Reardon To Continue To Seek District Seat

Michael James Reardon, city council candidate for District One, today reaffirmed his intention to continue to seek the district seat despite the recent court rulings preventing a September election.

"It is unfortunate that the Boston City election process is in such chaos because of the recent ruling by Judge Andrew A. Caffrey," said Reardon. "But the American judicial process must be followed and I, as a candidate acknowledge that."

Reardon was referring to the recent decision by United States Judge Andrew A. Caffrey which prohibits the city from using the newly drawn election districts to elect local officials. That decision is now pending in the court system.

Added Reardon, "Thankfully, my organizing and fund raising has been very successful because of the terrific support I have in East Boston, Charlestown, and the North End. With those who back me, I believe I can sustain an election campaign into December if needed and further. "I must thank those who are helping me, with that kind of support we can go the distance," said Reardon.

Reardon, who was born in Charlestown and brought up in East Boston, is running for the city council because he believes that his background in state, city, and local affairs gives him the experience to best serve the citizens of District One.

Thinking Out Loud

by Sal Giarratani

I attended the recent City Council hearing dealing with redesigning new districts after a federal court said the present plan is unconstitutional.

People of Charlestown have felt that way since day one. People of many smaller neighborhoods may have gripes but none as great as ours. Our state senator lives in Revere, our state representative comes from Chelsea. We have no one on the current citywide city council or school committee and under district representation our chances of attaining a direct voice of either body is still pretty slim if not at all.

District Representation is not direct representation except for nine or ten of the largest neighborhoods in the city. For the rest of us, life goes on as before. Somehow to me that is a psychological sham on the voting public.

I was angered at the recent evening hearing at City Hall when representatives of the plantiffs talked about "guarantees" for a third minority district based on total population figures.

Minority representation is a worthwhile goal to seek. Access to city government is always a noble cause to work for but creating three minority seats doesn't sit well with many black, white and Latinos who live in District Two and District Eight from which such a new district would have to emerge. Mission Hill and the South End are both multi-facial/ethnic neighborhoods. Neighborhood power means different peoples working together for their own neighborhoods.

District Representation is an imperfect mechanism fostered by reformers and the only way it can work is if the little neighborhoods are given a fair shake by the big ones. City Council seats don't belong to any one because of their color but rather their concern.

One-Way Tolls

To Become Permanent

At the urging of Governor Michael S. Dukakis, the Massport Board of Directors have voted to adopt, permanently, a one-way toll system at the Tobin Bridge.

Since May 2, Massport and the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority have been testing at the Dukakis Administration's request, one-way tolls at the Tobin Bridge and at the Sumner and Callahan Tunnels as a means of relieving traffic congestion.

The experiment was due to expire on August 31, but based on a detailed analysis of the experiment the one-way toll will continue.

Where Are They Now?

Eddie Sullivan became the second Quinn Scholarship winner in 1971, upon his graduation from Boston Latin School in June of that year. He followed Robert Irgens from that school and continued the trend that has seen a total of five scholarship recipients emerge from Mike Quinn's alma mater. Eddie Sullivan went on to attend Harvard University in Cambridge and was graduated in 1975.

Eddie is currently employed by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and anticipates a long and happy future within state government. He is still single and recently remarked that his most significant career achievement was that, "I was never involved with politics." Aside from the comic, Ed also related his perception of the Quinn Scholarship and what it meant to him. He stated, "The

The Charlestown Tenants Task Force would like to thank the few tenants who attended the Open Meeting on July 27th. There were things of great importance that the Task Force wanted to be made known to the tenants of the Development, mainly concerning the new Multi-Service, which hopefully will be ready by early fall.

The Multi-Service Center will be housed in the building at 76 Monument Street and will include the Task Force Office and many other agencies designed to assist the residents of the Bunker Hill Development.

Joining the Task Force as Community Coordinator is Mr. John Ballard, who hopefully will acquaint himself with the Development and the tenants over the next few weeks.

Until the new building is ready for occupancy, the office at 73 Walford Way (telephone 241-7513) will be open daily and Mr. Ballard will be there to answer any questions that residents might have regarding the future plans in the Development.

Residents of the Development should feel free to call or visit the office. You may be very pleasantly surprised at what the future holds for our Development.

Quinn Award brought home to me the value of friendship above all else."

Like so many of the subsequent winners of the Quinn Scholarship, Eddie Sullivan's fond memories of his award are connected with the people of Charlestown that made the Quinn Scholarship possible. As he pursues his future in the realm of state government, all of Charlestown can take pride in the friendship that, to a small degree, made Eddie's college days a little easier. It is also comforting to know that we will always have a friend like Eddie Sullivan on the "hill."

Cappucci Stresses Priorities At Candidates Night

During his introduction at Candidates Night held at the Kent Community School in Charlestown, Robert (Meany) Cappucci, candidate for the District 1 City Council seat, stressed his priorities to the large crowd who came to hear the candidates.

Cappucci told the Charlestown residents that his first priority was public safety. "I would like to see the restoration of police back to the level it was before the cutbacks began. Safe streets are everyone's right as a human being and as residents of Boston." The Council candidate said he was also concerned about the lack of fire protection in our district. "It is bad enough that our fire protection has been reduced throughout the city but that we in District 1 suffer more with three stations closed. I will work to reopen these stations if elected your councillor and see to it that the equipment is updated and fire protection is restored to its 100 percent level in District 1."

