SOME UNADULTERATED FAKE NEWS. [FUNNY--GOT CAUGHT IN THE ACT.

<https://twitter.com/gourdnibler>

Summary for today's TNT call. Tony was VERY upbeat and had some great news!

TNT CALL SUMMARY:

- Sept 15 tomorrow is a big day in Iraq. "There will be many surprises tomorrow! Something IS supposed to happen tomorrow." There will be many votes taken in Parliament. Whether the PM vote is included is not clear, but everybody anticipates that much of the rest of the GOI will be voted in and seated. Meanwhile Abadi is the PM until a new one is elected.
- The main issues are that the corruption and bribery has to be stopped. The people are upset about these two things in particular appropriately.

- The Sept 13 classified meeting in DC did indeed happen. There haven't been any reports about that meeting due to its having been classified. Reportedly (not by Tony) Abadi and his entourage, the CBI and some delegates, and even Shabibi were all there. Reports are unavailable since it was classified. After the meeting Abadi, for whatever reasons, began sounding like he was bidding adieu at the same time as he was planning meetings for early October. So we cannot tell a thing from that apparently.
- HCL is still not completed in Iraq. Remember they ALL wanted the new rate on those cards first. It was promised a few times in past 2 weeks. The BIG deals about this HCL are multi-faceted. One is that it results in all Iraqis having an ecard which also means there is an associated bank account. It follows from this that one major accomplishment will be that every citizen will be using digital money instead of cash, which is a highly sought after accomplishment for Iraq. This indeed creates the banking industry in Iraq.
- "Sept 16 or 17 the CBI has committed that they are releasing lower denominations and in October they will be releasing the lowest denominations in HUGE amounts." Tony said that this refers to introduction of the international denominations to facilitate trade with their neighbors this weekend and then for the people of Iraq soon after that. This is also part of their retiring many old over-used notes, just as other countries do from time to time.
- US SIDE: The banks are all aflutter. On Wed they had a big meeting wherein they were told their active window for this by the high level bankers in this country (USA) is Sept 15-22. "By the 22nd this will all be over and we will move on to money management issues." Tony knew this last Wed but wanted to verify it from all his sources. He did and it was the same report! Tony then contacted the highest level banker contact he has who had not been in that lower level meeting and that guy told him his window was Sept 15-30. Oct 1 is the start of the new fiscal year for Iraq and that is a critical date in this RV. This guy also told Tony that "Now the final documents for this release are being completed in Reno as we speak." Then Tony checked w guys in Iraq to see if they were on the same page. They are! Parliament, the CBI, and GOI contacts in Iraq are all onboard with this window. This leads Tony to conclude that all votes and seats will be voted and filled tomorrow. Remember the rumor a couple weeks ago that The USA is onboard "if they (Iraq) do the right thing by Sept 15." So it is converging from all sides.
- The largest group (not internet group as we are referred to) is called The Admiral's Group because he was and is an Admiral, retired, but still used by the US Govt. That group is headquartered in Reno. The GROUPS will go at the same time as we will (the Internet Group). Will we be paid at the same time? Not likely. That is because the AG has a paymaster that has to manage cash flows on international transfers, distributions, etc. It is a big administrative task. While The Internet Group (that's US, folks!) will use banks at each of our own discretion. So it is possible we will be paid prior to the AG. Some of us may wait until the "third mouse" and not go until December, but that would be our choice, not constraint.
- ZIM: A caller heard that Zimbabwe announced their currency is now gold backed. Tony confirmed that the ZIM remains in the first basket and will be available for exchange with all the others when the RV happens.
- DONG: had remained at $.47 for a LONG time. Earlier it was reported that a guy went to one of the major banks and the teller showed him the screen where the dong was. $2.00. Tony found out another bank also had a rate of $1.70. That's all Tony reported. Period.

LC: Off-Ledger Is Really Off-Balance Sheet Lingo In Private Banking

<https://www.dinarrecaps.com/our-blog/tidbits-from-tnt-friday-morning-9-14-18>

Dear All TNT Dinar & Open Mic Members;

I would like to inform everyone about my experience as a current private banking client of Wells Fargo Private Bank and previously with Bank of America.

I would like to put to bed about possible banks failures after you get your blessing from exchanging your currencies. You need to ask yourself this question, why do the wealthy customers not worry about their investments disappearing out of their accounts.

The reason they don't have that concern is because their investments in the "private trust bank" is generally referred to as "off balance sheet" instead of "off-ledger" and therefore these investments are not owned by the bank and not reportable to Wall Street.

Additionally, the wealthy customers' investments are titled and owned by them personally or titled and owned by a trust or entity you control.

So, this is where a third party comes in to play. My private bank (Wells Fargo Private Bank) use Depository Trust Company (DTC) one of the world's largest securities depositories that will be the clearinghouse and safekeeping for my transactions.

Now you say, what if something happens to Wells Fargo Private Bank. Well, since they don't own your investments, you only need to contact Depository Trust Company to now instruct them to name a new private trust bank (i.e. Northern Trust, U.S. Trust).

