Neighborhood Policing Center To Open On Saturday

In keeping with her campaign pledge to bring a greater police presence to Charlestown, District One Boston City Councillor Diane J. Modica, has advocated for and successfully secured a Neighborhood Policing Center for Charlestown.

"This Neighborhood Policing Center will be the first of its kind in the city of Boston and represents the commitment of Mayor Thomas Menino and Police Commissioner Paul Evans' to community policing," stated Modica. The grand opening celebration for the Charlestown Neighborhood Policing Center, located at 316 Main St., will be held on Saturday, Sept. 9 at 10 a.m.

"Charlestown residents made it clear during my campaign that greater police presence in the community is crucial to address the public safety needs of the community," said Modica. "Mayor Menino understands that also and we have worked together with the community and Commissioner Evans to discuss this innovative approach to community policing," Mo-dica explained.

Modica, working with the Charlestown Neighborhood Council and its Public Safety Subcommittee, along with a commitment from Menino, has made the Charlestown Neighborhood Policing Center a reality.

"To have increased police visibility is a major accomplishment for the community and for the Neighborhood Council," stated Peter Looney, chairman of the Charlestown Neighborhood Council. "Without the strong support of Mayor Menino and Councillor Modica, this would not have moved forward. This is the biggest public safety event for the community in over 15 years," Looney continued.

The Neighborhood Policing Center will be open seven days a week, from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. Citizens may use the office to file reports, pick up forms and hold small community meetings. The post will be staffed daily by a police officer and a cadet. In addition, regularly scheduled visits will be made by different specialty officers including the Community Service Officer, the Senior Response Officer and the Youth Service Officer. Their hours will be published in the Patriot on a weekly basis.

"This is a momentous occasion," Modica added. "Charlestown has not had a police station since District 15 closed its doors during Proposition 2 1/2. This couldn't happen without the support of Peter Looney, Bill McCabe, Mel Stillman and other Charlestown residents who were out in front on this issue. The community worked hard to reach this day."

Space for the Neighborhood Policing Center has been generously offered and prepared in a storefront at the Mishawum Park Housing by Robert Kenney of Fulton Properties who played a critical role in the location of the center.

"This is a true partnership between City Hall, the community, the Police Department and local business to achieve the mission of community policing in Charlestown," Modica concluded.

Summer Reading Club Members Celebrate The Conclusion Of A Successful Program

Where Is The Quinn Athletic Complex?

Do you know where the Quinn Athletic Complex is? Or, for that matter, what the Quinn Athletic Complex has in common with the Kent Community Center, Golden Age Center, Charlestown Adult Education Program, Tiny Tots Learning Center, Charlestown Teen Connection, Girls Center, Back-To-School Program, Firefighters Football Field and the Clougherty Pool?

You may say the common factor among these programs and facilities is that they are all affectionately referred to in more familiar terms. For instance, during the summer months many people cool off up the "Bunker," and although it is approaching its 20th birthday, many still believe they play basketball down the "New Gym" or "The Medford Street Gym." It may come as a bit of a surprise that these local hoopsters are actually honing their skills at the Lt. Michael P. Quinn Athletic Complex. Yet, this too may be a somewhat misleading title given the fact that the aforementioned edifice houses

Charlestown Resident To Appear In 'Rumors'

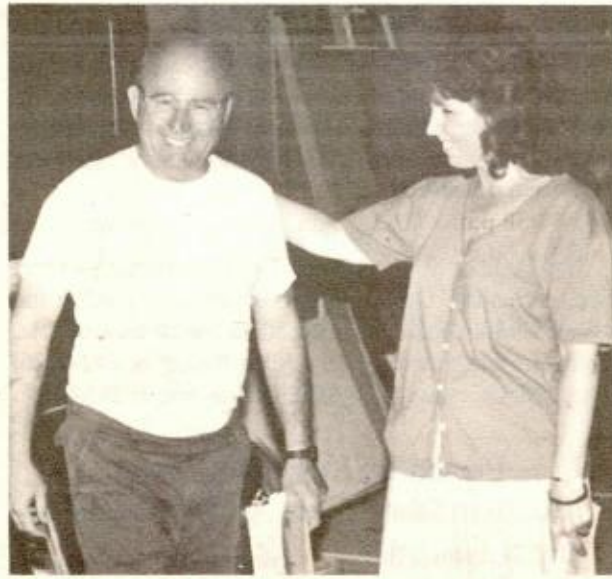

Jerry Barrett of Charlestown, will be featured in the Burlington Players' upcoming production of Neil Simon's hilarious hit farce Rumors on Sept. 15 through 17, 21 through 24, and 28 through 30; Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays at 8 p.m., and Sundays at 7 p.m. at the Park Playhouse, Edgemere Avenue, off Route 128, and Winn Street in Burlington.

