Matignon Sophomore . . . Excels, Excels, Excels

by Owen Hartnett
Sportswriter For
The Cambridge Chronicle
(Article reprinted courtesy of
The Cambridge Chronicle)

Three-sport star Corey Gallagher of Charlestown will have earned her share of accolades by the time she graduates from Matignon High School.

The sophomore student is "the best female athlete Matignon has ever had," according to softball coach Steve Barrett. Gallagher plays basketball, softball and volleyball for the Warriors and is a Catholic Central League all-star in all three sports.

In less than two full basketball seasons she has scored over 700 points and averaged over 19 points per game. As a freshman, she led her league in scoring, her team in scoring and rebounding, and was named

Last spring for coach Barrett, Gallagher played left field on the 18-5 state tournament contending team. She batted .407, hit a school record-tying five home runs and drove in 35 runs. Barrett calls her "a natural" and ranks her among the five best softball players in the Catholic Central League last year.

When autumn rolled around, Gallagher decided to try her hand at volleyball. Because of her rookie status, she was relegated to junior varsity, but she soon displayed enough promise to warrant a varsity promotion, and at the season's end was a league all-star.

But the Charlestown native seems ill at ease with her all-star prestige.

Her older brother Derek said, "Corey does not feel comfortable being singled out. She seems to get embarrassed about doing well."

"Teamwork and seeing my teammates do well is the most rewarding part of it all," Corey said.

This may be why she

House Of Representatives Honors Kelly

THE MEMBERS of the Massachusetts House of Representatives paid tribute to Edward Kelly of Charlestown during a visit to the State House. Kelly and his wife Edna were the guests of Rep. Richard Voke. Kelly was recognized for his dedicated service to the citizens of the Commonwealth following his retirement from the Massachusetts Department of Public Safety where he served as Deputy Commissioner. Joining Voke in presenting the Kellys with an official citation was Speaker of the House Charles Flaherty. Shown (l. to r.) are Flaherty, Edna Kelly, Ed Kelly and Voke.

Revolutionary War Murals To Find New Home In Charlestown

A series of large Revolutionary War murals, now housed at the Drummer Boy Museum in Brewster, are about to find a new home here in Charlestown. Transfer of the 21 paintings will become final on Friday, March 5 when Fine Arts Express, specialists in moving art work, arrive at the Bunker Hill Museum in Monument Square, thanks to the fund-raising efforts of the Bunker Hill Community College Foundation.

After almost a year-long effort by many community people, the Drummer Boy murals now have the distinction of virtually closing a museum on Cape Cod and reviving another on Breed's Hill. According to Nancy Keyes, director of auxiliary services at Bunker Hill Community College (BHCC), she saw the paintings and decided that these could enhance not only Bunker Hill's tradition, but become a considerable asset for the city and for Greater Boston.

Brewster voters finally agreed to transfer ownership of the murals to BHCC as the result of a proposal prepared by Keyes. The Charlestown community, through the college, was one of seven organizations to submit a proposal.

While details are still being worked out as to the refurbishing and final display of the panels, Kay Whelan, president of the Charlestown Historical Society and head of the Bunker Hill Museum, has been supportive and enthusiastic in providing a new home for the paintings at the Bunker Hill Museum. Jack French and John Gallagher of J.W. French Associates have offered to work with the museum in the efforts to refurbish the building in order to properly tell the story.

CNC Asks Vet Clinic For Plan On Waste Disposal And Soundproofing

Members of the Charlestown Neighborhood Council Basic Services Committee, who gathered on Feb. 25 to discuss a proposal by Dr. John de Jong to open a veterinary clinic in the vacant store adjacent to Store 24 in Thompson Square, listened intently as the doctor presented a very different plan than was heard at the February CNC meeting.

When de Jong spoke earlier in the month, he described a veterinary clinic that would be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and would possibly incorporate the Groomtown business now located on Main Street near Salem.

Last Thursday, de Jong said that he had rethought the concept of a day clinic and, since his specialty was surgery, his plans would include a full-service hospital either at the Store 24 site or elsewhere in the town. He noted that some surgery necessitates that the animal remain overnight. De Jong added that he still has to come to terms with Store 24 relative to a lease.

De Jong explained that the term "clinic" meant no surgery and only day care, while the term "hospital" required a variance from the city in order for the animals to stay overnight. He added that he was not interested in running a facility for boarding animals and he didn't intend to get into retail sales of such things as leashes and collars.

