Barbara "Barbie" Marsden Selected 1989 Charlestown Rose

"It was a shock — a total shock," exclaimed Barbara "Barbie" Marsden following the announcement last Friday night that she had been selected Charlestown Rose for 1989. Marsden was one of 10 young women who competed for the coveted title in the seventh annual contest sponsored by the Charlestown-To-Charlestown Committee.

Excitement permeated the Knights of Columbus Hall as friends of the 10 contestants awaited the results of the contest. The tension was magnified with the lights and cameras as this year's contest was being televised for the local cablevision channel as well as for the Irish cable program.

At this annual event, a young woman of Irish heritage from this community is selected to represent Charlestown in the Western Rose Festival in Charlestown, County Mayo, Ireland in August. Marsden will be

LOOK BEYOND A HOUSE'S SERVICE

There are a lot of diamonds in the rough that are for sale. These are homes in great locations, with large sunny rooms, nice big yards, and awful wallpaper, dusty drapes, old wall-to-wall carpeting and bathrooms that are not at all inspiring.

Many buyers have a hard time looking beyond the surface of houses that have incredible potential. If you can learn to do this, however, you could find yourself with a home that is just a little elbow grease away from being fantastic. If the house is structurally sound and if the systems are in good condition, cosmetic work may be all it needs. Remember, too, that a home that does not show well is usually priced accordingly. Even if it's not, the seller may be more negotiable than one who had made a considerable investment in preparing his home to look its best. So bring your imagination with you on your next house-hunting trip! You might be pleasantly surprised.

If there's a move in your future, the real estate professionals at Silva Realty Associates are ready to serve you. Call us at 242-7470 or drop by our offices at 142 Main St. in Charlestown.

No Historic Demonstration Of The Battle Of Bunker Hill For 1989

I am sorry to announce that the Charlestown Militia Company will be unable to present the historic demonstration of the Battle of Bunker Hill this year due to a lack of participating units. We felt that if we could not present an event of the caliber of our past re-enactments it would be best to cancel the battle for this year. We plan to have a re-enactment next year that will be bigger and more spectacular than ever.

There have been rumors around the town that the militia has disbanded. I would like to dispel those rumors by saying that the militia is alive and well. We have recently been active in several events and parades in the greater Boston area and will be participating in many more events as the year goes on.

If you are interested in joining the militia or helping in next year's battle plans, call Capt. Dan MacDonald at 389-2706, Lt. Frank Maggelet at 324-5567, or write: Charlestown Militia Company, P.O. Box 1775, Charlestown, Mass. 02129.

Life Behind The Wall

by Ronan FitzPatrick

From his summer digs at New Seabury, Shipways resident Fred Bennett made a visit to the Chartroom at Cataumet. His party enjoyed the meal, and at this time of the season, the fine but limited entertainment. To Fred and his guests, this upper Cape Cod establishment was a treasure trove. For Dave Whelan and Maryhelen Harty, they had a most pleasant evening, although they are on the frequent-diners list at this seasonal seaside restaurant. Standard for the Chartroom is great food, reasonably priced and an extraordinary piano bar. All surveyed indicated the long wait for seating was soon forgotten when menu selection was completed and the lounge commenced to jump.

Returning to his Shipways abode Fred relished his experience as he prepared to ignite his Webber grill for a traditional barbecue. What a life! On David and Maryhelen's agenda was their return to Forest Place and Eden Street to wait with great anticipation for Charlestown Pride Week. A major component of the festive activities is Mayor Renie Murphy Walsh's evening at the Eden Street Park. Future details appear in the calendar section of the Patriot. It will prove to be a welcome prelude to the summer and a worthwhile event hosting the community.

New England Aquarium Executive Director John H. Prescott, no stranger to the town and a hopeful soon-to-be-working professional in the Yard, released a letter and accompanying brochure detailing the aquarium's proud parent program. Citing a food budget in excess of $60,000 annually, John needs general support to keep the aquatic animals well-nourished. A diverse and exotic group, ranging from the bottlenosed dolphin to catfish, need succor on their supplementary budget. Interested parties can forward an appropriate donation to the aquarium at Central Wharf in Boston, or call 973-5200 for a brochure and adoption form. Bunker Hill Knights of Columbus activist and racing enthusiast Charlie "Peps" Papsadoro was curious as to where the aquarium purchases the fish to feed the many mammals, birds, invertebrates, reptiles and fish. His curiosity will lead him to the executive director's office to determine the procurement policy. He will have to rely on his entrepreneurial skills to launch his fish baiting enterprise. If successful in the bidding wars, Charlie can depend on part-time trucking baron Paul "Moe" Morrison for the necessary hauling rigs. Modifications will be needed on Moe's existing vehicle, or a new refrigerated one could be purchased. We will all be on the watch for the yet unincorporated "Peps-Moe" fish livery business to flourish and maintain the aquarium families' caloric requirements. One thing for certain, emanating from this venture will be some fishy stories.

Warm days are perfect for walking the area, relaxing on the benches in front of Constitution Quarters or even enjoying the culinary delights of Allan and Janet Kincades' Harborwatch restaurant on Pier 6. A new chef has been brought aboard as the Harborwatch enters its busiest season with great creations and an updated menu.

Special congratulations to Alice and Al Marcella on celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary on June 2. This Anchorage couple has much to be proud of, especially their outstanding family who gave them a superlative gala at the Somerville City Club. Without a word from Anchorage neighbors over the several weeks preceding the event, Alice and Al were joyously surprised and flabbergasted. It was an evening to remember for the family and friends of the loving couple. A belated, loud 50th to Al and Alice Marcella.

Shipways Condominium Association President Jack Cullen wasn't positive if the newly installed sod was from the "old sod," but he wasn't full of blarney when he stated it has made a radical improvement on the Shipways. P & G Lawn Irrigation from Stoneham did a perfect job. Let's keep off the grass with car and foot now that the landscape has returned to normalcy.

Recent Suffolk University graduate Julie Banks received her second lieutenant commission on the USS Constitution on June 3. After a ceremony that she will always cherish, Julie will embark upon an army career in aviation. Uncle Bob Banks was indeed proud with Julie's accomplishments, with one regret that Julie's father Jim, who passed away when she was in grammar school, wasn't there to marvel about his daughter. Good luck, Julie, and happy flying. If you have time on June 13, come celebrate the 214th anniversary of the U.S. Army at the Knights of Columbus under the direction of Ed Lynch. Commencing at 7 p.m., a roast beef buffet will be served. Confirm reservations with Ed at 242-9673.

 Although New England Aquarium planners have not released height specifications on the proposed facility in the Charlestown Navy Yard's Dry Dock 2, boundary lines within the Shipyard Park parcel were discussed with residents at the first public access-urban design answer group Monday night.

 According to Paul Barrett of the Boston Redevelopment Authority, a 30-foot setback from the green space of Shipyard Park has been mandated. The new aquarium would have to fit into the dry dock, possibly extending to First Avenue, and abutting the National Park Service boundary along Pier 3 to where the dry dock ends at the waterfront. The First Avenue boundary would change if buses drop off visitors at the aquarium. Service equipment and access would be located on Pier 3 alongside the aquarium, with views worked into the design for visitors to look out at NPS land.