Barrett, a five-year Burlington Player, sang and danced in the Players' production of Olympus On My Mind several years ago. He is an avid member of the Colonial Chorus of Reading, where he performed such memorable roles as Bills in South Pacific, Merlin in Cam- elot, Nathan Detroit in Guys and Dolls, and Barber in Man of La Mancha, among others.

Rumors invites us into the townhouse of a deputy mayor of New York City. He and his wife have invited four couples over to celebrate their 10th wedding anniversary. But, the host accidentally shoots himself (in the ear lobe), his wife mysteriously disappears, and the four couples arrive to find an empty house, no hors d'oeuvres, and to experience many zany misadventures as they try to figure out what happened to their hosts.

Tickets are $10 on Fridays and Saturdays; and $8 on Thursdays and Sundays. Discounts are avail-

School Policewoman Is Charged

A 35-year-old school police officer, assigned to Charlestown High School, pleaded not guilty on Aug. 30 to heroin distribution charges, according to District Attorney Ralph C. Martin II.

The woman, a Charlestown resident, was arrested on Aug. 29 outside a Bunker Hill Housing Development apartment by members of the Boston Police Drug Control Unit.

She is charged with two counts of distribution of a Class A (heroin) substance and two counts of distribution in a school zone.

Charlestown District Court Judge Thomas May released her on personal recognizance and set Sept. 20 for a pretrial conference.

WHEN YOU HAVE ANOTHER HOME TO SELL

You've decided it's time to move, but you're afraid to place your present home on the market until you've found a new one and completed negotiations for its purchase. At the same time, however, you find that most sellers are reluctant to finalize offers from buyers who must include contingencies calling for the sale of a current residence before settling on the new one.

If you're caught in this dilemma, the first step out of it is to contact a professional Realtor. He or she can list your home, showing you how it can be done without the risk of putting your family out on the street. Once you have a firm contract from a qualified buyer, you will become much more attractive to sellers. When you do find the perfect home, you greatly increase your chances of being able to buy it.

For professional advice on all aspects of buying or selling a home, talk to the professionals at Monument Properties. Call us at 241-5900 or stop by our office at 85 Warren St., Charlestown.

O most beautiful flower of Mount Carmel, fruitful vine, splendor of Heaven, Blessed Mother of the Son of God, Immaculate Virgin, assist me in my necessity. O Star of the Sea, help me and show me here you are my mother. O Holy Mary, Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth, I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart to secure me in my necessity (make request). There are none that can withstand your power. O Mary, conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourged to thee (3 times). Holy Mary, I place this cause in your hands (3 times). ★ Life In The City Lecture Series . . . The churches in Charlestown are sponsoring a three-part series of lectures whose purpose is to bring newcomers and born-in-Charlestown folk together. These lectures, entitled "Life in the City," will be preceded by brunch and will be held from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. on Sundays, Sept. 24, with guest lecturer Sen. William Bulger; Oct. 15 with Irish-American writers Jack Beatty, Kevin Cullen and Shaun O'Connell; and Nov. 5 with Peter Meade.

The purpose of the Sunday brunches and lectures is to provide a continuing forum during which those who are new to Charlestown can become better acquainted with those residents who were born and brought up here. As a community, many have worked diligently on issues of drugs and development, health and preservation, youth hockey and park clean-up, but rarely has there been the opportunity to gather over food to talk about more intellectual issues to do with living in an Irish-American neighborhood whose roots are in Puritan and Colonial America. Participation in this series is encouraged to forge new bonds.

