

Mazo Nude Beach in Wisconsin Was My First Encounter With Social Nudity

(Guest naturist blog)

Nowadays, being naked is natural and pleasing. But it did not constantly feel that way.

I've always been somewhat self-conscious. The thought of being nude around one man, let alone a group, was certainly terrifying. Little did I understand, this anxiety about nudity would leave me even putting up a fight.

My first social nude encounter was due to my love for traveling around the United States.

During my travels, I was exposed to many friendly, talented folks. I met all types of musicians, artists, travelers and hippies.

I began to travel with a band called John Denver's Airplane from age nineteen to twenty.

Madison, Wisconsin is a great little historic town, covered in red brick, where my story occurs.

After the group played their venue, some fans told us about a local sand called Mazo beach.

The trip north was brief and we shortly arrived at our destination - Mazo beach.

Mazo Nude Beach in Wisconsin

We arrived at Mazo sand and I quickly recognized this was no ordinary playa. It was in the centre of the wilds. The beach was beautiful with black, metallic looking pebbles scattered through the sand, on the sand and into the water.

Even beach girl -inspiring compared to the scene, was the complete dearth of clothing

Everyone was naked! There were unclothed men and women all around me!

http://cunningham-limp.com/__media__/_js/netsoltrademark.php?d=nudist-young.com were swimming and others were simply sprawled out sunbathing nude. I felt my face grow red, as all of my friends started to disrobe.

I had a moment of panic that fortunately didn't last. I was frightened and shocked because I'd never planned to see my pals nude. I thought about running but immediately recognized that fleeing was a ridiculous idea. Therefore I finally decided to play it cool.

Once http://dairyadvantage.com/__media__/_js/netsoltrademark.php?d=nudist-video.net gave into the encounter, I managed to relax and enjoy myself. After a while, I actually felt my personal body image problems start to evaporate. Now I am url =http://nude-beach.net">more accepting of my self along with others and I have to thank Mazo Nude Beach and naturism/ nudism for that!

This guest blog, about a first timers experience with social nudity at Mazo Nude Beach, was published by - Young Naturists and Nudists America FKK.

Tags: first time naturist, unclothed plage, unclothed swimming, skinny dipping, social nudity, wisconsin

Class: Naked Beach, Nudist Blog, Social Nudity Websites

About the Writer (Author Profile)

Guest blogs written just for Nudist Portal.