Ken Stone asked de Jong about the disposal of waste from such a surgical facility. The doctor stated that veterinary hospitals are not regulated as strictly as are hospitals for humans. He said that blood would be put down the sink; fur, parts from the surgery and feces would be enclosed in a plastic bag and placed in the dumpster; and a service would pick up the bodies of dead animals every one to one and a half weeks for disposal which would, in the meantime, be kept in a freezer on the property.

De Jong indicated, in response to a question from Mel Stillman, that garbage bags with the waste would be put in the dumpster at Store 24, which the two businesses would share.

Committee Chairman Peter Looney raised the question of the disposal of medical wastes. De Jong stated that hypodermic needles are packaged separately in special containers and are picked up by the same firm that disposes of the bodies.

Looney said that complaints have been received on the fullness of the Store 24 dumpster and that is a problem that has to be addressed. Looney said that

Armed Robbery At Newworld Bank

A lone male, carrying a black automatic weapon, held up the Newworld Bank in the Bunker Hill Mall shortly after noon on March 2, escaping with an undetermined amount of money.

According to the Boston Police report, Officers

Gonzalez and Perez responded to the bank at approximately 12:15 p.m. on a call for assistance from Officer Paul Nourse who was on a detail in the area and reported a bank robbery in progress.

The report indicated that the man, described as a white male, 5 feet 8 inches tall, wore a tan jacket and a red hood with stripes, a white ski mask and black gloves. He entered through the side door and demanded money from the bank employees. He reportedly exited through a chainlink fence onto Austin Street, entered a brown mid-sized motor vehicle and fled toward Thompson Square.

The incident is under investigation by the Bank Robbery Task Force.

DON'T TAKE IT PERSONALLY

You have a listing appointment with a Realtor who has come highly recommended by your best friend. She shows up, has a detailed written market analysis prepared, explains all of the great advantages of listing with her company, and then goes through your home with you a room at a time, making some suggestions on ways to present your home to the public looking its very best.

It's the last part that can make some sellers a little uncomfortable. As she suggests cosmetic fix-ups, you realize how you've put off all of those "job jar" projects. Her suggestions about the cat box, spider webs in the attic, kitchen and bathroom cleanup, or the yard sale approach to clutter removal make you a little defensive. Remember that none of this is personal! Once in a while, we encounter a compulsive housekeeper who has it entirely pulled together, but that's rare. Most of our sellers need a little coaching to make their homes look their best, and providing the coaching is an important part of our jobs. The better your home looks while it's on the market, the more likely it is to sell quickly for top dollar.

If there's a move in your future, the real estate professionals at Monument Properties are ready to serve you. Come by our office at 85 Warren St. in Charlestown or call us at 241-5900.

The council meetings are open to the public, and all are welcome to attend.

★ Warning On Synthetic Heroin . . . City officials have issued warnings about a deadly form of synthetic heroin called fentanyl that has caused more than 100 deaths nationwide.

"This drug is cheap, highly addictive and many times more powerful than heroin," stated Mayor Raymond L. Flynn. "Its users are often unaware of its potency and can easily overdose. While fentanyl by no means has a stranglehold on our city, we are concerned about its possible impact."

Boston Against Drugs (BAD) and the Boston Police Department are now actively creating a program of prevention and education to stamp out this drug and to do everything to prevent fentanyl-related deaths.

Police Commissioner Francis "Mickey" Roache has alerted a number of city agencies, including the schools and hospitals, about the fentanyl threat. Further, BAD has asked all of its 16 teams throughout the city, including CHARlestown Against Drugs (CHAD), to join a major educational outreach effort for the entire city. The Mayor's Drug Awareness Committee has been asked to consult on this effort and will be meeting to plan further prevention strategies.

"By working together," Mayor Flynn said, "the city can prevent further death and injury from fentanyl."

★ City Square Park . . . The Department of Environmental Management (DEM) and the park designer, The Halvorson Company, are nearing completion on the conceptual design phase for City Square Park.

A community meeting will be held at 7 p.m. tonight, Thursday, March 4, at the Mary Colbert Apartments, 20 Devens St. At this meeting, DEM and The Halvorson Company will be asking for community input and review of the conceptual designs before moving forward with the next phase, which will be schematic design.

