Future Of City Square/North Area Roadways Discussed At Community Meeting

by Marianne Martin

Historically, traveling from the Expressway or the Storrow Drive on-ramp in the hope of reaching the Mystic River - Tobin Memorial Bridge is a test of one's driving expertise.

The trip becomes really exciting, especially in rush hours, as one approaches the "merge" of motorists from the Expressway with those from Storrow Drive on-ramp. Despite one's point of origination, after a successful merging of the lanes, within 650 feet, one hits the "split" where a left takes one to Somerville and a right takes one towards Chelsea. Now, even a successful passage from the Storrow Drive on-ramp coming from the left and crossing over to the split at the right, does not end the challenge. Just prior to reaching the Mystic - Tobin Bridge, one must successfully maneuver a quick S curve. All of this was designed to save a few buildings, in addition to providing a great test for front end alignment, brakes, and nerves. For the seasoned commuter the familiar route is never an easy or predictable task. Can you imagine a first time motorist from the South Shore or points west trying to follow directions to Charlestown or other points north?

I Wonder

by Charlie McGonagle

I wonder, as I always will,
How airplanes hold the sky.
I wonder how a ship can float,
And how the time drifts by.

I wonder how the rain does fall,
And how the wind does blow.
I wonder how the grass turns green,
And how the rivers flow.

I wonder 'bout the daffodils,
And robins in the spring.
I wonder how a cricket chirps,
What makes a swallow sing?

I wonder how the tide rolls in,
And how the sun does set.
I wonder why there's dark at night,
And how the dew is wet.

I wonder 'bout the Milky Way,
And lightning bolts in storms.
I wonder how the fishes breathe,
And how a rainbow forms.

I wonder why the birds have wings,
While other creatures walk.
I wonder why there's desert sand,
And mountains made of rock.

I wonder why a lion roars,
And breezes whisper low.
I wonder how an acorn makes
A giant oak tree grow.

I wonder why there's good and bad
And not just good alone.
I wonder why a hate can live
Where seeds of love are sown.

I wonder, now of all such things —
Like waves upon the shore —
And pray my children's children
May wonder all the more.

Representative Voke Initiates DEQE Inspections For Asbestos

At the request of Representative Richard Voke, the Department of Environmental Quality Engineers (DEQE) has recently inspected two Charlestown redevelopment sites for possible asbestos violations. These inspections were initiated by Representative Voke as a result of the recent asbestos violations discovered at the Old Charlestown High School, as well as the community concerns that have evolved from them.

Asbestos is a fiber material which was heavily used prior to the 1970's for fireproofing and insulation. A known carcinogen, asbestos becomes a health hazard when its fibers unpack and allow particles to enter the air. These particles, once airborne, can then be inhaled and allowed to enter the respiratory system.

Under normal circumstances, DEQE does not become involved with a site until it receives notification from the developer or contractor as to the presence of asbestos in a project. At the time of notification, DEQE requires licensed asbestos professionals to remove and properly dispose of the substance.

In the most recent inspections, however, DEQE responded to the requests made by Representative Voke for a closer look at two ongoing projects in Charlestown. The first site inspected by DEQE was Roughan Hall, located in Charlestown's City Square. According to DEQE, Roughan Hall was initially inspected for asbestos in the beginning of May, with no evidence of the substance being discovered. However, while reinspecting the site at the request of Voke, DEQE officials did take notice of a suspect material. A sample of this suspect material, while not being immediately identified as asbestos, was removed and taken to DEQE's Lexington Lab for further analysis. After testing, should this material be identified as asbestos, DEQE will direct the owner and contractor to properly remove and dispose of the asbestos or face further DEQE actions.

The other site recently inspected by DEQE was the Old Boston Filter Plant, located on Harvard Street. Upon inspection, the DEQE found no evidence of asbestos.

According to Representative Voke, these inspections were necessary to ensure the safety of all the community. "With the recent controversy surrounding the Old Charlestown High School Building, it was important to get DEQE into Charlestown to inspect similar developments for asbestos," Voke asserted. "I am confident that these latest round of inspections will help prevent a reoccurrence of the health hazards that have been associated with the asbestos problem at the Old Charlestown High Project," concluded Voke.