On the issue of coal conversion facing Charlestown residents, Cappucci said — "I will work with the community to fight the conversion of the Boston Edison plant from an oil burning to a coal-burning facility. Coal burning produces tremendous amounts of sulphur dioxide that is harmful to the human health and the health of this community and I will not tolerate it so money can be saved at the expense of Charlestown residents. Boston Edison will have to come up with a more acceptable plan", he said.

Cappucci continues to address issues in this campaign and continues to offer viable working solutions to the problems in his district.

County agents in Boston? 4H clubs in crowded urban areas? Agriculture programs for the city? Yes! Through the Suffolk County Extension Service, one of the "secret" sources of free assistance for gardeners.

The Suffolk County Extension Service is the community education arm of the University of Massachusetts and the United States Department of Agriculture. In about 1900, land-grant colleges like the University of Massachusetts began to generate research information about new agricultural methods that could help farmers improve the quality and quantity of their crops, but had no way to disseminate the data. The Cooperative Extension Service, with its County Agents, was able to bring the new techniques directly to the farmer. Later 4H clubs for children and teens became popular social organizations which taught the new methods while offering travel and other new experiences.

Boston has changed since the early 1900's, and so has the Cooperative Extension Service. Their basic goal remains the same: to help people identify and solve their problems through practical application of research findings. But now the urban Cooperative Extension Service specializes in city agriculture and the use of natural resources like forestry and solar energy.

Our own Suffolk County Extension Service offers a wide variety of educational programs in urban gardening and home horticulture, community development, home economics and nutrition, and 4H clubs. One of its better-known services is the Hotline. Horticulturalists are available to answer any gardening questions Monday through Thursday, from 9:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. As noted in an earlier article, soil testing for pH and lead is available year-round, and the horticulturalists can help you interpret the results, and give information on nutrient tests. The Cooperative Extension Service has a variety of free publications on subjects like vegetables, lawns, ornamentals, insects, composting, and fertilizing. GREENFLASH is a free newsletter which contains timely articles on gardening in Boston and other topics. Call them to put your name on the mailing list.

Special services are available to gardening and other community groups. Slide shows, demonstrations and workshops on various aspects of outdoor and indoor gardening can be presented on request. If you are interested, call Gardens for Charlestown, and we will schedule a meeting on topics of choice.

The home economist offers information on nutrition, from canning to low-cost meals, and can answer questions on any home economy issues. There is even a booklet on home-made holiday gifts for those who are planning ahead.

The Cooperative Extension Service will even help organize a 4H club for a sponsoring group to teach kids about urban agriculture, forestry and encourage leadership and personal development.

The staff at the Suffolk County Extension Service is willing and anxious to help and most services are free. We at Gardens for Charlestown use them often as a resource and have found the staff exceptionally helpful on a wide range of problems. Call them at 482-9258, or write to them at 100 Arlington Street, University of Massachusetts, Boston 02125.

For more information contact Gardens for Charlestown, Box 44, Charlestown, MA 02129.

The "Old" Charlestown Navy Yard

SECOND AVENUE is designed for pedestrians, not traffic. This granite pathway will offer tourists and potential employees of Navy Yard businesses an area similar to Quincy Market. Lining Second Avenue are the buildings to be developed by the Charlestown Board of Trade.

by Maria Girvin

This summer has seen more progress in the Charlestown Navy Yard than any other season during the past two years.

Finally, the Boston Redevelopment Authority (BRA) opened the waterfront park to all residents of Charlestown, after making repairs to Pier 4 railing and erecting fences around current construction areas.

For Charlestown residents on the other side of the Navy Yard wall, this park, the public dock, the boardwalk, and historical area will be perhaps that part of the renovated Navy Yard enjoyed most. Gate 4 is open for public entrance, from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. so residents can have easy access into the yard for a stroll, a snack on Pier 4 or 6 or seasonal enjoyment of Boston Harbor.