★ Street Reconstruction Update . . .

This past week was another week of construction inactivity on the street reconstruction project. With cold temperatures and several inches of snow, the contractor still has plows hooked onto his trucks. However, plans are being formulated and schedules worked out for the upcoming construction season and discussions with Boston Gas and with the Boston Water and Sewer Commission have taken place regarding the upcoming spring work.

Bryant Associates has also been working with the city of Boston Lighting Division, Susi and Boston Gas on the completion of the installation of the gas lights and getting those not yet lit, turned on. With the inactivity, Susi still has not gotten to the last few roof drain connections on those streets already reconstructed.

They have reviewed and updated the plans for signs with the Boston Transportation Department for the project streets, and these signs, along with the crosswalk markings, etc., are being included in the schedule for the spring work.

The Mead Street Stairs (40 Flights) project site is also covered with snow and has no outdoor construction activity going on.

Trespassers have vandalized the fence in order to use the stairs. We remind everyone that the fence is there because the stairs are not completed. They are not considered safe for use by the general public as yet, and are even more dangerous covered with ice and snow. We ask that everyone refrain from using the stairs until such time as they can be opened for general use.

The railings are still being fabricated and, after careful analysis of the submitted painting system, the contractor was directed to use one of the systems specified in the contract. The Middlesex Corp. is also waiting for a thaw to get going again.

Questions, concerns and complaints are being handled by Community Liaison Peter Looney at 722-4300 ext. 5674.

he assumed de Jong would soundproof the store so that the animals could not be heard at night. The doctor said that hospital likes to keep the number of animals held overnight to a minimum, usually no more than four. He said animals are usually quiet at night when the lights go off and get noisy in the morning when their food arrives. He said that with 12 to 15 kennels, he would doubt that barking could be heard from outside.

Tom Pitts asked about parking, to which de Jong replied there would be three spaces assigned to the hospital in the Store 24 lot. He said it should be sufficient as he normally sees four to six animals an hour for short visits.

Bill Galvin stated that he was troubled by what he heard at this meeting that was a significant change from what was presented previously. He pointed out that a professional building and several houses directly about the property. Galvin noted that animal parts and feces in a plastic bag would attract other animals to the dumpster and cause odors. De Jong stated that the abutters have to be the primary concern, but added that it is not worth opening a clinic without the overnight component.

Judy Brennan stated that she was concerned about a commitment from de Jong that he would do what was necessary to deaden the sound and make certain that trash disposal was not a problem.

Stone told the doctor that he would like to see all waste contained within the building instead of being placed in the dumpster, which according to a Store 24 representative is currently picked up once a week. Dennis Collins suggested the use of a trash compactor to reduce the volume.

Ken Auclair, real estate manager for Store 24, told the group that lease negotiations had broken off with de Jong but the company would not have a problem with assurances from the doctor on soundproofing.

Galvin made a motion that the committee recommend to the full CNC support for a variance for de Jong before the city's Board of Appeal, subject to the presentation and approval of a soundproofing and waste disposal plan by the council.

At the March 2 meeting of the CNC, the council voted to table the committee recommendation until a satisfactory plan was brought to the community and the council.

Girls' Championship Game

The past Friday night, the girls' basketball team traveled over to Dorchester to take on the Dan Marr Club for the girls' championship. Dan Marr had beaten the Townies by 12 points during the regular season, so the girls knew they had a tough game ahead of them. It would be impossible to list the standouts for the game, as every player did an outstanding job.

With six minutes left in the second half, the girls were down 10 points but the game was far from over. The girls then started to come on strong and tied the game at 30. However, with four girls in foul trouble, the game was just out of reach. The final score was Dan Marr 34, Charlestown 30.

Members of the team include: Colleen Walsh, Stephanie Ward, Nicole Matson, Courtney McLaughlin, Kelly Gilgunn, Kim Weafer, Christine Locke, Katie O'Leary and Jennifer Ray. The girls did an outstanding job all season, and we are extremely proud to have them represent the club.

Johnson To Perform In 'Turf' In Citywide Tour Including Charlestown

"Turf" is a mixed-media work that uses stories, music, slide and video images, dialogue and the words of living witnesses to explore the impact of the 1974 court order to desegregate Boston's public schools. "Turf" unfolds with drama and humor how one historical event affected many people and continues to affect a whole community. It celebrates and challenges the similarities and differences of culture, race, religion, class, belief and attitude within the city.