Life On Board USS Constitution

SCHOOL TIME: Visitors to the USS Constitution in the Charlestown Navy Yard recently observed first-hand what it was like to get an education at sea in the days of sail. Here, Roger Zook tries to keep unruly "powder monkeys" in line during a "learnin'" session. "Ship's Company 1800," one of two shipboard-oriented living history reenactment groups in the United States, brought history alive aboard "Old Ironsides" during a one-day performance that also saw the group demonstrate the art of storytelling, mess preparation, the loading and firing of the ship's guns, and hammock stowage. The group, which performs regularly aboard the USS Constitution in Baltimore Harbor, consists of 17 men and boys from Maryland and Virginia. All performances are as historically accurate as possible and include using period costumes.

This is just an illustration of two possible routes north. What about those wishing to travel southbound? Or, how about the area directly beneath all this merging and splitting, full of all those clever motorists who try to avoid the confusion and would rather settle for the congestion of City Square?

Now, the Massachusetts Department of Public Works wants to change all that. They want to make traveling in the North Area a smoother transition. Why would anyone want to improve an area which brings out the best in everyone?

The truth is, this "bottleneck" or the "split and merge" is the site of the highest accident rate in the state. Long criticized for its poor design (to put it mildly), the North Area roadways which loom above City Square and the sharp and sometimes deadly on and off ramps will be replaced by underground tunnels and two circular ramps west of Rutherford Avenue, with longer traffic weave for a safer and smoother egress to Route I-93. The reconstruction design also calls for a smooth flow of traffic traveling from Rutherford Avenue onto the North Washington Street Bridge. The result will be a safer and more logical transportation system and improve the aesthetics of City Square by removing the steel corridors looming over the once active commercial center of Charlestown.

On Tuesday, June 4, 1985, representatives from the Massachusetts Department of Public Works, design engineers and architects met with local residents at a public meeting held at the Kent Community School. The purpose of this meeting was to present to the community the final plan to remove the overhead roadways which will drastically change the face of City Square and create open land space.

Peter Smith, Senior Associate from Childs Bertman Tseckares & Casendino Inc. (CBT), a consulting firm, presented a slide show of City Square, the present condition of the overhead roadways and ramps, and the future design plans and how they will alter the face of City Square, as well as possible uses for the land parcels which will be generated.

While Smith told the residents no homes will be destroyed as a result of the reconstruction, several streets will be altered including Rutherford Avenue, Chelsea Street, Water Street, Lowney Way, Warren Street, and Main Street. Both Henley Street and Sandgrave Road are under study by the engineers as to whether to close or alter the direction of these streets. The only buildings which will be demolished will be the YMCA building in City Square, the DPW Maintenance Shed, and Doherty's Pub on Chelsea Street.

The major thrust of the meeting, however, focused on the need for community participation in this project. Smith stated since this project will create seven land parcels which will be available for development and will also affect the neighboring streets, it was important that both local residents and business persons work closely with the engineers and the state.

The proposal to replace the overhead roadways with underground tunnels began in the late 1970s. Don Nicholas, engineer from Louis Berger, told the residents that a 2½ year delay in the conceptual aspect of the project occurred due to lack of available funding but through community support and lobbying efforts, the project was able to resume.

"We're going from the conceptual stage of the project into the actual nuts and bolts," stated Nicholas, who reported that the area has already been surveyed and borings will begin next week. While the actual construction of the tunnels will not begin until February 1987, the building demolition may begin as early as this fall.

Smith warned the residents that even though the construction of the tunnel will not begin for several years, there are many details which still need to be ironed out and require community input. According to Smith, the North Area/Central Artery Project will be an open process. Smith outlined the future for community participation.

The North Area Task Force is comprised of concerned residents who, according to Smith, have been active in voicing the concerns of the residents. Don Jackson, Co-Chairman of the task force, told the residents that the group is not an elected or closed body and encouraged anyone who shares the interest and concern of the task force with regard to the impact of this project on the area, to attend their meetings.

Smith also stated that a newsletter will be published every four months with information about the status of the project.

In addition to public meetings, Smith stated there will also be interagency and community workshops, which will be held monthly during the daytime hours for two to three hours, at which topics such as street direction, location of ventilation towers, and community issues will be discussed. Present at these workshops will be community members, local government agencies, and engineering consultants. Smith stated that communication is extremely important in this matter and community participation "can assist the project in moving smoothly and swiftly into an excellent implementation phase."