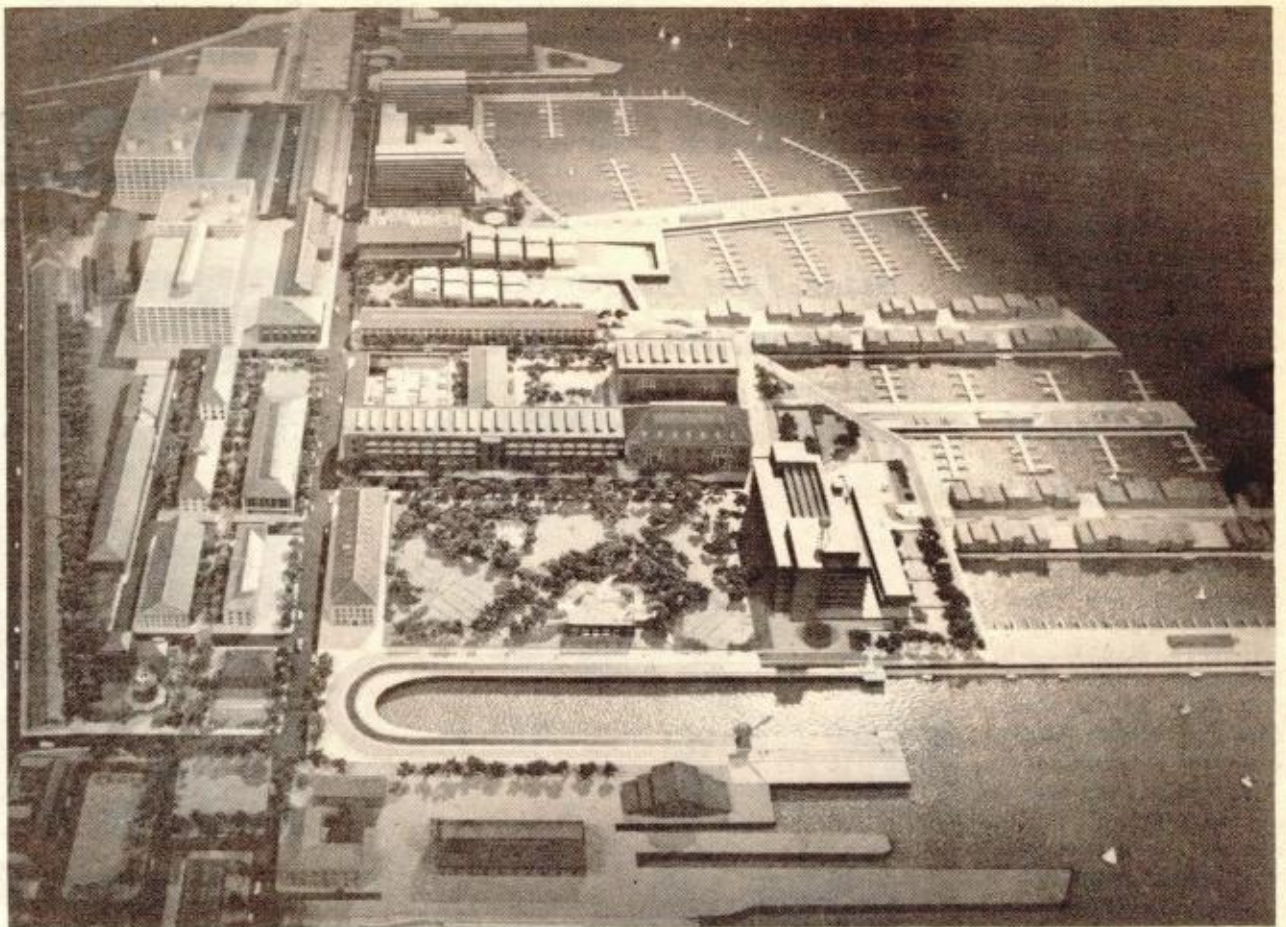

BRA has said that until construction is completed in the Navy Yard, a 10 p.m.

curfew will be placed on the park, to be adhered to by all. Security for construction equipment housed in the Navy Yard necessitates this curfew.

Pier 4 also opened this summer. Under the guidance of the Charlestown Board of Trade, the pier features a concession stand, fishing cruises and short term public docking. Also on this pier is the Boston Police Harbormaster's Office.

The pier is lined with benches and opened to the public. It offers an exhilarating view of the harbor and should not be missed by anyone.

Much of the residential and business plans for the Navy Yard remains the same as that planned over two years ago, but economic times have made financing difficult for the renovation of buildings. Presently, the only work being done in the Navy Yard is the demolition of a possibly communications businesses will mingle together in the old Navy Yard, taking on a new significance.

section of Building 104.

"The promised 120 units of Section 8 housing for elderly and handicapped has been put in a "holding pattern," according to Immobiliare Project Director Paul Davis. Immobiliare has been able to secure one-third of the Section 8 funds needed to construct 112 units of housing in Building 103. However, before they can begin this construction they must secure all the necessary funds which they think they can do once the state's Housing Appropriation Bill is passed. This Bill will appropriate state monies to be used in this type of construction. Davis said, "If this bill is approved, we anticipate with that funding there is all probability that we will get a supplemental grant from the federal government."

Once building 103 is ready for occupation, Immobiliare will begin looking for funds for Building 104 to construct another 50 units of Section 8 housing or an equivalent to it.

Pier 7, now laying waste, will be the next site of construction when Im-mobiliare begins building townhouses upon it. Davis says that his company will begin accepting deposits on the townhouses next week.

With prices beginning at $150 thousand, each townhouse will have two bedrooms, a fireplace and a view of the water. They will be constructed of brick and one to three stories high.

A SPRINKLER is set up in one end of the award winning Shipyard Park to cool off youngsters. A Jungle Gym is also featured (background).

PLAYING IN THE REFLECTING POOL are local children and their moms. The pool is approximately six inches deep and is located at the other end of the acre-size park.

Has Something "New" To Offer Residents

WORKERS ARE DEMOLISHING an extension of Building 104 to make room for high rises and a roadway. In the foreground is a section of the public promenade, which will eventually skirt the whole Navy Yard development.

Those buildings awarded to the Charlestown Board of Trade, numbers 33, 34, 36 and 39 are inactive, waiting for tenants. According to BRA Manager Richard Garver, the Charlestown Development Corporation must come up with tenants for 40% of the buildings before they can acquire the necessary loans to refurbish the buildings.