Linda Rhodes, brand new project manager for the aquarium, told residents

Aquarium Access and Design Group Brings Up Question of Height

that she could only speak conceptually about the proposed facility and its amenities. To date, no architects have been hired and no design decisions on entrances, exits or service plans have been made.

THE BOUNDARIES of the proposed New England Aquarium in the Navy Yard's Dry Dock 2 are suggested here. They include a BRA-mandated 30-foot setback from the grassy area of Shipyard Park. The recently placed boardwalk and benches along the dry dock's edge would move to an extended and widened Pier 3, a build-out to be paid for by an undetermined private source.

The concept for the new aquarium includes a "Walk with the Whales" 15 feet below water which would bring people about a foot away from the animals and take up about a third of the dry dock; an amphitheater to replace Central Wharf's Discovery for 1,500 people watching live animal shows; a hands-on tide pool with starfish and clams for children; and herring and penguin exhibits.

The aquarium would be enclosed in transparent acrylic which comes in 50-by 30-foot panels, and designs would have to limit shading for the animals.

In conceptual drawings, the proposed facility appears taller than neighboring Building 36, current home for Massachusetts Water Resources Authority offices and an estimated 45-foot structure, excluding the high pitched roof. Very preliminary plans of the new aquarium suggest a building 45 feet high around the dry dock, and the dome, 15 feet above that at its highest point.

One resident questioned the historic factor of the Yard and the dry dock in relation to height, calling the proposed facility a "glass skyscraper laying on its side." Rhodes was asked to bring back height specifications for the aquarium, and at least the minimum limits she could expect the new facility would need.

In addition to the site

The BRA-mandated 30-foot setback resulted in a loss of about 20,000 square feet for the aquarium, Rhodes said, and that would create a "challenge" in designing exhibits and visitor services. She said a second floor or changes in exhibits might accommodate the loss of space.

Aquarium 'Answer Group' Meeting On Urban Design and Access

The last in the scheduled series of New England Aquarium "Answer Groups" will focus on urban design and public access issues that have been raised by the community in relation to the aquarium's proposal to construct a new facility in Dry Dock 2 in the Charlestown Navy Yard.

This meeting will be held on Tuesday, June 13 at 7 p.m. in the BRA offices, Building 34, second floor, Charlestown Navy Yard.

The public is welcome to attend.

Marsden Selected As Quinn Scholarship Recipient

The Michael P. Quinn Scholarship Fund members have selected Daniel Joseph Marsden as the 1989 recipient. Marsden is the first winner to receive the increased award of $1,500. He is the youngest child of John and Barbara Marsden of 34 Cook St.

A May 25 graduate of Don Bosco Technical High

School, Marsden achieved principal awards in algebra, English and woodworking over his distinguished high school career. Maintaining an intensive course schedule, Marsden prudently managed to assist in his high school costs by working in various corporate service positions.

With poise and discipline, he also contributed to the Charlestown Teen Connection, the first annual Citywide Youth Congress, the Youth Outreach Program and the Police Teen Relations Task Force. A member of the Charlestown Boys & Girls Club and a graduate of St. Francis de Sales Grammar School, Marsden's commitment to his beloved town knows no boundaries.

Diligent and dedicated to reaching his goal to professionally contribute to the building construction environment, Marsden will begin that journey on Aug. 28 when he enrolls at the Wentworth Institute of Technology with the Class of 1993.

His career is in the nurturing stage, and the committee members know that Daniel Marsden and his determination to return benefits to the community will bring his goals to fruition.

To Daniel Marsden and his loving family, we know the future will shine bright.

If you thought the door was closed to owning a home, here's your window of opportunity.

Bank of Boston's
First Step Mortgage® Program brings the dream of owning a first home a lot closer to reality for a lot more people.

It's a special program that lowers the cost for first-time buyers of moderately-priced homes. We're introducing the program with the lowest rate around. If you buy a home in Greater Boston, it's just 8.65% for the first year.

But that's not all we lowered. We reduced closing costs and eliminated application fees and points.

With reductions like these, you can increase your purchasing power. For example, a household income of $45,000 can qualify you for a single family home costing up to $140,000.

If you're an individual who makes $35,000 or less, or two or more people who make $45,000 or less, there's an easy way to find out how much house you qualify for. Just call one of our First Step specialists. But, call right away because funds available at this rate are limited and a portion is designated for newly-built homes in Boston.

Certain conditions apply to this offer. *APR is for owner-occupied homes with 10% down payment for a term of 30 years and is based on index in effect on 5/23/89. The rate for the first 12 months will be 8.65% with equal monthly payments of $7.80 per thousand. The rate for the second 12 months will be 9.375% with equal monthly payments of $8.31 per thousand. The rate for the third 12 months will be 10.125% with equal monthly payments of $8.85 per

Fifth-Grade Problem Solvers Meet With Rep. Voke And Sen. Doris

Rep. Richard A. Voke and Sen. Francis Doris recently met with St. Catherine's School fifth-grade problem solvers as they visited the State House on Beacon Hill for a tour and firsthand view of the Massachusetts Legislature in action.

These fifth-graders are Charlestown youngsters who display an intelligence and problem-solving ability above that of the average. The 11 children were led by fifth-grade teacher Lee Buelt and chaperoned by Nellie Gilgunn of Charlestown, who is also the mother of a problem solver.

Doris, after having met the problem solvers, commented that, "These children are obviously special young individuals who are already displaying independent thinking and judgment and have all the ability to grow up and enjoy successful futures."

Voke noted: "I was very impressed with the inquisitiveness and understanding these children displayed. They exhibited all the qualities and abilities that will no doubt bring them to positions of leadership in the future. We are proud that they are a part of our community."

Traffic Key Issue At Council Meeting

for some time.

The meeting was scheduled to open with a public safety discussion, and representatives from both the Boston Police and Fire departments were expected to attend. Neither department sent a delegate to discuss concerns raised at last month's meeting on pedestrian safety in the City

Square and Training Field areas and fire protection issues related to problems at the Sullivan Square Fire Station.

Committee chairman Stillman reported on the committee's May 9 meeting, when Community Relations Officer Joe McNulty told members that fines will be levied on speeding vehicles at $10 for every mile over the speed limit after a 10 m.p.h. grace limit. Speeders can be fined $50 for exceeding the 30 m.p.h. speed limit in Charlestown.

McNulty had also reported that auto thieves, if caught, will be made liable for damage to the vehicle they stole; dirt bikes must be registered and have a licensed driver; mopeds are required to have a sticker and the driver must wear a helmet; drivers who are stopped for a motor vehicle violation and do not have their license with them, could be arrested and held for bail if computers are down; and if a motorist is found to have outstanding parking violations, and has been stopped for a traffic violation, he could be locked up and held for bail. McNulty said the Gang Squad, officers trained to disburse gangs lingering and causing nuisances in parks, street corners, etc., is currently patrolling Charlestown between 7 p.m. and 3 a.m.

Upset with the lack of representation from the police and fire departments at the meeting, council members will request a meeting with the police and fire commissioners to discuss the community concerns raised at various meetings. Also requested to meet with the council will be Boston Transportation Department Commissioner Richard Dimino.

McLaughlin stated: "The council has talked for a long time on traffic and how cars will move through an area with no discussion on pedestrians. If we don't demand our safety, the police will assume they are correct in the coverage they give us. We have to fight for our safety, both pedestrian and fire safety. We all have to do more."