One topic discussed at Tuesday's meeting regarded the possible location of a ventilation building for the northbound tunnel. Originally, this building was to be located under the North Washington Street Bridge. Unfortunately, this is not feasible since the fresh air intake had to be located at a point approximately 40 feet above street level. Further discussion among the engineers listed three possible locations.

The consultants told the residents they were "uncomfortable" making the final decision in terms of location and would rather have community input.

All three locations, one at the Paul Revere Landing Park, and the other two on the harbor side, adjacent to the tunnel, had both positive and negative aspects.

Resident Arthur Walsh stated he would rather see the ventilation building constructed on the site of the corrugated box factory on Water Street. "It's (the box factory) an eye sore," stated Walsh. "Tear it down and put in the ventilation building. Just take it by eminent domain."

Dan Jaffe of Bartlett Street suggested that if the Paul Revere Landing Park location was chosen, the architect should design a possible lookout tower so that individuals could enjoy the view.

While Don Jackson reminded the residents that this discussion on location and architectural design was strictly "conceptual," no decision will be made until further information is known.

Mon O'Shea of High Street asked the consultant to describe the impact the creation of the tunnels will have on the area in terms of noise and pollution.

Smith explained that the ventilation buildings, in addition to providing fresh air in the tunnel, would contain fans, which in case of fire, would reverse themselves and pull the smoke out of the tunnel. During normal operations, the fans would generate "the same amount of noise as any normal building ventilation system". Under emergency conditions, Smith compared the noise level to "the Orange Line 100 feet away or a lawn mower three feet away."

As far as pollution generated by the tunnel, Smith stated that the amount of carbon monoxide would be the same level as without the tunnel.

Another concern expressed at the meeting dealt with the possibility of obtaining a commitment that Charlestown residents would be hired.

"What guarantee would we have for employment of either skilled or unskilled labor?" asked David Martell, who reminded the representatives that Charlestown had a 13% unemployment rate. "We are the community who has to bear the brunt of the situation in our own backyards. We should be given more opportunity (in terms of jobs available)," stated Martell.

William Oliver from the DPW stated he was not sure what job percentage would go to Charlestown. "It will be some, but I'm sure how many," stated Oliver.

Al Fowler from the Boston Redevelopment Authority told the residents, "We are very concerned that jobs go to residents. Our target is 50% of all jobs be city residents. Charlestown has a good opportunity and should be on the spot to capitalize on the jobs."

The meeting ended with an informal polling as to possible location for the Northbound Tunnel ventilation building. While no one out of the fifty or so in attendance voted in favor of the Paul Revere Landing Park location, a large number stated that there was a need for more information before a decision could be made.

Should residents have further questions or concerns, they are encouraged to contact Peter Smith c/o CBT, 306 Dartmouth Street, Boston, MA 02116 or call 262-4354. Residents can also contact the Charlestown North Area Task Force by writing to 5 Cordis Street, Charlestown, MA 02129.

Charlestown Resident Provides Top-Level Volunteer Help To United Way

In the spirit of volunteerism, Charlestown's Helen Chin Schlichte has accepted a leadership role in the 1985 United Way of Massachusetts Bay fund raising campaign.

Schlichte, assistant to the Secretary for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts' Executive Office for Administration and Finance, has been a top-level United Way volunteer for the past several years.

This year, she will serve for the fourth consecutive term on the organization's campaign cabinet as associate chairperson of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Employees Campaign (COMEC) Division. Her responsibilities include assisting the COMEC chairperson in leading the fund raising efforts directed at state employees, working to help bring the United Way to its fourth consecutive goal-topping campaign during the organization's 50th anniversary.

Also a vice president of the United Way's Board of Directors, Schlichte was elected to the board in 1979 and to vice president in 1981.

Schlichte holds directorships on several United Way agency boards of directors, including the East Boston Social Centers; the Boy Scouts of America, Boston Council; and the American Red Cross, Greater Boston Chapter.

Also a board member of the Trinity House Camp in New Hampshire and a member of the Corporation of the New England Deaconess Hospital and the Women's City Club of Boston, Schlichte's community involvement extends to Boston's Chinese community.

