Picosure Focus Lens Array for Facial Smoothing and Skin Tightening from William H Frazier MD

Feb. 23, 2014 - VERO BEACH, Fla. -- According to the American Society of Plastic Surgeons (ASPS), the world's largest organization of board-certified plastic surgeons, minimally-invasive, facial rejuvenation procedures fueled a five percent growth in 2012 and an additional three percent growth in 2013. Evidence of the popularity of facial rejuvenation and skin wrinkle procedures are even more evident in the warm, sunny region of Florida's Treasure Coast.

Dr. Frazier is double board certified in general surgery and plastic surgery and has practiced cosmetic, plastic, and reconstructive surgery in the Treasure Coast, FL area for over 25 years. After years of successful experience in breast augmentation or reduction, liposuction (body contouring), tummy tuck, facelift and all modes of cosmetic and laser surgeries he has now introduced into his practice the PicoSure Focus Lens Array - the latest in treatment for skin revitalization, acne scars and wrinkles.

In this short video, Dr. Frazier describes and demonstrates this PicoSure laser that can emit a photomechanical pulse to areas that often begin to show signs of aging. Cosmetic surgeons have been waiting for technology that can effectively combat "feathering" --fine lines around the mouth or "crows feet," fine lines around the eye area.

The PicoSure laser with its Focus Lens Array gently exercise the deepest layers in the skin, stimulating production of collagen and elastin and tightening the area.

When asked what it feels like, the patient describes feeling no pain, minimal heat, and immediate tightening. Dr. Frazier uses the Focus Lens Array for patients with acne scarring, drooping or sagging skin in the jawline, and general skin rejuvenation.

Dr. Frazier brings years of experience and skillful training to the Vero Beach community. "We wish to nurture our patients," he says, "to bring out the beauty in each person, encourage a positive attitude, and help them leave our care feeling lovely on both the inside and the outside."

Dr. Frazier likes to remind his patients that they themselves are the ones with incredible DNA programmed to heal from a surgery. However, the staff always 'go the extra mile' to help that healing along.