Incubator Associates also must meet the same criteria but are having a little better luck with their building, No. 36, having completed 90% of the plans and are involved in negotiations to secure financing. Sail Magazine is scheduled to operate the first floor of this building but Incubator Associates must find tenants for the remaining floors.

According to Garver, the Navy Yard is attractive but has several drawbacks, making marketing of the buildings difficult.

These drawbacks include lack of adequate parking, a bad connection with public transportation, poor traffic easement to the yard, and no commercial tenants as of yet.

Garver describes the problems as somewhat of a "Catch 22". Many potential commercial renters look for rental space in areas that have good transportation connections and other retailers or businesses, so that employees do not feel so isolated. "It's really a question of getting that first guy in there," said Garver.

He feels that once Gate 4 is opened to traffic and the Chelsea-Water Street Connector is completed, potential renters will be more attracted to the yard. As for the parking, the BRA is converting Building 199 into a parking facility, however, again, commencement of that project will not begin until funding is secured.

One possibility the BRA is examining, to break the logjam is to market it as a communications center. That way, larger buildings could be used for communication industries while the smaller ones, such as in the Charlestown Development Corporation's parcel could be used for restaurants and retail space.—business more suited to these types of buildings.

In the Historic Monument Area of the Navy Yard, visitors can take a walk into the past, and learn about the Navy Yard which was once one of the largest shipbuilding yards in the nation.

With renovations nearly completed, the beautiful round Muster House stands near the entrance of Gate 4. The Muster House now houses BRA offices, but has known many tenants such as ammunition storage and a switchboard.

The ropewalk features tours every Sunday at 2 p.m. Here visitors can see what it was like when workers hand-twisted hemp into ropes that stretched the length of the building which is a quarter of a mile long.

Building 32, which faces second Avenue, houses the Boston Marine Society. According to Jerry Swafford, Chief of Visitor Services, the small museum offers great insight into past voyages. It houses several ship models, valuable paintings, artifacts brought from the Far East, scrimshaw and old navigating tools. Swafford says one of the most significant features is "the box." According to him, "the box" was a chest to which sea captains contributed money. When one of their fellow captains died at sea, they would go to this box and take out money to help his widow.

The Navy Yard may not be what it used to be, but it still has great significance for Charlestown. All should take the time to investigate the "new" Navy Yard and reap some of the benefits their tax dollars have sewn.

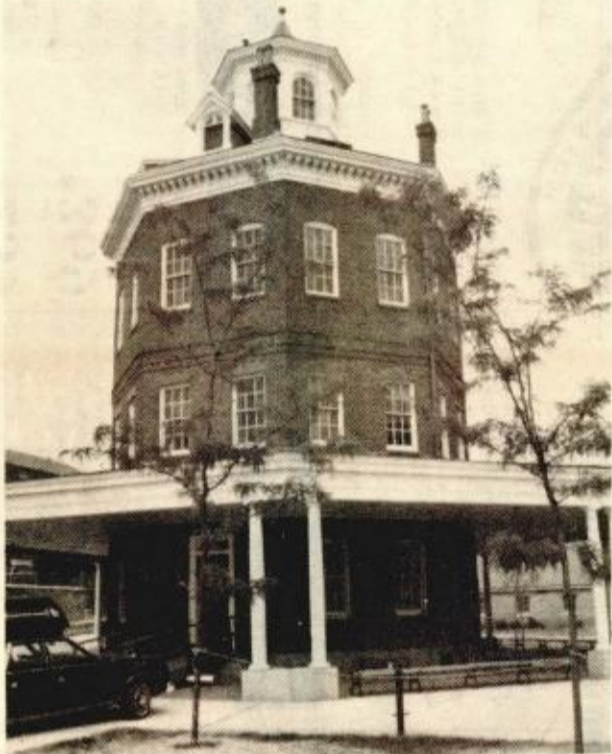

PIER 4 offers strollers a place to sit and snack while enjoying a view of the harbor.

BUILDING 103 (left) will be rehabilitated with Section 8 funding and made accessible to elderly and handicapped. To the left is a section of Building 104 which will also be converted into 50 more low income homes for the elderly.

BUILDING 149 could become a Communication Center which is what Mayor White thinks will allow the Navy Yard to blossom into a prosperous business area. Behind Building 149 is a similar building which will be converted into a parking garage.

THE MUSTER HOUSE is located near Gate 4 and now houses BRA offices.

Hawaiian Luau Enjoyed At Knights Of Columbus Hall

On Friday evening, July 15th, a Hawaiian Luau was held at the Knights of Columbus Hall. An estimated three hundred and twenty-five people enjoyed a delicious Chinese food buffet complete with a thirty-five pound roasted pig, which to say the least, made an impression on everyone. The night was a great success as everyone seemed to devote their energies towards having a good time and that, they did!

Lines three and four deep waited at the bar for cool exotic drinks while the rest danced the night away, awash in brightly colored shirts with Hawaiian leis around their necks to the exciting music of D.J. Eric Johnson.

Some of the party goers reported seeing a youth dancing with the roasted pig! But this rumor is unfounded as yet. With this event being such a huge success, we can hopefully look forward to another like it in the near future.

Social Service Block Grant Hearings

Views On Dental Health

by Jeffrey D. Cohen, D.M.D.

