Adoption of the Alternative Investment Fund Managers Directive:
Impact on the Real Estate Sector

1. Introduction

On 11 November 2010, a plenary session of the European Parliament (the "EP") adopted the Alternative Investment Fund Managers Directive (the "Directive").

The Directive (approved by 513 votes to 52), will now need to be formally adopted by the Council before publication in the Official Journal. The Directive is due for transposition into national law by 2013. Much of the detailed rules implementing the Directive will be decided at level 2 in the form of delegated acts adopted by the European Commission, and in implementing legislation adopted by each Member State.

Notwithstanding recent progress to exclude joint ventures and holding companies from its scope, the Directive remains very widely drafted and has the potential to cover many structures which are widely employed to invest in real estate and which are not regarded currently as funds in the usual meaning of this word. This brief note provides an overview of the provisions of the Directive with particular emphasis on their relevance for the real estate sector.

2. Scope

The Directive applies to:

- any entity established in an EU country responsible for managing an Alternative Investment Fund ("AIF"), regardless of whether such AIF itself is established within or outside the EU; or
- any entity established outside the EU managing an AIF established in the EU, or an AIF established outside the EU whose units are to be marketed within the EU.

All such entities are referred to in the Directive as Alternative Investment Fund Managers (the "AIFM") which are legal persons whose regular business it is to manage one or more AIF. The target of the Directive is regulation of the AIFM, as opposed to the AIF, as the risks associated with AIFs are regarded as lying at this level.

2.1 AIF definition

An AIF is defined as:

"Any collective investment undertaking including investment compartments thereof, which raises capital from a number of investors, with a view to investing it in accordance with a defined investment policy for the benefit of those investors," and which is not an entity already regulated as undertakings for collective investment in transferable securities ("UCITS Funds"). The term "collective investment undertaking" is not defined by the Directive.

The Directive is drafted to catch AIF whatever the legal structure (including open and closed-ended entities) and irrespective of whether the AIF is established under contract law, trust law or in any other legal form. As such, the Directive includes in its scope corporate entities and unit trusts. In the absence of a relevant exemption, the managers of all non-UCITS funds will require authorisation.