It was noted at the meeting that increases in traffic can be seen on Main, Bunker Hill and Medford streets. Some of this traffic is believed to be CANA-related, while residents of other areas feel that the increase of activity in the Navy Yard has caused additional traffic as well. The placement of traffic lights at Hayes Square, Monument and Medford streets, Adams and Common streets and Main and Eden streets to protect pedestrians, will be requested by the council when it meets with these city departments.

According to the council, additional police details in City Square between 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. and an officer stationed at the Training Field are also needed to assist pedestrians, especially the elderly and children who are finding it difficult to cross at those intersections.

The breakdown of Ladder 9 last week when it attempted to respond to a fire on Elm Street made it necessary to call for a ladder truck from the South End. The incident aroused concerns about possible hazards to residents' safety, with fears of traffic being bottlenecked at entrances to Charlestown during peak hours and inadequate equipment within the community to fight fires. These issues will be discussed when council members meet with the fire commissioner. The cutback on manpower at area fire stations will also be discussed.

Former council member and retired firefighter Marty O'Brien stated: "Since last month's discussion on the lack of manpower, a fire occurred on Elm Street and the only ladder truck in town could not respond. The fire department says 'don't worry.' They keep putting us off."

Looney said: "When we talked about safety in Charlestown we said, 'What do we have to wait for to get results — someone to get killed?' Someone has died due to a traffic accident in City Square."

Conway added: "The main responsibility for the safety of our residents is with the police and fire departments. There will be another death if nothing is done."

Housing And Development Committee Medford Street Car Wash
In the absence of committee chairman Cunha, Looney reported on a May 25 meeting on the proposed car wash at the Charlestown Service Station on Medford Street.

Looney stated that a presentation was made at the meeting by Attorney Allen Jarasitis for the White family, owners of the gas station, and comments were allowed from the public both in favor and in opposition to the proposal. He noted that objections came from abutters on noise, traffic, land depreciation and hours of operation, especially on weekends. Looney also said that many residents at the meeting were in favor of a car wash at the site. The committee, he stated, voted to recommend approval of the car wash.

Council members allowed discussion of the issue from both sides to help them better understand the proposal. On behalf of the opponents who live at Cobblestone Landing, Gerard Doherty of Washington Street addressed the council. He spoke of the site's history, how it is situated next to the John Doherty Park, "named after his cousin," and the designation of the area by the Boston Redevelopment Authority for housing in the original urban renewal plan.

"That land was established for housing not by accident, but on purpose by the BRA," he said. Referring to the White family proposal, Doherty stated: "He said he'd put up a storage shed on the grounds. He put up a car wash. A similar fight took place 15 to 18 years ago on Main Street, and the watch word was 'quality of life.' Main Street didn't want a car wash. I can't see any difference why Main Street should have quality of life while Medford Street not have the same advantage."

Doherty admitted that he had a selfish interest, having spent $4 million on the adjacent condominium development, but also had a "moral obligation to those who bought the units."

Jarasitis explained that the Whites' request for a public car wash has been going on since 1986. He admitted, "I can understand their (abutters) concern. They have invested a lot of money (at Cobblestone Landing). Their concerns are primarily monetary. The Whites also have to justify their investment."

CHAD And The Flatley Co. To Host Play About Substance Abuse

A play about a 16-year-old Rhode Island boy who died from substance abuse will be presented at Charlestown High School on Wednesday, June 14 at 7 p.m. for parents and the general public. This production is being sponsored by Charlestown Against Drugs and The Flatley Co. as part of the ongoing drug prevention program for Charlestown youth.

"Eddie" is a production of IMP-ACT, a Rhode Island-based improvisational musical performance group that calls itself a "catalyst for action against substance abuse." IMP-ACT brings its own director, producer, title-role actor and singer/musician. The rest of the cast and crew will be composed of high-school-age students from Charlestown and CHS. In over an eight-to 10-hour rehearsal period, IMP-ACT will work with students on understanding the play's story and improvising its scenes.

According to Nancy Mundy, producer of IMP-ACT, "The play is intended to increase understanding and awareness of substance abuse, provide specific information on its signs and effects, propose life-styles and attitudes that can prevent dependence on drugs, and give students, teachers and parents a chance to work together on a project to combat the growing menace of substance abuse."

"Eddie" has been performed in over 500 schools in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New Hampshire, Michigan, Georgia and North Carolina. It's free and open to the public, and if you're the parent or concerned neighbor of a school-age child, we urge you to go see it.

lyn Mahoney, Pam McKinnon and Marsden. The contestants arrived at the hall shortly before 6 p.m. on the night of the contest and drew numbers to determine the order in which they would meet the contest judges and be presented to the audience.

The judges were Mary Pat Caputo of the Flatley Co.; Brendan Scannell, Consul-General of Ireland in Boston; and Vincent Cannon, past president, Mayo Association of Boston.

Following a three- to five-minute interview with each of the young women, the judges turned their scoring sheets over to the tabulators and the winner and runner-up were determined. Tabulators were Tom Clifford and Bill Godfrey from the staff of "Ireland On The Move." Eleanor Smith served as overseer of the contest, a position she has held since the inception of the Charlestown Rose Contest some six years ago.

As family and friends awaited the announcement, a delicious roast beef and turkey dinner was served by Scalli Caterers, and the gathering was entertained by the music of the Andy Healy Band. The hall had been decorated with roses for the occasion by Jay Farris.

Just after 9 p.m., Peter Looney, Charlestown-To-Charlestown Committee chairman, took the microphone to welcome the gathering, to introduce past Charlestown Roses, Mayors and committee members, and to present the Master of Ceremonies John Curran, host of the "Sounds of Erin" Irish radio program on WNTN 1550 AM.

PETER LOONEY, chairman, Charlestown-To-Charlestown Committee, sponsors of the Rose Contest.

Each of the young women were escorted into the hall by her father, mother, relative or special friend to the rousing applause of family and friends. They ascended onto a platform and proceeded along a runway decorated with small lights and red roses as Curran introduced each contestant, making special note of her "Irish Roots."

The contestants were then seated with their families and 1988 Charlestown Rose Allyson O'Callahan was introduced. O'Callahan told the contestants that they should be proud to be in the contest — no matter the outcome, noting "you are all beautiful."

ALLYSON O'CALLAHAN, 1988 Charlestown Rose, made her farewell remarks.

Curran then introduced 1989 Charlestown Mayor Renie Murphy Walsh, who thanked the audience for attending the event and went directly to unfolding the paper with the name of the runner-up — Denise Kelly. It was noted that if for any reason the Rose was unable to serve her year, Kelly as the runner-up would assume her duties and prerogatives. Kelly was presented with an award of $500.

At last the long-awaited moment had arrived. A hush filled the hall as O'Callahan and Walsh opened the paper to learn the name of the 1989 Charlestown Rose. Walsh read — Barbie Marsden. Marsden Maryann, Cathy and Danny.

Marsden, a graduate of Christopher Columbus High School, is attending U/Mass Boston and majoring in nursing. Asked which area of nursing interests her most, she replied geriatrics and pediatrics — both ends of the age scale — and at this point she is not sure in which direction her career will turn.