DR. LONNIE CARTON

Are children in the family entitled to a PAY OFF for contributing their labor to the household? Should they be rewarded with cash or special privileges for doing home chores like babysitting for their younger siblings, dishwashing, snow shoveling? ABSOLUTELY NOT!

Sons and daughters are part of the family unit, living in the home, eating the food, sharing in all the benefits which are part of that relationship. To balance the books, boys and girls should be expected to GIVE as well as to receive...to do unto mother and father as they would have parents do unto them. Paying a child for doing his or her HOMEWORK (not the kind he brings home from school, but the kind he finds when he comes from school) is both financially and emotionally wasteful. It centers the youngster's attention selfishly on himself or herself. Paying children conditions them to always ask, "what's in it for me?" The development of such an attitude interferes with the young person gaining a sense of responsibility for doing a job merely because it needs doing...or in an effort to express the cooperative family spirit felt.

Youngsters who are paid for everything they do get the mistaken notion that they count...or what they DO counts...ONLY WHEN A MONETARY REWARD IS ATTACHED. False values are established when a child grows up believing that the world should repay his or her every effort. Each time he handles a task, he or she expects a hand out. Young people of all ages need to learn that charity begins at home. Heads of households who use their heads wisely know it's better to pay the kids nothing but a sincere "thank you" than to give them something for nothing.

"Parent To Parent" is a service provided parents by the Parent Education Resource Center (PERC), a program of School Volunteers for Boston. PERC is funded, in part, by the Gannett Foundation. PERC's hotline telephone number is 451-1151.

Appeal To City For Action On Anti-Catholic Posters

The Catholic League is appealing to the City of Boston for a strong Boston for a strong response to the anti-Catholic posters which have appeared at numerous locations around this city.

These posters are part of a nationwide campaign apparently conducted by the Tony Alamo Christian Foundation of Arkansas. They contain such slurs as: American Catholics are dupes of a foreign conspiracy; the Vatican controls the U.S. government; and Nazism was inspired by Catholicism.

Last year a similar poster campaign by the Alamo organization, which did not reach to New England, was attended by violent incidents, such as the vandalizing of four churches in Norfolk, Virginia and the shooting into a church in Dayton, Texas.

Elsewhere in the U.S. a number of individuals have been arrested and charged with vandalism in connection with these posters. Meanwhile, the National Conference of Christians and Jews has initiated a counter campaign to cover the Alamo posters with posters urging brotherhood.

The Catholic League is calling upon Mayor Flynn to assign Boston Public personnel to identify the individuals responsible and to prosecute them under the applicable statutes regarding vandalism and trespassing.

The Catholic League feels a strong response by our civic leaders to this campaign of hate is essential. There is less danger in the insane accusations of Tony Alamo than in the tacit message that such hatred is acceptable.

Summer Programming Planned By Three Charlestown Agencies

by Marianne Martin

Three Charlestown service agencies, the Boys and Girls Club, the Kennedy Center, and the Charlestown Community Schools, have, for the first time, joined forces to provide summer programming for youth from five to 15 years of age.

The program, which is funded by the Associated Grant Makers of Massachusetts, an umbrella organization for several agencies, will divide the participants into four age groups: five to six years, seven to nine years, ten to twelve years, and thirteen to fifteen years; and provide a plethora of activities ranging from outdoor games to swimming and even computer education.

The collaborative effort has two major components.

The first component is a structured day camp and the second is daily enrichment activities. While the programming for those twelve years and under is similar in nature, the activities for each age group will vary slightly.

The structured day camps for all will be two three-week sessions. For the age group five and six years, a day camp will provide daily field trips and related enrichment activities. This group will be divided into 25 children and operated by the Kennedy Center Headstart/Day Care staff weekdays from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.

The Boys and Girls Club will operate a day camp for those seven to twelve years of age and will also provide daily field trips in addition to cultural enrichment programs. The hours for this group will be 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. weekdays.

The older group will participate in activities similar to the younger groups, but more advanced.

All three agencies will contribute in the implementation of the daily enrichment activities. At the Boys and Girls Club, there will be arts and crafts, educational activities such as tutoring, reading and computer literacy and swimming lessons. At the Community Schools, there will be recreational swimming offered. The Kennedy Center will operate outdoor activities at the Ryan Playground, including tennis, kickball, softball, field and track.