WHAT'S THE BEST TYPE OF TOOTHBRUSH?

The latest studies have shown that a soft toothbrush cleans just as well or better than a hard natural bristle brush without the undesirable side effects. Hard bristle toothbrushes can actually irritate the gums ultimately causing them to recede. In addition, under certain conditions, they can create abrasion grooves in the tooth near the gumline.

Switching from a hard to a soft brush usually requires a modification in technique. Consult your family dentist for the proper technique for you. At first the different feel of a soft brush may be mistaken for inadequate cleaning but the long term result will be a cleaner and healthier mouth.

A public service to promote better dental health. From the office of Jeffrey D. Cohen, D.M.D., 338 Main Street, 242-3550.

Suzanne Muse Palma, Area Director for the Massachusetts Department of Social Services has announced that public hearings will be held on the Social Services Block Grant which is administered by the Department.

forwarded to Suzanne Palma no later than August 26, 1983. A copy of the current Social Services Block Grant can be seen at the Area Office at 115 Gove Street, East Boston.

I hope that people take advantage of this opportunity to participate in the decision making process. It is critical that concerned people become familiar with the work of the Department and assist it in providing needed services in this community."

Services provided by the Department include adoption, foster care, day care, residential care, respite care, counseling, information and referral, child abuse and neglect prevention, and homemaker services. These hearings are required by Section 2004 of the Social Security Acts.

Ms. Palma is hopeful that many people from Charlestown will attend. The meeting will be held at The Brighton Marine Hospital on August 16, 1983 at 6:30 p.m. Written testimony may be

"Social Services are under a great deal of pressure these days," Ms. Palma stated. "Funds for social services were cut for the second year in a row in the present federal fiscal year. These cuts are affecting local people. Hard decisions will be made about the optimal use of the funds administered by the Department."

Boston Silver Haired Legislature/Elections

Commissioner Rachel R. Lieberman of the Mayor's Commission on Affairs of the Elderly announced today that the Commission will again be coordinating the Silver Haired Legislature Elections in Boston. This year's election will be held on September 21, 1983 at locations throughout Boston.

The Silver Haired Legislature is a program which prepares 200 older people each year to participate in legislature and advocacy activities. "Elders are trained to understand and use the legislature system, administrative processes, community resources and consumer rights, they then return to their communities with much to offer and share with their elderly colleagues and neighbors of all ages", stated Lieberman. "I urge interested Boston residents over the age of 60 to run election from their Senatorial or Representatives districts."

Nomination petitions can be obtained from Steve Goodman at the Boston Elderly Commission who can be reached at 725-3977. Nomination is secured by obtaining twenty-five (25) signatures of registered voters, 60 years of age or older who live in the district in which the candidate seeks to run. Nomination petition papers must be filed at the Department of Elder Affairs, 38 Chauncy Street, Boston, 02111, by 5 p.m. Friday, August 19, 1983.

The People's New Frontier

by Mayor Kevin H. White

Preserving the country's oceanfront for present and future generations of Americans has long been a national concern. We face the double-edged challenge of (1) providing adequate space along our shorelines for the millions who love the sea and (2) ensuring that this space is hospitable and attractive.

History — in particular the history of recent decades — demonstrates just how massive the challenge is. Sometimes it involves resisting the pressures of those private interests whose enterprises would erode the public's waterfront resources. And at all times, we face the challenge of turning back the tides of blight, decay, and pollution — three threats that historically have preyed voraciously on waterfront areas, especially urban harborfronts.

Not only has Boston been well aware of the challenge, but during the past decade our city has become a national leader in restoring its harborfront. Boston has earned this recognition by restoring its blighted downtown waterfront in a carefully planned way that is preserving and promoting the interests of the public. Waterfront Park is but one example of this.

What our city has recognized during the last decade is that the harborfront is one of her residents' new and most

Many of the graduates of the first two programs are now employed.

GOT is a one year, two semester clerical skill and simulated office training program.

Business and industry in the Boston area have a great need for general office workers. The year's training will provide skill development in typing, of-

Langone Charges Hoax Against Boston Voters

A hoax has been perpetrated against Boston's voters and the courts, leading to the redistricting muddle, charges City Councillor Frederick C. Langone.

Following last Thursday's City Council public hearing, Langone accused Pat Walker, chairman of the Committee for District Representation, with drastically changing the map that led to a court order for a new redistricting plan. This court decision has postponed the city election primary, originally scheduled for September 27.

Langone says Walker admits that the map that led Judge Andrew Caffrey to issue an injunction in Federal District Court against the redistricting adopted by the City Council was vastly different from the map Walker's group submitted to the Council 20 months ago.

The changes in the map, said Langone, would result in:

- West Roxbury and Hyde Park sharing one district councillor.
- Dorchester being broken up so that Savin Hill and Columbia Point would be in the South Boston district along with Beacon Hill.
- The South End being split between the black Roxbury district and Mission Hill's Hispanic district.

• Bay Village and the Back Bay being taken away from Beacon Hill and placed with the Mission Hill district.

• Jamaica Plain being split up.

Plaintiffs in the court action to have the redistricting based on the 1980 U.S. Census rather than Boston's 1975 population figures were the Black Political Task Force, Boston People's Organization and the Latino Political Action Committee.

