TB-500 is a synthetic version of the naturally occurring peptide present in virtually all human and animal cells, Thymosin Beta-4. This potent peptide is a member of a ubiquitous family of 16 related molecules with a high conservation of sequence and localization in most tissues and circulating cells in the body. How to use TB-500. TB-500 is typically provided as lyophilized (freeze-dried) powder in vials of 2.0 mg. A convenient amount of sterile or bacteriostatic water will be added, such as 1.0 mL. In the most common dosing protocol, the entire vial is taken at one time. Think of your core muscles as the central link connecting your upper and lower body. No matter what type of motion you complete, the necessary motions either originate in your core, or move through it. Think about that. Everything is driven from the CORE.

I'm 6 months in and the effects of vitamin T have been overwhelmingly positive, not just for the physical changes but the mental changes and my happiness and wellbeing. First picture is a very recent selfie, then hair growth, then taking it back to me getting my first bottle of Testogel. The last few videos are voice comparisons of 0 months to 6 months. I am still on 1 pump a day of the lowest dose of testogel. Couldn't be happier with the way its going. Peptide and Human Growth Steroid TB500 Thymosin Beta-4 TB500 Application and dosage : TB500 promotes cell migration through a specific interaction with actin in the cell cytoskeleton.