On Fridays, the program will be sponsoring special events, which include trips to the beach, museums and the Blue Hills Trails.

Another aspect of this program will be the hiring of 35 junior counsellors who will be 16 and 17 years old. These individuals will be hired by the Kennedy Center and Action for Boston Community Development Youth Employment Program. The purpose behind this is twofold. One, teenagers will be earning, in addition to money, valuable work experience. The second reason is that with increased staffing, the ratio of children to counsellors will be reduced.

The agencies expect to draw 1,000 Charlestown youths to this program, or an average of 250 a day. For those interested in participating or seeking additional information, please call or visit the following agencies: The Boys and Girls Club, 15 Green Street, 242-1775; The Kennedy Center, 27 Winthrop Street, 241-8866; and the Charlestown Community Schools, 255 Medford Street, 242-2770.

Tony Armas Of The Boston Red Sox Honored At Luncheon

by Marianne Martin

Number 20, Tony Armas, of the Boston Red Sox, was honored on Wednesday, May 29, 1985 by the Boys and Girls Club with the presentation of the 1985 Community Service Award.

The centerfielder has, over the past three years, donated over 2,500 free tickets to the Club to Red Sox games. These tickets have been utilized by youth of Greater Boston who otherwise could not afford to go to the baseball games.

Armas, who last year led the American League in home runs, told the audience that growing up one of 14 children, "I was poor when I was young and could not go to ball games. Sometimes, kids can't go to the games because they don't have the money," Armas told the more than one hundred business people who gathered at the Charlestown Clubhouse. "It's time to take care of the poor."

The luncheon featured play-by-play Red Sox broadcaster Joe Castiglione as the Master of Ceremonies. Also on hand were Red Sox Vice President and General Manager, Lou Gorman, and Red Sox Manager, John McNamara. Father Thomas Conway of St. Catherine's of Siena gave both the Invocation and Benediction at the luncheon.

McNamara told the audience, the Boys and Girls Club "picked an outstanding person to honor." The manager stated, "Tony Armas gives a 110% everyday. It's just been a pleasure in our profession to be associated with this kind of man."

Gorman stated that despite a recurring injury, Armas continues to play outstanding baseball. "I wish I had ten more like him," stated Gorman, who called Armas the "unsung player" and a "true leader" of the Red Sox.

Michael McHugh, President of the Board of the Charlestown Boys and Girls Club, introduced two youths who have been recipients of tickets donated by Armas. Both youths read the inscription on the award presented to Armas. To honor the native of Venezuela, the plaque was read first in English by Peter Blaikie followed in Spanish by Rocky Medina.

The Boston Red Sox Club donated several items which were raffled off, the proceeds of which will be used by the Boys and Girls Club for sports programs offered at the Charlestown Clubhouse. Among the items was a Red Sox cap, one of Tony Armas' baseball bats, and a pair of tickets to a Red Sox game, (which were won by City Councillor Robert Travaglino.)

The program also included a question and answer session fielded by Gorman and McNamara. Some questions dealt with possible player trades, any plans to move the games to a ball field in the suburbs, and future scouting of local talent.

Named Columbus Football Coach

by Bob DeCristoforo Athletic Director

"We're psyched!" That was the response from the young men, who are anxiously looking forward to the '85 Football Season, after Joe Marani held his first football meeting of the year.

Indeed that was the strong reception from all as Joe Marani was named Head Football Coach of the Christopher Columbus Football Friars.

COACH MARANI

Joe Marani was an Assistant Coach at Boston College High School, a resident of Hanover, and a teacher at New Prep. He brings to Columbus organization, discipline, a great knowledge of the game, the hard work ethic, and enthusiasm. All these ingredients should put the Football Friars back on the right track for future football success.

Plans are already underway for what should be a very exciting season. In addition to the regular ten game Varsity schedule, and eight game Sub Varsity schedule, geared for Freshmen, has already been set up.

Columbus football is moving ahead, and the goal is another SuperBowl, and Joe Marani might just be the one to bring it about!

C.Y.H.A. News

Another hockey year has passed and it now time to review this past year and look forward to the next. By reviewing last year's program, we found that the organization had improved in many areas and, yes, there are areas which still need improvement. However, as an organization, we have survived and improved — an accomplishment which many youth programs across the city have been unable to perform. To the outgoing Board and to the new incoming Board, this is a very positive sign.