There will be a volunteer wearing a "Life in the City" badge at the back of the churches on Sept. 9, 10, 16 and 17 selling tickets for these lectures. Tickets are $12 for the series or $5 for individual lectures. In addition, tickets are available from Father Ron Coyne, 242-1750, Rosemary Kverek, 242-3716, Ivey St. John, 1-508-1887, Mary Fahey, 242-7081, Paula Grady, 241-9874, Dorothy Sweeney, 241-5323, Marion Galvin, 241-7727, Luette Bourne, 241-9494, Phyllis Del Tergo, 242-5230 or Peter Looney, 635-4700, ext. 130. - Ivey St. John

Friends Of City Square Park Hold Annual Meeting

The Friends of City Square Park held its annual meeting recently on the lawn of the Commandant's House in the Charlestown Navy Yard. The agenda included reports by the chair officers and the election of members to the board, followed by a social.

Gov. Ken Stone told the gathering, "At our last annual meeting, I talked about how different City Square would look when the highway viaduct came down . . . well, if you like the changes you see, then all I can say is just wait till next year when the park is completed!!!"

Stone went on to say that one of the major issues the Friends spent time on this past year was the selection of an agency to maintain the park when it is completed, and the choice was the Department of Environmental Management (DEM). DEM currently has parks throughout the commonwealth. They were the most enthusiastic about owning the park and were the most agreeable about working with other groups such as the National Parks, the Metropolitan District Commission and/or Boston Parks. A Memorandum of Understanding is now being studied and it is hoped that a written agreement between the Friends and DEM will be in place by the end of the year.

Also, the Friends cleaned and planted spring bulbs in the area of Warren and Chelsea streets; developed by-laws; established a Construction Oversight Committee to watch over construction and planting aspects of the park; raised concerns and awareness about the bus stop locations in the area and, with the Charlestown Neighborhood Council, looked into getting better services in the City Square area.

Stone went on to say: "The CANA Project is now almost complete with the removal of the highway viaduct. And shortly, the streets and sidewalks will be returned to the city of Boston. City Square Park itself will be looking good by winter . . . with completion next spring!"

Stone stated that the continued support of the members is appreciated. He thanked the National Park Service for the use of the space for the meeting, the U.S. Navy for their special tour of the USS Constitution; R. Wesley's restaurant in Sullivan Square; Tremont Ale, Alex and Chris of Tremont Ale; and Friends' Chef David Paisner.

He thanked Jim and Peggy Bradley, Pat DeCain, Ginger Leonard, Lillian MacAlpine, Kathleen Melcher and John Tobin for their help. Stone also thanked the Events Committee, Guest Perry, Bob Spencer, Annette Tecce, Joe Trepiccione, Wendy Withington, Carl Zellner and Chairperson Jan Mastracola.

For more information on the Friends, call 242-2837 or write to the Friends of City Square Park, P.O. Box 170, 140 Main St., Charlestown, MA 02129.

Where Is The Quinn Athletic Complex?

many programs in addition to athletics.

Aside from being home to the Charlestown Swim Team and a variety of other sporting events, this facility has been the drop-off point for hundreds of day-campers, a source of employment for many teenagers, a recreation spot for seniors and a classroom for studious adults. These activities merely begin to scratch the surface of what is offered in the brick building at 255 Medford St. To fully understand the scope of the services and programs that receive mail at the above address, you will begin to answer the aforementioned question, "What do all of these programs have in common?" The answer is they all fall under the auspices of the Charlestown Community Center and its local Council.

The Charlestown Community Center is the local component of Boston Community Centers. This program is a unique partnership between the city of Boston and its neighborhoods. The partnership gives community residents a voice in the operation of various city-owned recreational and educational facilities. This is accomplished through the local councils that oversee each Community Center.

The Charlestown Community Center Council is made up of elected, volunteer residents who have a vested interest in what programs are offered to the Charlestown community. Elections to the Council are held every year with each elected member serving for two years. Members of the Council meet once a month to discuss and conduct Council business and to make program-operating decisions. Between monthly meetings, Council members remain active in the organization as volunteers, concerned parents and/or grandparents, as program participants and occasionally as fundraisers for certain activities.