McCauley's 10 collaborators in the creation and performance of "Turf" are of different racial, ethnic and economic backgrounds and range in age from 17 to 55. In addition to Johnson, they are: Janice Allen from Mattapan, Paula Elliott and Terrence Yancey from the South End, John Ennis from Milton, Mari Novotny Jones from Hyde Park, Paul Leary and Tom Sypek from South Boston, Juanita Rodriques from Cambridge and James Spruill from Roxbury.

Over the past year, these artists have joined McCauley in collecting first-person accounts, recollections and anecdotes from individuals in Boston communities who describe experiences related to the 1974 federal mandate and its aftermath. An open dialogue among these artists has also been central to the making of "Turf," and this dialogue will be carried into each performance. Members of the audience, in a welcoming environment, will be able to join McCauley and the actors in a discussion of contemporary issues.

"Turf" has a structure similar to jazz, according to McCauley. "I use the term 'conventional music' a lot. The music in the language of ordinary people, this conversational music, is a way of tuning into stories that need to be told over and over. The stories in 'Turf' are personal and charged, humorous and serious, and reflect a range of emotion, like the range in music. They are told in a jazz-like, organized improvisation, a form I have been working on for some time."

McCauley began her performance theater work in 1979, collaborating with composer Ed Montgomery on "The History of the Universe According to Those Who've Had To Live It" and other pieces. Her work in New York theater, however, has spanned several decades and has included performances with Marshall Mason and Lanford Wilson at Cafe Cino and with Adrienne Kennedy at the New York Shakespeare Festival. On Broadway, she appeared in the original cast of "For Colored Girls Who Have Considered Suicide When the Rainbow Is Enuf."

The Arts Company is a non-profit organization based in Cambridge, that collaborates with contemporary artists on the production, presentation and touring of new work in a variety of art forms. To keep the presentation of "Turf" close to the various communities from which it was generated, The Arts Company is presenting the piece in four neighborhood locations within the city of Boston. This is being done with the assistance of a number of community co-sponsors, which include the Charlestown, Roxbury and South Boston clubhouses of the Boys & Girls Clubs of Boston and the United South End Settlements. The Boston Center for the Arts and The Strand Theater are also assisting the production.

IT'S ABOUT FAIRNESS.

A message from Boston's public school teachers...

You may have heard disturbing news about Boston's public schools and problems with our contract. We want you to understand the real issues confronting Boston's teachers and what can be done to bring stability back to our schools. Boston teachers and paraprofessionals have been working without a contract since last year. We want to return to the bargaining table and settle our differences now.

Mayor Flynn and the School Committee can take two steps right now to avoid further confrontation:

1. Release illegally withheld health care funds

The School Committee has illegally withheld $2.8 million in family health care funds owed to the BTU Health & Welfare Fund under the 1989 contract. This money provides vital health care services to our families that are now being threatened due to lack of funds. This fund, which has existed since 1968, will be bankrupt by the end of the school year if the money is not received.

Paying the Fund will not cost the city or taxpayers any new money. Funds allocated in last year's budget now sit frozen in an escrow account. While similar agreements with other city employees are being honored, only funding for Boston teachers' benefits has been withheld since October 1992. Withholding payment will destroy the Health Fund 6,000 families rely on. Releasing the funds is a matter of fairness.

Boston teachers and paraprofessionals reported to work last September hoping that a new contract would be fairly negotiated within a reasonable time period. Six months into the school year there is still no progress. Instead of negotiating a contract and making teachers partners in education reform, the School Committee has imperiled the education of Boston's young people by insulting teachers in the news media and at the bargaining table.

It's time to stop the nonsense. It's time to start bargaining in good faith with BTU members.
It's time to get back to the challenge of educating our children and building Boston's future.

TELL MAYOR FLYNN AND THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE:

YOU CAN'T VALUE EDUCATION WITHOUT VALUING BOSTON TEACHERS!