She became interested in geriatrics during her six years working at the Regina Cleri Nursing Home. Marsden said that her interest in pediatrics comes from her involvement with her 10 nieces and nephews. She added that actually there are only nine at the moment, but another is on the way so she counts the future arrival. She said that working with the Pop Warner D Team also stimulated her interest in children.

Marsden said that Friday night's contest was the third that she had entered. She said that she drew the sixth position and that the three judges were totally new to her. She said that the judges sat at three separate tables in an upstairs room at the Knights and took turns asking her questions.

She noted that when she first entered the Rose Contest, she was just 18 and was somewhat immature and giddy. Two years later she entered a second time and mer and what was most striking to her. Marsden said the judges also talked with her about her poetry, the subjects and style. She added that her best poems are developed when she is sad, similar to the verses of many Irish authors.

Marsden said that when Denise Kelly was announced runner-up of the contest, she sat with her family and her mind ran down the list of contestants — Nancy Davis, Pam McKinnon and Marsden had been in the contest before — and then she heard her name called as the winner. She said she couldn't move for a few seconds, she was so shocked.

sat stunned for a few seconds and then made her way to the stage amid the hugs and kisses of her family to claim her title. O'Callahan and Walsh presented her with her regalia as 1989 Charlestown Rose including a sash, crown and, of course, a bouquet of red roses.

Marsden took the traditional walk down the runway, posing for photographs and waving to the cheering crowd. Her father Jack, who acted as her escort, was invited to come forward and lead the new Rose from the stage.

Family is important to the new Charlestown Rose as she talks proudly of her mother and father, Barbara and John Marsden of Cook St., and her brothers and sisters Nancy, Patty, Jackie, felt that she was very serious. This year, two years later, Marsden said she decided that she wasn't going to get her hopes up — she was going to relax and just be herself.

The judges asked no trick questions, Marsden said. They focused on school, career goals, work, travel and hobbies — for the most part following information she had entered on her contest application.

Marsden works as office manager in the Freedom Trail Clinic, the outpatient clinic at the Eric Lindemann Mental Health Center. Since many of the clients are deaf, she has learned sign language and the judges asked her to sign for them.

They asked her about her travels in Europe last sum-

Marsden said that she had been undecided whether to enter the contest this year. She waited until the end, and when she saw in the Patriot that the deadline had been extended, she went to the committee and filled out her application. She was still undecided and asked the chairman the latest she could withdraw. A friend asked her if she had a one in 10 chance of winning a trip to Ireland or a one in 10 chance of winning $500 would she take it, and she replied "yes." So, with that in mind and with the encouragement of her parents, she decided to try.

Marsden said that she told very few of her decision to enter the contest. In fact, many of her friends didn't know until her photograph appeared in the Patriot the week before the contest. She added that she is glad she didn't drop out.

The girls who were in the contest for the first time were very nervous, said Marsden. She told them to just relax and be themselves and whether they win or lose, go and have a good time. Just after the conclusion of the contest, Marsden was encouraging this year's participants to try again next year.

Marsden said that the weekend following the contest was so exciting — in fact, she said, her win still hasn't become a reality. She said her dad called everyone he knew to tell them the news and people stopped her on the street to congratulate her.

She said that she hadn't told anyone at work that she had entered the contest. Marsden laughed as she related going into the office on Monday and sitting at her desk all morning wearing the crown and sash, with the pink Charlestown Rose program book on her blotter. She added that the clients and her boss thought it was great and it was fun to see people's reactions.

When she told her boss that she would be making official visits to Boston's mayor and city councillors, as well as to the Massachusetts House and Senate, her boss asked her to make a push for mental health funding. Marsden said she doubted that she as Charlestown Rose would have that much influence.

Marsden now looks forward to her participation in the Bunker Hill Day Parade and the trip to Ireland. She claims the counties of Cork and Kerry as her Irish Roots, and is thrilled that her win will enable her and her mother to visit Ireland — a trip she has wanted to take for a long time.

The Charlestown-To-Charlestown Committee will now be finalizing plans for the upcoming Aug. 8-19 tour of Ireland, where

Charlestown Rose Barbara Marsden will compete in the Western Rose Festival on Aug. 11. Members of the committee include Chairman Peter Looney, Peg

Bradley, Jim Fitzgerald, Arthur Hurley, Carol McClellan, John McLaughlin, Paul Morceau, John Reveliotis and Mary Lou Tracy.

Thank You

I would like to thank all my children, family and friends for all the baskets and cards I received at the hospital, and thanks to Beverly Gibbons and Shelia Walsh for caring about me. I also want to thank Mary Little and friends for the basket they sent me in the hospital.

I want to extend a special thanks to Phyllis Bryant for getting me back into the hospital in an emergency. She was just great. Thanks a lot, Phyllis.

I will soon be back at Papa Gino's for a large pizza with the works.

Sincerely,
A Townie — Peggy O'Keefe

Our Thanks

Dear Mrs. Conway:

On behalf of the 37,000 girls and adult volunteers served by Patriots' Trail Girl Scout Council, we would like to thank the Charlestown Patriot for publishing articles about the 1989 Girl Scout Cookie Sale. Your support has helped to successfully promote a fund-raising, as well as programmatic event which directly benefits Girl Scouts throughout the community.

By participating in the Cookie Sale, local Girl Scout troops had the opportunity to raise funds for troop activities, such as special events, camp-outs and community service projects. In addition, individual girls earned "camp credits," which are used to defer the cost of summer camp options, offered by Patriots' Trail Girl Scout Council and Girl Scouts of the USA.

Once again, thank you for your outward support of local Girl Scouting, as well as the betterment of today's youth.

Sincerely,

Judy Evers Has Been On The Scene

Councillor Thomas M. Menino
Boston City Hall
Boston, Mass. 02201

Dear Councillor Menino,

I am chairman of a citizens group which is seeking to improve public transportation to the Charlestown Navy Yard and the town. Since our committee's inception a year ago, Judy Evers has provided invaluable secretarial support as we pressure the MBTA to improve these essential services. I want to emphasize that such support services were not available from any other existing offices — neither the City Council nor our representatives in the State House. Though they support our efforts, these officials are not on the scene like Judy Evers.

I know the budgetary pressures are great this year. However, by eliminating Judy Evers and the Office of Neighborhood Services, you would be undercutting grassroots democracy.

Please focus budget cuts in areas which do not impact directly on community services.

Sincerely,
William R. Meyer

A Night I'll Never Forget

Dear Gloria,

I would like to express my absolute delight upon being chosen as the 1989 Charlestown Irish Rose. I consider it truly an honor to hold this title and am looking forward to the coming year.

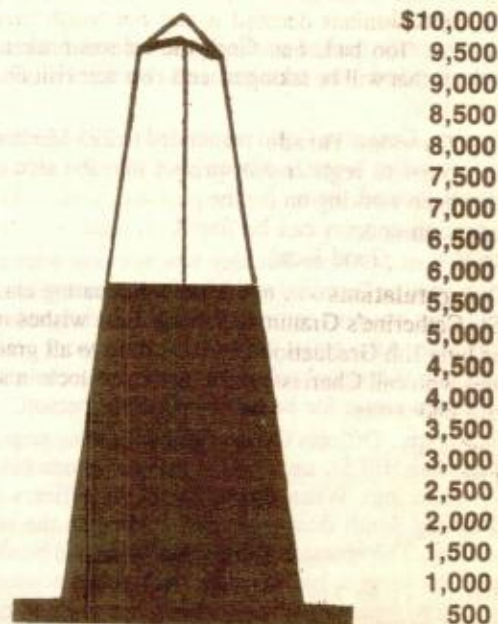

I'd like to thank the Charlestown-To-Charlestown Committee for its help, my family and friends who were there to support me, those who couldn't attend but called to wish me luck, and all those who attended the contest and made it such a success. I also want to thank Allyson O'Callahan and Susan Lyons for offering their support and shared experiences as former Roses. A special thanks to the Patriot and the cable stations for their coverage of the night, and Mr. Flatley and all of the other sponsors of the contest. I'd also like to say thanks to the three judges, Ms. Caputo, Mr. Cannon and Mr. Scannell, and, of course, the overseer, Eleanor Smith.