The Charlestown Community Center Council will hold its next election on Tuesday, Sept. 26. In order to be eligible for election, you must be a Charlestown resident, and at least 18 years of age with a commitment to help your neighbors, relatives and friends in the Charlestown community. Nomination papers may be picked up at the main office of the Charlestown Community Centers, 255 Medford St., just inside the Lt. Michael P. Quinn Athletic Complex.

TO FIGHT BREAST CANCER, JOIN OUR MAKING STRIDES TEAM

A team from the MGH Bunker Hill Health Center will once again join the fight against breast cancer by participating in the Making Strides Against Breast Cancer fund-raising walk on Sunday, Sept. 24. Last year, the health center team was comprised of 110 staff members and community residents, had over 400 sponsors and raised $5,083 for this cause. The goal this year is to double the size of our team and amount of money raised.

The five-mile walk starts and ends at the Hatch Shell on Boston's scenic Charles River Esplanade. Registration will take place from 8 to 10 a.m.

There are 5,000 reasons to join our team and you could know one of them. According to the American Cancer Society approximately 5,000 Massachusetts women will be diagnosed with breast cancer this year, and 1,200 women will die from the disease. One of these women could be your mother, sister, wife, daughter or best friend. Funds raised through the Making Strides walk support scientific research on the causes of breast cancer and ways to prevent it; "Reach for Recovery," a one-on-one support program for women with breast cancer; support for legislation on mammography quality standards; insurance coverage; and other issues and education efforts.

To join or sponsor the health center team, or for more information about breast cancer, contact Karen Murphy-Lind R.N., at 724-8155.

COMPUTER FRAUD: WHAT CAN YOU DO TO PREVENT IT?

As the use of computers increases, so does the opportunity for fraud. A single computer may give access to tens of thousands of business records, greatly multiplying an employee's productivity, but also multiplying the power to cause harm. And when computers are linked to a network and connected to phone lines for outside access, the potential for damage increases exponentially.

Most fraud falls into one of two categories: problems caused by unauthorized access, or misdeeds by an authorized user of the system. An unauthorized user may change or delete records, steal information, create false transactions, or even plant a virus in your system. The first line of defense is to establish and carefully control passwords. Don't be afraid to set and enforce strict rules. Passwords shouldn't be obvious - for example, a user's initials or first name - and they should be changed at regular intervals. Set a policy against sharing passwords with fellow staff members, and don't allow employees to write their passwords on a slip of paper taped to their desk, as happens in too many companies. Change passwords automatically whenever an employee quits.

Even though passwords provide good protection, you should expect them to be defeated. Make sure your system keeps a record of access attempts, and make sure your computer specialist reviews the reports regularly. Then, even if your defenses are breached, you will know about it and can take counter-measures.

The second type of fraud, where an authorized employee is deliberately falsifying records, is harder to detect. Here you must fall back on the typical internal controls for any business system - segregating duties so one employee can't control the whole process, careful review of reports, and enforcing vacations so a different employee runs the system for a while.

House Supports Establishment Of Alzheimer's Office

A bill to establish a state office on Alzheimer's Disease and Related Disorders recently passed the House of Representatives. As a sponsor of the bill, Rep. Richard Voke was proud to be part of the effort to create such an office on behalf of the Mass. citizens who suffer from this debilitating disease.

"Services to persons with Alzheimer's and their families are provided by a number of different agencies and are not efficiently coordinated," according to Voke, who serves as the House Majority Leader. "Having an Alzheimer's Office within state government will allow us to administer quality, accessible care more effectively, as well as to discover ways we can leverage federal and other private sources of funds."

The mission of the office is to advise the Governor and his administration on matters of policy, programs, services and other information affecting the more than 100,000 Mass. residents with Alzheimer's. In the state, the public cost of the disease is estimated at $1 billion per year, while the average annual cost to families caring for patients at home is $18,000. These amounts will certainly rise since the fastest growing population in America - people 85 and over - already represent an alarming 47.2 percent of Alzheimer's victims.

"We are very pleased that the House of Representatives has passed the legislation," stated Daniel O'Leary, executive director of the Alzheimer's Assoc. of Eastern Mass., Inc. "Families caring for loved ones with dementia-related illness deserve the very best support that we can give them. An Office on Alzheimer's Disease will help to promote public awareness and education about dementia and will help families cope with the many challenges posed by this disease. The House should be commended for its swift action on this important piece of legislation."