This message brought to you by the members of the Boston Teachers Union

Congressman Kennedy Speaks To Kiwanis And Business Association

CONGRESSMAN JOSEPH P. KENNEDY II spoke at a joint meeting of the Kiwanis Club of Charlestown and the Charlestown Business Association at Barrett's restaurant on Feb. 25. Kennedy told of being the Mass. Chairman for the Clinton for President campaign, noting the opportunity now with Clinton as president to address the country's economic problems. He praised the two business associations who give much back to the community through service and programs, stating, "Putting something back into the community is the message," noting in particular Kiwanis Club's support of the Charlestown Boys & Girls Club and the underwriting of summer camp scholarships for Charlestown youth. Kennedy's talk centered on the federal budget and the need to reduce the deficit and he stated that we shouldn't be passing our bills on to our children.

He pointed out the need to spend more on education in order to train people to prepare them for the workforce. He added that National Health Insurance should be a matter of right for all Americans, noting that there may have to be a tax for it. Kennedy stated that he is for a balanced budget and a line-item veto for the president. He concluded by emphasizing the spirit of Charlestown which is putting something back into the community.

Matignon Sophomore . . . Excels, Excels, Excels

(continued from page one) seems indifferent to the statistical success she has had. "Corey never goes near the book, or asks how many points she scored," said basketball coach Leslie Davis.

"What difference do stats make to her when her only concern is helping the team win," added softball coach Barrett.

Her modesty may very well be one reason she became so good at sports to begin with. When her mother Lois, a nurse, and her father Jim, a Boston firefighter, were busy working, her two older brothers Derek and Jason would ease their baby-sitting chores by bringing their little sister along with them to the Charlestown Boys & Girls Club. They would play pickup games for hours of whatever the season required. Corey, instead of ranting and raving, picked up a ball or a bat and joined in on the fun.

Now her older brothers are in college and Corey is already receiving recruitment attention. She said letters from St. Joseph's in Pennsylvania, Cornell and others have arrived at her home. Barrett said schools call him regularly requesting information on Corey, assuming she is a junior or senior.

"Without a doubt she is scholarship bound in any sport she chooses. She's a coach's dream," said Davis. "Her best asset is her attitude. She brings out the best in all her teammates by working 100 percent and by being unselfish."

Davis predicts that by mid-point next season Corey will reach 1,000 points and become Matignon's single-season home run champ. But no matter how irrelevant these numbers are to Corey, Matignon's record books may never be the same.

BOB D'S BEAT

by

Bob DeCristoforo

■ Happy Anniversary CYO . . . This past Saturday evening, CYO celebrated its 50th anniversary at a fine dinner at Lombardo's in Randolph. Highlighting the event was the induction of 19 exceptional men and women — including Father Ron Coyne, pastor of St. Catherine's Parish — into the newly created CYO Hall of Fame. The real highlight of the evening was the assembly itself and the sharing of many fine CYO memories as well as the realization that in

50 years the fundamental goals of CYO are still present and the original four-point program — spiritual, athletic, cultural and social — is still the guide.

■ Chess Tournament . . . The first Chess Tournament at the Bunker Hill Teen Center is underway. Participants in the double-elimination tournament are Joe Burns, Brian Houlihan, Greg Poole, Greg Staples, Stephen Livingston, Greg McNeil, Dom Tamburello and John Cowan.

■ College Board . . . Northeastern fell to Boston University twice over the weekend, 4-3 in overtime and 5-3. The losses clinch the cellar spot for the Huskies and gives NU a trip to Maine for the Hockey East first-round playoffs. Stonehill College defeated Western New England College 6-4.

■ Pro Line . . . Winnipeg has moved into third place in the Smythe Division, one point ahead of the Los Angeles Kings. The New York Islanders, New Jersey Devils and New York Rangers are in a tight race for third place in the Patrick Division, and the Providence Bruins in the AHA have put some daylight between themselves and the second place Capitol District team. Providence defeated Utica Sunday, 9-4, and now post a 34-26-2 record, five points ahead of Capitol.

■ High School Notebook . . . In state tournament basketball action, Don Bosco was defeated by Methuen 66-57 and Somerville was defeated by Woburn 44-41.

Jamie Smith had 29 points as Boston Latin defeated Peabody 101-84, but Medford brought a close to Latin's season defeating the Purple 74-55. Jamie had 17 points.

Pope John advanced by defeating Lynnfield 62-60, and Corey Gallagher's 37 points weren't enough as Matignon fell to Triton 56-52.

