

WORN SPRAY BOMB

COLOURS, CAR HUNTING & RECRUITMENT

General Rules:

Our crew is for people who are interested in colors that are used for your vehicles, as well as finding rare vehicles you might have not known about or find interest in. If you are interested in unique crew colours and/or hunting rare vehicles with reputable members and friends, then this is the crew for you.

Crew Colour Rules:

Please keep in-mind that we only accept colours that are unique colours that can bypass the crew colour editor so we can create accurate colours, although we will frequently use colours that can be entered normally. We do change the crew colour regularly but if you have a request, we will look into it and we will have the colour available for a while as long as it meets the requirements. Any colour that is requested that is considered as too bright or a very contrasted colour will be ignored.

Rare Car Hunting Rules:

We are also a crew for finding the rarest of vehicles that can be found in GTA Online (even though there are some vehicles that can be difficult to obtain in Freeroam / Missions). It is recommended that you take an image of the rare vehicles that you have found and post it in the snapmatic section (including location, time, etc) and posting images of vehicles with crew colours is allowed as long they follow our guidelines.

We will keep monitoring the snapmatic to insure it is always kept on-topic. If there is someone that has posted random photos, then they will be asked to remove the photos, otherwise they will be demoted or kicked.

Recruitment / Membership Rules:

Your profile and your gamertag must be visible as this is a must for this crew. They should be set to "Friends & Crews Only" in order to be eligible to remain in the crew and to be promoted. It is up to the leader if you get an invite or not.

The crew leader or the commissioners can only change the crew color. You must post a message on the crew wall when the crew colour has or will change and what the color is. If you are a commissioner, do not change the crew color to a different one without permission. If the crew color was changed unexpectedly, please let the crew leader know via message.

Spamming the crew wall is not allowed. All posts must be related to the crew (such as photos, videos or links of rare vehicle tutorials or crew colours) as this is what our crew is all about. Posting the same content more than once is rated as spam.

Racism, sexism, arguing, offensive or any rude comments to anyone that is in the crew will result in a ban regardless, as we do not accept offensive behaviour to our crew. Killing / harming members in any way will also result in a ban.

Kick rules:

You are getting kicked if you break any of the rules.

(Breaking multiple rules = ban) (Breaking one of the rules = kick)

Any member can report members who are breaking the rules. It is up to the leader or the commissioners if they should kick or report members instantly or give them a second or third chance (with reason). The post on the crew wall will be commented with the leader or the commissioner who kicked that player.

It is possible to rejoin as a kicked member after some time has passed.