I'd also like to congratulate Renie Murphy Walsh on her election as Mayor of Charlestown. I look forward to going to Ireland with her! Also congratulations to Denise Kelly for being chosen as first runner-up, and to all of the Roses who participated in the contest. It was a night I'll never forget.

Best regards,

Not For Nothin' . . . But Have You Heard . . .

• They're The First . . . The very first . . . Charlestown residents to move into an affordable housing unit in the community. Our warmest best wishes to Patty and Joe Kelly of Austin Street, who along with Kelly and Shauna, have moved into one of the Bricklayers units on 13th Street in the Navy Yard . . . Finally, after almost four years, it's so good to see Townies move into an affordable home! . . . Word has it that many more will be passing papers in the next few weeks as each unit becomes "home" to those who have waited for so long!

• If At First You Don't Succeed, Try, Try Again! . . . That's the case with this year's Charlestown Rose contest winner Barbie Marsden. Barbie had the crown turned over to her by last year's winner Allyson O'Callahan last Friday night at the annual event. This is her third try for the crown. Barbie said that the first year she was too nervous, the second year too serious, but this year just signed up for the fun of it — and the rest is history! Good luck, Barbie, and congratulations to all the lovely "Roses" who entered this year. Truly the loveliest of Charlestown's Bouquets!

• No Carnival This Year . . . The Kiwanis Club anticipated holding a Kiddie Carnival on Sunday, the 18th, but due to the great expense of obtaining permits, the Kiwanians decided it was not worth their while . . . Too bad, but check the calendar for all the events that will be taking place as Bunker Hill Day approaches!

• Doll Carriage Parade . . . is fast approaching. Don't forget to register that prize-winning carriage you've been working on for the past six months. The registration coupon can be found on page 4 of the Patriot . . . Good luck!

• Congratulations . . . to the 1989 graduating class of St. Catherine's Grammar School. Best wishes on your June 11th Graduation Day! . . . ditto to all graduates who call Charlestown home. Good luck in all future endeavors.

• Last Call . . . for tickets to St. Mary's Harbor Cruise. The June 16th sailing will leave you at the dock if you don't buy your ticket today! Call the rectory at 242-4664, Monday to Friday between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

• Missing From The Action . . . At monthly neighborhood council meetings are council members Terry Cullen and Chris Page. Terry represents Precinct 2, including the Housing Project and the Navy Yard — two areas much in the news lately with planned development issues, and Chris was voted in as the representative of Precinct 4. Seems unfair that their two seats are vacant when representation of their constituents goes unheard each month. Council bylaws should be reviewed! . . . also noticeably missing from all council and committee meetings is a representative from the BRA! Is it indeed true that David's shoes can't be filled? — hard to believe!

• Here's Where To Write . . . Residents trying to contact the Charlestown Neighborhood Council can write to them c/o Chairman Dennis McLaughlin, 26 Mount Vernon St., Charlestown . . . if you have an immediate problem, contact Judy Evers at the Mayor's Office of Neighborhood Services at 725-3485. She can help you or relay your message to the council.

• Happy 13th Birthday . . . to Clare Wilkins of High Street who celebrated becoming a teen-ager yesterday, June 7. Word has it that festivities began with a Chinese feast at a well-known restaurant on Route 1 on Tuesday and continued on Wednesday at the Carousel in Hull on Wednesday . . . Hope your celebration was delightful and your teen-age years are a joy to your parents.

• This Week's Good Neighbor Award . . . Goes out to Jim Walsh of St. Martin Street for pulling his car over to the side of the road last week to help two young lads cross the heavily traveled Main Street during the morning rush hour. Good for you, Jim! . . . Note to parents on Main Street and in Mishawum Park . . . Please tell the kiddies to go to the crossing guard at the corner of Essex and Main streets. She has been put there for your child's safety — and is doing a fine job! She can't help if the kids are darting out between cars 15 yards away from her. The culprits are students in uniforms trying to get up to Bunker Hill Street to school. Father John is trying to help by talking to the kids — It's you, the parents, who must see that the kids don't dart out into the ever-increasing traffic on Main Street!

• She's Done It . . . graduated from Katherine Gibbs, that is. Bobbie and Kenny's daughter Joelle DeCarlo of Sackville Street received her diploma on June 5. Congrats, Joelle. Heard Mom and Dad are quite proud!

• His Big Day Is Coming . . . June 12th will mark the 67th birthday of Mel Stillman. Have a great year, Mel!

Aquarium Details Benefits For Charlestown

by Lynn Peters

The latest benefit package proposed by the New England Aquarium includes, what aquarium officials believe are, specific dollar amounts and Charlestown-targeted programs.

Don Vincent, aquarium spokesman, presented the four-page list to residents and members of the Charlestown Neighborhood Council on May 31 at the second of two scheduled meetings to discuss benefits from the proposed aquarium in the Navy Yard's Dry Dock 2. The entire package, he said, is worth $86 million.

Vincent said more than 1,300 construction jobs will be available and some 250 new permanent jobs would be created. Currently, the aquarium and the Charlestown JobStart office are working to place residents in current jobs at the Central Wharf facility. A $200,000 jobs-linkage payment would go to training programs and a plan would be developed to optimize the opportunities for Charlestown residents to be hired for aquarium-related positions.

Educational programs for Charlestown would include elderly, youth and special needs programs; evening adult lectures and entertainment; a teacher training package to begin in September, expected to be worth $17,500 annually for biology and marine education in the classroom; and a live animal program that would travel to groups such as the Boys & Girls Club, the Kennedy Center and the Golden Age Senior Center. All classrooms in Charlestown would visit the aquarium free once a year through field trips.

Vincent said some $16 million would be spent by the aquarium on goods and services from Charlestown merchants, although he admitted that not all products could be found locally at this time. A million dollars in affordable housing linkage money would be contributed. Charlestown residents would be given free admission for one day each year and 25 percent discounted membership for all families.

Paul Barrett of the Boston Redevelopment Authority also suggested a 25-cent surcharge on each car parked in any garage built on public land. He said the proposed 700-car Yard's End garage for aquarium visitors would translate to $100,000 each year. That money would be funneled into a neighborhood trust fund administered by Charlestown representatives to be spent in the community however they decide.

"This is an attempt to create a continuing revenue stream," Barrett said, "by generating money from a direct impact and putting it back into the community."

Barrett also suggested leasing out pushcarts to neighborhood non-profit groups to bring in more community funds. This would create another $100,000 annually, according to Barrett.