In hockey action, the best news of the week was the gutsy performance of the Charlestown Townies who defeated Holliston 3-2. Charlestown jumped out to a 1-0 first-period lead on a goal by Keith Wallace, and doubled the margin in the second on a shocker by Greg McNeil. Holliston roared back to tie the game in the second period at 2-2, but the Townies went into the locker room at 3-2, thanks to the superb effort of Jimmy Gillen who pulled the trigger in the closing seconds. Danny Dollosa, the Charlestown net-minder, came up with a big game as Holliston peppered the Charlestown net with 39 shots.

BC High topped Watertown 6-4 and Malden Catholic edged Durfee 3-2. Snowden was defeated by St. Mary's of Lynn 10-2.

■ Cherry Tree Notes . . . Rep. Richard Voke made a generous donation to the '93 Andy Puopolo Cherry Tree Tournament.

■ Hi-Tops At The Teen Center . . . Sheila Dell'Orfano from the Kennedy Center will be on site at the Bunker Hill Teen Center Wednesdays from 4 to 5 p.m. offering counseling and referrals for persons ages 10 to 21 who want help with a drug- or alcohol-related problem, or who might just want to talk. Rumor has it that Sheila plays pool and loves pizza! Drop in and find out.

■ World Travelers . . . Jason Smith is off to Germany to play in a hockey tournament . . . Beth Golden will be in Washington D.C. taking part in the "Close-Up Program" . . . and Derek Gallagher and crew will be off cruising in the Caribbean.

■ Tidbits . . .
— BU's "Midnight Caller" must have gotten a tip or two on how to score game winning goals.

— Todd Sgro has set the record for checking in with his girlfriend — per order of the girl.

— Have we seen Cupid flying around Charlestown looking for Mark Shean?

— Good to see Mike Johnson back home for a visit. Mike is a class guy and can still play some basketball.

— Roi Doherty's favorite line: "Low Key."

— Peter Doe's favorite food: Everything!

Smile!

CHAD Junior Bowling League

by John Dillon

After a break for winter vacation, the CHARlestown Against Drugs (CHAD) Junior Bowling League is back in action.

The American Legion team took over sole possession of first place, defeating the B&B Oil team 5 to 3. Keith Ryan and Kathleen Lynch supplied the power for the American Legion team. Craig Powers helped the B&B Oil team take three points.

The Crickets team ran into a buzz saw in the form of the Kennedy Center team, losing all eight points. Right from the bell, the Kennedy Center team would not be denied. Christina Biggins, Amy Capithorn and Mike Lane pummeled the Crickets team. Although the Crickets team tried hard, they just couldn't prevail.

In other action, the Bunker Hill Real Estate team slammed the Charlestown Patriot team for eight points. Michelle Marino, Lauren Mansfield and Nicole Eddy were immense in the victory for Bunker Hill Real Estate. Tammy Biggins and Pat Pinder had a good day for the Patriot team.

The Cappucci team blasted the Lori-Ann's team for a 7-1 victory. Meghan Buckley and Taylor Halley had a super day for the Cappucci team. McKenzie Ridings had a great day in a losing effort for the Lori-Ann's team.

The Erins team rapped the Nucci team for a 6 to 2 victory. Kevin McCusker, Jill Connolly and Mary Anne Kissanne carried the Erins team to victory. Sean Reilly, Jim Kissane and Matt Paley had a good day in a losing effort.

There were three Bowlers of the Week: McKenzie Ridings, who bowled 55 pins over her average; Taylor Halley, bowling 45 pins over her average; and Meghan Buckley, who bowled 30 pins over her average.