"Certainly the cost to families of Alzheimer's patients is more than a financial one," stated Voke. "The emotional toll this disease takes on people affected with the disease and the people who care for them, is enormous. Since the cause of Alzheimer's is not determined yet, there is no cure for the disease. Short of this fact, we must look toward improved care and support for patients and their families. The Office on Alzheimer's Disease and Related Disorders intends to respond to some of these concerns," Voke concluded.

The bill now proceeds to the Senate.

(never known to fail)

O most beautiful flower of Mount Carmel, fruitful vine, splendor of Heaven, Blessed Mother of the Son of God, Immaculate Virgin, assist me in my necessity. O Star of the Sea, help me and show me here you are my mother. O Holy Mary, Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth, I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart to secure me in my necessity (make request). There are none that can withstand your power. O Mary, conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourse to thee (3 times). Say this prayer for 3 consecutive days and then you must publish it and it will be granted to you.

Child's Death Prompts Warnings From School Officials

At approximately 8:15 a.m. yesterday, Wednesday, Sept. 6, a first grade student assigned to the Agassiz Elementary School in Jamaica Plain, was struck and fatally injured by an automobile in the vicinity of Child and South streets in Jamaica Plain. The child was on her way to school when the accident occurred.

Arthur Stellar, acting superintendent, stated that just last week, elementary and middle school students had been instructed in the proper safety procedures for walking or riding in school buses.

School principals sent letters home to parents informing them of the incident, advising them of the availability of counseling services and offering safety tips which parents might reinforce for all students, both walkers and riders.

Below is the list of safety procedures that have been distributed in the schools.

Getting Your Child To School Safely

Walking to and from school

- Show your child the safest route to school and back, and walk with your child if you can. If not, your child might walk to school with older friends or family members.

- Remind your child to cross only at crosswalks and to look both ways before stepping into the street. They might also cross at a pedestrian light, and wait for the "Walk" signal, or at an intersection with a crossing guard or police officer.

- Tell him or her not to walk or run between cars at any time.

- Ask your child to be especially careful in rain or snow; wearing light colors or bright clothing makes your child more visible.

Waiting for the school bus

- Instruct your child to always stay on the sidewalk, back from the curb. Children should not move toward the bus until the bus stops fully and the driver opens the door.

- If you can be there, make sure the children at the bus stop don't run around, push each other, fight, or act carelessly or in an unsafe manner.

Getting on and off the #### school bus

- Make sure your child behaves appropriately on the bus; sits down and remains seated at all time, keeps hand and arms inside the bus, and puts backpacks and other belongings under the seat, not in the aisle.

- When getting off the bus for home, tell your child to walk ten steps ahead and watch for the driver's signal before crossing in front of the bus. Be sure all traffic has stopped to allow a safe crossing. Again, remind your child to look both ways. If you can, meet your child at the bus stop.

- Once off the bus at the end of the day, remind your child to walk - not to run - across any streets and to come directly home.

Among the corps scheduled to participate are Blessed Sacrament Golden Knights of Union, N.J.; Connecticut Alumni Corps of Shelton, Conn.; Crusaders Senior Corps of Boston; Erie Thunderbirds Alumni Corps of Erie, Penn.; Generations Alumni Corps of Bristol, R.I.; Hawthorne

Caballeros Alumni Corps of Hawthorne, N.J.; Marksmen Alumni Corps of Springfield; Mighty St. Joe's Alumni Corps of Batavia, N.Y.; Reilly Raiders of Philadelphia, Penn.; and 27th Lancers Alumni Corps of Revere.

All proceeds are to be distributed to the following Boston area junior corps: Boston Crusaders Junior Corps, Murray Hill Drum & Bugle Corps of Roxbury, Phoenix of Waltham and the 27th Lancer Cadets of Revere.

Tickets are priced at $18 & $15 for reserved seats, and $12 for general admission of which only 210 seats are available.

Tickets can be obtained by sending a check or money order payable to DC 5-6-7 to: Drum Corps 5-6-7, 38 Lyme St., Suite 201, Malden Mass. 02148.

Many Thanks

I would like to thank the person who put flowers on my son Edward Johnson's Square, at the corner of Union and Washington streets.