Just remember, the private trust bank is only a fiduciary that help manage your investment needs.

Please review the further detailed info on the Depository Trust Company that holds trillions of dollars of securities in their custody.

Furthermore, my private banker explained to me that generally his multi-billion and multi-million dollar clients don't have excess deposit insurance because the bank don't have title to the investments to be a part of a bank failure.

Finally, this will not protect you from losing money on bad investments. Private trust banks generally carry insurance for your protection if they put you in an investment without careful due diligence and you lose your money as a result of their recommendation.

This is why everyone should relax and make sure you put your funds in a private trust bank to remove this concern. That's what the wealthy and the 1% do. We do not need to reinvent the wheel.

Good luck to everyone and I hope that I helped ease everyone concerns.

"Signs that the QFS is Operational" by Fireswan - 9.14.18

Entry Submitted by Fireswan at 10:56 AM EDT on September 14, 2018

How do I know that the QFS is operational?

Indirectly

I work in cybersecurity for a financial services company that has received authorization to connect with the QFS. We have an authority to operate (ATO). For those who are curious about the geeky details about the protocols and requirements to receive an ATO, there are hundreds of documents with very detailed instructions. These documents are publicly available to all on the NIST website. Here's the one that describes how to obtain an ATO or interconnection with the QFS:

https://www2.cdc.gov/cdcup/library/process_guides/doc/CDC_UP_Process_Guide_ato.doc

OK, Fireswan that's unbelievably geeky and boring. We get it that you have the background and credentials to prove that the company you work for is in the financial sector (helps companies produce compliant financial reports) and you work with the QFS.

How do know that we've switched over to the QFS?

Simple.

The QFS produces XBRL

<https://www.xbrl.org/the-standard/>

We are seeing traffic with the new improved XBRL that reports on block chain integrity with gold certs and unique identifiers hashed together as part of the block chains.

Old system doesn't do this. New system does. We were seeing both (having hash XBRL "tags" and not having hash XBRL tags come through until last week). Now we are only seeing the new data flows. Telling you all this doesn't disclose anything confidential. Throughout IT departments in the financial sector, we have been working on a smooth transition for years.

Think Y2K

Last week we had a burst of activity. Unusual failures that I have deduced must be test flows. Everyone was receiving these "bad transactions" for testing our procedures and verifying readiness.

They were doing tests last week. They've given some time for the interconnections to handle tests that they failed on to fix that. DONE.

Everyone is structurally ready for real traffic (us redeeming).

Starting with the Sovereigns (us). [Not Tier 2 Sovereigns, but Tier 4b Sovereigns! ZIM holders and others who are awake enough to BE a Sovereign, to take the responsibilities of a Sovereign, and take advantage of the opportunities made available to Sovereigns!—dle]

Nobody goes until the Sovereigns go. If you want me to get into the nitty-gritty details (very geeky about how hash graphs work), I could go there.

I actually asked during our task force readiness training on Saturday, “what will we waiting for after the testing phase completes?”

Sovereigns

Most (if not all) of the people I work with have no clue that there is a RV or GCR. We are simply switching over to a much better system that can't be hacked. Even though it was a lot of work to prepare all of the documents and perform all of the exercises to obtain our ATO, it is a badge of honor. We closely work with the national cybersecurity task force (I am a member working on my CISSP). We are what you'd call white hats, even though I'm probably the only one in the company that put the pieces together to know about the Alliance and the bigger picture of what we're a part of. I did my own research and figured this out. Nudges in prayer and meditation as well as having spiritually oriented friends directed me to the RV/GCR.

Fireswan, having given us this boring, geeky background, how did you know that there was a surge in frequency after Nova Gaia's encyclopedia was published. Our readiness meter went through the roof. We were expecting a surge of action in the system, all hands on deck. This was not a test, because test data is not logged or reported on other than being test data. Also test data has different XBRL codes for the “unique identifier”. I had a couple of our remote viewers look at it to confirm. True enough. Encyclopedia.

The NPTB could have turned off the readiness indicator to not upset the sleeping IT departments again if we got another spike. But I don't think so. I think that it's still live and indicating. We couldn't maintain the spike because the trolls were successful enough to disrupt. However if they hadn't done that, I think we could have triggered the RV. We would have switched over to starting the Sovereigns.

I'm looking at other ways to see what our frequencies are compared to what's needed to start the Sovereigns. There must be some way I can get more info from the system. Like I said, it's indirect.

Like Ron Giles beautifully said. Think, feel, intend, act and BE a Sovereign.

Sovereigns don't allow naysayers, trolls and AIs to lower their very high frequencies. They are stable and can hold it into infinity no matter what. We don't need to prove it by dying on any crosses, but we need to be as Sovereign as Christ as the meek inheriting the Earth.

Earth

Nova Gaia

Thank you for demonstrating what we all must do and do consistently and constantly.

[I find this very interesting because I have been studying the Hashgraph system which Fireswan refers to, which was invented by Leemon Baird and appears in Mike Maloney's video series Hidden Secrets of Money. Makes sense to me!—dle]