Council Chairman Dennis McLaughlin suggested that aquarium planners rethink a one-day Charlestown-exclusive admission, because not all would be able to enjoy the aquarium on such a limited schedule. Some residents denounced the entire package as not enough to cover the coming impacts or compensate for the loss of Shipyard Park.

It is expected that the community and aquarium officials will continue to refine the Charlestown benefits package. Neighbors are requested to attend any upcoming public discussions, which will be announced in the Patriot, to provide additional input.

Travaglini To Hold Second Meeting On Brighton Street Area Traffic

Charlestown residents living between the Sullivan Square MBTA Station and the Somerville border are invited to attend a second meeting on traffic problems in the area. The meeting will be held at the St. Joseph's Jesuit Center in Sullivan Square, tonight, Thursday, June 8 at 7 p.m.

City Councillor Robert Travaglini, Commissioner Richard Dimino of the Boston Transportation Department and a representative of the Boston Police Department will be on hand to discuss solutions with residents on alleviating speeding and traffic volume problems. These issues were raised at an April 5 meeting chaired by Travaglini and held at the Charlestown Working Theater.

Streets impacted by the problems to be addressed at this meeting include Brighton, Caldwell, Carter, Clinton Place, Crescent, Parker, Perkins and Roland. Residents of these streets are urged to attend. For more information, please call Charlie Clabaugh in Travaglini's office at 725-3200.

Green Street Battle Of The Barrels

Despite the city ordinance that prohibits people from putting barrels, lawn chairs and other such save-this-spot-for-me devices in the streets without a permit, it is a long-standing tradition in Charlestown.

Green Street resident Connie Ryan removed her neighbor's barricade and found a "neighborly" note on her car. Here is the note she received and her response:

For your information, removing the barrels placed here is rude and inconsiderate. I am your neighbor and have every right to reserve a space when I leave, just as you do.

Please have consideration in the future — I have to see your face almost every day.

Sincerely,
A.E.R.

In response to the note that was left on my car last week, I would like to inform you that the law of ordinance states that no one person has the right to place a barrel on the street in order to reserve their own parking space.

Please decline from any such information that you write and leave on cars, such as the note that I received which was very rude.

Sincerely,
Connie Ryan

Disappointed In The Coverage

Dear Editor,

Please don't editorialize — report!

I am very disappointed in the Patriot's coverage of the Aquarium's (sic) Community Benefits meeting on May 24: "Disruptive Performers Demand More From Aquarium." To paraphrase, the aquarium played Santa and a group of residents played the role of dissatisfied kids. As a resident who attended most of the early Aquarium Focus Groups, and who originally proposed payments from the aquarium for affordable housing, and who was told by members of the neighborhood council that such payments were definitely not a possibility because of the aquarium's "nonprofit" status, I am dismayed!

Now the aquarium "generously" states that it will provide $1 million for affordable housing and the Patriot characterizes those who ask for more as "ingrates." I think $1 million for affordable housing and the other proposed community benefits (school programs, jobs, etc. most presumably in place for Boston residents) is a very small price to pay for better waterfront space worth at least $90 million, given the aquarium may sell its present site (obtained for $25,000 from the city) for at least $90 million or more.

For these "benefits" the aquarium asks Charlestown to give up a safe waterfront park, used by all residents of Charlestown, and to tolerate two million visitors, traffic, parking and ensuing health problems permanently.

Patriot editor, please be fair in your reporting and keep the editorials on a separate page where they belong.

Respectfully,
Mary Sullivan

Editor's Note: We call 'em the way we see 'em. Thank you for your interest in the AQUARIUM.

To My Unsigned Friend ... I Have Not Nor Will I Ever Forget My Own

Dear Gloria,

To my unsigned friend in last week's Patriot Letters To The Editor, let me say this without reservation: I have not nor will I ever forget my own. Having lived, worked and attended school in this community, I remember all too well when Charlestown lost jobs and families, and for this reason I believe the city must do all that it can to keep businesses and residents, both old and new, here.

If you read the article "Tradition Spurs Callahan," you would know that I said that the city could accomplish this by working for and providing affordable housing, jobs and a decent education to all of its residents. You would also know that I said, "The city must discourage speculation on residential housing and that speculators give nothing to a community, but artificially raise the price of homes." As a young homeowner in Charlestown, I am keenly aware of how difficult it is for our young people to remain here, and for this reason I support tax incentives for new homeowners.

I stand for a strong and unified Charlestown, a community that will pull together to help the elderly, the unemployed, and the homeless. If you stand with me, we can have a much needed voice in city government.

Sincerely,
Brian Callahan, Candidate
Boston City Council District 1

Blake Is All Wet When It Comes To Facts And Figures About Aquarium

Dear Gloria:

Phoebe Blake is all WET when it comes to honest facts and figures about the New England Aquarium's proposed use of Dry Dock 2 at the Charlestown Navy Yard. (See the June 1, 1989 Patriot, Letters To The Editor.)

Phoney Blake and her small clique have been trying to create the impression that the aquarium and the BRA are taking the only park and open space away from the people of Charlestown. Nothing could be further from the facts and the truth.

Blake conveniently ignores the fact that there is a 30-acre public park right next to Dry Dock 2 known as the Boston National Historic Park. This is a public park on the Charlestown waterfront and open to the public and the people of Charlestown. It is right next door to Dry Dock 2.

Dry Dock 2 is not the most prominent historic and scenic element of the Navy Yard as implied by Blake. Dry Dock 1 is far more historic and scenic with the USS Constitution and historic park next door. Over 1 million people visited the USS Constitution last year. How many people visited Dry Dock 2? And they came and went without any notice, or traffic and parking problems on the streets of Charlestown in spite of CANA.

Blake claims that there is a growing number of people who oppose the aquarium moving to Charlestown. That is just not true.

The fact is that a growing number of Charlestown residents are getting fed up with the likes of Blake and her husband Peter McClure. They have a hidden agenda of opposition to economic development. They are interfering with the lives of the people who are the least powerful and the most vulnerable. I'm talking about the kids and the senior citizens. They are interfering with the economic hope for the immediate future of the poor people of Charlestown. Who do they think they are — God?

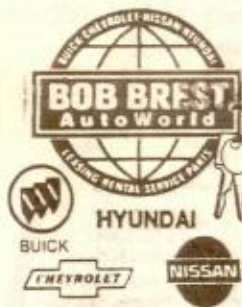

Furthermore, the U.S. Park Service has reported in a 1987 boundary study that Dry Dock 2 should not remain flooded because of the waves and the weather which are destroying both the dry dock and the surrounding area. Also, in 1987, the Park Service and the community agreed to redesignate Dry Dock 2 from a preservation zone to a development zone in the general management plan for the Charlestown Navy Yard — a community plan and process.

Blake is dripping with half truths, distortions and misinformation in opposing the aquarium and all the benefits it would bring to the people of Charlestown.

Just as a rising tide lifts all boats, so will the aquarium lift all the people of Charlestown. We don't need the likes of Phoebe Blake to help us.

Sincerely yours,
Ilene O'Connor

Time Capsule Opened . . .

by Kathy Giordano

St. Catherine of Siena School eighth-graders buried a time capsule in Hayes Square last September containing predictions on the presidential election, major sporting events, high schools they thought they would be attending after graduation and lists of personal goals they had set for themselves during their last year at school.