We would like to take this opportunity to thank Denise Ezekiel, Jim Tucker, Bob Melendy and Tom Lent for their efforts as former Board members and welcome new Board members Phil Coleman, Ann Considine, Mike Duncan and Terri Titcomb, who will join Ron Vitale, Paul Kelly and Ed Johnson in directing how YOUR organization will perform over the next year.

The new Board has had some discussions on the direction this organization should be taking and are in the process of developing a major plan of operation and financing. Other programs for the youth of this community have dwindled due to various reasons, however we, as a Board, have decided to begin a full scale revitaliation of our youth hockey program. Through this effort we not only hope to provide a strong hockey program, but to also provide whatever help we can to other youth oriented sports programs in the community. The goals we have are high, but we are willing to make the commitment necessary to achieve these goals. We will also require the assistance of parents, residents, community leaders and anybody who is willing to help. If you wish to assist us in our efforts, you may contact any Board members or watch for more information in the Patriot. The beneficiary of any effort will be the children of Charlestown who want to play hockey.

In closing, we would again welcome any help and would like to thank Gloria Conway and The Charlestown Patriot for their support over the years and look forward to the upcoming year.

Hockey registration will be held at the Medford Street Gym on Wednesday, June 12 from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. and on Thursday, June 13 from 7:00 to 8:00 p.m.

New members must bring a copy of the registrant's birth certificate. A $10.00 fee will be collected at the time of registration with a $15.00 balance to be paid at the first skating evaluation session in September.

The age levels are:

- Mite - up to eight years
- Squirt - nine to ten years
- Pee Wee - 11 to 12 years
- Bantam - 13 to 14 years
- Midget - 15 to 16 years

Both boys and girls are welcome.

Rules Governing Increase In Drinking Age

On and after June 1, 1985, the legal drinking age in Massachusetts will be 21 years. Under the "grandfather" provisions of the new law, those persons who have reached their 20th birthday on or before June 1, 1985, will be considered to be of legal age. The law applies to everyone who buys or consumes alcoholic beverages, including all visitors, tourists, college students and others, regardless of the legal drinking age in their home states or countries.

A valid Driver's License from Massachusetts or from any other state or a Massachusetts Liquor Identification Purchase Card is sufficient for anyone who is 21 years of age or older. However, an out-of-state driver's license is not sufficient for persons under the grandfather provision. Therefore, grandfathered persons who wish to drink or purchase liquor and do not have a Massachusetts Driver's License must obtain a Liquor Purchase Identification Card. These cards are available at the Registry of Motor Vehicle offices.

Iona Smith, spokesperson for the Registry of Motor Vehicles, states that, in order to issue a Liquor Purchase Identification Card, the Registry requires three positive proofs of identification. Acceptable documents include out-of-state or expired Massachusetts Driver's License, birth certificate, college or work picture ID, high school yearbook with picture, W-2 Form, bank book, passport with valid signature and picture, lease or loan papers, home mortgage papers, life insurance, pistol permit or any legal document with applicant's signature.

Any underage person who knowingly transports or carries alcohol on his or her person, if not accompanied by a parent or guardian, is committing a crime and can be arrested by a police officer without a warrant. If that person is driving a car at the time and is convicted of this violation, the Registrar of Motor Vehicles may suspend his or her Driver's License for up to three months.

Persons 18 years old or over may still be employed in the sales or delivery of alcoholic beverages either in package stores or as waiters/waitresses and/or bartenders.

Note that as of June 1, 1985, local licensing authorities must notify the parents or guardian of an underage person of any allegations that a licensee has sold or served alcohol or alcoholic beverages to such a person.

Over 250 craftspeople and antique dealers will be exhibiting their works. Most of the displayed items will be for sale.

Facts About Drugs F.A.D.

What is alcoholism? How is it different from heavy drinking? Is there a difference? How would you describe an alcoholic? Is he/she really a bum? How difficult this definition is! Maybe we should think about it for a moment.

"Alcoholism is a disease in which a person loses control of his/her drinking and it affects family and friends or job and school or health." This is a definition that is accepted by many professionals and takes in the important aspects of alcoholism: disease, troubles with family and friends, or troubles with school or job, or health problems.