C.Y.O. & St. Catherine NEWS

by Father Ron Coyne

- CYO Basketball Season Ends — We are grateful to all the boys and girls who represented us in the CYO Basketball League this winter. We are very appreciative of their time, talent and dedication to our program. We also wish to thank the men and women who volunteered to coach our teams. We believe the CYO program sponsored by the Archdiocese offers so much to our young people and their families. We could never offer these activities without the cooperation of the coaches and players. Thank you!
- St. Catherine's Color Guards — We congratulate our Class C Color Guard who travelled to Montreal, Canada this past weekend to compete in a regional contest. The girls brought great pride to their instructors, managers and families. The audience of thousands of color guard enthusiasts from throughout the East Coast and Canada had their first look at the wonderful show performed by St. Catherine's Townies, and loved them. Our girls were competing two divisions above their level and finished in 11th place out of 15 color guards — a very admirable achievement.
- Adult Lipsynch — The Adult Lipsynch planned for Saturday, March 6 has been cancelled due to the fact that there were not enough acts.
- The Singing Priests Come To Charlestown — The Singing Priests will be putting on a show to benefit St. Catherine's Parish at the Charlestown High School Auditorium on Sunday, March 14 from 3 to 5 p.m. This is a special St. Patrick's Day show which will feature comedy, solos, sing-a-longs and all sorts of antics. Tickets are now on sale at the rectory for $10 each. For more information, call Paula Suprey at 241-9182.
- Free Meal For All Teen-agers — On Sunday morning, March 14, we are inviting all teen-agers in Charlestown, ages 13 to 19, to come to St. Catherine's School Hall on Tufts Street for a free full-course breakfast at 10 a.m. The meal, which is being sponsored by CHARlestown Against Drugs (CHAD), will be equal to the best. After the meal, Brother Joe Lagressa, formerly a teacher at Columbus High School, will speak on self-esteem. Brother Joe is a dynamic person who will make a lasting impact on all. The ninth-grade confirmation class, their parents and sponsors will all be present for the breakfast and the speaker. They will also attend the 9 a.m. Mass at St. Catherine's before the breakfast.
- Free Family Portraits At St. Catherine's — St. Catherine's is offering you a chance to have a free family portrait taken for our parish directory. The beautiful hard-bound directory will include pictures of families, activity groups and information. Every family who participates will receive a free color portrait of their family as well as a free copy of the directory. There will be an opportunity to purchase additional family pictures in time for Easter, but there is absolutely no obligation. Don't miss this great opportunity to be featured in the St. Catherine's Directory and to receive a free family portrait. Photos will be taken on March 12, 13 and 14. Sign ups are after every Mass and at St. Catherine's Rectory between 4 and 6 p.m. on weekdays. Call Mary Featherston or Anne Regan at 242-1750 for information.
- CYO Ice Hockey Season Concludes — Our CYO ice hockey team ended its regular season play and we want to thank the boys who represented us so well, both on and off the ice. We did not have a winning season, and the number of players dwindled as the season progressed, but the games we played were played well. We extend special thanks to our coaches Rob McIntosh and Donny Kelsey.

Local Residents Attend Golden Anniversary Party

Fifty Boston couples married at least 50 years were wined and dined at Northeastern University's Henderson House in Weston on Valentine's Day. Sponsored by Northeastern University and the city of Boston's Commission on Affairs of the Elderly, this year's Golden Anniversary Party is the city's 14th. City Councillor Rosaria Salerno and City Council President Thomas Menino turned out to honor the couples.

Charlestown residents who attended the party were Francis and Mary Foley, who have been married 53 years, and Edward and Mary Hartnett, who have been married 50 years.

"These couples are the real heroes of the city," Menino said. "Just because they never made headlines doesn't mean they weren't doing great things."

The celebration included a reception, dinner and dancing to the music of Johnny Rampino. Transportation for the couples was provided free-of-charge by Boston Coach.

A Letter Of Thanks

On the morning of Feb. 23, I took a bad fall on the ice outside St. Francis de Sales School.

I would like to express my thanks to Denise Daigle, the crossing guard, and three concerned students who came to see if they could help.

Also, a special thanks goes out to Nipper Harrigan and Cathy and Kelly Guthro who took care of me until I was able to get to a doctor.

It's nice to know there are people who care and are willing to help someone in need.

Sincerely,

Kay Curtin and Family

P.S. Thank you for the stuffed kitty, Kelly.

St. Catherine's Color Guard

Since the arrival of Father Ron Coyne in the Charlestown community, we have become very fortunate. One of the activities he started is our pride and joy, St. Catherine's Color Guard. Within a short span of three seasons, the young girls have become very competitive.

Learning to march and handle their equipment took many long, arduous hours of practice. Along their competitive journey, the sacrificing, sweat and tears have paid off.

With top-notch instructors at their side, winning was inevitable. Listening to great music, imaginative maneuvering was taught.

While travelling to different high school gymnasiums, we finally held our own show. The curiosity in Charlestown was growing more in people's faces and in conversations. Finally, the girls marched onto the gym floor and the crowd watched with amazement.