"These plaintiffs are holding up Boston's election process by misleading the courts," said Langone. "This is a deplorable hoax and the Federal District Court must be made aware of it."

"Walker should have been honest with the people. His deceit and arrogance is divisive."

"Integrity in government must be preserved and the same rules must apply to do-gooders, who, in this case, conducted a campaign of deceit and distortion. Such action is not conducive to bringing all the people of the city together."

Kites To Fly At Science Museum

Boston's Museum of Science holds its second Kite Flight Day of the summer Wednesday, August 17 from 12 noon to 2 p.m.

Unless the wind is too strong or there's rain, the event is held on the roof of the Museum garage. The alternate site is the lower level of the west wing where small, light-air kites can be flown.

Kite experts from Come Fly a Kite store, Martha's Vineyard, demonstrate several unusual models such as stunt kites that loop, circle, and dive, and a flexifoil kite that accelerates from zero to 100 mph in less than three seconds.

Visitors may have a chance to hold a kite string. They receive advice on how to get a kite in the air and keep it soaring.

To mark the occasion (wind conditions permitting), a 150-foot-long Charlie Chaplin kite stretches from the Museum roof over the Charles River Basin.

Kite Flight Day is a spin-off from Art on a String, the Museum's exhibit of 100 kites from around the world. To be shown all summer, these kites include tiny, meticulously detailed kites from Japan, and well-crafted animal and insect shapes from other parts of the Far East, as well as modern boxes and deltas.

There is no extra charge for the kite demonstration. Museum admission is $5 for adults; $4 for students with ID; and $3 for ages 5-16 and 65 and over. The Museum is open from 9 to 5.

Blood Drive To Conduct

On Friday, August 19, between the hours of 10:00 a.m. and 3:00 p.m. the American Red Cross will conduct a blood drive in Charlestown, in conjunction with several community agencies, among these the Boys and Girls Club, the Kennedy Center, and the Charlestown Community School. The drive will be aiming for a minimum of 70 donors and a maximum of 100% Charlestown adults and will take place at the Boys and Girls Club, 15 Green Street.

Who is eligible? All healthy adults from the age of 17 to 65 years old are eligible. Seniors over 65 are eligible if they have permission from their physician.

Why should I give? There are several reasons why you should be a donor:

- 1) A family member may some day be in the need of blood.
- 2) A friend may be in need of blood.
- 3) You may be in need of blood.

All of these are very good reasons. The best reason, however, is that you are willing to help those in need.

The Red Cross is desperate for blood at this time of year. They have come to Charlestown and appealed to our sense of community pride. Let's answer the call. Call the Boys and Girls Club at 242-1775 and ask for John Brennan. Pledge "a little bit of yourself" to help those in need.

Riff-Raff Upsets Rockets

Riff-Raff upset the Rockets in the BNBL 19 and under game held on August 3, 1983. "It was the biggest upset in the 15 years of BNBL history, so said referee, Bobby Smith, after the thrilling 45 to 44 Riff-Raff victory.

The first place Rockets were simply no match for the fired up Riff-Raff team. With the tenacious defense of "Aldo" King

"PRECIOUS FEET"

Many of you have seen them on coats, hats, handbags or lapels, and surely wondered what they meant and/or where they came from ... and we're about to tell you!

Back in 1970, out in Portland, Oregon, one Dr. Russell Sacco, acutely aware of the highly developed human characteristics of even the tiniest of aborted babies, decided that a dramatic picture might be a forceful answer in bringing to the general public's attention the plight of the unborn. With the cooperation of a pathologist friend, and his own expertise as an amateur photographer, he fixed upon the tiny feet of an unborn ten week old baby held between a forefinger and thumb. Thus was born a symbol "synonymous with the pro-life movement throughout the world" ... and few are those who haven't seen this picture at one time or another.

Enter Virginia Evers, a National Advisory Board member of American Life Lobby, and Director of Heritage House '76, a Family Pro-Life Resource Center at Taylor, Arizona who, while preparing to participate in the March for Life in San Diego in 1974 (the first anniversary of the infamous Supreme Court Decision of January 22, 1973), happened across Dr. Sacco's picture. In her own words, "It occurred to me immediately that the whole message of our cause was wrapped up in these precious little feet ..." Her immediate suggestion to pro-life leaders that a lapel pin identical to the picture should be manufactured was well received but, like too many great ideas, was put aside for the while. Four years later it became a reality, and the rest is history. And to fully realize the impact of the "Precious Feet" symbol, as a direct result of Dr. Sacco's original picture, they have since been designated the International Pro-Life Symbol at a world-wide symposium held in Dublin, Ireland.

Thanks to Ginny Evers' "The Story of the 'Precious Feet'", we were able to fashion this article, and it would be most incomplete lest we mention her husband, Ellis, a retired school principal (and municipal judge) who co-directs Heritage House '76's large mail order operation from their home, assisted by several dedicated employees. They both often acknowledge that the most rewarding aspect of their labors is the fact that babies' lives are being saved through the Precious Feet, and legion are the testimonials over the years to justify that statement. Their statement, "We are of the conviction that God works through His children His wonder to perform so it is to Him that we give our praise and thanks each day for the wonder of the 'Precious Feet,'" says it best.