A friend of mine called and told me about the flowers. Teddy was a Marine and a Vietnam veteran, and Sunday, Aug. 27, was his 28th anniversary.

His mother, Florence Johnson, and his family thank you.

'ANNIE'

As autumn approaches, the Charlestown Working Theater gears up for its classes and production of Annie. Auditions for Annie will be held on Saturday, Sept. 16 for children and Sunday, Sept. 17 for adults. Please call the theater at 242-3285 to schedule an audition time. We encourage everyone who has an interest in acting to contact us, no matter what your level of experience may be. Production dates for Annie are tentatively set for Dec. 1-3, 8-10, and 15-17. We also need volunteers to help with technical, design, program sales, costumes, box office and concessions.

Last year's Oliver! was a great success and an enjoyable experience for all involved, and we anticipate Annie will go at least as well.

ANNUAL HAUNTED HOUSE

Also fast approaching is our annual Haunted House. If you would like to be involved in this chilling production, please call us at CWT.

Lots will be happening at your community theater this fall, classes, Annie, the Halloween Haunted House, and a CWT/Outlaw Style Dance Theater Co.'s co-production. Keep your eye on the Patriot for more information, or call us at 242-3285 and leave a message.

PIANO LESSONS

Registration has begun for CWT piano lessons. There are six openings for each half-hour private lesson, taught once again by accomplished pianist-teacher Steve Lantner. The first session will last six weeks at the end of which students who have demonstrated serious interest will be asked to continue. There will be a fee of $5 for each lesson, although anyone interested who cannot afford this fee, is encouraged to apply. Lantner requires his students to be on time every week and practice at home or at the theater if no piano is available. He is an excellent teacher who encourages his students to achieve high standards. Lessons are open to senior citizens and young adults ages 12-20. Lessons will begin in mid-October.

TECHNICAL THEATER CLASSES

Students are now being accepted for Technical Theater classes. Taught by Michael Teixeira, the classes focus on the technical aspects of theater, design (set and lighting), stage management, crew work and lighting/sound tech. These classes are free and open to ages 12 and up. Classes will culminate with the production of Annie.

See you at the theater!

Conway To Work With Residents In Setting Neighborhood Police Plan

The District A-1 Strategic Planning Team will reconvene this month, under the direction of Capt. Ron Conway. Strategic Planning Team members will meet regularly this fall to set out strategies and tactics for the goals and objectives identified in Phase I. The new Strategic Plan for Neighborhood Policing will be made up of 16 individual plans, with a lead section that presents the overall direction for the department. Work on District A-1's neighborhood plan, which includes Charlestown, will be completed by Christmas.

"We made a lot of progress in the first planning phase of this project. Now we will get down to the nuts and bolts of how we are going to realize those goals, who is going to do it, and what they are going to do," Commissioner Paul Evans said. "We will be looking for partnerships throughout the plan. Over half of the goals and objectives involved the establishment of partnerships with community and other stakeholders. We want to keep this key operating principle on the forefront in all of our strategies."

In Phase I, March 4 through June 24, 1995, the teams set some 100 goals and 405 objectives for Neighborhood Policing. The work in Phase II, which ends on Dec. 15, 1995 will involve the teams setting concrete, time-specific strategies and tactics to implement the goals and objectives. The entire project will be capped off with a presentation of the new plan after the first of the year.

Members of District A-1 Strategic Planning Team, who began working together on March 4, 1995, will reconvene in a task force, and meet over the next few months to create the implementation plan. This plan will address the specific goals and objectives identified by the District A-1 Strategic Planning Team.

The Citywide Planning Team will also reconvene, with a charge from the Commissioner to help identify common themes among the ideas and goals generated in Phase I. They will advise the commissioner on citywide issues, such as setting citywide definitions and standards for such operational matters as what an effective problem-solving partnership is, and what role non-police stakeholders should have in setting strategy, through vehicles such as the Neighborhood Advisory Councils.

Each team will be allocated one facilitator to help design and move the meetings forward, and one professional writer to draft the team's individual plan. The individual plans will form chapters of the overall Strategic Plan for Neighborhood Policing in Boston.

Copies of District A-1's goals and objectives are available at the Community Service Office by calling 343-4240. Copies of the Strategic Plan will be available upon completion.