Last week the students dug up the capsule that had been buried behind the parish rectory for nine months. Overseeing the event were teacher Grace Alexander, Principal William Fay and Pastor Rev. Thomas Reilly.

Seventeen sealed envelopes had been placed in the container, one for each student. Also included in each packet were personal items such as pictures, newspaper clippings, baseball cards and anything the student thought was special to him or her. The students were given the option of opening their envelopes or keeping them sealed until after high school graduation. Most agreed that they would open them before their grammar school graduation.

Of the predictions made, the majority of the students stated that their high school destinations were not what they predicted they would be last fall, but proudly claimed that their presidential election guesses were on the mark. Only one student admitted he picked the Democratic candidate. All agreed that the event of forecasting the future was one they enjoyed and hoped would be carried on by their fellow schoolmates as each class entered the eighth grade.

Fay added that the project worked in conjunction with this year's school theme, "We Live In The Information Age."

SAINTS ALIVE

"Must I wait until I die to know if I will be in heaven or hell?" No. Jesus said, "Verily, verily, I say unto you, he that heareth my word, and believeth on Him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation (judgment); but is passed from death unto life." (John 5:24). The penitent thief who died with Jesus on the cross was told, "Verily I say unto thee, Today shalt thou be with me in paradise." (Luke 23:43). Another question. "Do I become a Saint while I am living or after death and punishment for sin?" The Bible teaches that Christians are called Saints before they die. Read Rom. 15:25, 1 Cor. 1:2, Eph. 1:1, Col. 1:2. For those who accept Jesus Christ as Savior and become Saints, there is no fear of ever being punished for their sin in the afterlife. The Bible teaches that Christ has suffered for us already, "For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that He might bring us to God." (1 Pet. 3:18). Therefore Saints or Christians who are alive now will not have to suffer for sins that God's Son has already suffered for. Have you become a Saint? For more help visit our Church.

St. Mary's Annual Mass Of Anointing

St. Mary's annual Mass of Anointing was held at the Knights of Columbus Hall recently. The Bunker Hill Council 62 donates the hall each year for this popular event.

The Rev. Thomas Brennan of Don Bosco High School was the principal celebrant for the liturgy with concelebrants the Rev.

James B. Canniff, St. Mary's pastor; the Rev. Robert M. Burns, St. Mary's parochial vicar; and retired Rev. Henry Gallagher.

This spiritually uplifting celebration is a labor of love each year for the committee who prepares and serves a luncheon following the liturgy. Transportation of non-ambulatory attendees was provided by the members of St. Mary's St. Vincent dePaul Society. Musical entertainment featured organist John Nolan.

The interaction of all those involved with the orchestration of this celebration is community at its best.

Aquarium Access and Design Group Brings Up Question of Height

boundaries and concepts, Don Vincent of the aquarium outlined some answers to community concerns about public access and urban design issues. Among the design commitments that aquarium planners promise are to:

- keep pedestrians away from Yard residences and keep the Yard accessible for residents
- not encroach on Shipyard Park
- not bring the Discovery to Charlestown
- use 7,500 square feet of Dry Dock 2 for office space and rent other space downtown or in Charlestown
- create a water shuttle from Central Wharf to the Navy Yard without interrupting programs on Piers 3 and 4
- create a water shuttle from Charlestown to the airport.

The meeting was the first of two answer groups scheduled this month to answer residents' concerns. Discussions on benefits and traffic and parking have been tense, and resident Ivey St. John said she was skeptical of promises.

"You need to demonstrate to us that it works within the constraints of the dry dock," St. John told Barrett, Rhodes and Vincent, commenting that the aquarium would not fit. "TAMS failed to demonstrate that the traffic would work."

She and other like-minded neighbors argued that the new aquarium would never appropriately fit the space, and that there is no just compensation for the loss of the open dry dock. More pointedly, resident Steve McHugh wanted to know where else in the Navy Yard the public would gain open space for the loss of part of the park parcel.

Barrett, however, said the BRA looks upon the proposed aquarium as an enhancement of the unused dry dock and sees a vibrant Pier 3 as compensation.

"The state money to build out Pier 3 isn't coming," Barrett said. "It'll be built out through the aquarium, and the lost square footage around the dry dock (boardwalk, benches, view) is almost the same as that to be replaced on Pier 3."

However, the extending and widening of Pier 3 and connecting foot bridge to Pier 4, would come from a yet-undetermined "private" source. Barrett said the build-out of Pier 3 would not be financed by the BRA.

Residents are encouraged to attend the next public access-urban design answer group on Tuesday, June 13 for further discussion.

The Senate Ways and Means Committee fiscal '90 budget released last week includes the elimination of the entire advocacy unit of the Office For Children (OFC). The OFC has long supported individual and group advocacy. Help For Children Advocates works one on one with parents and children to help them get the services they are entitled to. The Capitol and Chelsea-Revere-Winthrop Councils For Children are local volunteer advocacy organizations which work to identify and fill gaps in children's services and monitor existing programs to ensure their quality.

"We are appalled that the Senate would eliminate this entire function of the Office

For Children. The savings are so small; only $3 million from a total budget of $12.29 billion," said Michael Oliver of Charlestown, chairman of the Capitol Council For Children. "The Office and Councils For Children have contributed so much with so few resources."

For parents lost in the maze of 766 regulations, social services and mental health agencies, the elimination of HFC Advocates will be devastating. The many volunteers who have contributed countless hours raising money to send kids to camp, analyzing and advocating for legislation and providing training for parents of children with special needs will be lost with these cuts proposed by the Senate Ways and Means.

More than 70 local residents joined the Capitol and Chelsea-Revere-Winthrop Councils for Children, the Chelsea Human Service

Collaborative and the Tax Equity Alliance of Massachusetts June 3 at a major march and rally to protest the state budget cuts and push for fair tax increases. Over 5,000 participated in the march from Copley Square to Northeastern University to the rally outside the State Democratic Issues Convention.

"It was important and exciting to be at the rally with so many residents of Charlestown, Chelsea, East Boston, Revere and Winthrop," said Sheila McMahon, chairwoman of the C-R-W Council for Children. "There is a lot of support for maintaining the important services to our communities."

Anyone interested in learning more about the budget and its impact on local services can contact the Chelsea Human Service Collaborative at 889-6080, or the Councils For Children at 567-1950.

Mellino Dead At 81

Bunker Hill St. A 10 a.m. mass will be said on Thursday, June 15 at St. Mary's Church, 55 Warren St. He will be buried at the Veterans National Cemetery in Bourne.

Not For Nothin' . . .

• Newly Elected . . . As president of the Boston Firefighters Local 718 is Charlestown resident and former "Mayor" Jim Fitzgerald. Congrats, Jim!

• Rightly Deserved . . . This year's Good Neighbor Award from the Department of Mental Health has been awarded to a person who has contributed "above and beyond" to help those in need. It doesn't surprise us that the person so honored is none other than Dennis McLaughlin of Mount Vernon Street. Congratulations, Dennis, and to the DMH for having Dennis working on your behalf!

• Fireman's Memorial Service . . . will take place Sunday, June 11 at 9:30 a.m. at the Firemen's Lot, Forest Hills Cemetery, 123 Morton St. For more information, call 725-3911.