They have been placing in the top three in every competition. Their unique style is like no other guard they compete against, and it is a style other guards try to emulate.

Now that they have taken the color guard world by storm, Montreal, Canada was the next stop. The bus ride was filled with excited and anxious faces. Some listened to their head phones, while others gazed out the window, enjoying the scenery. This particular bus ride brought back those days of drum corps.

It had that competitive spirit flowing through your veins. What would be going on in the minds of our competitors? Perhaps every thought was going over each step, count and music cues. You could never keep count because perfection was everyone's goal. As we traveled closer to Canada, the girls were asking each other how good the competition would be. Most answered, "Not as good as we're going to be!"

The longer we traveled, the more our gluteus muscles flattened. Some people were smart enough to bring their favorite pillows. Three hours had gone by and you could hear, "Are we there yet?" You could tell we had a bus full of rookies.

The first stop was McDonald's in Vermont. I have never seen burgers and fries consumed at such a fast rate. It felt good to walk around and stretch the limbs. We finally reached the Canadian border. Everywhere you looked, the reflection of the sun hit miles of snow and ice. Arriving at the hotel, three cheers for the bus driver rang out. Having our rooms assigned was a great relief.

When settled in, the girls had practice. Spirits were high among the ranks. Considering the high level of competition, the exposure would give them more confidence in themselves.

As the guard prepared for competition, the audience became curious. They finally took to the floor for competition. Watching how well their equipment work and marching was performed, the parents and fans applauded. Hugs

A Sad Situation

On Feb. 24, I placed a beautiful and costly shamrock on my son's grave at Woodlawn Cemetery for his birthday. When I went back the next day, it had been destroyed. The white and yellow roses in the center were broken from their stems, the shamrock was split in two and the green carnations were brown from being stomped on. Pictures of my three grandchildren, a poem and a St. Christopher's medal were torn off and trashed somewhere.

This has happened before, but it won't happen again. In the future, thanks to Father Coyne, Pat's flowers will be placed in St. Catherine's.

This is an immoral act, as was his death. Please let him rest in peace.

Mother of Patrick McCallum

With Sincere Thanks

As a hopeful mayoral candidate, I had to withdraw from the race early on due to circumstances beyond my control. I know only too well I had a good chance of winning due to my clever ideas and quick wit. I could do it for anybody else, but not for myself.

I would like to take this opportunity to wish Erin Sullivan, Stoney Boutwell and Kathy Smith Perito the best — win, lose or draw. However, there are no losers because of all the hard work it involves. I would like to thank the Ironside Grille, the Horseshoe Tavern and countless others, and last, but certainly not least, Joan and Eddie McKinnon and Jimmy and Mary Ellen Connors for their moral support.

My books have been turned in and accounted for. Those who voted for me will be in the drawing come March 19.

My plans for next year are to paint my apartment 40 shades of green, get a jug of Irish whiskey and some stout beer, play a few Irish ditties, kiss the Blarney Stone backward and dream, dream, dream.

To sum it all up . . . it was too cold to go for the gold, snow, snow, and more snow, no go, go, go.

Sincerely,

Chickie Donovan LaPage

and kisses greeted the girls at the conclusion of the show. Waiting for the score results to be posted brought many tense moments. Placing 11th out of 15 guards was a victory in itself. Most impressive was finishing third in equipment movement. When the championship show was over, you could see the tired faces on all the girls. Next stop, Charlestown, Mass., U.S.A.!

Reflecting back, our weekend became a learning experience. Meeting new people, we became a tighter unit. To the parents and friends who made the long journey, we thank you for your support. Montreal will never be the same! See you in Salem.

the Boston Redevelopment Authority (BRA), has also expressed interest in supporting this effort as has Peggy Ings, a BRA assistant and member of the Board of Directors of the Boston Art Commission.

The murals begin with the Boston Massacre in 1776 and follow the six-year six-month rebellion against Great Britain, ending with a scene from the Battle of Yorktown. The murals include scenes from the Boston Tea Party, Paul Revere's Ride and the battles of Lexington and Concord. One mural shows the British forces after the Battle of Bunker Hill.

Although the murals may not have excited the art world, they should become a major attraction for old and new friends of Charlestown, telling the story of Massachusetts history at the site of one of the most famous battles of the Revolutionary War.

Burke was chosen by the Congressional Scholarship Committee in Washington