A "disease" is a disorder that has symptoms that you can recognize. For example, symptoms of a cold are stuffiness, cough, sneezing, maybe a small fever. With the disease of alcoholism, the symptoms of blackouts, changed behavior after drinking, drinking more than friends, hiding drinks, needing more and more to feel high, are some indications.

"A person loses control of his/her drinking." This out of control drinking is very important. The alcoholic does not know when he/she begins to drink exactly how much he/she will drink. It is unpredictable. And there are many promises made to oneself that are broken. "I will not drink tonight," "I'll only have one beer," "I can stop anytime." The difficulty lies in stopping once he/she has begun.

Does the drinking of a person affect his/her spouse or children? Are they complaining or scared or angry about the drinking episodes and the loss of some friends because of drunken behavior that are two other symptoms of the disease?

"Job or school." Alcohol drinking interferes eventually with the things people do. Jobs are lost, promotions are missed, school tardiness (especially on Mondays or Fridays) is often a problem. A teenager's marks begin to fall.

"Health." There are so many health problems with alcoholism: malnutrition, liver damage, high blood pressure, fatigue, and eventually "wet brain," and of course, death from accidents. The disease is often called chemical dependency because the symptoms are the same for other drugs besides alcohol that have reached the dependency stage.

Any questions? Call Mimi White at Charlestown Clubhouse of the Boys and Girls Club at 242-1775.

Public Meeting On Old High School

Graham Gund Associates, developers of the former Charlestown High School on Monument Square, will hold a public meeting on Thursday, June 6, 1985 at 7:00 p.m. at the Charlestown High School on Medford Street to discuss both the recent asbestos removal procedure and the traffic and parking issues.

A representative from the Department of Environmental Quality Engineering will be present to answer questions concerning the asbestos removal.

by Marianne Martin

Motorists traveling to and from Charlestown to Boston will experience more delays as a result of an accident on the Charlestown Bridge which caused "heavy damage" to the center lanes

Bunker Hill Day Parade Committee To Meet

ty in organizing the start of the Parade in the Hayes Square area, beginning at 11:30 a.m. on the day of the Parade. Units must be lined of the six lane access bridge.

According to Commissioner Joseph Casazza of the City of Boston Public Works Department, an electrical utility truck owned by the W. J. Hicks Company struck the bridge on Saturday morning, June 1, 1985 at 5:30 up in order to facilitate an orderly progression.

The time involved is approximately one hour. This is a very important aspect of the event and help is needed.

Persons willing to assist in the parade organization, should plan to attend the meeting on Monday evening. If attendance at this meeting is not possible, please contact Chairman James W. Conway at 242-6187 or 241-9511 or call the Legion Hall on Monday evening at 242-2090.

Organizations that wish to enter a unit or float in the Parade, that have not yet notified the Committee, should contact the Chairman at the above telephone numbers by Monday evening so that a Parade position may be assigned.

Accident On Charlestown Bridge Causes Increased Traffic Headaches

a.m. The "cherry picker," or the arm which serves as an extension ladder allowing workers to reach the tops of utility poles, hit the top of the bridge causing the truck to swerve and hit a portion of the vertical steel suspension in the center lane of the bridge.

There will be a three week delay in beginning the reconstruction, according to the Commissioner. The reasoning behind this is twofold. First of all, engineers must first determine the extent of damage to the bridge and also allow time for proper advertisement for and receipt of construction bids.

Traffic has been restricted to the outside lanes of the bridge. Deputy Superintendent for Area A of the Boston Police Department, Ronald X. Conway reports that despite the inconvenience caused by the lane restrictions, traffic congestion has lessened since the first workday rush hours.

Presently, the three lanes on the bridge which are operable allow for two lanes for inbound and one outbound in the morning and for the afternoon commute the reverse is true.

On Monday, motorists traveling from City Square towards Downtown experienced several hour delays. Since Monday, Conway stated the police have cut the delay one hour each day and expect the situation to improve.

Conway stated the situation is also aided by the fact summer vacations should ease the traffic volume.

Lane restrictions are nothing new to the Charlestown Bridge, as work crews recently finished repairs to the outside lanes running inbound to Boston. Casazza stated the situation could have been worse had the outside lanes still have been out of use.

At present, there is no estimate of time as to when repairs will be completed.