• Proud Great-Grandmother Spreading The Good News . . . Grace Powers stopped by to inform us that Jillian Rose was born this week. This is the second great-granddaughter for Grace. Proud parents are Grace Ann (Walsh) and Marty Rose of Charlestown. Our warmest best wishes to all the family!

• To Be Honored . . . as Legislator of the Year by the Mass. Bar Association is Rep. Sal DiMasi. The honor will be bestowed on Charlestown's Precinct 1 representative at the MBA President's Dinner on June 9 at the Tara Hyannis Hotel and Resort of Cape Cod. An award well deserved, Rep. DiMasi!

• St. Anthony's Annual Feast . . . takes place this weekend, June 9-11, in the North End. Festivities start Friday evening at Prince and Hanover streets at 7 p.m. Saturday's events begin at 3 p.m. and conclude at 11 p.m. On Sunday the traditional procession with the statue of St. Anthony begins at 2 p.m., travels through the streets of the North End and ends at 4 p.m. at the Church of Devotions to St. Anthony. A band concert will conclude the weekend of events at 8 p.m. on Sunday. For more info, call 523-2110.

• Not That Anyone Asked, But . . . A walk by the USS Constitution doesn't seem the same without Tony Costa selling hot dogs and cold drinks . . . With all the money spent in the Navy Yard, couldn't someone foot the bill to have a flag pole installed and hang "Old Glory" for all to admire? The National Park end of the Yard proudly displays the American Flag. Why not from Gate 4 to Gate 5? . . . Did we miss the ceremony? When did the park at Thompson Square receive its official title as John Boyle O'Reilly Park? New sign has been noticed . . . Nice to see the caricature of Bunker Hill Community College president Piedad Robertson at the Front Page. Jim Dobbins did a splendid job. We understand that Piedad can almost look out her office window and see her portrait at the local eatery . . . Time is running out for local businesses to order appropriate red, white and blue bunting for Bunker Hill Week! Check those yellow pages, folks, and show all how proud you are to be part of this community as we celebrate the 214th anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill!

• Hang Out That Flag . . . Wed., June 14th is FLAG DAY!

Bunker Hillbillies To Be Featured On Cable TV Program

Watch BNN-TV cable channels A3 and A8 on Fridays, June 9 and 16 at 7 p.m. to find out what happened to the Bunker Hillbillies.

BNN-TV access producer Kevin Burke of Mystic Street presents the revival performance of the Bunker Hillbillies by Boys & Girls Club talent and calls it "The Life and Times of the Bunker Hillbillies."

The children's performance group was disbanded in 1979 when director Bob Munsted retired after 39 years of service to the Hillbillies. In 1986, Burke and Tim Walsh, a Charlestown realtor and former Bunker Hillbilly, planned a revival of the 1941-79 performance group. The reunion revitalized the Hillbillies in the fall of 1987 under the direction of Steve Coyne.

Burke, a local video producer and a director on BNN-TV's "Charlestown Topics" program, will serve on BNN-TV's June 18 production of the Bunker Hill Day Parade, which will be shown that Sunday evening.

Traffic Key Issue At Council Meeting

Jarasitis stated that the Whites wish to operate the car wash seven days a week but would agree to reduced hours. They hope to operate on Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on Sundays from 11 a.m. and 5 p.m. He further stated that the operation of a car wash at this location would not be a safety hazard, and due to the construction of an addition to the building, noise would be minimal.

Council members voiced their concerns on weekend hours of operation and the need for a zoning variance. Keyes stated, "If the city allows this variance, it would give Harold Brown (owner of the former Amstar site) a green light." To which Jarasitis answered, "Brown is not a part of this." Keyes came back with, "He will be and you won't be here for the fight — we will." Keyes stated her fear that, by granting a special zoning variance to allow a car wash on housing-designated land, a precedent would be set that might hurt the community when development takes place across Medford Street at the former sugar refineries.

Kovacevic expressed his concerns on how the process had taken place. He wanted to know if the structure was built before the permits were requested or if all permission from the city took place first. Jarasitis said that the proper procedures were followed, but opponents argued that was not the case.

Kovacevic stated: "If that is the issue, when someone builds something without permits and variances and then goes to the city on a hardship variance and expects to get it on those grounds, it's totally wrong. The city and the community should say: 'This is against the law. You should be closed.' But if he went through the proper procedures, he should be allowed to go ahead. We can't, as a council, accept a proposal that has not followed the proper procedures."

McDonough said: "I am hearing different stories. What is the issue? It should be the committee's responsibility to clarify this. I feel that the committee needs to do more work on this issue."

Linda Sacco, an abutter who lives behind the gas station at the top of the hill, expressed her anger at the council. "I thought you were here for the neighbors," she said. "I have a petition from those who live there who are opposed to the car wash." She accused the developer of "doing everything underhanded." She added, "Things he said he would do have not been done."

The council voted to table discussion on the car wash and establish a council-of-a-whole committee to be chaired by Roche. All pertinent information on both sides of the issue were requested by the council to be reviewed before a meeting is set. The Board of Appeal will hear the Whites' appeal on Aug. 1.

Mitigation Committee

Committee chairman Galvin reported on a May 24 meeting at the Kent School about the development of the former Amstar Sugar refinery on Medford Street. Galvin stated that all principals involved in the future use of the site were present.

"I wish I could say they came forward with answers to the issues, but I can't," he said. "They made no commitment and were quite evasive, but they were made aware of the process and the neighborhood's involvement. Harold Brown seemed cooperative as did Boston Sand & Gravel. On the other hand, Trimount Bituminous seemed aggravated."

On another issue, Galvin stated that the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority had voted to transfer its Navy Yard offices to another site.

"We should have fought to keep those jobs there," he said. Galvin estimated that 10 to 50 Charlestown residents worked out of Building 36 in the Navy Yard, either directly for MWRA or as support personnel. Merchants also are dependent on the 300 people who work there, Galvin said.

Basic Services Committee

Committee chairman Looney reported on a May 23 meeting when problems with a recent Water and Sewer Commission project on Lowney Way were discussed. The commission's representative Ron Catina responded to neighbors' complaints and stated that his department would notify the community in advance of any further work that will be done, unless the work involves an emergency repair. This notice, he said, would be in the form of a public notice in the local newspapers.

Looney also stated that a formal written request has been made to the Insurance Commission to send someone out to the community to discuss automobile insurance rates in Charlestown. When an answer to the request is received, Looney will notify the public of the meeting date.

Old And New Business

Gillen requested a vote on which summer month would not be scheduled for a monthly council meeting. All voted not to hold a neighborhood council meeting in August.

D'Ambrosio requested information on the status of the old Municipal Building on Lexington Street. Judy Evers, Mayor's Office of Neighborhood Services Charlestown liaison, reported that, according to Kathy Calhoun of the Public Facility Department, "The building will be completely boarded up and the surrounding area will be cleaned, including the removal of weeds, within two weeks." Evers stated that Calhoun also said the building "will be preserved and not torn down, as a rumor throughout the community has suggested."

Conway announced that on Sunday, July 16 an ecumenical service will take place aboard the USS Constitution at 9 a.m., followed by a march to the new Charlestown Veterans Park in City Square for a formal dedication. He invited the council and community to participate in the ceremony.

Lynch invited the community to participate in this weekend's Boston Against Drugs events. (See related article on page 1.)

The next scheduled Charlestown Neighborhood Council meeting will take place on Tuesday, July 11.