Surely, you'll want to own one of these pins - and you'll be helping at the same time! They're available at a cost of $2 from Heritage House '76, P.O. Box 730, Taylor, Arizona 85939. (See Ad elsewhere this issue)

O.B.E.....

Translated that means "overtaken by events," and is used here to explain a seeming forgetfulness on our part to tell you that Mary A. Walsh of South Boston, Dan J. Rea of Readville, Catherine Fitzpatrick of Dorchester, and Margaret Hansen of Norton told us that Commodore John Barry, "Father of the American Navy," was born in the town of Tacumshane (County Wexford, Ireland), in 1745, however, their "Shamrock" pennies were mailed promptly. Sorry for the delay, historical scholars.

Let's try an easy one: Tell us the name of the actor who won the Oscar in 1944, the name used in the part he played, and the name of the movie. First six correct answers will wipe out our on-hand stock of "Shamrock" pennies. Send your answer to S.T.O.P., P.O. Box 133, So. Boston, Mass. 02127.

THE GIRL WITH THE LOVELY SINGING VOICE....

Enticed by that headline on "Jottings," we read on to learn that Gina Hannagan, a native of Iowa now living at Rock Hill, So. Carolina had out her first album (a Stereo LP entitled "Ordinary People") and that it was available at a cost of $7.00, postpaid. And we wasted no time in getting ourselves a copy.

As we, some will remember Gina from her frequent guest spots on Dr. Ralph Montanus' Sunday broadcasts (WROL/AM - 8:30), while others would possibly know her as a result of her many personal appearances at various churches in the U.S. and Canada.

Gina, born totally blind, is a graduate of Open Bible College and Winthrop College, and a supreme Gospel singer. Her album contains "Down From His Glory," "Father's Eyes," "One More Song For You," and an exquisite rendition of the title song, among others, and can be procured by sending check or money order directly to the Gospel Association for the Blind, P.O. Box 62, Delray Beach, Florida 33447.

And, what does Gina think of all this? She views it as one of the many miracles He has performed in her life, and recognizes that "even through the valleys God uses ordinary people" ... like us. We should all have that kind of courage, and Witness for Him! You'll be hearing more of this fine human being. Join us in obtaining her record, and be a part of what promises to be a superlative singing career.

UPDATE ON LETTERS RECEIVED, AND THANKS....

"I am sad to see the issue of tuition tax credits has been misrepresented as a choice between funding or cutting support for public education. It is not. As a former public school teacher, I take a back seat to no one in my active support for a strong public school system" (Congressman Brian Donnelly, D-Mass.); "You are doing wonderful work. Of course our liberal press acts as if you do not exist." (Rev. Paul A. Wickens, Orange, N.J.); "I'd like to see a political leader with enough guts to tell these civil rights groups where to go." (David Braden, Louisville, Ky.)

Many thanks to the following who provided postage assistance over the past several weeks: Edna Ferreira, Brighton; Jean Hale, Sweet Home, Oregon; Marion Riley, Dorchester; Gus Charbonnier, Charlestown; Eddy Lunny, So. Boston; David Braden, Louisville, Ky.; Carl Jordan, Hamden, Conn., and "anonymity requested" of Milton. It's such help that enables S.T.O.P. to communicate news on the issues - nationwide.

We also take this opportunity to welcome Brian Sharp of San Mateo, California, and Eric C. Palmer, of Philadelphia, Penna., to our regular mailing program. Keep those cards and letters coming, folks!

pagan edicts.

God created man and woman to attract each other. He instilled in them an exquisite thrill of the flesh for the sole purpose of creating children, destined in the passage of time to dwell with Him eternally in heaven.

Abortion breaks the continuity of God's plan and breaks His Fifth Commandment. We are sitting on a grandstand seat on the Milky Way as you can see on a clean wind-swept black night, with your feet frozen to the earth as you gaze down on a billion burning suns we call stars, spread out like a carpet of diamonds in the infinite depths of space. These are but soulless lifeless objects compared to a child born of a woman in the image and likeness of God, destined for Heaven eternally.

If we do not stop this slaughter, we can expect the wrath of God to fall upon us, because we are destroying His greatest creation - a child.

Charles O'Neil

Our Thanks

I'd like to first of all thank all the young adults of Charlestown who contributed to making the recent Luau at the Knights of Columbus Hall a great time by their behavior and thanks to the adults and older kids who set a fine example for them to follow.

Secondly, thanks to my fellow members of the newly inducted Nick Harty Class of '83, who organized and were responsible for the time, and also I'd like to say thanks to Grand Knight Jim Carr and the senior members of the Knights who supported us in this venture.

Thanks again,

exciting frontiers. And with people-oriented harborfront projects planned for East Boston, South Boston - Fort Point Channel, and Charlestown (where the massive Navy Yard project continues to unfold), our city will be expanding its harborfront frontier right into the next decade.

The best recent example of what is going on along the waterfront in Boston occurred on July 26 in Charlestown, where we officially dedicated Shipyard Park. For the first time in almost 200 years, Charlestown residents have direct access to the Boston Harborfront, thanks to this new $2.4 million park, the newest addition to the continuing Navy Yard development.

