon to 7 p.m. Admission is free.

The Boston Seaport Festival is being produced in association with the Massachusetts Restaurant Association, in cooperation with the National Park Service.