At dedication ceremonies, I recalled that it was less than a decade ago when the federal government closed the Navy Yard, at the cost of 5,000 jobs to area residents. So the dedication of Shipyard Park carried the special message to Charlestown residents that their harborfront was once again being put to use in their interests.

Future projects in the Navy Yard will continue to pay dividends to residents in terms of jobs, housing and accessibility to a rich waterfront resource.

The dedication of Shipyard Park also served as a reminder of how closely and how historically Boston is tied to her harbor. The Charlestown Navy Yard itself is an appropriate example. Established in 1800, the Navy Yard long served as a primary location for the construction, repair and refitting of naval ships. The first U.S. Navy warship was built here, as was the first screw steamship and the first torpedo boat. Right through World War II, in fact, the Charlestown Navy Yard was among the national leaders in serving the seagoing branch of our country's armed forces.

Boston Harbor, from Charlestown to East Boston and points south, is filled with history of national and world importance. I could talk of the Clipper Ships, of China Trade, and of the important fishing fleets of times past - but each of these areas are stories that could fill many books. But the bottom line is that times changed. And time took the past glories of our harbor with it. Over the past decade, we have been restoring our harbor - preserving the best of the old, and creating new facilities to serve the needs of today.

What I am proudest of is that we recognized that Boston Harbor is for the people. It is the people's frontier. It is their treasure to be enjoyed now, and by future generations.

Boston's Harborfront in the years ahead will be a jewel of the Eastern Seaboard. But it won't be a hands-off, see-but-don't-touch jewel. We can see it happening now: Our harborfront is a vital, exciting area for residents and visitors to use and enjoy.

And it's getting better. Boston is meeting the challenge.

Riff-Raff Upsets Rockets

and Paul Martell, combined with the crisp passing of Joe Evers and Ed O'Connell, the Rockets' sharpshooters of Fitzpatrick, Johnson and Sheehan were held at bay. Riff-Raff controlled the game until in the fourth quarter, when Mahoney swept in and scored a quick two to cut the lead to one with six seconds left. As the ball was passed in bounds, it was stolen by Jay "Tree" King and passed to Oakie O'Connell as he hit an inspirational turnaround jumper over Devil Mahoney which won the game with no time left! Jacko Greatorox and Bill McDonald were instrumental in the victory. Dan Treanor was sunning himself down the Cape while this event took place.

In related action, an impressive Galvin Club beat the lowly Sonics 35 to 24.

Local Artist Creates Unique Mural

A unique mural donated by the Thomas Sherwin Pioneer Chapter of the New England Telephone Company to the Veterans Administration Hospital in Bedford, Mass., was recently dedicated in honor of our nation's veterans.

This mural entitled 1776, has been termed "unique" because according to the artist, Louis Mian, of Louis Mian, Inc. of Charlestown, "no other mural has been created from the same materials. The experts said it couldn't be done."

Louis Mian, whose firm provides design and installation of industrial floors and walls, working with natural stones such as marble and granite, has recently moved from Winchester to Charlestown where they have complete fabrication and warehouse facilities under one roof.

The mural at the Bedford V.A. Hospital illustrates an event that occurred in Boston in 1776. According to legend, a colonial lieutenant ordered one of his soldiers to drop a mortar down a 70 foot well to prevent it from falling into the hands of the British troops and being used against the colonials.

The mortar was recovered in 1928 during excavation at what is now 60 Battery March Street, Boston. When the building was renovated in 1956, Louis Mian designed a mural of the event for an area above the main entrance. When Sherwin Pioneers offered a gift to the Bedford V.A., hospital personnel knew precisely what they wanted — a mural with a colonial motif that would serve as the focal point in a reading/sitting room for patients, created when an open brick arch was enclosed as part of an expansion program. The arch would frame the mural.

Louis Mian graduated from school in Italy in 1930

ARTIST LOUIS MIAN explains the detail in the 12 by 8 foot mural he created for the V.A. Hospital in Bedford.

as an "expert in mosaics" and has done several murals in addition to "1776". Mian created a 40 foot mural for the Don Bosco Technical High School in Boston, a glass mosaic for a chapel in a mausoleum in Sandwich, Mass., and another for a church in Alabama.

According to his son, each of these has earned awards and other professional recognition for Mian.

The mural for the Bedford hospital presented a financial challenge. A mosaic, as at Battery March, would far exceed the budget. Terrazzo (another medium), according to Mian, was "still substantial in cost."

"But," he said, "I knew that if I could have created a ceramic coated quartz mosaic, it would be less expensive and virtually indestructible." The experts said it couldn't be done — "which is why I did it," stated Mian.

"I had to improvise. The flesh tones, for example, are from red Verona marble crushed to powder.

"I'm proud to say I did it. It is unique. No other is made of these materials."

THANK YOU

"That man is a success who has lived well, laughed often and loved much; who has gained the respect of intelligent men and the love of children; who has filled his niche and accomplished his task; who leaves the world better than he found it, whether by an improved poppy, a perfect poem or a rescued soul; who never lacked appreciation of earth's beauty or failed to express it; who looked for the best in others and gave the best he had."

The recent loss of Matty O'Neil was endured by his family only because of the strength, support and love given to us by the many people he touched during his lifetime. Matty O'Neil was a superlative son, brother, husband, father and friend. He has left an eternal legacy in the people who loved him. We extend our heartfelt gratitude to those people.
